Lake residents prepare to battle

Detroit Lakes - Hoping to end flood problems, the Cormorant Lakes Watershed District Board will seek permission to add another culvert to the Big Cormorant Lake outlet.

The watershed board voted recently to ask the Department of Natural Resources for a permit to install a new outlet culvert at the high water mark.

But an attorney for property owners downstream says to expect a fight. Downstream lakes can't handle any additional water. The DNR says there's no quick fix to the problem. Detroit Lakes Tribune

Friends haven't missed opener in 50 years

Alexandria - Jens Ree and Arnold Tranby have fished together on opening day every year since 1948. The two met when they were both teachers at the school in Erskine. Ree now lives in Alexandria, and Tranby lives in Moorhead.

"At first we fished because we loved to fish," Ree said. "Now it's tradition." Echo Press

Conflict riddles City Council meeting

Roseau - A recent council meeting in Roseau began and ended in conflict.

A complaint by a resident against the Eagles Club was the first order of business. The resident, who lives by the Eagles Club, contends that litter and tire marks left in his yard are from Eagles members, and he would like to see a fence erected between his property and the club's property.

At the end of the meeting City Attorney Pat Moran announced that Floan-Sanders of East Grand Forks, a firm that performed work on Roseau city streets, is suing the city for libel damages. Roseau Times Region

Building lots # 1 priority in RLF

Red Lake Falls - Housing in Red Lake Falls, or lack of it, was the topic of discussion recently at a special session of the Red Lake Falls City Council.

Property within the city limits is needed. "Many people are not willing to sell property," said city administrator Ken Johanneck.

The council's objective is to get more people to Red Lake Falls to increase the tax base, which would hopefully reduce taxes for other city residents. The council feels there are enough apartments in town and that Red Lake Falls needs single and small multifamily housing, such as duplexes and townhouses. The Gazette

New EGF schools have names

East Grand Forks - After a long process, the two new elementary schools in East Grand Forks have names.

After three rounds of secret ballots by the school board on Monday evening, "New Heights" won out as the name of the new north-end school, and "South Point" was favored as the name of the south-end elementary school. The Exponent

NMF presents awards at TRF banquet Thursday

Outstanding Leadership award was presented to Quentin Fairbanks of Hines by Northwest Minnesota Foundation Executive Director Ruth Edevold.

Northwest Minnesota Foundation, formerly the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund, presented several awards at its annual recognition banquet held Thursday, May 14, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Northwest Minnesota Foundation is a charitable foundation with a primary interest in improving the quality of life for residents of northwest Minnesota. To achieve this mission, the foundation focuses activities toward two principal goals: increasing economic growth and business development and increasing the capacity of individuals and organizations to shape the region's future.

Awards presented at the banquet program Thursday included:

Circle of Vision awards to Eldor and Stella Omdahl of Warren and posthumously to Lyle Engelstad, a former Warren resident; Outstanding Leadership award to Quentin Fairbanks of Hines; Outstanding Nonprofit awards to Patricia Crummy of Argyle and Tri-Valley Opportunity Council in Crookston; and Community Excellence award to the City of East Grand Forks.

Circle of Vision Awards

For seeing the vision of a strong region, for believing in the strengths of people of their community, and for generously sharing their resource, the Northwest Minnesota Foundation recognizes individuals as members of the Foundation's Circle of Vision.

In 1981 Eldor and Stella Omdahl donated 640 acres of land to the Agassiz Audubon Society for creation of the Wetlands, Pines and Prairie Audubon Sanctuary. The parcel, which contains 160 acres homesteaded by Eldor's grandfather and purchased by Eldor in 1949, included groves of trees, trails, ponds and native grasslands.

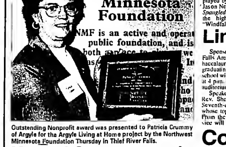
"The sanctuary, however, is not a parcel of undeveloped land that was never put to agricultural use," the award summary states. "The sanctuary represents a commitment to conservation and alternative land management practices."

In 1949 Eldor began planting trees on the property. Ten years later, he began developing ponds and waterways for the purpose of retaining water—a sharp contrast to the prevailing practice of draining wetlands. Today, 320 acres of the sanctuary are enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) and another 160 acres will be planted with prairie grasses. Plans call for 160 additional acres to be planted with trees and added to the sanctuary property in 1999.

Located five miles east and three miles south of Warren, the sanctuary serves as a day-use environmental learning center where people of all interests and ages can learn, provides habitat for birds and other wildlife and provides a living demonstration for land management.

Eldor and Stella Omdahl gifted the land while retaining a life estate. They still live on the property and work with the Audubon Society to develop habitat and remodel the headquarters building.

Last year the Omdahls extended their commitment to the sanctuary by creating a permanent endowment fund through the Northwest Minnesota Foundation and funding the endowment with a gift of $100,000. The Wetlands, Pines and Prairie (Eldor and Stella Omdahl) Audubon Sanctuary Endowment will be used for educational purposes at the sanctuary, including a full-time educator.



Lyle H. Engelstad

Lyle Engelstad was born in Warren in 1921, excelled in athletics (especially football) at Warren high school and graduated in 1939. He enlisted in the U.S. Army in 1942

Medical Center expands emergency room hours

by David Hill
Associate Editor

In anticipation of Dakota Clinic's move to its new facility on Highway 59 South, Northwest Medical Center has contracted with Lakes/NES to expand emergency room coverage at the hospital.

Dick Spylialski, chief executive officer and president of Northwest Medical Center explained that after hearing rumors of Dakota Clinic's plan to move off campus in the mid 90's, the hospital began making contingency plans. They weren't sure what would happen but it was critical to make sure that they had a physician in the building.

Emergency room coverage, for the most part, was provided by doctors of Dakota Clinic. A couple of years ago, Spylialski explained, some of the doctors felt physically taxed by working all week and then being required to cover the emergency room on nights and weekends. As a result, Northwest Medical Center contracted with a company called NES, which provided doctors to cover the weekend shifts and on holidays at the emergency room. Later, Northwest Medical Center contracted with Dr. Lowell J. Mickelson of Lakes Emergency Services. Some time ago, Lakes Emergency Services and NES merged to become Lakes/NES.

Currently, Lakes/NES provides emergency room coverage for Northwest Medical Center from 6 p.m. on Friday until 7 a.m. on Monday. During that time a doctor is in the building the entire time.

Former graduate will speak at Goodridge baccalaureate

"True Success" will be the topic discussed by Richard Johnson, a former graduate of Goodridge high school, when he delivers the address at baccalaureate services for the Class of 1998 Wednesday, May 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Goodridge community center.

The public is invited to attend the services to honor and congratulate the Goodridge high school seniors.

Richard (Rich) Johnson is a biology teacher in the Fosston school system and serves as academic coordinator for the district. He coaches the Knowledge Bowl team which this year placed third in the state Knowledge Bowl and was named the Knowledge Bowl Coach of the Year for Sections 1 and 2.

A 1965 graduate of Goodridge high school, he went on to complete requirements for Bachelor's and Master's degrees at Bemidji State University. He is married to Sandra Holen, a 1967 Goodridge high school graduate, who received her degree in psychology and Early Childhood Family Education from Bemidji State University in 1994.

Rich and Sandra have one daughter, Mrs. Mike (Michelle) Curfman. The Curfmans both teach at St. Cloud State University and have a two-year-old son, Caleb.

Prelude for the service will be played by Melanie Mutnansky and Jason Nelson and The Star Spangled Banner will be sung by the high school choral group "Windfall." Invocation will be given by Intern Pastor Tan Stage-Harvey and the audience will sing I Was There to Hear Your Borning Cry.

Seniors Melanie Nelson and Christina Ryan will present the Litany for Graduation and Seed Time and Amazing Grace will be sung by Pam Frederick, Anna Rustan, Jennifer Mutnansky and Tanya Verbout with Melanie Mutnansky as accompanist. Rev. Bob Dahlen will introduce the speaker.

Following Richard Johnson's talk, Angels Watching Over Me will be sung by a student group including Penny Frederick, Anna Rustan, Melanie Mutnansky, Jennifer Mutnansky, Pam Frederick and Jessie Nelson with Tanya Verbout as accompanist.

Senior Prayer will be presented by seniors Jenny Nelson and Kristen Halvorson. Closing prayer and presentation of senior mementos will be given by Rev. Bob LaPlante.

A musical selection will be presented by vocalists Tanya Verbout, Susan Vettleson, Clifton Johnsrud, Alec Henrickson, Mike Lovly, Anna Rustan, Jessie Nelson, Jennifer Mutnansky, Melanie Nelson and Pam Frederick with Kristian Solberg on drums and guitar, Clifton Hanson on guitar and Jason Nelson and Judy Chapelle on piano.

Benediction will be given by Pastor Stage-Harvey, closing hymn sung by the audience and table prayer led by the Class of 1998.

Richard Johnson

Lincoln baccalaureate Sunday

Sponsored by the Thief River Falls Area Ministerial Association, baccalaureate services for the 1998 graduating class at Lincoln high school will be held Sunday, May 17, at 4 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Speaker for the service will be Rev. Sherman McCormick of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, whose topic will be "Three Words From the Cross." Leading the service will be Rev. George Davis of Faith Lutheran Brethren Church.

Prelude will be played by Lincoln senior Nik Kotz and senior Paul Dehnert will be pianist for the opening hymn, What a Friend We Have in Jesus. Rev. Davis will give the invocation, based on John 3: 14-21.

Following audience singing of America, a vocal selection will be presented by senior Matt Bitzegaio and junior Eric Bjornstad. After Rev. McCormick's message, music will be provided by Janice Davis and Lona Trochmann.

Closing the service will be the Lord's Prayer by the audience, benediction by Rev. Davis and the recessional played by Nik Kotz.

The ministerial association thanks the students, parents and staff of Lincoln high school for their cooperation in making the annual baccalaureate service possible. The public is invited to participate in the service.

Concert in the Park May 18

Music department of Northland Community and Technical College will present its third annual Concert in the Park Monday, May 18, at 6 p.m. in Floyd B. Olson park south of Hardee's Restaurant in Thief River Falls. The concert is jointly sponsored by the Thief River Falls Rotary Club and the music department.

The first such concert two years ago netted $1,000 which was donated to construction of the new gazebo in the park. Last year's event raised $600 for the Pennington County Historical Society's Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village.

This year all proceeds from the concert will be applied toward expenses for the Northland Community Band which will participate in the International Music Festival in Sydney, Australia in July. Matching funds have been offered by AAL Branch 9813 of Redeemer Lutheran Church and AAL Branch 9591 of Zion Lutheran Church.

Tickets at $5 per person, $8 per couple or $10 per family are available from participating musicians, Rotary club members and the business office at NCTC.

Dwight Tangquist will head a crew to provide bratwurst, beans, ice cream and refreshments, assisted by members of the Rotary club and AAL members from Zion church.

Music at the concert will be provided by the Northland Chamber Choir and Northland Community Band, both under the direction of Les Torgerson. The Chamber Choir has just returned from a performance at the Minnesota Community College Music Fine Arts festival in Brainerd, and has an interesting assortment of music to present.

Choir numbers will include My Spirit Sang All Day by Gerald Finzi, Three Madrigals by Emma Lou Diemer and a jazz interpretation of Route 66, arranged by Kirby Shaw.

Choir accompanist is Mrs. Catherine Hagen. Members of the choir include Tanya Monson, Fertile; April Butler, Roseau; Rachel Larson and Erica Halvorson, Newfolden; Michelle Lunsetter, Gatzke; Kimberly Rustan, Oklee; Jenny Kalbakdalen, Amy Payment, Nathan Martell and Sara Moran, Red Lake Falls; and Amy Wessel, Stacy Tveiten, Jordan Goldesberry and Ben Schmitz, Thief River Falls.

Northland Community Band will present American favorites including a medley of Scott Joplin ragtime, Tony Bennett jazz standards, highlights from the Disney production Beauty and the Beast and God Bless America by Irving Berlin.

Band members include the following (all are from Thief River Falls unless listed otherwise):

Flute—Judy Whaley, Amy James, Karen Sieh and Barbara Greer (Middle River).

Bassoon—Jan Klopp.

Clarinet—Bill Sedgeman (Warren), Ben Erickson, Jim

Longest Day of Golf supports cancer research

Summer finds Minnesota golf courses operating in full swing. The growing popularity of the game is making tee times harder and harder to find.

The American Cancer Society's "Longest Day of Golf" in Thief River Falls will be held on Monday, June 15, at the Thief River Falls Golf Club.

"We welcome enthusiastic golfers of all ages and abilities," said Julie Rohl, event chairperson in Thief River Falls.

Golf foursomes will play as many holes as they can from sunup to sundown. The pledges they receive for each hole will support American Cancer Society research, education and patient services programs here in Minnesota.

Anyone interested in participating in the event should call Julie Rohl at 681-8556 or 681-5555.

Seamless Aluminum Guttering
Heating, Air Conditioning
378-4641 378-4585
Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 100 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew, saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

ATTENTION ORGANIC GROWERS AND GARDENERS!
We have immediate availability of high quality organic compost for spring spreading and soil incorporation. The material has been aged at least two years to insure proper curing.
The nutrient level is approximately 1-1/2% Nitrogen, 1/2% Phosphorus, and 1/2% Potassium.
The bulk price is $25.00 per pickup load at the SWIS Plant in Thief River Falls, Minnesota (we will load it for you!)
This material is certified organic, registered with the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, and meets the stringent Minnesota Class I compost requirements for pathogen reduction and limitations on heavy metals.
This material has been tested by the environmental biotechnology lab at Bemidji State University and determined to be free of any phyto-toxic elements. The growth assay indicated this organic product was beneficial as a soil amendment by improving soil physical-chemical properties and increasing crop productivity.
For further information and to arrange for pick up, please call the SWIS Plant at 218-681-7177 Monday - Friday 8:00 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Goal of Goals 2000 May Not Be Education

Academic achievement of students toward gainful employment and productive citizenship should be the goal of private and public education in the United States. Strategies that have proved to be effective in providing quality education include:

(1) Effectively teaching phonics;

(2) Reinforcing the values of parents and community;

(3) Maintaining good discipline;

(4) Offering equal opportunity to all students, including the opportunity to attend private schools and home schools;

(5) Promoting stable marriages and two-parent families;

(6) Establishing high academic standards as measured by objective tests;

(7) Protecting our schools from oppressive government mandates;

(8) Providing our schools and teachers with meaningful academic freedom;

(9) Re-establishing genuine decision-making by parents and school boards; and

(10) Emphasizing the basic academic skills.

It is the belief of many that the federal Goals 2000 program and graduation standards imposed under that program include none of the above strategies and actually undermine a number of them. The main problem lies in the government determination of what children should be taught and the mechanisms employed to see that this is done.

The basis of our educational system for generations was that parents and other local citizens elected local school boards who run the schools. This has now effectively been changed so that the executive branch of the federal government dictates to the state government which runs the schools.

Gov. George Allen of Virginia expressed this opinion: "The Goals 2000 law treats the states and local school boards as serfs of the federal government. To the extent there is flexibility for state and local education decisions under Goals 2000, it is only at the sufferance of the federal bureaucrats."

Probably believing that some change was better than the status quo, Congress passed the Goals 2000: Educate America Act in 1994. Since that time bureaucrats with questionable ideology have been busy developing and imposing mandates which effectively give the federal government the authority to determine what is true and what goes into the minds of America's children....everyone's children....our children.

Minnesota's Department of Children, Families and Learning has established its centerpiece of compliance with Goals 2000 in its Graduation Standards—a two-part program which includes minimum requirements (about eighth grade level) in reading, writing and mathematics (as determined by testing) and completion of a Profile of Learning to qualify for high school graduation.

Starting with next fall's freshmen class, all students must complete 24 packets of Profile of Learning materials to graduate from a public high school. The packets are prepared under the direction of government officials at state and federal levels and typically consist of 20 to 35 pages per packet, with each packet requiring a number of projects. Some teachers have estimated that each packet will take the average student about two weeks to complete. If so, that would require 48 weeks—about two months longer than the full school year.

The packet materials will compel teachers and students to spend much of their time on mandated projects and paperwork instead of academic study.

So what will students get out of this federal directive to "educate" America? They will get a spoon feeding of the social and political agenda of whatever administration happens to be in power at the time. Presently this ideology leans to the far left, and that is what students will be taught in the Profile of Learning.

As an example, one outspoken opponent of Goals 2000 and graduation standards points to the packet entitled "Decision Making: Individual and Community Health." In each of the six components of this packet, all students are required to know what the packet calls "community-based health care services, products, providers and referral options."

No knowledge is required about good nutrition, exercise, or the hazards of smoking, alcohol or drug abuse. It is enough that they know about contraceptives available at birth control centers, the most convenient abortion clinics, and so on.

The packet also lists "significant adults" to whom students can go for information and guidance on all issues such as AIDS, venereal disease and unintentional pregnancies. These include emergency medical technicians, school nurses, school counselors and school social workers. Conspicuously absent from the list are parents and religious leaders.

Minnesota has entered into an agreement with the federal government which states that in exchange for federal funding, Minnesota must enforce the guidelines of Goals 2000. The Goals 2000 law is rife with terms such as "all children in America will," "all students will," "the nation's teaching force will," "all American students," "United States students will," "every adult American will," "every school in the United States will" and "every school will." There is no room in the law for exceptions.

Nor does the government want to leave any room for escaping the mandates. Chester Finn, one of the chief architects of Goals 2000, said: "Perhaps the best way to enforce this standard is to confer valuable benefits and privileges on people who meet it, and to withhold them from people who do not. Work permits, good jobs and college admissions are the most obvious."

If this isn't "big brother" thinking, we don't know what is. We predict that once parents learn what this program intends to stuff into the minds of their children at the expense of legitimate learning there will be a backlash that Congress and the Legislature never expected. If it doesn't come, America is a lot farther down the road to ruin than we thought it was.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively: letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Memorial Day Bash set for Sunday, May 24 in Middle River

Middle River Jaycees have scheduled their annual Memorial Day Bash for Sunday, May 24, beginning at 3 p.m. in downtown Middle River.

Barbecued pork sandwiches and bratwurst will be served from the Jaycee Shed on Main Street and a beer garden will be in operation. A volleyball tournament will begin at 3 p.m. on the sand volleyball courts. For more information, contact Lorie Kilen at 222-3413 or 222-3481.

From 7 p.m. to midnight there will be music by "Backdraft" for dancing or listening. Admission will be $5 for the full program of activities and people of all ages are welcome.

The sponsoring Jaycees use profits from this and other various events to help fund numerous projects in the area. These include scholarships, Project Close-Up, fire department, EMTs, community volleyball and playground, senior center and numerous other school and city needs.

Alert motorists to workers for Trash Off Day

Minnesota Department of Transportation is urging all motorists to be aware and watch for Adopt-A-Highway volunteers throughout the state as they converge on roadsides this Saturday to clean up Minnesota as part of its first "Trash Off Day."

Mn/DOT has approximately 44,000 volunteers statewide who pick up roadside trash at least several times a year. In the Northwest district of the state there are approximately 575 groups covering 1,200 miles of state highways.

Without the help of these volunteers, it would cost the state millions of tax dollars to keep Minnesota roadsides clean, according to Karen Bedeau, public affairs coordinator for the Mn/DOT office in Bemidji.

Motorists may also do their part by disposing of litter properly and observing the reduce, reuse and recycle theme.

Area students to graduate UMC May 22

Several local and area students will participate in commencement exercises for the University of Minnesota at Crookston on Friday, May 22.

Baccalaureate, associate in applied science and associate in science degrees will be conferred upon graduates, subject to completion of all curriculum requirements. The ceremonies include not only spring quarter graduates, but also those who plan to complete graduation requirements during the 1998 summer and fall quarters. Students graduating during the past fall and winter quarters may also participate in commencement ceremonies.

The featured speaker at this year's event will be the Honorable Robert Bergland, University of Minnesota Regent.

The following is a list of spring and summer quarter candidates for graduation from this area: Gatzke — Christina F. Holte, associate degree business; Goodridge — Bradley T. Philipp, bachelor of science degree, agricultural industries sales and management; Grygla — Diane L. Loeslie, summa cum laude, bachelor of science degree, information networking management; Gully — Shane M. Kolling, associate degree, agricultural business; Hallock — Angel E. Yonke, bachelor of science, animal industries management; Dilee — Aaron C. Chervestad, bachelor of science degree, agricultural industries sales and management; Abigail H. Chervestad, bachelor of science degree, agricultural industries sales and management; Conway D. Olson, bachelor of science degree, plant industries management; Red Lake Falls — Curtis A. Funk, cum laude, bachelor of science degree, plant industries management; Sara S. Haglund, bachelor of science degree, health management; St. Hilaire — Danielle A. Grandbois, associate degree, equine science; Stacy L. Myhrer, cum laude, bachelor of science degree, applied management; Stephen — Derrick E. Kaznia, bachelor of science degree, information networking management; Thief River Falls — Patti L. Conely, bachelor of science degree, plant industries management; Jarod W. Peterson, bachelor of science degree, plant industries management; Joel A. Praska, bachelor of science degree, business management.

Tri-Club shooting event scheduled to held Tuesday

Fourth annual Thief River Falls Tri-Club shooting competition will be held Tuesday, May 19, at the Pennington County Sportsman Club range.

The event is open to members of the Thief River Falls Archery League, Pennington County Sportsman Club and Thief River Trap League. Participants must be a member of at least one of the three organizations.

Competition starts at 5 p.m. There will be an archery event (five shots each at three different positions); a trap event (15 shots at straight-away targets); and a .22 caliber handgun event (six rounds at five bowling pins).

A special event this year will be a pot shoot using a .30 caliber or larger handgun at bowling pins.

Thank You

A note of thanks to everyone for the wonderful benefit! A special thank you to the Elk's Club and its members and especially ... and helped in any way.

A special thank you also, to Lutheran Brotherhood - Branch #8129 and to Aid Association for Lutherans - Branch #10450, Branch #9589, and Branch #10322 for their matching funds. Thanks to all of the business places for their great donated items, for the auction and also for their cash contributions. Thanks also to the auctioneers for their time. Our thanks go out also to the employees of School District #564, for all of their help.

The caring and generosity of Thief River Falls and all other surrounding communities has been absolutely astonishing. This has touched the hearts of myself and my family, very deeply. We cannot thank everyone enough, for all you have done for us.

My experience with ovarian cancer has been very difficult at times, but it has also enriched my life, because I have met some very wonderful people along the way that I otherwise would not have met. Everyone's support has been just super.

Thanks to everyone who not only attended the benefit, but also to those who contributed in any way. To everyone from my original home-town, Middle River, thanks for your support. It was a very special evening for myself and my family. We will remember your kindness always. Thanks again so very much for caring!

With heartfelt thanks,
Connie, Jerry, Chris & Todd Prickett

How about some recipes for goodies to serve at those graduation or wedding parties? These will give you some ideas, I hope.

The following recipes are to be used for dipping crackers, chips, veggies or fancy, thinly-sliced breads - keep them cold (or hot, as the case may be) as best you can - over ice or hot over a hot pad:

SHRIMP DIPPER

Spread 8 ounces of cream cheese on plate.

Spread with a 9 ounce jar of cocktail sauce.

Top with 1 can shrimp, broken into pieces.

Chill and serve with crackers or chips.

(Double or triple this recipe, but keep any unused in fridge.)

FAKE PATE

1/2 pound (1 cup) braunschweiger
1 cup sour cream
1 envelope onion soup mix
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Drops of red pepper sauce

Combine all ingredients and chill. Serve with chips or crackers.

PEPPERONI PIZZA DIP

1 (8 ounce) cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup pizza sauce
1/2 cup chopped pepperoni
1/2 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon oregano, crushed
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 cup sliced green onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
1/8 teaspoon red pepper (if desired)

Beat cream cheese, sour cream, oregano, garlic powder and red pepper. Spread evenly in 9-10 inch quiche dish. Spread pizza sauce over top and sprinkle with pepperoni, onion and green pepper.

Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes, then top with cheese. Bake 5 minutes or until cheese melts.

The following recipes are hors d'oeuvres - the little finger foods that go so fast at a party:

SAUSAGE BALLS

2 cups extra sharp cheddar cheese, grated
2 cups Bisquick
1 package sausage (hot)

Mix ingredients together by hand and shape into balls the size of a walnut. Place on cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 20-30 minutes and serve warm. (Look cute on toothpicks)

TOASTED ONION ROUNDS

1 or 3 bunches green onions, chopped
1 triangle fresh Parmesan cheese
Mayonnaise to spreading consistency
Small, thinly sliced bread rounds (or squares)

Mix onions, Parmesan and mayonnaise and spread on breads. Place under broiler for a few seconds and serve hot.

TORTILLA PINWHEELS

Flour tortillas
1 can chopped green chilies
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
Chopped green onions

Mix all ingredients except tortillas. Place mixture on tortillas and roll up. Chill and then slice.

CHEESE BALLS

1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons butter
Dash of cayenne pepper
1/2 cup flour
25 medium stuffed olives, well drained

Cream cheese and butter. Blend in flour and cayenne.

Wrap 1 tablespoon dough around each olive, covering completely. Bake at 400 degrees for about 15 minutes.

MINI PIZZA SNACKS

1 box melba toast rounds
1 package pepperoni
Italian-flavored tomato paste (or a thick prepared pizza sauce)
1 package mozzarella cheese

Spread tomato paste on melba rounds. Place 1 slice of pepperoni over this and sprinkle with cheese. Bake until cheese is melted.

And here are recipes for the snacks that are served in big bowls, with or without an accompaniment - they can be made ahead of time:

HARVEST POPCORN

2 quarts freshly popped popcorn, unsalted
2 cans (1 3/4 ounces each) shoestring potatoes
1 cup salted mixed nuts
1/4 cup butter, melted
1 teaspoon dried dill weed
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon lemon pepper seasoning
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon onion powder

In large roasting pan, combine popcorn, potatoes and nuts. Set aside.

In small bowl, combine melted butter, dill, Worcestershire, lemon pepper, garlic and onions powders. Pour over popcorn mixture, tossing well until evenly coated.

Bake at 325 degrees for 8-10 minutes, stirring once. Cool and store in airtight containers.

A LITTLE TRADITIONAL TREATS (big recipe)

5 cups Quaker oat squares cereal
5 cups Rice Chex cereal
5 cups Honey Nut Cheerios
1 cup peanuts
3/4 cup butter
2 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
8 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 cup whole almonds
2 cups pretzel sticks

Preheat oven to 250 degrees.

In very large bowl, melt butter. Combine with seasoned salt and Worcestershire. Gradually add cereals, nuts and pretzels, stirring well until all coated.

Bake 1 hour, stirring every 15 minutes.

Spread on cookie sheet lined with paper towels and cool well. Store air tight.

HOME OF THE JUMBO GERANIUM.
Nothing provides intense color like geraniums. The colors of their blooms are so vivid you can almost taste them. This year Bergeson Nursery is growing 45 flavors of geraniums.
Geraniums thrive in pots and planters. A window box full of geraniums can dress up an entire house. Just a couple of pots of geraniums placed amongst the shrubbery around the house can brighten an entire yard.
Our old favorite is the Sincerity geranium, which grows the largest of them all. Some years the orange-red blooms are the size of softballs.
But there are many more. Colors include light pink, salmon, grape, white, cherry-rose, and coral. The spectacular Starburst geraniums feature violet or red blooms mottled with white.
Geranium lovers not only enjoy the blooms, but the different colors of foliage as well. The Wilhelm Languth features variegated green and white leaves. The White Truffle's bright white blooms contrast vividly with the forest green foliage. The stop-light red blooms of the Red Satellection are set off by the plant's light green leaves. Skies of Italy and Mrs. Pollack geraniums feature leaves which contain splotches of red, yellow, light green and dark green, depending upon the temperature and soil.
The leaves of scented geraniums can smell like nutmeg, lemon, hazelnut, evergreen and countless other aromas. Their leaves come in different shapes and colors, and some have colorful blooms to boot. (The so-called "mosquito-plant," a scented geranium reputed to repel mosquitoes, should not be depended upon for that purpose. Our mosquitoes pay no attention to them.)
Geraniums prefer to be planted in pots. They love clay pots, and university studies have shown that they thrive in pots which are taller than they are wide. Why this is, we don't know, but when we added and inch of height to our geranium pots a couple of years ago, the geraniums nearly doubled in size.
When you start with healthy, jumbo geraniums, you get a show right away. Geraniums bloom all summer and late into the fall.
Author Gertrude Stein once commented, "never trust anybody who doesn't love geraniums." Don't risk being distrusted. Pick up some jumbo geraniums at Bergeson's this spring. Geraniums in pots and planters can be placed outside now. They would need to be moved inside in the event of a frost.

Thief River Falls second baseman Becky McKercher fielded the throw while shortstop Erika Hudson backed up the play as Kittson Central/Kittson County North runner Lesley Dahl came up with a stolen base in the second inning of Monday's high school softball game.

TRF softball team wins 2-0 game

Stephanie Leach pitched a two-hit shutout and Thief River Falls took advantage of five fourth inning Kittson Central/Kittson County North errors to score a pair of runs that stood up for a 2-0 Monday high school softball win at the fairgrounds diamond.

There wasn't much offense on either side, with the winners collecting only five hits themselves. But Thief River Falls' defense emerged a winner in the Prowlers' final game of the 1998 regular season.

"I was expecting more (offense)," admitted Thief River Falls coach Ken Fletcher, "but the kids worked hard and did a nice job on defense."

Only scoring occurred in the fourth inning that began with a two-base error on an infield ground ball off the bat of Becky McKercher. She stole third and scored when the visitors misplayed an infield grounder hit by Heather Torstveit.

Torstveit was thrown out trying to steal second and an infield pop-up gave Kittson Central/Kittson County North an opportunity to get out of the inning without further damage.

But another rash of mistakes made it 2-0. An error put Rachel Greelis on base, and she went to third when the Kittson County cooperative misplayed a ground ball hit by Becca Leach. A throwing error on a stolen base by Leach allowed Greelis to score from third.

Thief River Falls finished the regular season 4-12. A coaches seeding vote was to take place Friday to set up the draw for the North Sub-Section 8AA tournament, which begins Monday at two sites – No 5 at No 4 and No. 6 at No 3. The top two seeds will meet the first round winners in the Wednesday semifinals, scheduled to be played at the site of the No. 1 team.

Championship game will be played Friday, May 22, at the site of the highest-seeded team. Winner will take on the South Sub-Section 8AA representative in the 2-out-of-3 Section 8AA finals May 27 and 29.

Alexandria, Bemidji, Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls, Moorhead, and Thief River Falls are grouped in North Sub-Section 8AA, while Brainerd, Elk River, Little Falls, Rocori, St. Cloud Apollo, St. Cloud Tech, Sartell, and Sauk Rapids-Rice are in the South Sub-Section 8AA bracket.

Rain cancels girls meet

Heavy rain washed out Tuesday's Detroit Lakes Invitational girls high school golf tournament. Thief River Falls was part of the field that was called off the course after just five holes had been played.

Hibbing third baseman Jay Karels pulled down a high throw from pitcher Josh Jacobson as Northland runner Ryan Halvorson did a head-first dive back to the bag in the first inning of Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division baseball doubleheader opener. Halvorson was caught off third on a hard-hit ground ball back to the mound, but managed to escape the run-down and avoid the out on the play. The Cardinals won the game 21-3.

Pioneers lose pair to Hibbing

Hibbing belted Northland 21-3 in Game 1, then posted a come-from-behind 5-4 victory in Game 2 Wednesday to complete a Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division baseball doubleheader sweep on the Pioneers' diamond.

It was the final home appearance of the 1998 season for the 8-16 Pioneers, who have lost three straight twinbills. They are scheduled to close out the year today (Saturday) against Vermilion at Ely.

Wednesday's doubleheader was a tough one on Northland from start to finish. It began with an error, hit-batsman and walk that loaded the bases for Hibbing in the top of the first inning. Bill Parris followed with a two-out double into the left-center field gap that gave the Cardinals a quick 3-0 lead.

A run-scoring double by Ryan Halvorson and an RBI single by Chanc Keefe in the Pioneers' first at-bat put them right back in it. But six Northland errors and 10 walks issued by the Pioneers' pitchers simply gave the visitors too many opportunities over the course of the game to bring their big hitters to the plate with runners on base.

The extra outs helped set up two Hibbing grand slam home runs – a third inning shot to center field by Parris, and a sixth inning drive to right field by Joe Gingerelli. They both finished the game with seven RBI.

Northland regrouped in the nightcap. The Pioneers got just two hits off Rob LaTendroese, but an error and a passed ball scored two of their three first inning runs, and an error, hit-batsman, walk and fly-out made it 4-0 in the third.

The Pioneers' Kevin Grabowska carried a two-hitter himself into the sixth before a 4-1 lead became a 5-4 deficit. Back-to-back singles by Ty Carlson and Parris that began the Hibbing rally were followed, in succession, by a one-out error, walk, single by Jay Karels and another walk before the Pioneers could get out of the inning.

"It was frustrating," said Northland coach Chris Mills after the second game lead slipped away. "Kevin pitched well, but I think it showed at the end that he's still not 100 percent healthy (having suffered a knee injury in an outfield collision with the fence recently). He tired out. But the kids showed a lot of character coming back in the second game after that ugly first one."

SPORTS BRIEFS

Rogalla is honored

Given a second chance to complete his senior season with the University of North Dakota baseball team, Thief River Falls' Carter Rogalla took advantage of the opportunity in record-breaking fashion this spring.

With the flood wiping out most of last year's spring sports schedule at UND, Rogalla and other the other 1987 seniors were given another year of eligibility to complete their college athletic careers.

The 5-11, 165-pound outfielder made it a memorable return by setting school single-season records this spring for home runs (20), runs scored (64), runs batted in (65) and total bases (143) this spring. He set a North Central Conference record by scoring 32 runs and tied the league mark with 10 home runs. Thursday, he was named all-conference for the second time and was selected as co-MVP in the NCC, along with Mankato State outfielder Josh Smith.

Rogalla, who started 174 consecutive games, hit .386 as UND went 37-15 and finished second in the North Central Conference tournament.

Kopari throws are No. 1

Nicole Kopari has the best throw in both the discus and the shot put this spring in Minnesota girls high school track competition.

According to the weekly honor roll published in the Star Tribune Thursday, Kopari's 149-5 throw in the discus and 43-6 toss in the shot put are the best distances in the state heading into the final week of the 1998 regular season.

Football coaches resign

Section 8AAAA lost two long-time high school football coaches this week with the announcements that Rick Manke of Detroit Lakes and Don Stueve of Fergus Falls have resigned.

Manke accumulated a 187-55 record in 22 years as head coach – nine years at Glyndon-Felton and the past 13 years at Detroit Lakes, where his Lakers won Class A state titles in 1992, 1993 and 1995.

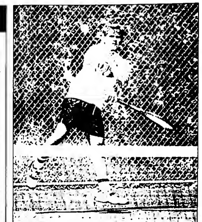
Stueve coached 30 years at Fergus Falls, where he was 192-105-1. A 220-121-1 career coaching mark includes stops at Pelican Rapids, Breckenridge and Montevideo. His Otters won three sectional titles and reached the Class A semifinals in 1986 and 1987.

Elementary swim camp will be held May 18-22 at FMS

An elementary school swim camp, sponsored by the Thief River Falls Swim Club, will be offered free of charge May 18-22 at the Franklin Middle School pool.

Instruction will be given on the four basic competitive swim strokes. Members of the Thief River Falls Swim Club, under the supervision of Lincoln High School head swimming coach Brian Olson, will serve as camp instructors.

Sessions will be held for grades 2-3 from 3:15 to 4 p.m. and for grades 4-5 from 4:15 to 5 p.m.



Only requirement for participation is the ability to swim one full length of the pool without the aid of a kickboard.

A "just for fun" swim meet will be held Friday to close the camp.

Registration will take place on the first day of camp. For additional information, contact Jodi Bergman at 681-8668 or Muriel [illegible] at 681-[illegible] after 5 p.m.

Allsn Boler played at No. 4 singles for Thief River Falls Wednesday as the Prowlers closed out the 1998 regular season high school tennis schedule with a duel against Bemidji. The Lumberjacks won 5-2.

Bemidji is 5-2 winner vs. TRF tennis squad

Bemidji lost at No. 1 and No. 2 singles, but won the rest of the matches Wednesday for a 5-2 boys high school tennis victory over host Thief River Falls.

The meet, rescheduled from Tuesday because of rain, closed out the 1998 regular season schedule for the Prowlers. They will take a 1-12 dual meet record into the North Sub-Section 8AA tournament at Alexandria. Team matches will be played Monday. Individual play will take place Wednesday.

Tom Fogarty and Joseph Broten were the Prowlers' winners against the Lumberjacks.

"Tom is getting better, and Joseph is playing well," said Thief River Falls coach Sylvia Sjoberg. "Our doubles are playing okay, but they're just not winning."

Bemidji 5, TRF 2

Singles - 1. Tom Fogarty (TRF) def. Matt Yavarow 6-4, 6-1; 2. Joseph Broten (TRF) def. Aaron Karger 6-3, 6-0; 3. Peter Engelstad (Bemidji) def. Matt Winjum 6-3, 6-1; 4. Austin Severson (Bemidji) def. Allen Bolar 6-0, 6-0.

Doubles - 1. Randy Baird-Nate Schuette (Bemidji) def. Andy Janisch-Josh Cahalan 0-1, 6-3; 2. Jim Wheeler-Leland Potter (Bemidji) def. Bailey Nordin-Darin Bjerknes 6-7, 6-3, 6-1; 3. Cody Crawford-Trevor Potter (Bemidji) def. Jayme Holmes-Rob Dahlen 6-4, 6-2.

TRF golfers finish 1-2 in Wednesday outing

Top two medal spots went to Thief River Falls Wednesday at the combination Red Lake Falls and Fertile-Beltrami Invitational boys high school golf tournament.

Thief River Falls freshman John Sjoberg turned in a tournament-leading 74 and teammate Adam Nordin, a senior, was one stroke behind. Sjoberg had rounds of 36-38, while Nordin went 39-36.

Team title went to Fosston with a 311. Red Lake Falls/Plummer was second at 319. Thief River Falls finished fourth in the 16-team field with a 326.

The Dick Tyler-coached Prowlers, who were scheduled to golf at Warroad Friday and at Roseau today (Saturday), finish the 1998 regular season at Detroit Lakes Tuesday. The Section 8AA meet will be held Friday at Perham.

Work on T.H. 64 in Hubbard county to start on May 18

Work to reconstruct a portion of Hwy. 64 near Badoura in Hubbard county is scheduled to begin on Monday, May 18. The work area will extend from Hwy. 87 at Badoura to the south junction of Hwy. 87 and the project will last for approximately 100 working days.

Motorists can expect to experience periodic traffic delays and alternating use of lanes. Anyone traveling through this area should be extremely alert and obey all traffic signal advisories.

A detour is planned but will not be put into effect until August 1. Mn/DOT will issue a news release at a later date explaining the detour route. Mn/DOT also reminds drivers that anyone caught speeding in a highway work zone will be fined double under Minnesota law.

and became an instructor and jumpmaster in the paratroopers, serving in the military for 31 years.

He received a number of medals and commendations and served in Japan, Central Europe, five years in Vietnam and in Washington, DC, among many assignments. He retired in 1973 and with his wife Bonnie settled at El Paso, TX. She died in September of 1995 and he died April 13, 1996.

Although he frequently returned to Warren to visit friends, he never personally fulfilled his desire to make a gift to Warren/Alvarado/Oslo high school as a final illness prevented his planned return. In his will, however, he left $100,000 to the school with the stipulation that the interest only be used for scholarships.

The Warren/Alvarado/Oslo Education Foundation used the bequest to establish the Lyle H. Engelstad Scholarship Fund through the Northwest Minnesota Foundation. This year seven $1,000 scholarships are being awarded in his name.

Outstanding Leadership Award

Quentin Fairbanks is elderly maintenance coordinator for the Red Lake Indian Reservation. His award for outstanding leadership is given to an individual who has participated in the Foundation's Leadership Development program and returned to job and community, actively putting to use the skills learned.

Fairbanks is a member of the Headwaters Regional Development Commission board, Beltrami county planning commission and Beltrami county Red Cross chapter. He is chair of Minnesota Rural Partners, a statewide rural development council, and was recently appointed to the Red River Basin board, an international coalition of local, state and tribal/provincial policy makers addressing water issues. He is on the loan committee for the Minnesota Development Corporation for Children and the advisory board for Norwest Bank of Blackduck.

Along with a plaque recognizing his achievements, Fairbanks is given the opportunity to award $1,000 to a charity of his choice. He selected a nursing home on the Red Lake Reservation.

Outstanding Nonprofit Award

Patricia Crummy is director of the Argyle Living at Home/Block Nurse program. She received the award given to a staff member, board member or volunteer who participated in a Foundation grant or training program and who has contributed significantly to improving the effectiveness of a nonprofit organization.

Crummy started the program in 1992 to offer services to seniors which would enable them to live independently as long as possible. She built a volunteer system in which the entire community participates. Service clubs, students and churches work together as volunteers. Information and communication is provided by the banks, local newspapers, cable television, posters at local business places and church bulletins.

Patricia built partnerships with other agencies, working closely with North Valley Home Health, the Area Agency on Aging, Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, Lutheran Social Services and others to ensure the best and most effective services are available to seniors.

In addition to awarding Mrs. Crummy a plaque, the Foundation provided an unrestricted grant of $1,000 to the Argyle Living at Home program.

TRF Education Association hosts special event

Several individuals will be honored by the Thief River Falls Education Association from 3:45 to 5 p.m. Monday, May 18 at the Lincoln High School Cafeteria.

The Education Association will be honoring the district retirees and friends of education, specifically: Glenn Espe, Glen Peters, Cecilia Stallman, Deone Cerny, Elvera Cullen, and Pat Beauchane as retirees, and Mike Barry and Marvin Lundin as Friends of Education.

Guests at the event will also include the Minnesota Commissioner of Education, Robert Wedl.

The public is invited to attend this event. Coffee and cake will be served during the event in the Lincoln High School Cafeteria from 3:45 to 5 p.m. on May 18.

Northwest Medical Center expands emergency room hours

The contract also covers holidays. As of June 1, 1998, Lakes/NES will be providing doctors for emergency room coverage during the evenings (7 p.m. to 7 a.m.) Monday through Thursdays, as well.

Spyhalski said Lakes/NES has been successful at recruiting physicians. Generally, he added, they are not aligned with Altru or Dakota. The physicians have all the licensing and requirements as specified in the contract. Some are still in residency and others specialize, such as Dr. Rittenour, who is a resident of Thief River Falls. In 1997, there were about six or seven physicians who covered the emergency room in Thief River Falls, many of whom have devoted most of their practice to emergency room medicine.

Dr. Mickelson said Lakes/NES has had a good working relationship with Northwest Medical Center, and looks forward to further involvement in emergency medicine at the hospital.

Spyhalski is confident doctors of Altru and Dakota would respond in a true crisis, as well. In the event of a true emergency involving multiple injuries, Spyhalski believes the community has more depth now than it has ever had because there are so many doctors in the community.

Lincoln choir in special concert Tuesday, May 19

•Lincoln high school concert choir, which returned Wednesday morning from its trip to New York City, will present a special "Songs of Jubilation" concert Tuesday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium under the direction of Darcy Reese.

Mrs Reese said that the concert will include the choir's cathedral selections and Mozart's Mass in C Minor which was performed at Carnegie Hall.

Admission will be free of charge and the public is encouraged to attend.

Class Is In Session

How much would you say you learned about fishing last weekend? No, we're not discussing the realization of a seven-year-old's attention span or your fishing buddy's beer-induced "true confessions," although both may serve you well in other future matters. What we want here is an accurate assessment of your increased ability to put fish in the boat.

Now, before you lay any northern Minnesota machismo out, claiming you already know all you need to know about fishing Lake of the Woods, understand that stagnation leads to eventual failure. Ask Darwin. Life at the edge is where it's at. Constant adaptation is the only way to ensure survival. And while Darwin may have envisioned weightier applications for his theories, they are as appropriate in a fishing boat as they are on an evolutionary scale.

I realize, however, that a history lesson wasn't what you bargained for when you began this reading. A bit on the dry side, perhaps. Apologies. Why is it important that you learned a little in the ol' Pro V last weekend? Because you hope to catch fish next weekend. Let's just do the math.

Roughly 400 fishing boats descended on Lake of the Woods on the opener. This is obviously a round number estimate arrived at through a completely unscientific process. I merely called around and generalized observations from sources around the Minnesota side of the lake. The exact numbers are irrelevant, it's the though that counts.

In each of those boats was an average of three fishermen. Most of the commercial excursions carried four to six bodies, but there were a surprising number of singles afloat (perhaps an indication of the opinionated nature so prevalent north of Highway 2). Three per boat is a fair assessment, bringing our total to about 1,200 fishermen. No calculators necessary yet.

Sunday saw a lot of familiar faces. It only makes sense that anybody who expends the effort to fish the opener will fish opener "Day Two." In other words, Lake of the Woods attracted 1,200 anglers for the weekend and they all fished two days. Once again, no new math; we arrived at 2,400 angler days.

Fishing was good, not just for an opener but for any time. Reports of limits were common, especially for those who stayed until day's end. But we've been dealing with averages to this points, so let's continue to dance that dance. There were almost as many reports of one or two as there were of six fish caught. Not everyone can tolerate patience fishing. For fish per person is a realistic average. Pencil to paper: 9,600 fish. These were not all two-pound walleyes, no matter what the guy next door claims. A one-pound average keeps the slide rule in the drawer—9,600 pounds of walleye.

"But that's eight fish!" you scream self-righteously. "What about limits?" Well, some coolers go home a little heavy, but a more significant factor in our equation is the fish eaten at traditional "opener" fish fries. Those who catch tend to eat—simple jungle law.

To review: 400 boats x 3 anglers/boat x 2 days of fishing x 4 fish/person x 1 pound/fish=9,600 pounds of walleye out of Lake of the Woods. Simple subtraction tells you that there's fewer fish available for you next week.

Now realize the DNR's annual harvest average estimate of 362,000 pounds of walleye this fishing season and the implications are significant. You need to be better at catching what's left if you're interested at just maintaining your present fishing status.

How much better? Numbers can be merciless. A 9,600 pound reduction on the opener applied to 362,000 total pounds for the season implies being 2.5% better this week if nothing changes before Saturday, and it will. Even if we look at this optimistically, you better pick up your game five to six percent by June 1 or you're slipping. Who knows how far behind the rest of the class you'll fall by July if casual golf steals a couple weeks of your attention. Sixty thousand fewer pounds of midsummer walleyes will demand a significant refinement of your angling skills.

Some small consolation is available in traditionally active walleye patterns and the gradual emergence of smaller fish to keepable size during the course of the season. However, if success depends on these meager scraps of hope, you'd better stick to the golf game. Even these prospects are offset by the knowledge that the remaining fish are better adapted to avoiding your hook and will pass those traits on to future generations of walleyes. Things just keep getting tougher. As Darwin suggested and as evolution demands, you have to improve just to survive. Maintaining the cozy comforts of the status quo is the equivalent of extinction.

Are you a 2.5% better fisherman today than you were on Friday? Can you improve your skills 10% by August? What did you learn last weekend?

Conference on caregiving

Trinity Lutheran Church in Crookston will be the site of the 5th Annual Conference on Caregiving on Tuesday, May 19 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The event will be hosted by Lutheran Social Service Respite and Caregiver Support program located in Crookston.

Speakers for the conference will include Molly Socby, coordinator of Altru Diabetes Center, and Lynette Dickson, dietitian for the American Diabetes Association. Their topic will be "Diabetes: How to Cope, Care and Prevail." Pennington County Extension Educator Glenice Johnson will present "Day to Day with Alzheimer's Disease." Playing on Purpose Productions will also be back by popular demand, performing a series of one-act plays about aging.

There is a $12 registration fee. For more information, call (218) 281-5975 or 1-800-317-4845.

Senior mental health focus of meeting in Fertile

Senior citizens' mental health will be the focus of a meeting on Wednesday, May 20 from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Fertile Community Center, 101 South Mill Street, Fertile.

Hosted by Regional Coordinating Board One, the meeting will feature a representative from First Care Home Health who will discuss home health care and the mental health needs of seniors. Also, a registered nurse practitioner from the Center for Psychiatric Care will offer perspectives on treating mental health in the nursing home setting. Seniors and/or their families are encouraged to attend and share health care experiences.

The Regional Coordinating Boards — consisting of consumer, provider, employer, labor, health plan, public health and government representatives — were established by the 1992 MinnesotaCare Act to identify issues they believe are top concerns for regional health care.

For more information, call the Minnesota Department of Health at (612) 282-5644.

Granlund Lodge Sons of Norway to meet May 21

Granlund Lodge 240 Sons of Norway will meet on Thursday, May 21 at 7 p.m. at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston.

The program will include a video entitled "The Sounds of Norway." The business meeting will include information about the upcoming bus trip to Moorhead for the dedication of the replica of the Hopperstad Norwegian Stave Church at the Hjemkomst Center. Refreshments will be served.

Singles Christian Fellowship to meet May 24

Singles Christian Fellowship will hold its regular monthly meeting on Sunday, May 24 at 3 p.m. at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston.

Special guest Clyde Estey of Mahnomen will display a variety of handmade baskets constructed of natural materials native to the area.

Following a sing-along, a business meeting will include the planning of upcoming events. After devotions, a potluck supper will be served at 5 p.m.

School District meeting May 18

School District 564 board of education will hold a special meeting at 6 p.m. on Monday, May 18, at the Evergreen Eating Emporium. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss education issues with the Commissioner of Education Robert Wedl.

DNR meeting slated in Warroad will address off-highway vehicles

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will host an open house Wednesday, May 20, at Warroad to provide information and take comments on proposed rules allowing the use of off-highway vehicles on state forest lands. Off-highway vehicles include four-wheel drive trucks, all-terrain vehicles and off-highway motorcycles.

The meeting, part of a series of sessions across Minnesota in May, will be held from 2 to 7 p.m. at the Warroad Area Forestry Office, 1101 East Lake Street.

As part of a long-term effort to develop safe, environmentally sound recreational opportunities for those who operate off-highway vehicles, the DNR is in the process of classifying 4 million acres of state forest lands and updating administrative rules governing recreational use of state forests.

In recent months, DNR staff, in cooperation with county, federal and other land managers, have developed proposed classifications for all state forest lands under DNR jurisdiction. The process will place state forest lands into one of three categories:

■ Managed - all forest roads and trails are open to off-highway vehicles unless posted closed. No cross country travel except to retrieve a legally taken, big game animal during authorized hours.

■ Limited - off-highway vehicles may travel on forest roads and designated trails only. All trails closed unless posted open. No cross-country travel.

■ Closed - only motor vehicles licensed for public highway use allowed, and only on open forest roads. No motorized vehicles allowed on trails, and no cross-country travel.

Department of Natural Resources Northwest Region is proposing that all state forest lands be classified as "managed," with all roads and trails open to off-highway vehicle use unless posted closed. This is a continuation of current policy and consistent with county and federal public land use in the region. The primary change from current policy is a restriction on cross-country travel

State Ditch 83 options to be discussed at May 27 meeting

Several options and the recommended proposal for State Ditch 83, which is also known as the Thief River, will be discussed at an informational meeting 6 p.m. Wednesday, May 27, at Northland Community and Technical College.

Houston Engineering Inc. has prepared a list of alternatives and options for discussion. These options and alternatives include:

• Do nothing. There is no work or expenditure required with this option. The current conditions of the ditch will remain unchanged.

• Clearing. A second alternative is to clear the trees and debris from the channel. Clearing and snagging of part of the channel was completed over the winter of 1997-98. This option may provide a slight improvement in the capacity of the channel, but would not be expected to provide a large increase in channel capacity since this option does not address the sediment within the channel. Clearing, grubbing and reseeding the ditch right of way would include work on about 180 acres. The estimated costs for this option are approximately $600,000.

• Clearing and Restoring the Channel (1:1 sideslopes). A third alternative involves restoring the channel to the condition to which it was constructed. This alternative includes 550,000 cubic yards of excavation to restore the channel to the constructed condition, and requires clearing to provide access to the channel as well as to provide a location for disposal of the spoil materials. This alternative will restore the capacity of the channel. Removing the accumulated sediment from the channel will provide a significant increase in channel capacity. The estimated costs for this option are approximately $2 million.

• Clearing and Restoring the Channel (one side construction and 1:1 sideslopes). A fourth alternative involves restoring the channel to the condition to which it was constructed, with construction from one side of the channel. This alternative aims to reduce the clearing of the channel banks by repairing the channel from one side, rather than both sides. Since much of the sediment in the channel has been deposited in point bars, we believe that it is not practical to complete all of the repair work from one side of the channel. We have analyzed this option assuming that work would be primarily from one side of the channel, but the side worked would alternate so that construction would take place on the channel side where point bars have formed.

This alternative includes 550,000 cubic yards of excavation to restore the channel to the constructed condition, and requires clearing to provide a location for disposal of the spoil materials. This alternative results in reaches of the channel banks that would not be cleared. In order to provide access to the work site we have identified temporary and permanent access trails. The permanent trail would provide access along one side of the channel for inspection and maintenance purposes. The temporary access trails would provide construction access to separate work areas removing the need for continuous channel clearing.

This alternative will restore the capacity of the channel. Removing the accumulated sediment from the channel will provide a significant increase in channel capacity. The estimated costs for this options are approximately $1.8 million.

• Clearing and Restoring the Channel (2:1 sideslopes). A fifth alternative involves restoring the channel to the condition to which it was constructed, and performing additional excavation to flatten the sideslopes to a 2:1 ratio. This alternative includes 875,000 cubic yards of excavation for flattening the sideslopes and restoring the channel to the constructed condition. Clearing is also required to provide access to the channel as well as to provide a location for disposal of the spoil materials. Removing the accumulated sediment from the channel will provide a significant increase in channel capacity, and flattening the sideslopes will provide additional capacity. The estimated costs for this option are approximately $2.4 million.

• Clearing and Restoring the Channel (4:1 sideslopes). A sixth

Lt. Col. (Retired) Wayne Lunsetter of Getzke will be guest speaker for Thief River Falls Memorial Day Services Monday, May 25, at 10:30 a.m. in Greenwood Cemetery. In case of rain the service will be held at the club rooms of American Legion Post 117. Public attendance at the service, co-sponsored by the American Legion and Post 2793 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is invited. A review of the program was published in the May 20 edition of The Times.

Campground controversy in Red Lake Falls

Red Lake Falls - Can a campground be built in Red Lake Falls at the north end of Stephens Avenue?

According to a letter written by the former city administrator to Dick and Dianne Brumwell, the answer is yes. According to the Johanneck families, the answer is no.

Brumwells are the owners of Voyageur's View Campground and Outfitters. After leasing the property in question for several years, they purchased it after inquiring about whether or not a campground could be built there. The Johanneck families, whose homes border the property, claim that an ordinance was misread and that a campground is not allowed there. The city of Red Lake Falls may be in for a lawsuit over the matter. Red Lake Falls Gazette

Hospital is now latex-safe zone

Alexandria - If you're thinking of sending a balloon bouquet to a sick friend at the Douglas County Hospital in Alexandria, think again.

The hospital is now a "latex safe zone." This means that latex balloons as well as other latex products will not be allowed in the building. The ban is the result of a growing awareness of latex allergies.

The hospital began a latex management plan in an effort to provide a safer environment for health care workers as well as patients. Echo Press

Law officials indicted for prostitution

Bemidji - A Bemidji police sergeant and a Beltrami county sheriff's deputy were indicted recently by a grand jury on numerous counts of soliciting and promoting prostitution.

The indictments were the culmination of an investigation conducted by agents of the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension and the Attorney General's office. Both agencies handled the case at the request of local authorities. Two other individuals were indicted on similar charges. The Pioneer

Cafe end leaking water tower cause trouble in Oklee

Oklee - The decision of the current lessees of the Oklee Cafe to call it quits and a leaking water tower were at the top of the trouble list for the Oklee City Council at a recent meeting.

MaryLou and Steve Schmidt, current lessees of the cafe, have found the weekly drive from Bemidji to be too much and feel the cafe would be better off if it were more locally managed. While they don't plan to leave the cafe without management, they would like to end their commitment soon.

It has been discovered that the new water tower has a serious leak because apparently water was left in the tower over the winter causing the riser pipe to crack and separate, and the compression joint has shifted. The City has filed a claim with its insurance company. The Oklee Herald

Klinkes realize dream with Zeke's Landing store

Gene (Zeke) and Janelle Klinke build and operate convenience store

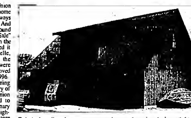
by Kathi Carlson
Northern Watch Reporter

"I just love it!," Janelle Klinke enthusiastically says as she goes from gas to grocery to gifts to live bait to ice cream at Zeke's Landing on Union Lake near Erskine.

Zeke's Landing opened on August 9, 1997, and owners Zeke and Janelle Klinke are looking forward to their first full season in business.

While the establishment is a dream come true for the young couple, it took a lot more than dreams to get it up and running. It required planning and research and even more old-fashioned hard work. And the new business is far from all this ambitious couple has going on in their lives.

Eugene "Zeke" Klinke has worked at Northland Community and Technical College for the past ten years as the director of Minority Student Services and was the football coach up until last year. Janelle worked at the University of Minnesota-Crookston for several years and at NCTC this past year. She is in the process of completing her master's degree in human resource development at the University of Minnesota. She has a consulting business that provides computer training as well as training and development for small to medium size businesses. She also has a real estate license and sells properties for her brother at Stuhaug Realty.



Janelle grew up in the Erskine area, and Zeke grew up near Lengby where the couple made their home for several years. They have three children, all with summer birthdays. Taylor is just finishing the second grade, and she will soon be eight. William will be four, and Trevor, who will be five, will be a member of the new Win-E-Mac School's first kindergarten class in the fall.

The couple owned land on Union Lake and decided to build a home there. "It's where we had always wanted to be," Janelle says. And then one day while driving around the lake they noticed a "For Sale" sign in front of an old house on the lake shore. They checked it out and according to Janelle, "lucked out." Included with the lovely home built in the 1930's were 53 acres of land. The family moved to its new home in August of 1996.

Zeke and Janelle began planning their dream business in February of 1997. There was no store on Union Lake, but the Klinkes wanted to build more than just an ordinary store. "We had a vision for a neighborhood store — a country store where folks would linger and visit," Janelle says.

The flood in the spring of last year slowed things down, and Janelle adds, "During that time, we Zeke's Landing is a new convenience store located next to the public access on Polk County 42 on the southern shore of West Union Lake. Billed as the "convenience store with more," the business offers groceries, live bait, gas, hard packed ice cream cones, hot dogs, pizza, gifts, antiques and much more. Owners Zeke and Janelle Klinke live next door with their three children.

Furuseth recalls Norwegian-American service in WWII

Thief River Falls native served in 99th Infantry Battalion in Europe

Leonard Furuseth of Thief River Falls, a member of the 99th Infantry Battalion which fought in the Battle of the Bulge and a number of other campaigns in Europe, is shown with some of his military memorabilia. The pistol was taken from one of two German soldiers he captured near the end of World War II. A member of both American Legion Post 117 and VFW Post 2793, Furuseth is one of the many veterans who finds special significance in Memorial Day services.

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

For military veterans involved in the fierce fighting of World War II, memories may fade but they never go away. And some of the memories of the brutality of war and the camaraderie of military personnel are as clear now as the events when they happened.

Leonard Furuseth of Thief River Falls was one of the "stubborn Norwegians" of the 99th Battalion which began its training at Camp Ripley in Minnesota with a full complement of 1,085 troops and ended the war on May 8, 1945 with only 384 remaining. Despite the unit being credited by the U.S. War Department with 101 days of fighting "nose to nose" with the enemy, Leonard never received an injury.

The close calls he recognizes, however, were more numerous than he cares to think about—not to mention the near misses he may never have been aware of happening.

As much as military people returning from war want to forget about their experiences, there is also a need to remember. For Leonard and other surviving members of the 99th, attendance at reunions of the battalion has been high. One such reunion for this part of the United States was held Wednesday, May 13, in Alexandria. Another is planned September 4-6 in Bloomington.

Battalion Formed From Sailors

Origin of the 99th Battalion was with about 450 Norwegian seamen who had been on boats torpedoed by German submarines during the invasion and occupation of Norway by Germany. They had made their way to the United States and couldn't return to sea but wanted to get into the fight against Germany and eventually liberate their country.

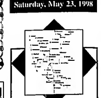
When the Norwegians tried to enlist in U.S. military services they were turned down because they were not U.S. citizens. A group of Norwegian Olympic skiers petitioned the U.S. government to form a battalion of ski troopers. About half a battalion was formed with the Norwegian volunteers and a call went out for Norwegian speaking Americans to fill out the unit.

In April of 1943 Furuseth, who had been drafted into the army Nov. 4, 1942, was stationed at Fort Benning, GA—a place he hated intensely—when he saw a notice on the bulletin board for Norwegian speaking volunteers. He volunteered and an hour later he was on his way to join the 99th Battalion.

Others From Area Served

There were a number of others from the area who also served with the 99th. They included Helmer Myhrer, Martin Hanson, Walter Hoaas and Ed Hestad of Thief River Falls, Harry Solberg and Clifford Johnson of Goodridge, George Thompson of Grygla and Alton Jorgenson and Marvin Neegaard of Warren. Because of its Norwegian settlers, Minnesota provided many of the troops for the battalion.

Had Furuseth known what lay ahead, he might not have been so eager to leave Fort Benning. Now 76 years of age, Leonard was one of the youngest members of the Norwegian-American unit.



The 99th trained as ski troopers,

Roller shakes things up

Crookston - MnDot officials and contractors put a halt to a concrete breaking project in Crookston while they re-evaluated the situation. Officials and residents along 6th Street were all caught off guard by the excessive vibration caused by the 30,000 lb. roller being used to break up concrete along the street.

The project resumed with the roller operating at a significantly lower speed and covering less new ground with each pass. Crookston Daily Times

Victory named Cruiser of the Year

Roseau - Polaris Industries' new Victory motorcycle has been named "Cruiser of the Year" by the editors of Cycle World magazine according to Polaris management.

The new motorcycle was officially unveiled last June and received the Cruiser of the Year distinction before the first one was available to customers. The Victory will be available in limited quantities later this spring. Warroad Pioneer

PUBLIC INVITED

HEARINGS TO BE HELD BY THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION ON THE NEED FOR EXPANSION OF LAKEHEAD PIPE LINE COMPANY'S PIPELINE SYSTEM

Citizens are encouraged to attend public hearings concerning a proposed crude oil pipeline looping project. The time and location of the hearings are listed below.

Thief River Falls
Room 131, Northland Community and Technical College
1101 Highway One East
7:00 p.m., June 10, 1998
and
9:00 a.m., June 11, 1998

Comments and questions from the public will be taken first at both hearings, followed by testimony from the formal parties.

The purpose of these hearings is to determine whether the expansion proposed by Lakehead Pipe Line Company is needed. The proposed pipeline looping project would enter the State of Minnesota on the North Dakota/Minnesota border in Kittson County approximately 12 miles northwest of Donaldson, Minnesota. The ending point will be a connection to Lakehead Pipe Line Company's existing pipeline near Highway 92 and Gully, Minnesota in Polk County. The existing pipeline system, through an interconnection with Minnesota Pipe Line at Clearbrook, Minnesota, delivers approximately 75 percent of the crude petroleum refined in the State of Minnesota. The pipeline system which continues eastward from Clearbrook, Minnesota provides transportation for all crude feedstock for the only refinery in the State of Wisconsin at Superior, Wisconsin. Additionally, the pipeline system provides transportation for approximately 45 percent of the crude petroleum refined in the Chicago, Illinois area. The balance of the petroleum moved by the pipeline system is moved to eastern Canada and other Midwestern and eastern U.S. refineries. The Company proposes to add to its existing pipeline system in the State of Minnesota approximately 69 miles of 36-inch pipeline to increase the capacity of its system on an annual average by 166,700 barrels per day. The proposed expansion would be constructed in the following counties: Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Polk. The pipeline would be constructed parallel and/or adjacent to the same right-of-way as the existing pipeline system.

PUBLIC INVITED TO TESTIFY

The public is invited to testify and present exhibits at the public hearings. Members of the public are urged to make their presentations in person. If they cannot, they may submit written comments prior to the close of the hearings to the state office of Administrative Hearings, administrative law judge, Allan W. Klein, 100 Washington Square, Suite 1700, Minneapolis, MN 55401.

For more information, or a copy of the Notice and Order for Hearing, which contains additional details on the hearing process, contact David Jacobson, Public Utilities Commission, 121 7th Place East, Suite 350, St. Paul, MN 55101-2147, telephone (612) 297-4562.

If you're planning a picnic this holiday weekend, these recipes might give you some help - buns and fruit salads you can make ahead and serve with that barbecued main dish. They would also work well for your graduation parties.

Make this big batch of buns to have ready for Monday's picnic - I've added a few of my own instructions here too:

DARK BUNS
2 cups scalded milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/3 cup molasses
2 cups rye flour
2 packages dry yeast
2/3 cup shortening
1 cup lukewarm water
1 egg, beaten
6 cups white flour

Pour scalded milk over shortening, salt and brown sugar. Cool.

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Let rest while milk cools. Add rye flour, molasses and egg. Gradually add white flour.

Let rise until double (about an hour, maybe less) and then punch down. Form into buns (place so they are not touching and push down well for hamburger-shaped buns, and just make balls and place next to one another to make buns like Grandma). Put into pans and let rise again. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

I haven't tried this recipe yet, but it sounds so easy and so good for a picnic day - I'm going to try it this weekend, so if it doesn't turn out, I'll let you know:

OVERNIGHT BUNS
1 package yeast
1/2 cup warm water
3 eggs, beaten
3 cups warm water
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup mozola oil
11 cups flour

Start buns about 4 p.m., punch down at 6 p.m. and again at 10 p.m.

To mix, dissolve yeast in 1/2 cup warm water. Mix in remaining ingredients in order. Knead mixture and let rise, following above time schedule for punching down.

Make into buns after punching down at 10 p.m. and cover and let rise until morning. Bake about 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

These are a quick and easy substitute for yeast rolls - and they will taste great with any type of main dish:

CHEESE MUFFINS
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 cup nuts, if desired
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons oil
1 cup sharp cheese

Mix dry ingredients. Combine milk, oil and egg and beat well. Add to dry ingredients, and stir just to moisten.

Bake 18-20 minutes at 425 degrees.

Use fresh fruits in season to make this tasty accompaniment to your holiday feast:

FRESH FRUIT SALAD
1 (20 ounce) can crushed or tidbit pineapple with juice
2 or 3 apples, unpeeled
2 or 3 bananas
2 or 3 oranges
Other fresh fruits as desired

Using large bowl, stir pineapple, apples, bananas and oranges together. Add any other fruits, such as grapes, peaches, strawberries, etc. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve. (Would look good in a watermelon "basket".)

Use favorite fruits along with those listed in the recipe to make your own personalized fruit plate:

FRUIT SALAD WITH PEANUT BUTTER DRESSING
1 (6 ounce) can frozen pineapple juice concentrate, thawed
1/4 cup creamy peanut butter
3/4 cup salad oil
4 cups torn-up lettuce
1 cup fresh or frozen sliced peaches (or 8 ounce can sliced peaches, drained)
1 cup fresh or canned drained pineapple chunks
1/4 medium cantaloupe, peeled and cut into wedges
1/4 cup grapes, sliced or whole
1/2 cup fresh strawberries, halved

Mix pineapple juice, peanut butter and salad oil. Blend well and store in refrigerator until serving time. Stir before using.

Line a large platter with the lettuce and arrange fruit on top (peaches and other fruits that darken should be dipped in lemon juice before placing on platter). Serve dressing on the side.

Here's one more fruit salad - a very interesting and very tasty one:

WILD RICE FRUIT SALAD
3 cups cooked and cooled wild rice (measure after cooking)
1 (11 ounce) can mandarin oranges, drained
1 (16 ounce) can pineapple chunks, drained
1 cup walnuts, small pieces
1 (3 ounce) package orange-pineapple gelatin, DRY
1 (13 ounce) carton of whipped topping

Mix all ingredients together and chill.

Judge Anderson appointed as Supreme Court Justice

Judge Russell A. Anderson of Crookston has been appointed by Gov. Arne Carlson to the position of Associate Justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court, succeeding Justice Esther Tomljanovich whose retirement will become effective August 30 of this year.

"Judge Anderson is one of the most qualified jurists I have ever known," Governor Carlson said. "His breadth of experience is matched only by his commitment to his community, his state and his country. He will be a tremendous addition to our Supreme Court." Anderson was first appointed to the Ninth District bench by Gov. Al Quie in 1982.

After being appointed by Gov. Quie, Judge Anderson was reelected to the court in 1984, 1990 and 1996. He is the recent past Chief Judge of the Ninth Judicial District and was vice chair to the Conference of Chief Judges. Prior to serving on the bench, he was Beltrami County Attorney from 1978 to 1982 and in private practice in Bemidji from 1976 to 1982.

From 1968 to 1976, Lieutenant Commander Anderson served in the Judge Advocate General's Corp of the U.S. Navy. He acted as prosecutor and defense attorney for general and lesser courts-martial, as military judge for special and summary courts-martial, and as civil and criminal staff attorney in the Office of Judge Advocate General in Washington, DC.

During his 16 years as a trial court judge, Anderson has presided over complex civil and major criminal litigation, as well as juvenile, conciliation court, commitment, harassment and abuse proceedings, probate, dissolutions and all aspects of judicial work. He also serves regularly as a referee, appointed by the Chief Justice, to make findings and recommendations in attorney discipline proceedings.

An active member of the Crookston community, Judge Anderson has been a member of his school district's education foundation, president of his church council, a ninth grade Sunday school teacher and a member of the Lion's Club and American Legion Post. His family has also served as a host family for Vietnamese refugees in 1978 and 1980.

Judge Anderson earned a Master of Laws degree from George Washington University in 1977, his juris doctorate degree from the University of Minnesota in 1968 and his bachelor of arts degree from St. Olaf College in 1964. He is 55 years of age and resides in Crookston with his wife Kristin. They have three children.

14 counties eligible for emergency loans because of disasters

Fourteen Minnesota counties have been listed as eligible for Farm Service Agency emergency farm loans because of losses caused by severe flooding and ground saturation, heavy rain, hail and crop disease that occurred from April 1, 1997 through Oct. 31, 1997, and continuing, according to U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman.

Beltrami, Clearwater and Pennington were named as primary disaster areas on May 12. Also eligible, because they are contiguous to these counties are Becker, Cass, Hubbard, Itasca, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties.

Farmers in all 14 counties have eight months to apply for the loans to help cover part of their actual losses. To be eligible, producers must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of normal production in a single enterprise, be able to repay the loan and other loans, be unable to obtain credit elsewhere and have adequate security.

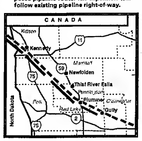
Notice of Application for Partial Exemption from Pipeline Route Selection Procedures and Public Information Meetings Minnesota Environmental Quality Board

Application of Lakehead Pipe Line Company for a Pipeline Routing Permit Pursuant to Partial Exemption from Pipeline Route Selection Procedures

Lakehead Pipe Line Company is proposing to install four separate segments of 36-inch outside diameter pipeline to Lakehead's existing pipeline facilities. The new segments will total approximately 69 miles in length and will be constructed within and/or adjacent to existing multiple line rights easements through the following Minnesota counties: Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Polk.



The Minnesota Environmental Quality Board (EQB) will hold a public information meeting in each county to provide information on the proposed project and to receive information to assist the EQB in determining whether to grant or deny the partial exemption application. The five county information meetings are scheduled for the times and places listed. Representatives from other governmental agencies may be present to discuss their oversight of the project. A more detailed explanation of the proposed project is contained in the application for partial exemption from pipeline route selection procedures filed with the EQB. Copies of Lakehead's application, pipeline routing rules and the pipeline routing act will be available at the information meetings.

In deciding whether to grant or deny the partial exemption, the EQB shall consider comments that are filed with the EQB, the record of the public information meetings, and the information contained in the application relevant to the criteria for partial exemption. Any person may file comments with the EQB stating reasons why the EQB should grant or deny the partial exemption. All comments should be submitted to the EQB by July 1, 1998. If the EQB grants the partial exemption application it must issue a pipeline routing permit. If the partial exemption is denied the applicant may request that the EQB continue processing its application under full pipeline route selection procedures.

Minnesota Rules, Chapter 4415 regulate the review procedures for the routing of pipelines in Minnesota.

Additional information may be obtained from and comments should be submitted to: Larry B. Hartman, Environmental Quality Board, 300 Centennial Building, 658 Cedar Street, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155. Tel. (612) 296-5089 or 1-800-657-3794 and ask for the EQB.

This map shows the location of the proposed pipeline route. The expansion will follow existing pipeline right-of-way.

TRFEA Award Was A Pleasant Embarrassment

For a person who is accustomed to attending events and taking photos where other people receive awards or recognition for one thing or another, it was a bit of an embarrassment Monday afternoon to be one of the recipients of an award.

At an afternoon reception to honor retiring educators, Mike Barry from Pennington Square and I from The Times/Northern Watch received Friend of Education awards from the Thief River Falls Education Association. Mike is a deserving recipient, having done a number of things outside of the line of duty to assist School District 564 and its activities. From my standpoint, I have done little more than just do my job. That is where the embarrassment comes from; there is no need to give special recognition to anyone for just doing their job.

But it was a pleasant embarrassment because it called attention, at least in my mind, to the many times that deserving students and outstanding educators have been featured or at least pictured or mentioned in our publications. To call public attention to these people and their accomplishments has been a very gratifying experience and a personal privilege for me.

As I said to Paivi Young, who along with Cal Lindberg was kind enough to be a presenter of the award, I come to know many students at Lincoln each year by name and activity. Unfortunately I don't have the opportunity to know them well, since our encounters are brief, but for many students the contacts are frequent enough so that a familiarity is established. It is pleasing to me when one of these students greets me by name on the street or in the school corridors or provides some other form of acknowledgement. It is good to be able to have a small part in their lives.

My thanks to the Thief River Falls Education Association for thinking of me when they considered Friend of Education designation this year. In general The Times and Northern Watch have had a very good working relationship with School District 564, its staff and students in our news coverage.

In my position of writing editorial opinion I may not always strike a harmonious chord with all educators, but my concern has always been for the students and the education they receive to prepare them for a lifetime of post-school living. If I come down hard on the education establishment from time to time, it is because I feel that it may be failing those who put their trust in it—just as individual educators must feel about their community or even their own field at times.

It is somewhat ironic that in the week the award was given, a controversial educational issue has surfaced regarding one of my editorials. A letter to the editor in today's issue of the Northern Watch addresses areas of disagreement with last week's editorial in the Watch regarding graduation standards. I encourage you to read this letter for another side to the issue. The writer has extensive personal experience with implementation of the graduation rule and makes her points well. Our editorial comments should never be considered above criticism and we continue to invite any and all to state their opinion in our letters department. There are always lessons to be learned.

Allure Of The Lottery Is Difficult To Fathom

Front page headlines and major emphasis in radio and television news broadcasts accompany the increase in the size of jackpot for the Powerball lottery. According to these reports, as this is being written Wednesday, millions of people have been standing in line all across the country to buy lottery tickets for the Wednesday night drawing.

The allure of the lottery is difficult to understand. Odds against matching all six numbers to win the jackpot are 80.1 million to one! It shouldn't take a whole lot of moxie to realize that trying to beat those odds isn't worth the time or the money. As was pointed out in one story, the odds against being killed by falling out of bed are only two million to one and the odds of freezing to death are three million to one. Nobody believes they will expire from falling out of bed or freezing, but everybody who buys a ticket seems to think he or she can win the lottery.

Many contend that playing the lottery is a harmless pastime, but when the lottery takes an average of $158 per capita annually across the United States, it is more than a harmless pastime; it's a national disease. If you don't spend that much on lottery tickets a year, it's obvious from the averages that someone else spends more.

Had there been no winner Wednesday, the frenzy would have increased for the next drawing which would have been held on Saturday night. The bigger the pot the bigger the interest—and the greater the odds against being a winner.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

As Mayor of St. Hilaire it's been my pleasure to work with many groups and organizations. Two such organizations, Institution Community Work Crew (ICWC) and Sentence to Serve (STS) deserve special recognition. Sheriff Moe, Scott Peters, Duane Lusignan and others are doing a great job supervising these much-needed public programs.

We have recently had some community projects performed in our city by ICWC. Our senior citizen center was given a much-needed facelift as well as the public bathrooms we use for our events on the island. The painting and carpentry done on both these projects was excellent!

STS has helped us out in our city for some time now. Our city park and cemetery, as well as the whole town, have greatly benefited with grass maintenance, clean-up and any repairs we needed done. STS has really come through for us.

Both groups' work ethics and personal behavior are a real tribute to their programs and organizers. We look forward to working with them again and would highly recommend these programs to any municipality anywhere.

Again, I would like to thank the ICWC and STS participants, the organizers and the program directors for helping make the city of St. Hilaire a cleaner, brighter and safer place to live.

Sincerely,
Mayor Ione Scott
St. Hilaire, Minnesota

Project Exceptional courses are offered

Three courses in the Project Exceptional Minnesota program will be offered through the custom training and continuing education department at Northland Community and Technical College early in June.

The classes are intended to assist child care providers, early childhood educators, social service providers and families of young children with disabilities.

First of the classes on Tuesday, June 2, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Northland Community and Technical College is entitled "Care-Giving Strategies: Building Resilience in Children at Risk." Class material will deal with practical suggestions for providing positive and nurturing care to children who may be at risk.

Second class on Saturday, June 6, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon will be presented in Room D7 at the high school in Roseau. Topic will be "More Alike Than Different" and will focus on looking at how myths affect one's perceptions, attitudes and actions, and the importance of knowing one's feelings and values about disabilities.

Third session from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, June 6, also at Roseau high school Room D7, will be titled "Family/Caregiver Partnerships." It will stress the importance of quality relationship building and provide tips for keeping communication open and ongoing. Suggestions will be presented on how providers can assist families of children with exceptional care needs.

Cost to attend the workshops is $10 per session. To pre-register or for more information contact the custom training and continuing education department at NCTC at 681-0793 or 1-800-959-6282.

Polk County museum opens this weekend

Polk County Museum opened for the season on Memorial Day weekend. The hours are from noon to 5 p.m. every day. The season will end the middle of September.

On Sunday, May 31, a special autograph session for Russ Sundet's book "Reminiscing With Russ", will be held at the museum from 2 to 4 p.m. The book contains stories about Crookston and growing up in the 1920's.

Congressman meets with Canadians

Congressman Collin Peterson has spent the past several days continuing to press for a solution to the fishing regulations dispute between U.S. resort owners at the Northwest Angle on Lake of the Woods and the Canadian government in Ontario.

"Over the weekend I met with officials from the Canadian federal government at the annual U.S.-Canada Interparliamentary meeting," Rep. Peterson said. "During the plenary session of that meeting, it was decided that a process to help resolve these issues should be established. The Honorable Brent St. Denis, Member of Parliament for Algoma-Manitoulin and I were chosen to spearhead an ongoing investigation and resolution to this matter."

In addition, a delegation of Canadian government members met with Congressman Peterson at his Washington, DC office on Monday, May 15. Members of that delegation were Hon. Chris Stockwell, MP and Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario; Hon. David Tilson, QC, MPP for Orangeville, Ont.; and Hon. Frank Miclash, MPP for Kenora, Ont.

At that meeting, Rep. Peterson discussed what he described as "the unfair fishing regulations" and asked for assistance from the Canadian legislators to get attention for this situation from Minister John Snobelen, MPC for Natural Resources.

"We discussed the fish stocks in the lake, and how we might be able to improve our cooperative management of the resource so that no one would be disadvantaged, regardless of their nationality or where they happened to be spending the night," Peterson said.

All-City Orchestra Concert Tuesday, May 26 at Lincoln

All-City Orchestra Concert featuring orchestras from Thief River Falls schools will be presented on Tuesday, May 26 at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Admission is free and the public is encouraged to attend.

Orchestras to perform will include the fourth grade and fifth grade orchestras from Challenger elementary school, sixth grade and seventh and eighth grade orchestras from Franklin middle school, the Lincoln high school orchestra and the TRF Symphony, which includes the Franklin seventh and eighth grade orchestra, Lincoln orchestra and members of the Lincoln band.

Director Derek Druse points out that this will be the last concert for senior orchestra members Abbegail Northup, Jason Leach and Jash Hendrickson and a number of members of the Lincoln band.

"Thief River Falls is blessed to have such a talented orchestra," Druse said. "Come out on May 26 and support these fine musicians."

Challenger fourth grade orchestra will open the concert by playing pieces learned by the members during their first year of playing.

Challenger fifth grade orchestra will follow with Cripple Creek, a popular fiddle tune, a minuet by J. S. Bach, an arrangement of William Tell Overture by Rossini; Rockin' Strings, and an arrangement of the popular American folk song Simple Gifts.

Sixth grade orchestra will open the Franklin portion of the concert with Fugue in C by G.F. Handel, followed by Tchaikovsky Festival, an arrangement of two Tchaikovsky melodies; Brandenburg #3 by J. S. Bach, Ragtime Fiddles by Bruce Chase and Walking Basses, featuring the string bass section.

Seventh and eighth grade orchestra will perform Oxford Overture, a modern piece by Elliot Del Borgo, the music to My Heart Will Go On from the movie Titanic, and an arrangement of the famous Toreador Song from Georges Bizet's opera Carmen.

The Lincoln high school orchestra will follow with Spring from Antonio Vivaldi's Four Seasons. The Four Seasons, a series of violin concertos, is the best-selling classical album from year to year. The featured violin soloist is Benji Sayler, helped by solos from Abbegail Northup, Danny Sayler and Jason Leach.

"The movements of Spring depict birds singing, spring storms and rainy days," director Druse said.

Lincoln orchestra will also play a composition by William Hofeldt called The Gift, dedicated to the birth of the composer's son.

Concluding the concert will be the TRF Symphony, performing Procession of the Sardar by Ivanov, Blue Tango by Leroy Anderson and an arrangement of the old-time rock classic, Hang On Sloopy.

Members of the various orchestral groups include the following with an asterisk (*) denoting the principal player:

The Polish Dance Ensemble "Iskry", founded in 1967 under the direction of Henryk Lorenc and sponsored by the Polish Combatants Association, branch 13, will perform during the All Nations Cultural Festival in St. Hilaire July 11 and 12. The ensemble functions as an outlet for young people to foster Polish folk dance and song in its traditional form. The name "Iskry" means 'spark and flash', which is representative of the vibrant enthusiasm the group portrays in their dancing.

Reuter to retire in August as president of Norwest Bank

Roger Reuter

Roger Reuter, president of Norwest Bank in Thief River Falls since August of 1979, is announcing his retirement effective August 1 after 33 years of employment with Norwest.

Roger began his banking career in Hastings in 1965 and transferred to Two Harbors in 1972 as the bank's assistant vice president. In 1976 he transferred to the Thief River Falls bank as its senior vice president and in August of 1979 became president.

Reuter has been very active in the community since his arrival in 1976. At present he is a member of Jobs Incorporated and its board of directors, a position he has held since 1984, and a member and past president of the Thief River Golf Club.

He is a member of the advisory board of Thief River Falls Community Development, member of St. Bernard's Catholic Church and chairman of its finance committee, member of the Elks Lodge and Elks Building Corporation, member of the Northwest Medical Association board of directors, and a member of the Thief River Falls Lions and Eagles clubs.

Roger and his wife Jane have three grown children: Daughter Kathy is married to Mark Steichen and they live in Kansas City, KS, son Tim is married to Melanie Meyer of Middle River and they live in Thief River Falls with children Nicholas and Alexis, and daughter Kristin is married to Mike Schiltz and lives in Detroit Lakes.

Roger's hobbies include hunting, fishing, golfing and cooking. An announcement of his replacement is being made this week.

almost felt guilty working on something so positive." However, their plans progressed, and on Father's Day 1997 the heavily wooded lot next to their house was cleared.

Because the lot isn't big, a two story building was erected and Zeke's Landing opened for business in early August.

The Klinkes have asked for and received some invaluable advice from friend Mike Weibolt, an experienced convenience store owner.

The Klinke's bill Zeke's Landing as "the convenience store with more!" And, there's much truth to their claim.

On the main floor they sell groceries supplied by Hartz Foods along with ice, live bait, tackle and fishing licenses. Gas is also sold.

The coffee pot is on first thing in the morning, and there are rolls and breakfast sandwiches available. A table with chairs and a stack of current newspapers waits for customers who want to sit a spell.

The ice cream cones made with Bridgeman's hard packed ice cream are a big draw at Zeke's Landing with cones so big that Janelle isn't sure about profitability. "There are a lot of kids who have bubble gum ice cream for breakfast every morning around here," she says. Strawberry shortcake and maple nut are also favorites from the eight flavors they have on hand. When Janelle explained to the vendor what kind of mood they wanted to create at Zeke's Landing, he returned with a hand-painted Bridgeman sign that now hangs behind the freezer.

Hot dogs and pizza are also available.

The upstairs of Zeke's Landing contains a wonderful combination of interesting antiques and unique gifts and collectibles, many of them handmade. "I'm a collector," Janelle says. "It seemed like the right way to go." Janelle expresses her own creative side by making some of the dried floral arrangements found in the shop.

A Hoosier cabinet and old roll top desk sit among the new cedar and pine log furnishings. Collectible teddy bears can be found in an old doll buggy and crib. Cupboards hold a delightful collection of gourmet food items. There is old and new Red Wing pottery, including a custom "Union Lake" miniature crock. Fragrant and long-burning "cake" candles can be found among the dolls, wall quilts, decorative wood pieces, and the many other items waiting to be discovered in the upstairs of Zeke's Landing. Many of the pieces have the popular "lodge look," perfect for a lake home or family room.

Zeke's Landing is conveniently located "next door" to the public access on Polk County 42 on the southern shore of West Union Lake. The Department of Natural Resources has plans to improve the access with the first phase taking place this summer and the major construction being done next year. Union Lake offers fish for every type of sportsman — bass, northerns, walleyes and panfish. The lake is large and quiet, and Janelle comments that the residents as well as the visitors are "respectful of others on the lake."

In January, February and March, Zeke and Janelle were only open on Sundays, providing, for the most part, a place for Union Lake's year-round residents to pick up their Sunday paper.

There were times over the winter when they were making the payments without the business bringing in much revenue when they asked, "What did we do?" With the beautiful spring, however, they didn't have to wait long for their answer. Lake residents began to stop by or called to say, "We're back!" Janelle estimates that the population of Union Lake goes from about 100 year-round residents to around 400 in the summer.

While many customers come on wheels — cars, bicycles, rollerblades — or on foot, Janelle says that the water traffic is "the most fun." The Klinkes were delighted to have around 30 friends come across the water to say "hello" on Mother's Day.

They refer to their business as "work in progress" and estimate that it will take another two years to get things just the way they want them. Landscaping was mentioned as one of the works in progress, and they are currently looking into the insurance involved in renting out their pontoon. If that works out, they may add a small fishing boat for rent.

Since May 1, Zeke's Landing has been open seven days a week. And while the store opens at 8 a.m., closing time is negotiable. "Whenever" is the word Janelle uses. "After all, we're right here," she says.

They also have several activities planned for this season which include the 1st Annual Spring Fishing Tournament on June 6, an outdoor antique flea market on June 20 and 21, their first anniversary on August 9, the 1st Annual Fall Fishing Tournament in September and the 2nd Annual Christmas Open House in November on dates to be announced.

Three part-time employees were trained last year and will work again this year at Zeke's Landing. A computer contract takes Michele to White Earth every Tuesday, and there will be properties to show and children to tend to. Much of the Klinke family's quality time takes place on the pontoon on the lake they all love.

And while Janelle was available for this interview, she says that Zeke is every bit involved in and enjoys the business as much as she does. "This is a family thing — a family serving other families," Janelle says. "Zeke and I feel so good."

Whether you're looking for a half-gallon of milk, a bucket of minnows, bubble gum ice cream or a unique gift, you'll find it at Zeke's Landing. You'll also discover a young couple whose goal includes making you feel as good as they do — a couple who loves what they do and are willing to work hard to make their dream come true.

Stenson will attend MusicLink summit in Washington, DC

Ruth Stenson of Thief River Falls will attend the MusicLink summit meeting in Washington, DC June 5-7 as president of the North Dakota Music Teachers Association.

MusicLink is a volunteer program that is intended to connect students with financial need and identified by a school music teacher as having musical talent and genuine interest, with a private music teacher who is willing to offer full or partial scholarships.

It gives school and studio music teachers, and usually local music dealers, a way to work together as advocates for the greater cause of music, and at-risk students a chance to experience applied music and all its benefits. Mrs. Stenson said the Music Teachers National Association hopes to implement the program in all 50 states over the next five years.

Erskine

Erskine, Minnesota – Home of the World's Largest Northern

Erskine is located in what is referred to as the Agassiz Shores area of northwestern Minnesota.

Ten thousand years ago glacial Lake Agassiz left behind a landscape of lakes, wetlands, hardwood trees, sand dunes and prairies from which a diversity of life has thrived. Today this unique mix of land and life around the ancient lakeshores provides an excellent opportunity for enjoyment — fishing, photography, tours, hiking or visiting the friendly people and businesses of the area.

Located in the heart of the Agassiz Shores area on U.S. Hwy. 2 Erskine and its 428 or so residents have much to offer.

Located on the shores of Lake Cameron, a public beach is located right in town, and after visitors have had some fun in the sun they will be able to find just about anything else they need at the many business establishments in Erskine. Visitors can extend their stay at either the Lake Cameron RV Park and Campground or Win-E-Mac Motel.

Further outdoor enjoyment can be found on the Win-E-Mac Golf Course or at nearby Lake Sarah or Union Lake where additional camping options are available as will as some great fishing.

In the spring, the maple trees that trail around Union Lake yield maple syrup which is bottled and sold locally. In fall these same trees provide a beautiful crimson fall color tour.

The lakes, of course, provide ice fishing and snowmobiling opportunities in the winter.

Should you decide to remain in Erskine for a lifetime, you will discover a warm friendly community with a variety of housing options for young and old alike. Churches can be found both in town and in the country.

Perhaps one of the most exciting things going on in Erskine right now is the construction of the new Win-E-Mac School located near the intersection of Hwy. 59 and U.S. Hwy. 2 — proof of the community's commitment to its children.

Whether you're looking for a day of exciting outdoor recreation or a lifetime of peace and quiet you will find it and be welcome in Erskine.

TRF players beaten in No. Sub-Section 8AA tennis tourney

Thief River Falls entries won just one of five matches Wednesday during the individual portion of the 1998 North Sub-Section 8AA boys high school tennis tournament at Alexandria.

No. 8-seeded Thief River Falls freshman Joe Brown beat No. 9-seeded Detroit Lakes senior Brandon Welte 6-2, 6-1 in opening round singles play, but lost to top-seeded Alexandria freshman Matt Carlson 6-3, 6-4 in the quarterfinals.

Rest of the Prowlers bowed out in their first matches.

No. 4-seeded Thief River Falls sophomore Bailey Norlin received a first round bye before losing to No. 5-seeded Fergus Falls junior David Newell 6-1, 6-1 in the singles quarterfinals.

In doubles, No. 6-seeded Thief River Falls juniors Tom Fogarty and Andy Jinisch lost to No. 11-seeded Bemidji eighth graders Cody Crawford and Trevor Potter 6-2, 6-3 in the first round.

No. 12-seeded Thief River Falls juniors Josh Cahalan and Matt Winjum also lost a first round doubles decision, falling 6-3, 6-3 to a No. 5-seeded Detroit Lakes tandem that included junior Mike Spenningsby and sophomore Shane Paskey.

"They (Prowlers) played okay," said Thief River Falls coach Sylvia Sjoberg. "I thought Joe played real well, and Bailey played all right, even though he didn't think he did."

North Sub 8AA Team Tournament
■ First round - Alexandria 5, Thief River Falls 2, Moorhead 4, Detroit Lakes 3
■ Semifinals - Fergus Falls 5, Alexandria 2, Bemidji 5, Moorhead 2
■ Championship - Fergus Falls 4, Bemidji 3.

Northland players named to softball post-season lists

Two Northland Community and Technical College softball players were named to the 1998 Minnesota Community College Conference All-State softball team, it was announced at the conclusion of the MCCC state tournament Saturday won for the first time by the Pioneers.

Paula Hovda and Angie Vagle, a pair of sophomores from Roseau, were the Northland all-state picks. Hovda, a shortstop, was a First Team selection. Vagle, a pitcher, was a Second Team pick.

Hovda and Vagle earned their all-state status after having been named as First Team MCCC All-North Division.

Jackie Magner and Devin Grugal of the Pioneers were Second Team MCCC All-North Division. Magner is a sophomore second baseman from Newfolden. Grugal is a sophomore catcher from Warroad.

Grugal, Hovda, Vagle, and Magner were all named to the MCCC all-state tournament team following the May 15-16 event in Grand Rapids.

Northland reached the finals of the 11-team, double-elimination MCCC state tournament with wins over Riverland 15-10, Vermilion 15-3, Rochester 7-5, and Itasca 7-5. North Hennepin came out of the loser's bracket to join Northland in the finals, and evened the championship match-up at one-loss each with a 9-2 first-game win. But the Pioneers won the title-game showdown 11-5.

North 8AA baseball playoffs under way

Pairings for the 1998 North Sub-Section 8AA high school baseball tournament were announced Wednesday following a vote of the head coaches.

Top seed went to Bemidji, followed in order by 2. Fergus Falls, 3. Moorhead, 4. Brainerd, 5. Alexandria, 6. Detroit Lakes, and 7. Thief River Falls.

Following a single-elimination first round, four teams move into the double-elimination portion of the tournament. Various sites will be used for the first and second round games, with the high seed serving as the host team. Three Tuesday games will be played at a single site – the highest seeded qualifier. The high seed will again be the host team for the Friday, May 29, finals.

North Sub-Section 8AA winner will face the South Sub-Section 8AA champion in the state tournament-qualifying 2-out-of-3-game Section 8AA finals.

MCC/T-C beaten by RLF in 31A softball

Good timing helped carry Red Lake Falls past Marshall County Central/Tri-County 10-5 Tuesday in the opening round of the 1998 Sub-Section 31A high school softball tournament.

The host Eagles were out-hit 8-6 by the Newfolden/Karlstad cooperative, but those hits were spaced between eight walks and five errors.

Miki Waterworth was the losing pitcher, but she deserved better fate, according to Marshall County Central/Tri-County coach Jerald Hagen after watching his senior strike out nine Red Lake Falls batters. "Miki probably pitched one of her best games," said Hagen. "She did walk eight, but they were scattered. We had a couple of costly errors, and they (Eagles) came up with a couple of key hits for the runs."

Four of the Red Lake Falls runs were unearned.

It was a game his team could have just as easily won with a break or two, said Hagen. "It seemed like we out-played them, but we couldn't get the runs across the plate," he explained.

A couple of base-running errors in the first and second innings kept Marshall County Central/Tri-County from potential big innings, noted Hagen, whose team had a chance to cut into a 7-3 deficit by loading the bases with nobody out in the top of the sixth. But three infield outs produced just a single run.

In the other Sub-Section 31A openers, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River edged Red Lake County Central 11-8 and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart defeated Kittson Central/Kittson County North 10-4 to move into the Thursday semifinals.

Grand Forks mayor to receive Phoenix Award from SBA

Mayor Pat Owens of Grand Forks, ND, will be one of four recipients of Phoenix Awards from the U.S. Small Business Administration June 2 in Washington, DC.

She is being honored for "her sturdy leadership and clear vision as she helped Grand Forks recover from the worst disaster of 1997. She worked to make sure federal aid came quickly to flood victims, and helped a congressional delegation push for the approval of a $500 million disaster relief bill."

This is the first time in the 35-year history of Small Business Week (May 31-June 6) that disaster survivors are being honored.

The Problems With Perch

Late summer is an exciting time for commercial fisheries off the East Coast. After a couple months of monotonous porgy fishing, the warmer water of the Gulf Stream bend closer to shore and brings with it a more "tropical" catch.

Sharks didn't do too well in a "trap" net. Forced to swim in tight, rapid circles, they would generally die of heart failure before we finished our morning pull. Occasionally, however, we'd get lucky and a sizable mako or thresher shark would survive the lift aboard where it would be tail-hoisted from our loading boom, its nose suspended a few feet above the deck.

Portuguese fishing tradition then reared its ugly head as we took turns asserting our manhood with a short (three-inch) round-edged fillet knife. A well-placed thrust between and just behind the shark's eyes would kill him instantly. Anything less simply enraged the beast, inciting it to jaw-snapping fits of potentially arm-severing proportion. No, I don't remember any crew member nicknamed "Lefty" and, realistically, this was not an even fight.

We rationalized our cruelty with thoughts of the scup and whiting that would end up in our nets and not in this leviathan's belly. The fact that these sharks would later be marketed as swordfish only adds to the regret.

Fortunately, the Lord moves in mysterious ways. The pangs of guilt that haunted my memories of these episodes have been replaced by an appropriate daily apparition. In ironic retribution for the malicious acts heaped upon the most fearsome figure in the sea, I am now performing a freshwater penance of perch.

There are two kinds of perch in Lake of the Woods—winter perch and summer perch. Winter perch are good. They're big and tasty and extremely marketable to the ice fishing crowd. Summer perch are annoying at best. They tend to be small, occasionally wormy bait stealers who aren't worth the effort to reel in.

As water temperatures warm to the low fifties, summer perch become active in anticipation of their spawning run. Walleyes follow these perch up into the sandy shallows to feed on a clustered food source. And while the hooking of the first small male perch is a hint of the good walleye fishing to follow, it is also a sign that my annual debt is due.

On a "good" day, the boat's party may actually hook 20 or 30 of the pests, losing minnows to countless others. Guests actually consider them a negative, often accompanying their annoyance with pointed comments about the credibility of any guide who would allow his charges to fish in water containing such vermin.

Apologetically, I reach for the offensive fish as it twists and dangles from the tip of their pole in reminiscently shark-like fashion. I hesitate, noting that a misplaced grab behind the gill covers will result in a painful slice of the palm or finger. This, like the stabbing of an enraged mako, takes a steady, firm hand.

But not too firm, I remind myself, as the good health of the perch is also of tantamount importance. Here's the rub. You see, the annoying, wrigglingly lethal nuisance on the end of the line is also the future of my winter fishing efforts. Whether a female that will grow to respectable keeper status or a male that will father future generations, this June fish offers business in February. I do my best to look past the apparent insignificance of the moment and consider the condition of the fish. Squeezing too hard injures them; squeezing too softly injures me.

Faced with such prospects, I bat about .500. If we boat 20 perch in a day, I can expect to go home with 10 or so small cuts and punctures. Some are so minor I won't even notice them until a day or two later when the bacteria that accompanies fish cuts begins to fester and cause painful, debilitating infection. Wouldn't a few Hail Marys' have sufficed?

Oh, and the sperm. As of the cuts and the guilt and the snide comments from the guests were not atonement enough for the sins of my salt water past, it seems I get offered daily milty reminders of the benefit of these diminutive perch, waiting for that gentle squeeze at boatside to deliver their seed to the world.

"Don't hurt me!" squirt, squirt. "The hopes of all future perch" squirt, squirt "rest on my shoulders!" squirt, squirt, squirt, squirt. Ish!

Guiding fishermen is certainly one of the few professions in the world where you can unabashedly offer a towel to a complete stranger and say, "Here, buddy, wipe that glob of semen off your sleeve before it stains."

Yes, given the opportunity to do it all again, I might treat those sharks with a little more respect. But I was young and impetuous then and only aware of the candy-coated limits of ocean life. It was not until my innocence had vanished and the vengeful nature of my God was made clear that I learned of the world of perch.

Replica of Vietnam memorial wall to visit Cavalier, ND

"The Moving Wall," a half-size replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, DC, is scheduled to be in Cavalier, ND, from Monday, June 22 through Monday, June 29.

The 250-foot long, six-foot high traveling memorial will be on display at the Cavalier high school athletic field, located at the south edge of town two blocks east of State Highway 5.

More than 65 of the 58,209 names on the wall came from a 13-county target area in northwest Minnesota and northeast North Dakota. For many families and friends who may never see the full-size memorial in Washington, the Cavalier appearance of the moving wall provides an opportunity to experience what has been termed "one of our nation's most emotionally stirring monuments."

Opening ceremony will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, June 22. An "Honor and Remembrance" program will take place on Saturday, June 27, at which time the names of casualties from Pembina, Cavalier, Ramsey, Walsh, Towner, Nelson and Grand Forks counties in North Dakota and Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Red Lake, Pennington and Polk counties in Minnesota will be read. The candlelight closing will take place at 9:30 p.m. on Sunday, June 28.

MN Unemployment rate reaches new low

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 2.5 percent in April, down from 2.9 percent in March and also well under last year's 3.5 percent. This rate is the lowest rate on record for the state.

The state's unadjusted unemployment rate was 2.7 percent in April, down from last month's 3.2 percent and also down from last year's 3.6 percent. This rate is a record monthly low for the state.

Total non-farm employment in April climbed 0.9 percent, up from 0.7 percent in March, adding 21,700 jobs. The annual growth rate of total non-farm employment was 2.7 percent in April with the number of jobs reaching an all-time high of 2,518,700.

Minnesota Governor Arne Carlson noted that low unemployment rates reflect the continuing strong economy. "The state is enjoying one of the longest periods of economic expansion ever. This will challenge firms' creativity in finding and keeping workers, especially with declining rates of workforce growth. Low unemployment rates are also likely to continue."

R. Jane Brown, Commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security agreed, saying, "Minnesota is on the leading edge of this growing national trend of worker shortages. In times like these, our greatest challenge is helping employers find the skilled workforce they need to continue rapid growth."

training at Camp Ripley and Fort Snelling in Minnesota before being sent to Colorado and then on to England and Wales. The men never saw their ski equipment after arriving in Europe and the unit was converted to a "floating" commando type unit, assigned to fill gaps where needed.

No Prisoners, No Retreat

"We had two distinctions at the end of the war, other than being known as 'those stubborn Norwegians' by every unit we ever joined," Furuseth said. "We never had a member taken prisoner and we never took part in a retreat."

One of the first needs for the 99th was the invasion of Normandy where the unit was involved in 60 days of fighting. The troops rode the back end of Sherman tanks in creating the Cherbourg Pocket and were the first U.S. troops into Belgium in World War II.

Leonard Was A Jeep Driver

Furuseth was a jeep driver throughout his military service. He said he had only three vehicles that he can recall. One was used by a soldier from Crookston who borrowed it to give a ride to another soldier up a hill to a small building near the main camp. As he sat in the jeep it was hit directly by a German shell. "All I could ever find was the cow catcher attached to the front to cut piano wire strung across the roads by the Germans," Furuseth said.

"Another one was stolen by the Germans, I think," he said. "But I stole another one back so that came out even."

Much Decorated Unit

Leonard said the 99th was attached to the First, Third and Ninth Armies as needed and was involved with campaigns in northern France, Rhineland, Ardennes-Alsace and Central Europe. Its personnel earned 15 Silver Stars, 20 Bronze Stars, 307 Purple Hearts and 817 Combat Infantry Badges. The entire battalion was also awarded Bronze Stars and all members of the unit were granted U.S. citizenship. The battalion also received one French, two Belgian and one Norwegian citation.

The 99th was sent alone to take the city of Elbout, France, Furuseth said, and did so in 30 hours of fighting. It was also dispatched to Aachen where American forces had been trying for three weeks to seal off the autobahn which the Germans were protecting as an escape route. After "nine days and nine nights of the fiercest fighting you could ever imagine," Leonard said, "the city surrendered. But it had cost 10 percent of our outfit in killed and wounded."

Promised its first rest since the Omaha Beach invasion, the 99th set up camp at a chateau near Liege, Belgium for 10 days of rest and recuperation. On the third morning at daylight the troops were assembled and Col. Hansen, the commanding officer, told them to get ready and move out because there had been "a mild disturbance up in Malmedy."

Holding The Line At Malmedy

At 11 p.m. on December 17 the 99th arrived in Malmedy to find the city "full of Germans in U.S. uniforms," Furuseth said. He also witnessed the site of the Malmedy Massacre where about 120 captured American soldiers had been herded into a field and shot. Eighty-five did not survive. The battle-weary 99th was involved in 31 days of continuous heavy fighting in what was part of the famous Battle of the Bulge but held fast and prevented the German advance.

According to Furuseth the long battle at Malmedy was "probably the last good fight left in the 99th." After the Battle of the Bulge ended, the battalion went through the Siegfried Line, across the Rhine river and into Germany, cleaning out pockets of resistance as it went.

Liberation Of Buchenwald

Among Furuseth's experiences was liberation of and going through Buchenwald concentration camp, a vision of unbelievable inhumanity. He also drove the lead jeep in a convoy of trucks carrying an unknown cargo but heavily guarded. It turned out to be gold and other valuable items stolen by the Germans from Jews during the holocaust—including the silver and gold teeth of thousands of victims—and found hidden in a salt mine.

On May 8, 1945, Leonard was in a foxhole across the river from Regansburg, Germany, when rumors started that the war was over. "We didn't believe them," he said, "and continued to either move on or dig in our foxholes. The next morning we were assured that the rumors were true and that afternoon we received official word that our dreams had come true."

Unit Transfers To Norway

The next morning the 99th moved out for Le Havre, France, and after a few days to collect needed vehicles, moved on to Norway with 80 men and equipment in each of 13 LST boats. The LSTs unloaded up and down the Oslo Fjord, with Leonard's boat unloading at the city of Drummond. There Furuseth said he "threw my stuff in a room at camp and went uptown to start fraternizing. I saw a cafe sign and decided to go in and have the local people fall all over me. Instead there was only a waitress and one man in the cafe and they shied away."

Furuseth sat down, ordered a beer and called the waitress over for some conversation. "Where's Quisling?" he asked, referring to the Norwegian General who had sold out to the German invasion forces in 1941 and was despised by the Norwegian people.

"Right around the corner in Mulagotten Prison," she replied. "Why don't you go and see him?" "I believe I will," Leonard replied.

Going To See Quisling

Leonard went to the prison where a Norwegian guard asked him what he wanted. "I want to talk with Quisling," Leonard said. The guard balked at the request, then admitted to the American "you're in command." Leonard didn't want to get the guard in trouble, so withdrew his request.

"Come back at four o'clock," the guard then said. "I'll have him in here washing the floor. You can talk to him then." Furuseth said he left and didn't return—a decision that he has regretted many times.

On the morning of October 17, 1945, when the boat carrying the last of the American forces leaving Norway was only minutes away from the dock, Quisling was executed by Norwegian firing squad.

War-Shortened Sermon

One of Leonard's favorite stories from the 99th Battalion is of the chaplain who delivered one of the shortest sermons in military history. Christmas morning services had been called to be held in the only available building in the area—an abandoned barn. A couple of dozen soldiers gathered and the chaplain began his sermon.

"What could be more appropriate," he said, "than a Christmas morning service in a stable?" At that point the first artillery round hit nearby and half the soldiers sprinted out the door. The second round that landed a few seconds later cleared out the rest from the barn and ended the sermon after that single sentence.

"Have A Talk With Yourself"

Regarding the mentality of men at war, Furuseth said "you have to sit down and have a talk with yourself." To survive in a war zone is to adopt a "you or me" attitude and try to forget everything you had been taught about not causing harm to others. The enemy is not other individual human beings but simply "the enemy," and its destruction is the goal.

Malmedy Won't Forget

"The men of the 99th will never forget Malmedy," Furuseth said. And it is obvious that the people of Malmedy do not plan to forget the 99th. In September of 1994 a monument was erected to the 99th Battalion for its participation in the Battle of the Bulge. A road where the action was concentrated has been dedicated to the 99th and named "The Avenue of the Norwegians." Each year a memorial service is held on the Sunday closest to the 17th of December.

A letter from Andre Hubert, a member of the memorial committee, to Morton Tuftedal, historian of the battalion, states:

"Please, consider that our participation in the ceremonies of December 1997 in Malmedy is a small tribute compared to the gallant action of the men of the 99th Infantry Battalion, the Norwegians, but for us it is a great honor to be able to take part in that testimony of gratefulness to those who fought for our freedom.

"Such ceremonies are a way to remember our American friends. We do not forget those who died, those who were disabled and the families who were not blessed enough to see their loved ones return home.

"Thanks again to all the veterans of the 99th Infantry Battalion for their action in the Ardennes. God bless them all and their families."

Leonard said that 42 years after his service ended on Nov. 8, 1945, he had a dream about an incident that was crystal clear and accurate.

"You don't get over it," he said. "You never get over it."

"Dry Nights for Good Morning" date changes

Join Dr. Charles Winjum of the Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls on Thursday, June 4, as he discusses bed wetting and the treatment options currently available for this common problem. Please note the date change. It was originally scheduled for May 28.

Dr. Winjum will be happy to address personal situations that your family may be encountering.

This workshop will be held in the north lobby at Northwest Medical Center at 7 p.m. Participants are asked to pre-register by calling Gail Holland at 218-681-4240, ext. 210. Please register by May 25, 1998. The program is sponsored by Northwest Medical Center and the Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls.

alternative is the Petitioned Request. This alternative involves restoring the channel to the constructed condition, and performing additional excavation to flatten the sideslopes to a 4:1 ratio. This alternative includes 2,030,000 cubic yards of excavation for flattening the sideslopes and restoring the channel to the constructed condition. Clearing is also required to provide access to the channel as well as to provide a location for disposal of the spoil materials. Removing the accumulated sediment from the channel will provide a significant increase in channel capacity, and flattening the sideslopes will provide additional capacity. The estimated costs for this option are approximately $3.9 million.

Each of the alternatives discussed could include a number of variations. For example, the repair work could be done in selected reaches or along the entire 14 miles, or constructed by equipment working from one side or both sides, or excavated using mechanical or hydraulic dredging equipment.

Each of these variations has benefits and detriments. We have not provided quantity or cost estimates for the variations because the number of variations is endless.

Houston engineering is recommending that State Ditch 83 be repaired and cleared and restored to the channel (one side construction and 1:1 sideslopes). It is recommended that the channel be repaired to the originally constructed grade, width, and sideslope and that the repair work be completed in the reach from Station 418+72 to Sta 1151+00. This work will restore the capacity of the channel. They are recommending that the channel be restored to the original 1:1 sideslopes because these slopes are stable, and the excavated volumes are significantly reduced from the other sideslope alternatives.

The public is invited to the information meeting, which will be held at 6 p.m. on May 27 at Northland Community and Technical College.

Game night at Embassy Center Thursday, May 28

Game and card night will be held at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston on Thursday, May 28 at 7 p.m.

Wreath to be laid on Civil War veteran's grave at services Sunday

A special Memorial Day wreath will be laid on the grave of Civil War veteran Alexander Shores during services at Rosendahl Cemetery on Sunday, May 24 at 2 p.m. Pastor Robert Dahlen will deliver the message.

Alexander Shores, who lived between 1844 and 1916, is believed to be the only Civil War veteran buried in Pennington County.

Following the service, a brief business meeting will be held. Lunch will be served.

Trochmanns to perform May 26 at Embassy Center

The Trochmanns, a gospel team from Thief River Falls, will perform Tuesday, May 26 at 7 p.m. at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston.

The five-member team will present the gospel through a variety of instrumental and vocal music. A free will offering will be taken.

Memorials

IN LOVING MEMORY OF
ARTHUR JOPPRU

God looked around his garden and saw an empty place
He then looked down from heaven and saw your tired face
He put his arms around you and took you in his care
To make up for all that you've suffered he wanted you up there
It broke my heart to see you go but you didn't go alone
For part of me went with you the day god called you home
God saw you getting tired and the cure was not to be
So he put his arms around you and whispered come to me
A golden heart stopped beating, hard working hands at rest
God broke my heart to prove to me he only takes me best

I miss you Daddy
Your daughter, Shirley

Children's Miracle Network Telethon to feeture Lancaster youth

Lancaster - Last year what started out as chicken pox turned into strep A septic shock for Zachary Jaszczak. Airlifted from Hallock to MeritCare Hospital in Fargo, Zach spent five weeks in the hospital receiving high doses of antibiotics to kill the infection. He recovered and today enjoys riding a bike, rollerblading and playing like every other 8 year old.

Zach's story will be featured on the Children's Miracle Network scheduled to air on May 30 and 31. He is the son of Idha and Robert Jaszczak of Lancaster. Kittson County Enterprise

Teacher Clarice Floberg retires after 40 yeers

Newfolden - Noting dramatic changes in teaching over the years, Clarice Floberg says, "I have never regretted teaching as a career because I love working with children."

Floberg's 40-year career came to an end this year when she retired from the MCC district. Her future plans include continuing to help at the school with vision and hearing screenings and decorating bulletin boards. New River Record

Stephen-Argyle teem wins national competition

Stephen - Parents, students and school personnel are beaming with pride at Stephen-Argyle Central after a junior varsity team won the national Junior Engineering and Technical Society (JETS) championship.

In March two teams of eight students took two tests at the University of North Dakota. Both the varsity and junior varsity teams qualified for the national test and received special recognition.

The varsity team placed seventh in the nation. They received a plaque and t-shirts bearing the national JETS logo. The first place junior varsity team received the national trophy which will grace the trophy case of the S/A Storm. The Messenger

Sheriff requests no weke speed limit on lekes

Crookston - Sheriff Doug Qualley has requested that the boating public utilizing recreational opportunities on Union Lake and Lake Sarah comply with his request for a voluntary no wake speed limit — usually five miles an hour or less. The public appeal was made because of the extremely high water present on these two lakes.

Wakes can erode shoreline and further damage to properties already damaged or in immediate danger of being damaged by high water.

Sheriff's office water patrols are on duty and statutory authority already exists for citing watercraft operators for negligent operation resulting in property damage. Crookston Daily Times

Nearly 100 people attended the public meeting on State Ditch 83 (Thief River) last Wednesday. Over a quarter of the people at the hearing took the opportunity to express their opinions on what to do with the ditch. One of those people was Don Osborn, Mayor of Crookston. Also pictured, from left, are Lowell Enerson of the Red Lake Watershed District, Dave Zavoral, Minnesota Landowners Rights Association, and Milt Burstad, Thief River Falls City Council representative.

Former resident involved in California murder-suicide

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Word spread rapidly in Thief River Falls Thursday of the involvement of a former resident of the community in a reported murder-suicide in Encino, CA.

Dead are television and movie actor Phil Hartman, 49, and his wife Brynn, 40, the former Vicki Omdahl, daughter of Don and Connie Omdahl of Thief River Falls. They had been married for 10 years and had a nine-year-old son Sean and six-year-old daughter Birgin.

According to news reports, police went to the Hartman home in Encino in response to a 911 telephone call regarding a gunshot in the early morning Thursday. They were removing the children from the home for their safety when they heard another shot. The bodies of Phil and Brynn Hartman were found in the master bedroom of the house.

Lt. Anthony Alba, spokesman for the Encino police department, was quoted as stating: "We are investigating this as a possible murder-suicide. We know for sure that the female inflicted her own gunshot wound." He also said that the actor had been dead "for a while."

Mrs. Hartman's parents in Thief River Falls learned of the shooting when reports were broadcast on national television Thursday morning. As of Friday morning they had still not been contacted by law enforcement officials in California, according to a relative who was answering phone calls Friday morning at the Omdahl home. Local law enforcement also had not been notified by California authorities.

Don and Connie Omdahl remain in Thief River Falls awaiting official information. Their daughter Kathy and her husband Michael Wright, who do not live in Thief River Falls, were in California Thursday evening, according to Stan Rosenfield, owner of a Los Angeles public relations firm which has been retained by attorneys for the Hartman family to answer media calls.

Rosenfield said that Michael and Kathy Wright were named in the will of Phil and Brynn Hartmann as custodial guardians of the children if both parents died. The will also listed Brynn Hartman's brother Greg Omdahl as executor of the estate, Rosenfield said.

It was expected that the Wrights would appear in court in California Friday to obtain an official order granting custodial guardianship of the children and granting permission for them to be taken out of state. It is the family's desire to remove the children from the area, Rosenfield said.

He also noted that there is a lot of family involved since Phil Hartman has five sisters and two brothers and Brynn—who officially changed her given name several years ago—has two sisters and one brother. Brynn's sister Debbie also lives in Thief River Falls.

Police in Encino continue to investigate the shootings. National media also continues to speculate on a motive—also an apparent interest area for television networks and TV news magazines which have inundated Thief River Falls with telephone calls and reporter and camera crews. The Times/Northern Watch and its news staff members have received numerous calls from across the country at the office and at home although we have no information nor comment to provide.

Many other local residents have been contacted individually and some have made appearances on television with personal comments.

According to network news reports and national wire services, Phil Hartman actively embarked on his show business career about 12 years ago when he joined the cast of the television program "Saturday Night Live." He left that show in 1994 and had since had a number of motion picture and television movie roles. His situation comedy program "NewsRadio" on NBC had been recently renewed, he was doing lucrative voice-overs for commercials and his movie "Small Soldiers" was scheduled for release in July. Much of his career was based on impersonations of celebrities and other national figures, including Presidents.

Opinions expressed on what to do with controversial S.D. 83

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Do nothing doesn't seem to be an option anyone is favoring when it comes to State Ditch 83. Wednesday night at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls, about 100 people attended a public hearing on the proposed project along 14 miles of the ditch. During the nearly three hours of discussion, about a quarter of the audience expressed their opinion about the project.

Crookston Mayor Don Osborn offered the services of Crookston's engineering firm to help solve flooding problems for landowners near State Ditch 83 (the Thief River) if the Red Lake Watershed District would drop its plans to repair the ditch. Osborn is concerned that the ditch repair would cause downstream flooding, which would affect Crookston.

Dave Radahl, one of the 16 original petitioners who requested that the ditch be repaired, wants the ditch repaired to protect his living and way of life (farming). Other farmers like Rodahl noted that they had already compromised and not requested an improvement. All they want now is the ditch to be repaired.

Margaret Anderson, manager at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, is sympathetic and wants to be a good neighbor, but believes a great deal has been learned about hydrology since the ditch was defined in 1909. She urged the Red Lake Watershed board to give more consideration to the downstream impacts and encouraged them to look for a solution that takes into account the entire Red River basin.

Eldon Moe believes different factors play a part in the flooding, but believes it is mainly caused because there's no where for it to go.

Representatives of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources suggested that the "repairs" would be much more substantial and could be defined as an "improvement". They suggested that the board undertake an Environmental Assessment Worksheet, and study all the possible alternatives.

Considerable criticism was directed toward the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources by many people. Many felt they should have no stake in the matter because they haven't paid their taxes. A few said the impoundments managed by the DNR and Fish and Wildlife Service have too much water in them now to be effective impoundments to prevent flooding.

Rachel Dahlen enters scholarship pageant

(This is the first in a series of articles about candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the official Miss America Preliminary Scholarship Pageant to be conducted at the Lincoln high school auditorium at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, June 27. Other candidates will be featured in succeeding issues of The Times and Northern Watch.)

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Playing the flute has been a big part of Rachel Dahlen's life and a major interest for her since fifth grade when she first began taking lessons. She will present a flute solo for her talent number in the 1998 Miss Thief River Falls pageant where she will be competing for an opportunity to advance to Miss Minnesota competition.

Eighteen-year-old Rachel is the daughter of David and Carol Dahlen. Her father is a mathematics teacher in the Goodridge school system and her mother a transcriptionist in medical records at Oakota Clinic in Thief River Falls. She has one brother, Travis, 15, and graduated Friday evening from Lincoln high school.

Throughout her school years since starting in fifth grade band, she has played flute in bands at Franklin middle school and Lincoln high school. She was a member of the wind ensemble at Lincoln, played in the pep band and for one year in the marching band. Last year she was selected for the Northland Community and Technical College Honor Band and for five years has taken private lessons from Marie Hvidsten.

Like many young people today, Rachel has experienced the world of work, being employed at Maurice's as a clerk, at McDonald's restaurant and in the office at Oakota Clinic where she will work again this summer.

In the fall Rachel will move on to the University of North Oakota in Grand Forks where she has been accepted for enrollment. Her ambition is to become either a certified physician's assistant or a nurse anesthetist. She has been a student trainer at Lincoln for two years, assisting with ankle taping and other duties, and is an honor roll student.

She has been a Sunday school helper and teacher at Trinity Lutheran church where she is also a member of the youth group and made the trip to New Orleans, LA, for the national youth conference last year.

Rachel said she enjoys travel, water sports including skiing, kneeboarding and boating, biking and inline skating. She also loves animals (she has a cat), working with people and trying new things. "I also work hard for what I believe in," she said.

If selected as Miss Thief River Falls through the Miss America program, she would focus on trying to reduce the problem of violence in schools as her action program.

School board hears report on basic skills test

"It's a good starting point," said Glenn Chiado of the results of the Districtwide Basic Skills Test. Chiado, educational services director, presented the results of the testing to the district board of education Tuesday, May 26.

"Our district currently scores above the state averages using the 75 percent minimum passing. School District 564 was at 77 percent in math and 72 percent in reading. The state average was 71 percent in math and 68 percent in reading. It should be noted," he said, "that all students were tested. There were no modifications or exemptions for the tests. In evaluating our students, it should be noted that where modifications should take place it will be addressed in the upper grades."

For the Eighth grade math test, 197 students tested, 69 were below the 80 percent district minimum and out of that number 24 students were between the 75 percent and 80 percent range. Of the 44 students in grade 9 who took the math re-take, 32 were below the 80 percent district minimum and out of that number 21 were between 75 and 80 percent. Of the 43 students in grade 10 who were re-tested, 23 students were below the 80 percent district minimum and out of that number nine students were between the 75 percent and 80 percent range.

For the Eighth grade reading test, 185 students were tested. Seventy-two students were below the 80 percent district minimum and out of that number 21 students were between the 75 percent and 80 percent range. Of the 162 students in grade nine taking reading tests, 52 students were below the 80 percent district minimum and out of that number nine students were between the 75 percent and 80 percent range. For the 69 students in grade 10 who were re-tested on reading, 31 were below the 80 percent district minimum and out of that number seven students were between the 75 and 80 percent range.

Chiodo said he would obviously like to see students perform a little better, but the district is not in bad shape. In response to a question about whether the district should re-evaluate its position on the 80 percent standard, he said it will take a couple of years to evaluate the results of their efforts. The district has many students who were in the 75 to 80 percent range. All they need to do to achieve 80 percent or better is answer one or maybe two more questions. So, he said, rather than drop the standard to 75 percent, the district should wait to re-evaluate their efforts. "It's too early to jump to conclusions," he added.

Chiado announced that the state has allowed for a second testing to take place this summer. A letter will be sent this week from the district to all eighth, ninth or tenth grade students who did not pass the test this time or to students who were not present when the test was given. These students will be given the opportunity to re-take the test on July 21 and 22.

The School Board recognized the following: the Thief River Falls Education Foundation which recently made donations of $1,000 to the Community Ed golf program, $398 to the Fourth Grade Math Facts Die, $479.97 to the Traveling Turtle Project (cages and maintenance), $2,220 to the Junior Great Books Training; $1,500 to the Lincoln Science Lab Testing equipment, and $2,362.50 to the Third Grade SRA reading labs. It also recognized the St. Hilaire Community Club which donated $500 for Lincoln High School scholarships.

The school board approved the following personnel items from the Consent Agenda: the resignation of Jennifer Pearson as SLD teacher at Franklin, the resignation of Lois Hoaas as kitchen helper at Lincoln; the resignation of Edward R. Bjorgaard as regular route bus driver, the resignation of Sandra Radloff as food preparation worker; the resignation of Janet Huage as kitchen helper at Franklin; the resignation of Ken Fletcher as head softball coach; the resignation of Sharon Baron as math league advisor at Lincoln; the transfer of Bob Wayne from social teacher at Franklin to Dean of Students at Franklin; the following educational assistant assignments — Kathy Davis, educational assistant/playground aide at Challenger, Nancy Fellman, pupil program support assistant at Challenger, Carol DeLap educational assistant/playground aide at Challenger, Syndney Braswell educational assistant/playground aide at Challenger, and Jeanne Ryan, educational assistant/playground aide at Challenger;

Also, the employment of Mary Forney as summer school teacher at Lincoln; the employment of Bonnie Hallett as summer school teacher at Franklin; the employment of Deb Teiken as summer school teacher at Franklin; the employment of Eric Melcher as industrial arts teacher at Lincoln; the employment of Richard Yanke as physical education/health teacher at Franklin; the employment of Lynn Forsberg as cleaner in the district; the employment of Kate Ihle as lifeguard at Franklin; the employment of Mike Langland as lifeguard at Franklin; the employment of Rick Yanke as head high school wrestling coach; Also, the extra-curricular assignment of Kenneth Ulrich as elementary school patrol advisor; extend summer school remedial basic skills reading program at Lincoln through July establish a summer refresher math and reading courses and authorize the administration to post for two teachers for the courses; increase the Title 1 educational

Lake Bronson gets legal advice on cleanup ordinance

Lake Bronson - Hoping to hear a solution to the city's "junk yards," a large group of Lake Bronson residents attended the May city council meeting.

A Hallock attorney provided legal advice, informing the group of some of the state laws and told the group that a special ordinance could be more tailored to the city's specific needs.

No conclusions were reached and the matter was tabled. North Star News

'McWaste' fees to remain the same

Crookston - Polk County Board of Commissioners voted recently against re-evaluating the solid waste fee of McDonald's in Crookston.

Two weeks ago, several chain restaurant managers in Crookston approached the county board with an appeal to have their assessment fee reduced.

Commissioners decided that trying to change this year's fee assessment would be a "mess" for the county, leading to secondary disputes that would be "never ending." The Thirteen Towns

Farm financial aid forms are now available

Application forms for the crop insurance rebate to farmers in northwestern Minnesota's crisis counties are now available from federal crop insurance agents, according to State Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy.

Forms will not be sent to individual farmers, he said, so people must contact their agents for the necessary documents needed to qualify for the program, Tunheim said.

Crisis counties are Beltrami, Clay, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Lincoln, Lyon, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Pipestone, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and Wilkin.

To be eligible, applicants must operate a farm located in one of the crisis counties, have experienced a 50 percent or greater crop loss or collected an indemnity or disaster payment on wheat or barley in one or more growing seasons between 1993 and 1997.

Properly completed application forms for assistance must be submitted to the Commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture on or before Aug. 1, 1998. Payments will be available shortly after that date.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Update on the yeast buns from last week: I made both of them last weekend and both were excellent. I made half a recipe of the overnight (white) buns, starting them at 5:00 instead of 4:00, and they were ready to bake by about 11:30. I just didn't dare leave them any longer, but will try to leave them overnight next time I make them. My family loved both of them. By the way, the brown recipe talked about "sugar" in the mixing instructions - just use the malasses there.

Now, it's getting to be summertime and time for simple recipes that can be whipped up in a hurry. Who wants to spend time cooking when there are places to go and things to do?

My grandmother used to bake this dessert every year - it is quick and simple:

RHUBARB COBBLER

Topping
3 cups sliced rhubarb
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 cup butter, melted

Sprinkle rhubarb in greased 10 inch round baking pan or 9x9 inch square pan. Combine sugar, flour and nutmeg and sprinkle over rhubarb. Drizzle with butter.

Batter
1 1/2 cups flour
3/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 cup butter
2/3 cup milk
1 egg

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and nutmeg in mixing bowl. Add butter, milk and egg and beat smooth. Spread over rhubarb mixture in pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes or until cake tests done. Serve warm with real whipped cream or ice cream or cold with prepared whipped topping.

Asparagus is in season now and this sounds like a wonderful main dish - and it's so easy:

ASPARAGUS HAM ROLLS
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup flour
2 cups milk
1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
24 fresh stalks of asparagus
8 thin slices of cooked ham (fully cooked) (about 1/2 pound)
1/4 cup bread crumbs

In saucepan, melt butter. Stir in flour and cook thick. Gradually stir in milk and cook until bubbly and thickened. Stir in cheese, salt and pepper. Remove from heat and set aside.

Place 3 asparagus stalks in each ham slice. Roll up and fasten with toothpicks, if necessary. Place in 9x13 baking dish and cover with cheese sauce. Sprinkle with crumbs and bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

Here's another simple dish that will make an elegant Sunday brunch or quick supper, and, best of all, it uses ingredients that you probably have already on hand - try it with your favorite muffins or the rhubarb muffins that follow:

QUICHE

Crust
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup shortening
3 to 4 tablespoons cold water

Combine flour and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles peas. Add water a little at a time until dough comes away from the bowl. Form dough into a ball and divide in half. Roll one part of the dough to fit a 9 inch pie pan and trim and flute edges. Chill. Save the remainder of dough for another time.

Filling
12 bacon strips, cooked and crumbled
4 eggs
2 cups half and half
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
1 1/4 cups shredded cheese (Swiss, cheddar, other favorite)

Sprinkle crumbled bacon in the chilled pie crust.

In bowl, beat eggs, cream, salt and nutmeg. Stir in cheese and pour into crust.

Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce temperature to 325 degrees and continue to bake for 30-40 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Let stand 10 minutes before cutting.

Here's another rhubarb recipe - these would taste great with the quiche:

RHUBARB MUFFINS
1 1/4 cups brown sugar
1 egg
2 teaspoons vanilla
1/2 cup oil
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup nuts, if desired
1 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 cups chopped rhubarb
2 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder

Topping
1/3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix brown sugar, egg, vanilla, oil and buttermilk and beat well.

Add rhubarb and nuts.

In another bowl, combine dry ingredients and then add to rhubarb mixture, stirring just to blend. Spoon into muffin cups and bake at 375 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

RLF sponsors MAX summer workshop

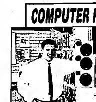
Red Lake Falls School District 630 will receive one of 27 Minnesota Arts eXperience (MAX) grants awarded this year from the Lola and Rudy Perpich Minnesota Center for Arts Education. Grants are awarded based on the quality of educational opportunity for the community.

"Of the Land: Pottery Plus", a workshop for children kindergarten through grade 12, and post-secondary educators/artists and students in grades 9-12, will be offered June 15-19 and July 15-18. Participants will learn to mine local clay. Five days of pottery making are followed by three days of firing and an all-day Raku celebration. Sculpture tours, historical homes, Lady Slipper trails and country porches create a rich learning environment. Continuing education units and graduate credits are available. For more information contact Barbara Seeger at 218-253-4471.

Lola and Rudy Perpich Minnesota Center for Arts Education is a state agency combining the Arts High School and a Professional Development Institute. The Arts High School is a statewide, tuition-free, public high school for 11th and 12th grade students. Students who have either demonstrated or the potential talent for and a desire to grow are admitted. Academic programs are balanced with study in one of six arts areas: dance, literary, media, theatre, music or visual arts. The Professional Development Institute provides professional and technical services and statewide, innovative and comprehensive teaching and learning opportunities centered in the arts. For more information about the Center call 1-800-657-3515 or 612-591-4700.

The Marshall County Board of Commissioners will receive bids for removal and replacement of the shingles on the Courthouse in Warren, Minnesota. The area to be replaced is approximately 325 square feet, with 250# Loc-on asphalt shingles, with 15# felt underlayment, ice and water barrier on all edges, and an area of 360 square feet to be covered with .060 rubber roofing. All deteriorating roof boards are to be replaced on a time and material basis.

All local building codes and OSHA regulations must be complied with, proof of Workmans' Compensation Insurance, Liability Insurance, and a Minnesota Contractors' License must be furnished. All bids will require either a 5% bid bond or a certified check in the same amount.



It is recommended that all bidders inspect the roof area before bidding. If more information is needed, please call Roy G. Swanson at (218) 745-4851 or 4831.

Bids will be accepted until June 16, 1998 at 1:00 P.M.

USDA grants request for disaster aid

Norman, Beltrami, Clearwater, Pennington and Kittson counties have been declared agricultural disaster areas by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The declaration is in response to a request Minnesota Governor Arne Carlson filed after severe flooding, heavy rains and crop disease combined to spoil farm production in the five counties during 1997 and into this spring.

The USDA declared all five counties primary disaster areas. The declaration makes farmers in the counties eligible for low-interest emergency loans from USDA's Farm Service Agency.

"With last year's spring floods, wet weather, and widespread crop diseases, northwestern Minnesota farmers are going through a very difficult time," Governor Carlson said. "We have a responsibility to do what we can to help, and this disaster declaration will assist farmers in getting back on their feet."

MDA Commissioner Gene Hugoson thanked USDA Secretary Dan Glickman for recognizing the plight of farmers in the northwest corner of the state, and he noted that the USDA declaration is one portion of a joint state and federal effort to help northwestern Minnesota farmers recover from disaster.

"Combined with the recently approved state crop insurance assistance and ongoing wheat scab research at the University of Minnesota, this disaster declaration reminds farmers that their state and federal governments are behind them," Commissioner Hugoson said. "We can't stop the rain or floods, but we can help them recover."

In addition to declaring the five counties primary disaster areas, USDA declared Becker, Cass, Clay, Hubbard, Itasca, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties to be contiguous disaster areas. As a result, farmers in those counties will also be eligible for loan assistance.

Each FSA disaster loan application will be considered on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available, repayment ability, and other eligibility requirements. For more details, farmers should contact the local FSA office.

Nominations open for McKnight Service awards

McKnight Foundation invites nominations for the 1998 Virginia McKnight Binger Awards in Human Service. The Foundation gives 10 awards each year to Minnesotans who strive to make life better for other people but receive little or no public recognition or payment in return. Nominations are due by August 17, and awardees each will receive $7,500 at a ceremony in November.

Nominees should demonstrate exceptional commitment in such human service fields as adoption, chemical dependency, child care, corrections, counseling, employment, family violence, foster care, geriatrics, disabilities, health care, housing, mental health, mental retardation, neighborhood or community improvement, and youth activities. People active in the arts or the environment are eligible only if their work involves direct human service. Nominees may be volunteers or minimally paid staff and must be living in Minnesota.

Nominations are open to the public, although individuals may not nominate themselves. Nominations are confidential. A statewide committee of people active in the human services reviews the nominations and recommends candidates to The McKnight Foundation's Board of Directors.

The awards, which are named for the Foundation's former president and current honorary chair, are in their 14th year.

To obtain nomination forms contact The McKnight Foundation, 600 TCF Tower, 121 South Eighth Street, Minneapolis, MN 55402; or call 612-333-4220.

SBA makes loans available for non-farm businesses

Federal disaster loans are now available from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) for small non-farm agricultural-dependent businesses located in Polk county and the contiguous counties of Clearwater, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, and Red Lake which were economically impacted due to losses caused by flooding, standing floodwater, excessive rain, and hail that occurred from April 4 through October 31, according to SBA Regional Administrator Peter Barca.

This disaster designation was issued as a result of a similar action taken by the Secretary of Agriculture to help farmers in those counties. Farmers are not eligible to apply to SBA.

Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) provide working capital to small businesses so they can pay bills and meet normal operating expenses. Maximum loans to a business of up to $1.5 million are available at four percent interest with loan terms of up to 30 years. SBA determines eligibility for the program based on the size and type of business and its financial resources.

Barca advised that loan applications and program information are available by calling 1-800-359-2227. The Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) and speech impaired number is 404-347-3751. These telephones are answered weekdays from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. (EDT). Applications are also available by writing: Area 2 Disaster Assistance Office, U.S. Small Business Administration, One Baltimore Place, Suite 300, Atlanta, GA, 30308.

The Economic Injury Loan application filing deadline is November 19, 1998.

Salvation Army representative for area dies

Wayne K. Mills, 84, Grand Rapids, died at home on May 18, 1998. Mills was a member of the Salvation Army for 12 years and served as service extension representative for the Minnesota North District, which included Thief River Falls.

Mills was born, raised and attended school in Grand Rapids. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II. When he returned to Grand Rapids, he worked in the lumber business. His father's lumber company, Mills Lumber Co., was passed to him. He married Ethel M. Carlson on June 16, 1935.

In addition to his dedication to the Salvation Army, he was the past district governor for Rotary International, and a member of the Grand Rapids Rotary Club. He was past president of First Evangelical Lutheran Church and a member and past president of the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce. He was instrumental in starting the Grand Rapids Civil Air Patrol and was active in the United Way.

The funeral was held on May 22 at First Evangelical Lutheran Church. Interment was at Itasca-Calvary Cemetery.

No, You Didn't Miss That Letter; It Wasn't There

In last week's issue of the Northern Watch, we indicated in an editorial that there would be a public opinion letter in the same issue in response to our previous week's editorial on the state's graduation standards. We had been assured that the letter was being prepared and would be delivered to us in time for publication.

Our editorial was written in anticipation of the receipt of that letter. When we hadn't received it by the evening prior to publication, we checked with the writer who indicated that it had indeed been prepared but the decision had been made not to present it for publication.

We re-wrote a portion of the editorial at the last minute to indicate the expected letter had not been received, but in the computer process we now use to prepare pages for publication, the original copy was selected and used instead of the corrected version.

We apologize for sending readers on a search for something that we knew wasn't there. And we are sorry that the decision was made not to send the letter for publication, even though it took issue with our prior editorial. Everyone benefits from open discussion of a topic, and it would have been good for further information to be made available.

Best Wishes To Grads In Classes Of 1998

Throughout all of northwestern Minnesota, formal classes in the various high schools and colleges have drawn or are drawing to a close and graduation ceremonies are being conducted. To all of the graduates of these schools and colleges, our best wishes for future success.

Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls held its commencement exercises Friday evening, May 29, in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Like all classes in all schools, the Lincoln high school Class of 1998 has some exceptional students with impressive abilities and potential.

It has been pointed out that when members of the Class of 1998 entered Lincoln high school as freshmen, the group was collectively labeled as "the worst class ever" in School District 564. If that is indeed the case, then we should count our blessings for how good the "worst" actually is.

At the Lincoln honors banquet a few weeks ago, we had the opportunity to speak to the class while making an award presentation to a student writer. We recalled the label of "worst class ever" and said that we didn't believe it, and we didn't think the class members believed it either. Forty-one class members were recognized at the honors banquet for having grade point averages of 3.50 or higher. That testifies to academic excellence by a good percentage of the class.

Further, however, virtually all of the honor students not only excelled academically, they were participants in, and contributors to, activities and groups at the school. With only a very few exceptions, they participated in music, athletics, student government, speech, drama, foreign languages, clubs, honor society and other student activities. Many of the students who did not qualify academically for the honors banquet also distinguished themselves in other areas.

We are especially proud of this Class of 1998 for not allowing a label to determine the result of their high school experience. They were able to look past that and, rather than prove the label was deserved, they distinguished themselves in many ways. We admire that strength of character.

We also appreciate the attitude and efforts of the school instructional staff, administration and co-curricular coaches and advisors as they believed in and guided these young people through their high school years. They can take justifiable pride in their role in shaping the Class of 1998.

Graduates of high school and college in 1998 face a future filled with challenges but also filled with opportunity. There are more opportunities for success than ever, but also more distractions and diversions that can diminish success. Graduates will have to sort out the good from the bad, learn to make the right choices and remain focused on their goals and ambitions.

Commencement, as the word implies, is not an end, but a beginning. Go get 'em, grads. The world is at your fingertips.

Number Of Missing Children Is Appalling

Stories of missing children which appear in the news from time to time are heart-wrenching, especially for those of us with young children or grandchildren of our own. We can only imagine what such a situation would do within our own families.

What is somewhat surprising is the number of missing children reports—placed at 2,300 per day across the United States. In Minnesota alone in 1996—the most recent year for which statistics were available—there were 1,162 active case files of missing children.

Probably in most cases the missing children reports result from an estranged parent abducting and spiriting away his or her own children. In some instances, the children may eventually be better off because they were taken out of a harmful or insecure environment. But in all cases such missing children are almost certain to suffer at least some psychological damage due to the disruption in their lives.

And there are always the limited number of abductions by predatory persons which everyone fears and loathes. In our opinion, persons who prey on children deserve no mercy in punishment. The importance of being always vigilant can not be overemphasized.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

On Tuesday, May 19, we had the opportunity to thank School District 564's volunteers by hosting a "picnic." There are so many wonderful people in our school district who have winningly given of their time and talents. It truly makes a difference in many lives. Each one of you is special for what you have done.

There are also many people and businesses who made the picnic a reality. Our special thanks goes to: Northern Pride and Russ Christianson for donating the turkeys; Hugo's and Gary Anderson for their help wit the groceries; Eagles Club for the facility; Eagles Auxiliary (Mario Sandsmark, Adeline Sletten, Dorothy Chapman, Birdie Looker, Pat Anenson and Lucy Swenson) for providing kitchen staff, Kay and Buzz Nelson for a wonderful meal; and Kids on the Fifties, directed by Kari Frisch and Ruth Christensen, for entertainment. We couldn't do it without you!

It shows the extent to which our community is commited to education. Thief River Falls is truly a whole village educating its children! Thank you from the bottom of our hearts!

Sincerely,
Lori Weeding, Challenger and District Coordinator

Jam Session at Embassy Center on Sunday, June 7

Country music lovers are invited to attend the Country Music Jam Session beginning at 1 p.m. on Sunday, June 7 at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston.

A potluck supper will be held at 5 p.m., and the event will continue into the evening. Spectators are welcome.

New section of 4-lane to open near Cass Lake

Scheduled to open Monday or Tuesday of next week is a 1.5 mile section of four-lane roadway on Highway 2 between Midge Lake and Cass Lake, according to the Minnesota Department of Transportation office in Bemidji.

Opening of the new section, which is between Hubbard county roads 46 and 101, will require both east and west-bound traffic to be diverted from the old lanes and connected to that portion of the new west-bound lanes which were constructed last year.

As work in the area continues, Mn/DOT asks motorists to slow down and obey all traffic advisories in construction zones.

Landstad church meeting slated

Annual meeting of the Landstad Church and Cemetery Association will be held Wednesday, June 10, at 7 p.m. at the Landstad church.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Kopari has top throws

Thief River Falls junior Nicole Kopari remained No. 1 for both the discus and shot put on the girls high school track honor roll published Thursday in the Star Tribune.

Kopari has had the top throws in the state in both events for much of the spring. The latest listing, which closed out the regular season, showed her with a 149-5 effort in the discus and a 43-5 toss in the shot. She bettered that figure in the discus in the North Sub-Section 8AA meet with a throw of 153-10.

TRF Pepsi Triathlon turnout sets record

A record field was on hand Saturday for the 14th annual Thief River Falls Pepsi Triathlon. There were 76 teams and individuals from four states and two Canadian provinces who participated in the 500-yard swim, 12-mile bike and 3-mile run.

John Shelp of Glencoe was the overall winner in a time of 58 minutes, 58 seconds. He finished just 20 seconds ahead of Phillipe Chabot of Winnipeg, MB and 37 seconds ahead of Ryan Ness of St. Cloud.

Top local finisher was Harold Pederson of Thief River Falls, who placed 12th in a time a 1:05.28.

Women's race was won by 15-year-old Dominique Grzebowski of Winnipeg in 1:07:03 – well under the 19-under age group record of 1:16.26 set in 1989.

Highest local finisher among the women was Penny Langland of Thief River Falls, who was fifth in 1:22.

The race was again sponsored by Pepsi Bottling Co. Hugo's and Dakota Clinic of Thief River Falls. Race director Jim Langland expressed gratitude to the sponsors and to the Thief River Falls Civil Air Patrol for providing course security.

Sanctioned by USA Triathlon, the governing body for the sport of triathlon in the United States, the event was a fund-raiser for the Thief River Falls Swim Club, with over $1,000 being collected for the local program.

Detroit Lakes beats Alexandria in North 8AA softball finals

Detroit Lakes beat Alexandria 6-2 in a ten-inning North Sub-Section 8AA high school softball tournament championship game Friday (May 22).

It was the third time the two teams had met in the double-elimination portion of the tournament. Second-seeded Detroit Lakes beat top-seeded Alexandria 7-4 earlier in the week to earn a spot in the finals, with the Cardinals getting a title shot by beating Brainerd in a 2-1 nine-inning loser-out game.

Alexandria squared the championship match-up at one loss each with a 10-7 decision, but Detroit Lakes won the rubber game of the series for the title.

North Sub-Section 8AA Softball

■ Round 1 - (single-elimination) Detroit Lakes 10, Thief River Falls 0. Fergus Falls 1, Moorhead 0, Brainerd 13, Bemidji 5

■ Round 2 - (double elimination) Alexandria 3, Brainerd 1; Detroit Lakes 4, Fergus Falls 3 (9 innings)

■ Round 3 - (winner's bracket) Detroit Lakes 7, Alexandria 4; (loser's bracket) Brainerd 6, Fergus Falls 4

■ Round 4 - (loser's bracket) Alexandria 2, Brainerd 1 (9 innings)

■ Round 5 - (finals) Alexandria 10, Detroit Lakes 7

■ Round 6 - (championship) Detroit Lakes 6, Alexandria 2 (10 innings)

Used Cars for as Low as $5!

TWO DAYS ONLY!!

Friday-Saturday, June 5-6, 1998

Hallock, MN - C & M Ford Sales on Highway 75 North is at it again! They will attempt to reduce their used car inventory by 50% in two days.

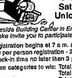
This ultimate used vehicle event will take place Friday and Saturday, June 5-6, 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Owner Paul Blomquist explained that since it's been five months since the last sale, C & M Ford's used vehicle inventory has increased to levels beyond their capacity. "It's time to bring back our ultimate used vehicle event and reduce our supply of used cars so that we can continue to bring in trade trades," explained Mr. Blomquist.

For two days, Friday and Saturday, C & M Ford will offer their entire inventory of used vehicles at substantial price reductions. "I have been told to reduce a vehicle to $15, $10, even $5! We have many quality cars and trucks in the $3,000 to $12,000 range too. We will be reducing these vehicles dramatically," explained Brad Hammas, used car manager.

"This innovative approach to liquidating used vehicles should make it easy and quick for anybody to get a great car at a low price without any hassle," Brad Hammas pointed out.

"We have three different banks and lending companies available just for this event, all with commitments for some exceptional interest rates. We can also be very flexible on terms and approvals."



C & M Ford will display half the vehicles beginning at 10:00 a.m. Friday, June 5th, to give people the chance to look them over. At 11:00 a.m., the marked down sale price will be placed on the window of each vehicle. Whoever is sitting in the vehicle at 11:00 a.m. will have the first chance to buy the car at the price posted. If they do not wish to buy the vehicle at that price, they can simply walk away and the car is available to the public at that price.

We will repeat this on Saturday, June 6th, starting at 10:00 a.m.

Lenae Iverson

Lenae Iverson to succeed Reuter as bank president

Lenae Iverson of Bismarck, ND, has been named to succeed retiring Roger Reuter as president of Norwest Bank, Thief River Falls, effective Aug. 1, 1998. She will be joining the bank June 1.

Iverson received her BS degree in business administration from the University of North Dakota in 1978, served as a bank examiner for the North Dakota Department of Banking immediately after graduation and started with Norwest Banks in 1983 as a business banker in Bismarck.

In 1986 she was named credit manager and in 1987 joined the Norwest Bank in Mandan, ND, as a business banker and later served as its consumer banking manager. In 1995 she was named to her current position of consumer banking manager for three Bismarck Norwest facilities.

Lenae has been active in the Bismarck community, most recently chairing the United Way and serving as territory representative for the Greater North Dakota Association. Along with her husband Kevin and two sons, she will be relocating to Thief River Falls as soon as housing is acquired.

UMC visit will invite opinion from the public

Thief River Falls area residents are invited to join the University of Minnesota, Crookston staff Friday, June 5, at 11:45 a.m. at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls.

The visit is part of a series of visits UMC faculty and staff are making to communities in northwestern Minnesota to survey community members concerning their opinion of UMC. The group will bring along lap top computers to show community members the latest technology at UMC.

All community members are invited to join UMC staff for free coffee and cookies. Two names will be drawn for UMC shirts. Disability accommodations are available on request. For information call 218-281-8436.

Stroke support group to meet at Crookston

June meeting of the stroke support group will take place Wednesday, June 3, at 2 p.m. at Riverview Healthcare Association in Crookston. Tara Giese of Lutheran Social Services will show a videotape on caregiving and lead the discussion at the meeting.

The meeting is open to all persons who have had a stroke and their friends and families and will last about an hour. There is no charge and everyone is welcome. For more information call Marie Johnstad at 218-281-9438 or toll-free at 1-800-743-6551.

Detour between Roosevelt and Williams starts

Highway 11 from Roosevelt to Williams will be closed to traffic beginning Monday, June 1, due to construction, according to the Minnesota Department of Transportation.

Bob Kleinschmidt, Mn/DOT project superintendent, said traffic will be diverted north on County Road 17 at Roosevelt for three miles, then east on County Road 8 for six miles, then south on County Road 2 for five miles to the intersection of Highway 11 in Williams. The detour is expected to be in place until September 4.

Mn/DOT is asking motorists to be extremely alert in all areas of construction, and to obey all traffic advisories posted. Anyone caught speeding in a construction zone is assessed a double fine.

the area have been doing their fair share of impounding water. All he said he wants is the ditch to be repaired. They don't want anything there that wasn't there before, he added.

Mary Dyrud believes that since the dredging of the river in 1910 State Ditch 83 has become a river again. "Before you destroy it again," she said, "consider other alternatives to help our neighbors to the north of us."

Others brought up questions about downstream impact that couldn't be answered. Joe Ose, farmer, asked questions about assessments that couldn't be answered and pointed out that the law states that ditches must have proper outlets. He reminded board members that the bottom of the river rises three feet at its outlet. Repairs to the ditch above that point would increase the threat of water backing up into ditches and causing more flooding.

Ose was one of the few people to come up with a potential solution. He noted that Ditch 2B was the real problem and claimed that "illegal improvements" to that ditch have caused many of the problems. He suggested another ditching project that would bring much of the water from Ditch 2B to a lower point in the river where the flow and drop is much more significant. That proposal was similar to a proposal from Blake Carlson, JOR Engineering firm hired by Crookston to look at the project.

Brent Johnson of Houston Engineering, the engineering firm hired by the Red Lake Watershed District, presented a list of repair alternatives and a recommendation. Houston Engineering is recommending that State Ditch 83 be repaired by clearing and restoring the channel (one side construction and 1:1 sideslopes). The firm recommended that the channel be repaired to the originally constructed grade, width, and sideslope and that the repair work be completed in the reach from State 118+72 to Station 1151+00. This work is expected to restore the capacity of the channel. He explained that Houston Engineering is recommending that the channel be restored to the original 1:1 sideslopes because these slopes are stable, and excavated volumes are significantly reduced from the other sideslope alternatives.

The Red Lake Watershed board is expected to make a decision in the near future.

THE LYON'S SHARE

Tim Lyon

"What're they bitin' on?" I think this is second only to "what did he do out there for eight days?" on this week's list of most frequently asked questions. For those of us who pretend to have a professional clue, it's a common May inquiry. People are just getting out on the water and are looking for some direction.

But it's not the frequency that makes it so frustrating to answer. Rather, it's the one-dimensionality of the required response that really makes it so bothersome.

What're they bitin' on? Well, they're bitin' on what I'm fishin' with, that's what they're bitin' on, and if you put that on then they'll be bitin' for you on what I'm fishin' with, too. Got it? Let's clarify.

My guiding peers like to refer to this as the "Chinese Restaurant Theory." Chinese restaurants are notoriously small structures, forcing customers to line up outside while waiting for the next available table. The place with the longest line, logically, is the best food. Unfortunately, the long line has probably been started by some poor sap who merely bent down to tie his shoe in this wind-protected doorway and can't for the life of him figure out why 20 people are now queued up behind him. In short, the public's distaste for free thinking has, ironically, put them in a position to taste potentially poor cuisine.

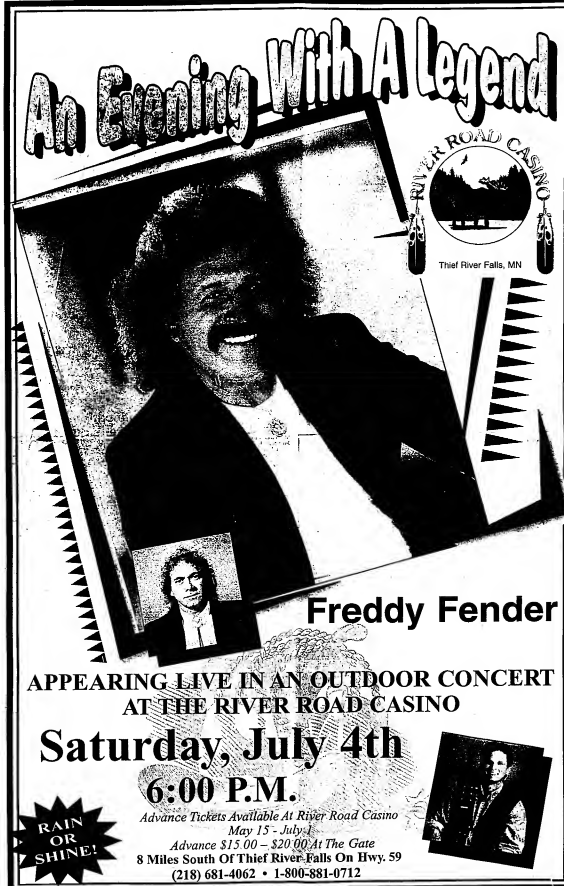
The fishing world, too, loves to get in line, from hot spots to terminal tackle, we're constantly looking for the best Chinese food. But while a "gold spinner tipped with a leech" suggestion is perhaps the singular combination the fish are seeking, it is most certainly what's being fished. You can bet that the chartreuse spinners are still buried deep in the tackle box and the minnows have long since died of neglect.

And having merely volunteered this information, my source has added yet another body to the growing gold/leech horde out there— I'd be a boob to try anything else! You can see the line outside the doorway lengthening. Watch.

The six on my charter today will all begin confidently with leech-tipped gold spinners. I've offered that based on my recently collected knowledge. We catch a few fish. This is, after all, Lake of the Woods. We return to the dock shouting the merits of the gold/leech combo.

Tomorrow's group starts the run on gold spinners in response to their discussions with today's group and my redundant encouragement. I plant the seeds with the bait dealer who will cross paths in some tangential fashion with every fisherman out there before his morning rounds are complete. The next day has 85% of the lines in the water using gold spinners and a leech. The math takes over from here. Most of the fish will be caught on gold and a leech because that's what is at the end of the majority of lines in the water.

The weekly tourism blurbs tour this info and next week's customers are hooked. Gold spinners are hard to find. Leeches sell out more quickly in the local bait shops and their scarcity forces the price up. As a local or weekend angler, I'm not about to compromise the one day this week I can fish, give me the most expensive bait you have! It must be the best! Word spreads, as does this exaggerated account. You get the picture. The line outside our restaurant is growing and the food elsewhere remains untested.



Even the "have-nots" often assert themselves here. Rather than acknowledging "they're not bitin' on anything" and affixing the red letter S (skunked) to one's forehead, most fishermen will at least offer some sort of intimacy with their sport: "What're they bitin' on? Well, ummm, let's see.. ummm... gold with a ...ummm...leech. That's it, yeah, gold spinners with a leech! Nailed 'em!"

The net result is the same, we've just encountered a more negative spin. We're going to the same restaurant, and the food is unproven. A "misery loves company" version of our theory, perhaps.

Easy to rectify, you claim, try something different. Easy, maybe, if your strength of character is stiffer than partially set Jell-O. Try fishing silver when the world is screaming gold and see how long the minutes between fish become. Yet, that's essentially where we've arrived. Confidence is the most important item in your tackle box. The productivity of a gold spinner tipped with a leech is dramatically overshadowed by the fact that you believe it will work. Choices in angling, like choices in cars, clothing and food, should reflect some degree of personal conviction. Fishing fashion.

What're they bitin' on? Well, what do you believe they're bitin' on? The Chinese restaurant I suggest may be solid, but who knows what the food is like around the corner?

Oh, by the way, for those of you who are interested, they bit pretty well on red jigs tipped with a minnow this past weekend.

John and Ashley Tofsly of McIntosh Dairy & Farm Supply recently received the bronze Major Volume Performer and top sales leader awards from John Ryan (right), field sales manager of J-Star Industries, Inc., a marketer of livestock equipment. The MVP award recognizes the company's top dealers in platinum, gold, silver or bronze levels of sales and performance and the top sales leaders award recognizes the top sales leaders for the company's main product lines.

New high of 150 pounds is reached in U.S. use of flour

U.S per capita flour disappearance climbed to a new high of 150 pounds in 1997, narrowly eclipsing the mark of 149 pounds per capita in 1996, according to the final figure released recently by the Census Bureau of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The increase boosted U.S. flour consumption above the 400 million hundredweight mark for the first time in history. The total is equal to 920 million bushels of wheat.

Art Brandli of Warroad, who serves as secretary-treasurer of the Wheat Foods Council and chairs the Minnesota Wheat Research and Promotion Council's domestic promotion committee, said the increase indicates "the vast opportunity for U.S. wheat producers right here at home."

In 1972, when the Wheat Foods Council was formed, per capita consumption of flour was at an all-time low of 110 pounds.

Brandli said that if Americans met the USDA recommendation of six to 11 servings of grain products each day, flour consumption would increase to 185 pounds per person and result in an additional $1 billion in wheat sales for U.S. wheat producers.

Ag Education Leadership Council accepts proposals

Grant applications are now being accepted for proposals to strengthen agricultural education in Minnesota. It was announced recently by Minnesota Agricultural Education Leadership Council (MAELC) co-chairs Sen. Dallas Sams of Staples and Rep. Steve Wenzel of Little Falls.

MAELC will be offering up to $150,000 in grants with applications due by June 30. Subject to the availability of funds, a second round of grants may be disbursed in the fall with an application deadline of September 15.

Organizations eligible to apply for a MAELC grant might include schools, universities, local FFA chapters, local 4-H clubs, local chambers of commerce and individuals sponsored through an eligible organization, according to Patrick Plonski, executive director for MAELC.

"The organization will award grants to support the revitalization of existing agricultural education programs and the creation of new agricultural, food and environmental education programs and the secondary and post-secondary levels," Sams said.

"Grants may either be for individual institutions or for collaborative efforts between two or more institutions. Individuals or groups within an organization may apply for grants through a sponsoring institution."

Rep. Wenzel added that "we hope that this grant program will help strengthen agricultural education programs that are up and running, and also provide funds for some start-up initiatives. A streamlined process has been established by MAELC to ensure a user-friendly grants process. Prospective applicants are encouraged to contact MAELC to obtain and fill out a short application form."

Established in 1997 by the Minnesota legislature, MAELC is comprised of 16 educators, legislators, government officials and agribusiness and community organization representatives. The council represents all of the major institutions and groups in Minnesota with an interest in agricultural education and serves as a focal point for initiatives to improve agricultural education in the state.

To obtain more information or receive a grant application, contact Patrick Plonski, Executive Director, MAELC, University of Minnesota, St. Paul Campus, 320 Vocational Technical Education Building, 1954 Buford Avenue, St. Paul, MN 55108-6197 or call 612-624-6249. He may also be contacted by e-mail at pplonski@coal.agoff.umn.edu or by FAX at 612-625-2798.

Forms available for crop insurance reimbursement

One-page forms to apply for the new state reimbursement of farmers due to wheat scab losses should be available from federal crop insurance agents starting the first week in June, according to State Sen. Roger Moe of Erskine.

Small grain farmers in northwestern Minnesota who have been hard hit by wheat scab losses over the past several years are eligible for partial state reimbursement of their federal crop insurance premium.

Farmers in qualifying counties who have suffered a significant wheat or barley loss in one or more growing seasons since 1993 are eligible for up to $4,000 in crop insurance reimbursement from the state. Of the 16 qualifying counties, 13 are located in northwestern Minnesota and include Beltrami, Clay, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and Wilkin.

Farmers must verify on the claim form the extent of their wheat or barley loss in one or more growing seasons between 1993 and 1997 by including documentation of:

• Collecting a crop insurance indemnity payment (include a Multiple Peril Crop Insurance Summary of Loss Statement or Historical Experience Analysis).

• Collecting a disaster payment (USDA Form CCC-441 or Farm Entitlement Report); or

• Showing a loss of at least 50 percent from the U.S. Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agency (FSA), county yield (FSA Summary of Loss Statement or Historical Experience Analysis Statement).

To be eligible for reimbursement based on verification of last year's crop insurance premium payment, a 1997 Schedule of Insurance or Summary of Coverage must be attached to the claim form.

A USDA form might be required in order to verify eligibility depending whether the farmer files as an individual, a partner in a family farm partnership or as a stockholder in a family farm corporation. Those not filing as an individual must attach one of the following USDA Farm Operating Plan for Payment Eligibility Review forms: (1) Form CCC-502B for farms operating as a joint venture or general partnership, or (2) Form CCC-502C for farm corporations. Form CCC-502C is available from the county Farm Service Agency office.

"The timing of making application for reimbursement and receiving the payment should prove convenient for most farmers," Sen. Moe said. "In June, many producers will be visiting their crop insurer to certify the number of acres they have planted. The reimbursement application period will stay open from early June until August 1, which allows plenty of time for farmers and insurance agents to get together and complete the form.

"Reimbursement checks will be sent out later in August as the harvest gets underway," Sen. Moe added. "The checks will come in handy as harvest-related fuel and equipment repair costs start adding up."

While local insurance agents should be able to answer most questions regarding the state reimbursement program, information is also available directly from the Minnesota Rural Finance Authority in the state Department of Agriculture at 612-215-3946.

"The typical wheat and barley farmer in the hard-hit counties of our area lost an estimated $3,862 in 1997 alone due to the effects of wheat scab," the senator noted. "The potential for losing many of our farm families presents an economic threat to the entire region. Of course, the state reimbursement program will not solve the problem, but it will make a difference at a time when a helping hand is very much needed."

Weed identification available from MN Extension Service

Help with identifying weeds is usually available from such local sources as county extension educators, vocational agriculture instructors and agricultural inspectors, and such identification is an important task for producers of farm crops.

If a weed in a farm crop can't be identified locally, however, assistance is available from Kevin Cavanaugh of the University of Minnesota Extension Service in St. Paul. Crop producers can send weed specimens by mail to Cavanaugh in the Department of Agronomy and Plant Genetics. He lists the following mailing instructions:

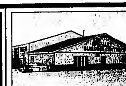
• Place the plants in a fold of paper towel or newspaper. Press them overnight under the weight of a heavy book or similar weighted object and mail them in the paper. Plants can be folded, if necessary, to fit into an envelope.

• Do not put weeds into plastic bags or wrap in plastic wrap or the plants will turn to mush.

• Mail plant samples at the beginning of the week to help avoid having samples held in the post office over a weekend.

• Send an identifiable portion of the plant, usually the top growth with flowers and/or fruits. Roots are not normally needed for identification of older plants. However, if sending weed seedlings or vegetative plants, send the entire plant.

• Send specimens to Kevin Cavanaugh, Department of Agronomy and Plant Genetics, University of Minnesota, 411 Borlaug Hall, 1991 Upper Buford Circle, St. Paul, MN 55108.



Information on weed management and herbicide application and time in available in extension publication BU-3157-NR2, Cultural and Chemical Weed Control in Field Crops—1998. It's available for purchase from county extension offices in Minnesota or by calling the Extension Distribution Center at 1-612-624-4900 or toll free at 1-800-876-8636.

COMMISSIONER'S COLUMN

Gene Hugoson

by Gene Hugoson

The spring of 1998 has been a pleasant one for Minnesota agriculture, both in the fields and in the halls of state and federal government.

In mid-April, we wrapped up a brief but intense 1998 State Legislative session. Governor Arne Carlson signed into law several bills containing measures beneficial to agriculture, including funding for a study on the impacts of animal agriculture, a new meat inspection program, and disaster relief for farmers in southern and northwestern Minnesota.

The Legislature appropriated $1.2 million in fiscal year 1998 for the first year of the Generic Environmental Impact Statement, which will serve as a forum for a discussion and examination of the various environmental, economic and social issues associated with animal agriculture. At the same time, legislators rejected talk of a moratorium on feedlots with more than 750 animal units, and instead placed a ban on open-air clay, earthen or flexible membrane lined swine lagoons. This provision does not apply to repair or modification of existing lagoons.

We are pleased that the legislature approved funding for the GEIS and so many of our agricultural initiatives. The state sent a positive message to farmers that we recognize the importance of this industry and we are committed to ensuring agriculture remains the foundation of our economy into the 21st century.

Aside from the GEIS, the 1998 session also produced a new state meat inspection program, increased funding for the state's dairy diagnostic team program, and continued support for Minnesota milk producers' efforts to reform the federal milk marketing order system. The state also will fund efforts to prevent the spread of gypsy moths and increase ethanol production.

Finally, the Governor signed two disaster relief packages -- one allocating $8.8 million for the nearly 3,000 farmers in northwestern Minnesota dealing with crop diseases, and one allocating $27.6 million for the southern Minnesota counties dealing with tornado damage. From that southern Minnesota package, $4 million is directed to farmers through low interest loans managed by the MDA's Rural Finance Authority.

Of course the closing of the legislative session does not mean things are any slower at MDA. We recently received news from Washington, D.C., of a second spring victory for Minnesota agriculture.

In a letter sent on April 28, the MDA joined supporters of organic agriculture in voicing concerns about certain aspects of a proposal by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to implement national standards for the organic food sector.

We expressed concern about several sections of the USDA proposed rule, including provisions to allow use of genetically modified organisms and non-organic animal feed in organic production. We also questioned the merit of proposals to relax rules on the use of antibiotics in organically raised livestock.

USDA has now announced they will make many of the changes we recommended. They will not allow genetically modified organisms or irradiated foods to be labeled organic, and have agreed to make other changes to ensure the organic industry continues to reflect the stringent expectations of consumers.

Our opposition to the USDA proposal was not based on concerns about the safety or validity of any of these new technologies. We came out against the proposals because we felt that by allowing these technologies to be included in organic production, we would be weakening the division between organic and conventional agriculture. Weakening that separation gives consumers less choice and hurts the organic industry.

In our letter, we pointed out that an emphasis on quality helped America's organic industry develop a sound reputation in both domestic and international markets. USDA would be wrong to diminish that emphasis on quality by implementing standards less stringent than those called for by the organic industry.

Organic agriculture in the United States has come to embody some of the highest standards found anywhere in the world. Together with organic producers and consumers, we encouraged USDA to adopt provisions that reflect the consistent high standards of organic production and that meet or exceed the expectations of domestic and international consumers. We are pleased with the USDA response.

Much of our success this spring can be attributed to the hard work and dedication of countless supporters of Minnesota agriculture. I want to thank everyone who contributed in the effort to make this cornerstone industry of our state economy stronger and healthier as we head into the new century.

Sahlstrom given award at area conference

Stanley D. Sahlstrom, founding provost of the University of Minnesota, Crookston, was presented with a special award at the Northwest Minnesota Equine Conference held recently on the Crookston campus.

The award was presented to Sahlstrom for exemplary service to the equine industry. This is the first University of Minnesota, Crookston Equine Award presentation. Hereafter, the award will be presented to honor Sahlstrom's long standing record of exemplary service.

The award is named the STAN award to commemorate the spirit, talent, attitude and neighborliness of Sahlstrom. In the future the award will be presented to individuals who bring those same attributes to their service in support of the equine industry.

Conference brought 75 equine enthusiasts to UMC to learn about equine lameness, chiropractic care, acupuncture and massage therapy.

assistant from five to six hours per day, establish and authorize the administration to post for two positions 3, for the extended Multiple Handicapped Program at Challenger for summer 1998, to include one multiple-handicapped teacher, and one multiple-handicapped educational assistant.

The school board approved transfers and employment for the 1998-99 school year for the following, as a result of the levy referendum: Denice Nelson transfer from grade 4 to kindergarten teacher at Challenger, Julie D. Olson transfer from grade 5 to kindergarten teacher at Challenger, and approved the employment of the following effective August 26, 1998 — Darcie Dalager, grade 2 teacher, Gary Laidley, social and School Within a School teacher at Franklin, Tim Magnuson, social teacher at Franklin, Matthew Okeson, science teacher at Franklin, Sara Olson, .5 FTE gifted/talented coordinator and .25 FTE academic activity coach at Challenger, Paula Praska, grade 5 teacher at Challenger, Shane Zutz, communications teacher at Franklin, and Troy Hanestad as physical education and health teacher at Franklin.

The board accepted the resignation of Elveta Cullen as communications teacher at Lincoln High School effective June 5, with a letter of appreciation to be sent to her for her many years of service the the district.

The board approved placing Carol Ihle on unrequested leave of absence, part-time speech teacher.

The board approved the list of all students on record in the Superintendent's office for having met all requirements for local school district and the State of Minnesota to be awarded with a certificate of high school graduation.

The next regular meeting of the school board has been scheduled for 6 p.m. on June 8 in the school district service center.

Philippe Hebeck will serve as master of ceremonies during the All Nations Cultural Festival in St. Hilaire July 11 and 12. His sense of humor and ability to relate to the audience makes him a great addition to any production.

Bremer Foundation awards grants

Otto Bremer Foundation, a private charitable foundation established in 1944, has authorized the following grants following a meeting in April.

The Foundation gives priority to programs which help to broaden understanding about racism and promote human rights and equality. It also gives priority to programs that serve youth while involving them in decision-making capacities.

Crookston Public Schools, district 593, received a grant for $1,500 to provide a symposium for students and teachers on issues of "Drug and Alcohol Abuse" from a Native American Perspective.

Northwest Minnesota DAC Cooperative, Inc., of Grygla received a $25,000 grant for the operations of the organization which provides training and habilitation services to persons with developmental disabilities.

LOW Art in the Park event June 6-7

Lake of the Woods Ninth Annual Art in the Park Festival at Arnesen's Rocky Point Resort will be held Saturday and Sunday, June 6-7. Rocky Point is located 13 miles north of Roosevelt on County road 17. The Festival will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

Local and regional artists and crafters will display and offer a variety of items. There will be free balloons and face painting for children. A food concession will be available. Mt. Carmel WELCA will have its annual Food and Bake sale that Saturday.

The Festival is co-sponsored by Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8676, and Mount Carmel Lutheran Church ELCA.

SBA designates disaster area after determination

Federal disaster loans are now available from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) for small non-farm agricultural-dependent businesses located in Red Lake County and the contiguous counties of Pennington and Polk, which were economically impacted due to losses caused by heavy rain and excessive moisture that occurred from June 1, 1997, through October 31, 1997, according to SBA Regional Administrator Peter Barca.

This disaster designation was issued as a result of similar action taken by the Secretary of Agriculture to help farmers in those counties. Farmers are not eligible to apply to SBA.

Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) provide working capital to small businesses so they can pay bills and meet normal operating expenses. Maximum loans to a business of up to $1.5 million are available at four percent interest with loan terms of up to 30 years. SBA determines eligibility for the program based on the size and type of business and its financial resources.

Barca advised that loan applications and program information are available by calling 1-800-359-2227. The Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) and speech impaired number is 404-347-3751. These telephones are answered weekdays from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. (EDT). Applications are also available by writing Area 2 Disaster Assistance Office, U.S. Small Business Administration, One Baltimore Place, Suite 300, Atlanta, GA, 30308.

The Economic Injury Loan application filing deadline is November 19, 1998.

Plan Petrofund workshops in eleven communities

Minnesota Petrofund is expanding its outreach activities across the state, scheduling reimbursement workshops at 11 locations in June and July, according to Commissioner David B. Gruenes of the Minnesota Department of Commerce.

Goal of the workshops is to explain Petrofund procedures, assist tank owners and operators who are submitting reimbursement applications and inform tank owners and operators about new legislation that may provide reimbursement for tank removal costs.

Sessions in northwestern Minnesota are June 30 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Bemidji public library; July 1 from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Otter Tail Power Company's community room in Crookston, and July 1 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the city hall council chambers in Detroit Lakes.

Format of the workshops will include a half-hour presentation followed by an hour and a half for individual questions and answers.

Workshops are believed to be especially helpful to the many tank owners and operators who are still working to meet the EPA's Dec. 22, 1998 deadline regarding underground storage tanks. The EPA requires that approximately 40,000 underground tanks at over 15,000 sites in Minnesota be upgraded between 1987 and 1998. The Petrofund serves as a funding mechanism to enable tank owners to meet these regulations.

False alarm - not once, but twice!

Hallock - Fire alarms went off, twice on May 29 at the Kittson County Courthouse in Hallock. Fire departments from Hallock and Kennedy responded to the calls.

Fireman did a walk-through of all the offices in the building trying to find the cause of the alarms. It was determined that an individual using a cell phone on the roof was setting off the alarm system. The person was aligning a satellite dish and was calling from the roof, checking the signal. Kittson County Enterprise

Former student paints mural in EGF

East Grand Forks - After learning the art of air brush painting in Mike Knutson's art class at East Grand Forks Senior High, Steve Driscoll extended that knowledge and his talent into a full time job.

A 1981 graduate, Driscoll returned to the school recently to paint a 4 by 23-foot mural in the cafeteria. While the mural would be worth about $100 to $200 per foot, Driscoll is doing it for free. He also returns to East Grand Forks two or three times a year to help instruct Knutson's art class.

The mural project was sponsored by the East Grand Forks Arts and Crafts Council and the East Grand Forks Foundation. The Exponent

Red Lake school proposes schedule

Redlake - Hoping to improve learning, school officials on the Red Lake Indian Reservation propose that the schools in Redlake switch to a year-round schedule.

Supt. Schmidt plans to pitch the change to teachers and community members, and the schedule could change by the 1999-2000 school year. Schmidt believes that his district would be the first in northern Minnesota to use a year-round schedule. The Pioneer

Turnover high for school custodians

Baudette - It appears that turnover is the rule rather than the exception in the custodial department at Lake of the Woods School.

The department retains just two of eight employees who have held their present jobs for more than six months since September of 1996. Most recently, an employee was terminated, the board citing "insubordination" and "unwillingness to cooperate with the new lead custodian" as the reasons for his termination. The Baudette Region

Performer at May Corporation

Grygla - His latest act is a big change from the parts he's played on Broadway.

The May Corporation in Grygla was visited last week by Tony Partington who left the theater in 1994 and was recently hired as the director of sales and marketing at May Corporation.

Partington grew up in the theater, his father the founder of the Guthrie Theater. A husband and father, he gave up the theater for a more stable lifestyle. The Grygla Eagle

NW Dairy Day revived with changes for '98

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch* Editor

Snatched from the jaws of death, Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls has been resuscitated, revitalized and will continue the tradition established over its 48-year history. The event will be changed to some extent, but still offer a chance for northwest Minnesota young people to show their dairy animals in competition.

Among the changes are moving the date from the long-standing second Tuesday in June to Saturday, June 27, in conjunction with An American Festival—the Thief River Falls Fourth of July celebration. The location will continue to be at the livestock building on the Pennington County Fairgrounds.

Added will be educational programs, games and displays. Missing will be the regional dairy princess contest which had been previously scheduled for Saturday, June 13, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls. The newly-crowned regional princess will participate in the June 27 activities.

Tradition Resurrected

Directors of the Northwest Dairy Improvement Association, sponsor of Northwest Dairy Day for the past 48 years, voted earlier to discontinue the annual June Dairy Month event due to lack of interest. Number of exhibitors in the dairy cattle show had declined substantially in the past several years and a survey conducted by the association showed little positive response for a show in 1998.

Announcement of discontinuing Northwest Dairy Day motivated a number of dairy people, however, and a group of interested dairymen met with the NDIA board to see if the event could be revived. The group was provided with a budget and funds from the association's existing reserves and encouraged to go ahead with organizing and conducting the 49th annual event.

"We really are acting on behalf of the Northwest Dairy Improvement Association," stated Lew Wallace of rural Middle River, who is heading the group making arrangements for the 1998 show. "The board has authorized us to use the Northwest Dairy Day title and we plan on continuing some of the popular aspects of past dairy days."

Wallace said that the group faces an extra task in notifying northwest dairy people that the show which had been canceled is viable again. It has sent notices and entry forms to about 750 members of the American Dairy Association of Minnesota in the 16-county area of Minnesota ADA Region 1. Counties include Becker, Beltrami, Cass, Clay, Clearwater, Hubbard, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk (East and West), Red Lake, Roseau and Wadena.

Construction to start Monday on County Road 8

Pennington county highway department has announced that construction is to start Monday, June 8, on County State Aid Highway (CSAH) 8 which runs east and west on the south side of Challenger elementary school.

The portion of CSAH 8 to be reconstructed is an approximately two-mile stretch from CSAH 17 (Airport Road) to U.S. Highway 59.

Contractor Sellin Construction from Hawley has been allowed 40 working days to complete the project. The county highway department anticipates that the project will be completed prior to the start of classes for the 1998-1999 school year.

Jennica Gallagher in Miss TRF event

(This is the third in a series of articles about candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the official Miss America Preliminary Scholarship Pageant to be conducted at the Lincoln high school auditorium at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, June 27. Other candidates will be featured in succeeding issues of The Times and Northern Watch.)

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch* Editor

With a high school background of athletics, academics and a number of individual honors, Jennicca Gallagher will be off to Northwestern College in St. Paul this fall to begin her studies in pre-law. The Goodridge high school graduate has aspirations of eventually becoming a judge.

Jennicca, 18, is the daughter of John and Esther Gallagher of rural Goodridge. Her father is a farmer and trucker and her mother is a secretary at Challenger elementary school. She has three brothers, John, 20, Joshua, 16; and Justin, 14.

An "A" honor student for four years at Goodridge high school, Jennicca was salutatorian of her graduating class. She participated in the literary arts program of the Northern Expressions School of the Arts at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls and enjoys creative writing. For her pageant talent number she will read one of her original compositions.

Jennicca played clarinet in the Goodridge high school band and sang in the school choir, was 1997 homecoming queen, participated in track for six years, basketball for three years and volleyball for two years, serving as captain in all three sports. She was named co-defensive player of the year in basketball this year.

A Hugh O'Brian Youth Award winner in 1996, she was also a Girls State delegate, a member of the Minnesota State High School League Section 8A advisory board and treasurer of the Northwest District of the Minnesota Association of Student Councils. She was a member of the National Honor Society for two years and won academic awards in mathematics, German, business and social studies.

At the Evangelical Free Church in Thief River Falls she has taught a Sunday school class for mentally handicapped adults and been a member of the youth group. She has also spent a week in Mexico City on a youth missions trip.

Among things that Jennicca says she likes are potatoes, her dog "Loopy," participating in sports, eating Oriental food, traveling and shopping. Her program emphasis if selected Miss Thief River Falls will be on family literacy in Minnesota.

Bob Benner of Northwest Airlines announced a new low fare program called Fly Local. The program offers fares to the Twin Cities for $69 each way for a 21-day advance purchase, and $99 for one-way walk-up tickets. Certain conditions apply. Benner is flanked on the left by Rep. Jim Tunheim, and on the right by Dr. Orley Gunderson of Northland Community and Technical College. Also speaking at the event were Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, Rep. Tim Finseth, Thief River Falls Mayor Mark Borsheim, and Mark Larson, business leader.

"Fly Local" program takes off at Thief River Falls airport

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Bob Benner of Northwest Airlines announced Wednesday that passengers in Thief River Falls will be able to take advantage of new low fares offered through their Fly Local program.

"This is a good day for Thief River Falls and Northwest Airlines," said Benner.

According to Benner and a press release from the legislative offices of Representatives Jim Tunheim and Tim Finseth, and Senator LeRoy Stumpf, the Fly Local program offers fares to the Twin Cities for $69 each way for a 21-day advance purchase, and $99 for one-way walk-up tickets. According to local travel agents, prior to the Fly Local program, a one way ticket to Minneapolis was $278.

Additional, the Fly Local program will set fares for travel beyond Minneapolis/St. Paul to destinations throughout the continental United States at $30 above ($60 round trip) the Twin Cities fare levels. This will offer significant price reductions to 25 destinations.

The Fly Local fares apply to the following flights between Thief River Falls and Minneapolis/St. Paul. Depart from Thief River Falls aboard flight 2919 at 5 a.m., arrive in Minneapolis/St. Paul at 6:55 a.m.; depart Minneapolis/St. Paul flight 3078 at 9:05 p.m. and arrive in Thief River Falls at 11 p.m. Certain restrictions apply. To obtain the $69 rate, for example, passengers must purchase the ticket 21 days in advance, fly on the flights listed above, and stay over a Saturday night. The same restrictions do not necessarily apply for the $99 rate.

Also, seats offered at the low fares are limited. Benner said he wasn't sure how many seats would be available at the new rates. He said they will start low and hopefully it will grow. Local travel agents have not heard how many seats will be offered at the low rate.

The "catch or challenge" to continued low fares, said Benner, is for the community to get behind the airport and its carrier and promote the Fly Local program. Passenger traffic will need to remain high if Northwest is going to continue to offer the low fares.

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf thanked Northwest Airlines for offering the new low fares. In a press release offered at the announcement, he said "The new lower rates will really be helpful to businesses and

by Kathi Carlson
Northern Watch* Reporter

"I'm a rookie!" declares Ernie Thune when asked how long he's been raising miniature horses. Rookie or not, the rural Thief River Falls man has developed quite a fondness for his little horses — all 30 of them.

Ernie purchased his first miniature horse three years ago. "I really never cared much for big horses," he says. He estimates it to be about 65 years ago when he had his last experience on a full-size horse. He and others were herding cattle on horseback when his horse was spooked by a rabbit. Ernie ended up on his back on the ground, and that was enough for him!

Talking about things that happened 65 years ago leads one to wonder how old this gentleman is. Watching him vigorously climb over fences offers one no clue. However, he doesn't hesitate when asked about his age "Seventy-seven is all!" he jovially replies. And he's not retired but working at his business of 43 years, the Hearing Aid Center in Thief River Falls.

Miniature horses is only one of many hobbies Ernie has had over the years. He's interested in many things and values his pastimes as a way to relax, learn and meet new people.

It's the expertise of others that Ernie's relied on with his little horse venture, and he's more than anxious to talk to anyone and everyone who shares his passion.

The miniature horse is proportioned just like the large horse, and miniatures are divided into two classes. The class A miniature is a horse less than 34 inches high and the class B miniature, referred to as "oversize," is between 34 and 38 inches in height. Ernie finds the pedigrees to be interesting as the sizes of the registered horse's ancestors are recorded with it.

The smaller the animal is, the more valuable it is. Ernie's herd includes a combination of class A and class B miniatures though he plans to sell the larger animals and purchase more of the smaller ones. "I have to sell five big ones to get one small one," Ernie says. It isn't unusual to pay $2,500 for a class A miniature. "But," he notes, "you can pay too much!"

According to Ernie, all horse breeds have been bred down to miniature size, and he would someday like to visit a farm in Maryland that boasts every breed. Ernie would especially like to see, and maybe

Ernie Thune enjoys raising miniature horses on his farm southeast of Thief River Falls. Eight foals were born this spring bringing the total of his herd to 30. While he's never cared for full-size horses, he finds raising the small versions to be the "most interesting thing I've ever done."

Bookkeeping duties rearranged to everyone's benefit

Red Lake Falls - District bookkeeper Kandee Johnson wanted to reduce her hours from 40 to 25 hours per week so she could spend more time with her children. Johnson's assistant, Pam Page, wanted more hours because all of her children will be in school next year.

The administration proposed to the school board that each bookkeeper work 25 hours per week.

It was a win-win situation for all concerned. The bookkeepers will each work the desired number of hours, and because Johnson will lose her benefits and Page won't be eligible, the school district will save about $3,300 per year. The Gazette

Sherry LaCoursiere

An abundance of fresh fruits and vegetables are coming into season now. It's a good time to use as many of them as possible in our cooking and today's recipes will help you to do that.

Use these veggies or other favorites to make a big salad that will compliment any meal:

SEVEN-VEGETABLE SALAD
1 3/4 cups cauliflowerets
1 1/4 cups chopped cucumber
1 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup quartered cherry tomatoes
1/4 cup julienned green pepper
1/4 cup julienned sweet red pepper
2 tablespoons sliced green onions
1/4 cup salad dressing of choice

Combine all ingredients in a large bowl. Pour dressing over and toss to coat.

Here's a great accompaniment to that special barbecued meat - and the salad above would be great with that too:

HERBED POTATOES AND ONIONS
3 medium red potatoes, thinly sliced
1 medium onion, sliced thin
1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter, melted

In ungreased 2 quart microwave baking dish, layer half of the potato and onion slices.

Combine seasoning and pepper and sprinkle half over the layer in pan. Drizzle with half of the butter. Repeat layers.

Cover with vented pastic wrap and microwave on high for 12 minutes or until potatoes are tender, turning dish halfway through cooking.

Use other fresh fruits in this tasty salad along with or in place of those mentioned - whatever is in season would be good:

FESTIVE FRUIT SALAD
1 (20 ounce) can pineapple chunks
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 egg, lightly beaten
2 (11 ounces each) cans mandarin oranges, drained
1 (20 ounce) can pears, drained and chopped
3 kiwi fruit, peeled and sliced
2 large, unpeeled apples, chopped
1 cup pecan halves

Drain pineapple, reserving juice in small saucepan. Set pineapple aside.

Add sugar and flour to juice and bring to a boil. Quickly stir in egg and cook until thickened, stirring. Remove from heat and cool in fridge.

In large bowl, combine all fruits and nuts. Refrigerate, if necessary, while dressing cools. When it is cool, pour over fruits and mix lightly but well. Cover and chill for at least 1 hour to meld flavors.

Oh, this would be yummy made with some of that fresh corn - it would be great served with crispy fresh bread and a fresh garden salad:

TEXAS CORN CHOWDER
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup diced, peeled potato (medium sized)
1 cup water
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 cup fresh (or frozen) corn
1-2 teaspoons finely chopped jalupeno or green chilies
2 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Dash of paprika

In medium saucepan, saute onion in butter until tender. Stir in flour and then add potato, water and bouillon. Bring to a boil and then reduce heat and simmer 7-10 minutes, until potato is tender.

Add corn, jalapeno, milk and seasonings. Cover and simmer another 15 minutes.

And here's one more veggie dish that can be cooked up in minutes and served with your favorite meat or fish dish - and it has fresh tomatoes, peppers and peas in it, too, if you have them:

VEGETABLE RICE MEDLEY
1/2 cup cooked rice
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 teaspoon oil
1/2 cup chopped fresh tomato
1/4 cup chopped yellow or red sweet pepper
1/4 cup water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup peas (fresh or frozen)

In skillet, saute rice and onion in oil until rice is lightly browned. Add tomato, pepper, water and salt, reduce heat, and cover and simmer for 5 minutes.

Stir in peas and heat through.

Walk Pennington County begins on June 8

The 1998 Walk Pennington County Program begins on June 8. Participants in the program are asked to log "minutes exercised" in 15-minute blocks on a map of Pennington County.

When participants complete the map they become eligible to receive a free t-shirt. Completed forms should be mailed to the the Extension Office. The first 50 participants to complete the program will receive a free "I walked Pennington County" t-shirt. Other participants finishing the program will have the option of purchasing a t-shirt. The program will end on September 8.

Walk Pennington County forms can be obtained at the front desk of Northwest Medical Center or the Pennington County Extension office at the courthouse. Questions regarding the Walk Pennington County Program can be directed to Gail Holland at 218-681-4240, extension 210.

This program is sponsored by Northwest Medical Center, the Dakota Clinic-TRF, and the Pennington County Extension Office.

Bagley man injured in accident near Brooks

Randall Mark Anderson, 42, Bagley, was injured in a one-vehicle accident on Highway 92 two miles east of Brooks Tues., June 2.

Minnesota State Patrol received a report of the accident at 6:10 p.m. on June 2. According to the accident report, Anderson was driving a 1996 Ford pickup east on Highway 92. As the vehicle entered the curve the vehicle went off the road to the south side, then north and into the north ditch where it rolled. It eventually came to rest, right side up, in the Hill River.

Anderson was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls and then transferred to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks. According to hospital personnel, he was listed in serious condition Tuesday evening.

Breakfast on the Farm at Mark and Joan Lee farm

Fourth annual Polk County American Dairy Association (ADA) "Breakfast on the Farm" will take place Saturday, June 20, from 8 to 11 a.m. at the Mark and Joan Lee farm north of McIntosh.

A breakfast of pancakes, sausage, ice cream with strawberries, milk and coffee is sponsored by the Polk County ADA in cooperation with radio station KKCQ of Fosston and the Polk county extension service.

Information on display will focus on the economic impact of Minnesota's dairy industry and tours will be given to show the operation of a dairy farm and permit visitors to see the animals and farm facilities.

The public is invited to compete in a best ice cream contest with a grand prize of a year's supply of milk from Palubicki's Foods and Deli in Fosston. Participants must bring all of their own supplies for the contest.

The public is invited to attend the breakfast. Mark and Joan Lee's farm is located six miles north of McIntosh on County Road 8 and a quarter mile east on County Road 5. Signs will be posted along the route. Last year 650 people attended the event.

Foreign student placement group seeking families

Council for Education Travel USA, a non-profit organization, is seeking area host families for international high school students for one or two semesters of the 1998-1999 school year.

The students come from 25 countries including Spain, Thailand, Bulgaria, China, Columbia, Russia, Japan, Brazil and others, according to Donna Nelson of Gatzke, coordinator for this area. She can be contacted at 218-459-3329. The office of CETUSA may also be contacted directly at 1-888-238-8728.

The students are carefully screened, speak English, are fully insured and have personal spending money. They will arrive in August and are eager to learn about the United States while living with and becoming a member of a host family and attending an American high school. Area coordinators such as Mrs. Nelson are provided to assist students, host families and host schools through orientation and on-the-spot supervision.

MPCA to accept comment on airport's sewage lagoon

Minnesota Pollution Control Agency has proposed to reissue a permit for the sewage treatment lagoon at the Thief River Falls regional airport for a period of approximately five years and is accepting comment on the permit through June 29 at 4:30 p.m.

According to the notice of intent to reissue, the treatment system consists of a one-acre primary cell and one-half acre secondary cell designed to treat a daily influent flow of 6,750 gallons per day. The facility was put into operation in 1974 and averages slightly less than 2,000 gallons of influent flow per day.

The system has never discharged, but its discharge channel is an intermittent, unnamed stream in Section 21 of Rocksbury township which flows west one-fourth mile and then north one-fourth mile to a wetland bordering the Red Lake river in the southeast corner of Section 16.

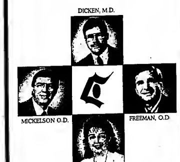
Written comments must include:

(1) A statement of your interest in the permit application or the draft permit.

(2) A statement of the action you wish the MPCA to take, including specific references to sections of the draft permit that you believe should be changed; and

(3) The reasons supporting your position, stated with sufficient specificity as to allow the Commissioner to investigate the merits of your position.

Send comments to Deborah A. Schumann, Point Source Compliance Section, Water Quality Division, Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, 520 Lafayette Road North, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155-4194. For copies of the draft permit or answers to questions, call Deborah Schumann at 612-296-9339.



Open house at Excel Dairy to be in August

Originally planned for June 9 to coincide with what would have been the 49th annual Northwest Dairy Day, an open house at Excel Dairy north of Thief River Falls has been postponed to August 12.

Northwest Dairy Day was first canceled by the sponsoring Northwest Dairy Improvement Association, then revitalized by an interest group and rescheduled for June 27.

Larry and Rhonda Amundson said that the rescheduled date will be the first anniversary of their move to the new 1,000-cow dairy facilities and will also coincide with a visit by a touring group from the Minnesota Agri-Growth Council.

Flat Tax Offers Fairness, Growth And Simplicity

In response to the demands of taxpayers across the nation, Congress has passed a resolution to do away with the tax code in the year 2001. The current system has become so complicated and so filled with exceptions and exemptions that it is almost impossible to understand. It is costly to administer and subject to abuse by those who are charged with its administration—as evidenced in testimony at recent Congressional hearings.

Since the government needs taxes to continue its operations, a replacement system for the current tax code will be necessary. One of the leading proposals is a flat tax introduced by House Majority Leader Dick Armey and Senator Richard Shelby which calls for a 17 percent tax on all wages, salaries and pensions but no taxes on interest, dividends, rents, royalties and business profits. Since income could be taxed only once, the flat tax would in effect eliminate both capital gains and estate taxes.

The flat tax plan also eliminates all deductions and credits. Instead, every working American would receive a personal exemption. In a family of four, for example, the first $33,800 in annual income would be tax exempt.

Businesses would pay a 17 percent tax, the same rate as individual taxpayers, points out Sen. Rod Grams of Minnesota. A business would be taxed on only wage payments, pension contributions and the difference between gross revenue and the sum of purchases from other firms. Pension contributions would be deductible, but there would be no deductions for fringe benefits.

"Supporters of the flat tax argue that it's far superior to the current tax system in the following ways," Sen. Grams says.

• It's flatter. The federal tax burden on working Americans is at an all-time high; as high as 28 percent for the highest-taxed Americans. It's the result of a progressive taxation system designed for the redistribution of wealth. This taxation theory is counterproductive in that it taxes achievement and appears to punish success. A flat 17 percent tax rate, whether it's 17 percent of $100,000 ($17,000) or 17 percent of $10,000 ($1,700), would raise the necessary revenues while avoiding the distribution of wealth.

• It's fairer. Since everyone pays the same tax rate, the system largely treats everyone equally, except for exemptions based on income and family size. There are no tax breaks, preferences for special interests or loopholes for powerful lobbies.

• It's pro growth, pro jobs and pro prosperity. Because the flat tax eliminates double taxation on Americans' income, it encourages savings and investment, in turn helping to create new jobs, higher incomes and faster growth. When marginal tax rates are lower, people will work more, save more and start more businesses. The flat tax removes nearly all the hurdles for long-term growth for the job providers along Main Street. Stripped of these burdens, U.S. global competitiveness—and the better jobs and higher salaries a healthy, worldwide market represents—will increase.

• It's simpler. It replaces 480 separate tax forms—and the 280 forms that explain how to fill out those 480 forms—with just two postcard-size forms, one for individual wages and one for business income. The flat tax reduces the costs of complying with today's burdensome tax code by 94 percent, freeing up resources that are currently wasted on record keeping, filing forms, learning the hopelessly complex tax code, and litigation.

"The flat tax proposal is not without its problems," Sen. Grams points out. "Although a flat tax system would dramatically reduce the power of the IRS, it would maintain the IRS as the nation's tax law administrator and enforcer. This raises the very real possibility of continued taxpayer abuse and more of the sort of IRS-created horror stories that recently surfaced during three days of intense, troubling hearings by the Senate Finance Committee.

"And the flat tax eliminates current write-offs like the popular mortgage interest deduction," the senator adds. "Without any transition period, the loss of the mortgage deduction could create temporary hardship for many American homeowners, although they would benefit from the flat tax in the end."

While nobody enjoys paying taxes, everyone recognizes that revenue is needed in order for the government to operate. Paying taxes is more acceptable if the taxpayer knows that the system is fair and equitable. There can't be a much more basic system than the flat tax.

Russians Gain Freedom As U.S. Citizens Lose It

Citizens of the United States have rejoiced as the people of the former USSR have experienced greater freedom and, despite a period of economic adjustment from the Soviet socialist state, adapted to the capitalist system and the freedoms therein. The change has neutralized a potential enemy and reduced the cost of guarding against it, but has also provided another example to the world of the joys of freedom.

Meanwhile, the United States continues its slide toward greater government control of its people and restrictions on American freedoms. Lisa Dean of the Free Congress Foundation recently returned from Russia where she found hope and happiness in the freedom of that country's young people.

Back home she finds "a new federal guideline designed to monitor public school students before and after they graduate and enter into their professional lives. This is being done in conjunction with the Goals 2000 and School-to-Work education projects." Dean observes that "Under these guidelines, states will maintain databases on every student's after-school employer, his or her occupation after graduation, and whether his company has a union—and share that information with the Department of Education."

She explains that the U.S. Senate has passed the Workforce Investment Partnership Act which links the Department of Education's databases on students to those of the Departments of Labor and Health and Human Services. The House has already approved its companion bill.

"What our federal legislature has just done is to seal the fate of the same children they claim to protect by ensuring that their lives will be recorded from their academic years through the end of their professional lives," Dean says.

"In Soviet times," she notes, "the reason the government collected this type of information was clear: the communists wanted to control their citizens. So, what's our government trying to do? Young people have graduated, held jobs and acquired skills throughout this century without the federal government tracking their every move."

Dean said that when she explained what the U.S. government is doing along with its stated rationale of protecting children and ensuring national security, every Russian she spoke to rejected the idea. "Because," they said, "the Soviet Union used the same excuses."

With examples so close at hand, why are we so slow to learn?

Volunteers needed to move orchids along Hwy. 11

Diggers, movers and planters are needed today (Saturday, June 6) for an emergency orchid dig along Highway 11 between Williams and Roosevelt. Bulldozers are already at work on the highway construction project in that area.

Volunteers were to meet at 9 a.m. at the Williams City Park and orchid digging has been scheduled to continue until no more orchids can be found or darkness falls, whichever comes first.

Participants are to bring their own shovel, food and water and there is also a need for plastic sleds, pickups and trailers for moving the plants.

Yellow and showy ladyslippers, the latter the state flower, will be dug and moved either to a section of the highway completed last year or to a field that has been worked up adjacent to the current road work. Those transplanted in the field will be moved back to the road ditch next year.

For more information call Celeste LaValla at 218-386-3246 or 386-2744 or Gretchen Mehmel at 783-2521 or 783-6861.

Public hearings on Lakehead expansion set

Citizens will have the opportunity to voice their opinions at two public hearings concerning Lakehead Pipe Line Company's proposal to expand its pipeline across six counties in northwestern Minnesota. The Minnesota Department of Public Service (DPS), which is recommending approval of the pipeline expansion, will testify at the hearings in Thief River Falls, June 10 and 11 at 7 p.m. at Northland Community and Technical College, room 131. Both hearings are open to the public.

According to Department of Public Service Commissioner, Kris Sanda, Lakehead is seeking a Certificate of Need from the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) to permit construction of 69 miles of pipeline, allowing the company to ship an additional 166,700 barrels of crude oil and other liquid hydrocarbons daily. The new pipeline would be buried underground adjacent to Lakehead's existing pipeline facilities running through Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, and Clearwater counties.

"Expanding the pipeline will go a long way in helping maintain reliable and adequate energy supplies for consumers in Minnesota and neighboring states," said Sanda. "The company is already having difficulty meeting the full demand for its product and without the additional pipeline the shortfalls are likely to become more serious."

DPS carefully considered other reasonable alternatives to constructing the new pipeline, including increased conservation and use of alternative fuels, but found them unable to make up for the shortfalls, at least in the near term. The Department also found that negative environmental damage appears to be minimal and preferable to the consequences of denying the project. Lakehead has agreed to compensate landowners for any damage to cropland resulting from the project.

Following the public hearing on June 11, an administrative law judge will issue an opinion on the case. The final decision on whether to grant Lakehead the Certificate of Need is expected from the PUC in September of 1998.

Restored tractor and apron show set at Crookston

Small engine, restored tractor and apron show is planned for June 13 and 14 in Crookston under sponsorship of the Polk County Historical Society.

Men's, women's and children's aprons will be modeled at an apron style show Saturday, June 13, at 3 p.m. and coffee will be served following the show. Persons interested in bringing their favorite apron may call 218-281-1038 between noon and 5 p.m. daily.

Park Ridge cemetery annual meeting set

Annual meeting of the Park Ridge Cemetery Association will take place Sunday, June 7, at 1:30 p.m. at the cemetery or at the Lloyd Hogenson home in case of rain. Lunch will be provided.

Plan Project 2030 forum June 24 at Best Western

Project 2030 forum has been scheduled for Wednesday, June 24, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls, according to Danica Robson, director of the Northwest Area Agency on Aging with offices in Warren.

Registration deadline is June 15 and cost is $10 per participant, including materials, lunch and refreshments.

"Project 2030 is a state-wide two-year special project designed to identify the impacts of Minnesota's aging population and help prepare the state's response to the baby boomer generation that will be turning 85 in the year 2030," Robson said.

She added that the "senior boom" will permanently change Minnesota's age structure and will have implications for all segments of society. Continued spending at the current rate across the senior boom will lead to not having enough government program dollars to support the programs unless taxes are raised by an estimated 60 percent.

"We need to understand what these changes mean for ourselves, our communities, our businesses and our state and local governments," Robson said.

"Join in the discussion of the coming senior boom and the future implications for communities by attending the forum June 24. We need to identify strategies to ensure our communities will remain economically vital and good places to live for people of all ages," she added.

To register or receive more information, contact the Northwest Area Agency on Aging, 115 South Main, Warren, MN 56762 or call 218-745-6733 or toll-free 1-800-333-2433.

Local Legionnaires to be involved in district convention

Members of Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion in Thief River Falls will participate in the Ninth District convention June 12-14 in Barnesville.

Included are Vernon Lee, chaplain and chairman of the Godfathers project; Jerry Odegaard, chairman of Boys State and Time and Place, and Robert Reeve, serviceman support.

Jack Schulstad Post 153 in Barnesville is host to the convention.

Paula Hovda named to All-America softball team...

Northland players honored

National honors have been awarded to Paula Hovda and Angie Vagle, a pair of sophomores from Roseau, who helped lead the Northland Community and Technical College softball team to the 1998 Minnesota Community College Conference state tournament title.

Hovda and Vagle were both named to the National Junior College Athletic Association All-Region 13 team, and Hovda was selected as Second Team NJCAA Division III All-America.

It was a memorable spring for the Northland ball club.

A list of accomplishments for the Pioneers included their first Minnesota Community College Conference state championship; first National Junior College Athletic Association Region 13 tournament appearance; a 25-13 record that represented the most wins in school history, and now their first-ever All-America selection.

No other Northland softball team had ever cracked the 20-win barrier and no other Northland women's athletic program had ever won a state title.

"It was a great season," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "Most coaches go through their entire career and not win a championship. I feel very fortunate that things went well for us most of the year."

The Pioneers did it with an all-area roster that included sophomores Cami Sorenson and Nikki Burns (Thief River Falls); Jackie Magner (Newfolden); Carisa Meyer (Crookston); Sarah Falk, Hovda and Vagle (Roseau); Devin Grugal and Carrie Cameron (Warroad); Rayna Benson (Pelican Rapids); and Marisa Mullan (Bagley), along with freshmen Terra Lorenson (Greenbush) and Erica Owen (Thief River Falls).

Northland hit .359 as a team and averaged 8.1 runs per game. Grugal led the attack with a .495 batting average, 47 runs batted in, five home runs and six triples. Magner hit .488 and came up with 24 stolen bases, while Hovda carried a .438 average and Vagle hit .419.

Vagle was also the Pioneers' top pitcher with a 18-7 record and a 3.29 earned-run average. She gave up 184 hits, walked 23 and struck out 63 in 151 innings of work.

Although he liked his team's chances heading into the season, Nikunen wasn't ready to predict great things after having experienced a frustrating 1997-98 basketball season when his highly-touted Northland women's team was hit by early defections and injuries that turned a possible title-challenging campaign into a .500 struggle.

"With a lot of veterans back, we had high expectations," acknowledged Nikunen, "but I was a little cautious because of what happened in basketball."

There were some softball personnel moves that had to be made because of injuries and academic reasons, but nothing like the problems that plagued the basketball team.

"We hoped to make it to region and we hoped to do well at state," said Nikunen in recalling the Pioneers' preseason expectations. "Winning state was an unspoken goal. All the kids felt they could do it, but they didn't want to jinx themselves was saying it out loud."

Northland earned a Region 13 berth, awarded prior to the end of the regular season to the top two teams in the MCCC Northern and Southern Division standings, and had an opportunity to advance to the NJCAA Division III national tournament when they reached the finals of the double-elimination event in unbeaten fashion. But Itasca beat the Pioneers twice, 10-4 and 8-4, to steal the title.

Same scenario played itself out at the state tournament the following week when Northland again emerged as the final unbeaten team in the double-elimination format. Loser bracket survivor North Hennepin evened the championship series at one loss each with a 9-2 decision, but the Pioneers prevailed in the second-game showdown 11-5 for the title.

"The region (losses) would have been a lot bigger deal if we would not have won the state tournament," noted Nikunen. "Winning state helped us get over the disappointment in losing those last two games at region."

Hovda (First Team) and Vagle (Second Team) were awarded MCCC all-state status and were both named First Team MCCC all-Northern Division. Magner and Grugal were Second Team MCCC all-Northern Division. Hovda, Vagle, Grugal and Magner were Northland representatives on the MCCC all-state tournament squad.

Team awards went to Benson, who was named most improved; Lorenson, Rookie of the Year; and Cameron, who received the Pioneer Award for inspirational performance.

Northland's success featured a nice blend of offense and defense, noted Nikunen. "In all team sports, defense is the most important thing," he explained. "Defense is what kept us together and kept us going. Obviously, our hitting was big, too. We had some individuals with some outstanding numbers."

Balance and depth also contributed to the Pioneers' championship season. "We knew we had some quality individuals, but we still had a lot of question marks," said Nikunen. "We weren't sure about some positions, but we made a couple of changes and some kids stepped up and did a nice job for us."

TRF track awards presented

Special recognition awards and athletic letters were presented Tuesday to members of the Thief River Falls boys and girls high school track teams.

Boys who were named award winners included Kelly Fossum, most valuable, Matt Koehmstedt and Kelly Cota, co-most improved, and Trevor Lee, hardest worker.

Most valuable honors for the girls was shared by Nicole Kopari, Rachel Mathson and Becky Mooney, the Prowlers' three representatives in the 1998 Class AA state meet June 5-6 at the National Sports Center in Blaine.

Chelsea Haviland was named the most improved member of the girls team, while Mathson and Haviland were co-recipients of hardest worker honors.

Cota, Koehmstedt and Aaron Sorvig were selected captains of the 1999 Thief River Falls boys team. Kopari and Jill Panek were voted captains of next year's girls squad.

Boys earning athletic letters included seniors Brod Dekkers, Cody Huschle, Bret Newton Rob Russillo, Chad Skeim, Fossum, and Lee; juniors Alex Primakov, Cota, Koehmstedt, and Sorvig, sophomores Brady Anderson, Zach Bosh, Brad Bulger, Seth Harlow, Brent Nelson, and Zach Olson; along with freshmen Chad Borneman, Mike Langland, Brian Loe, Ben Owen, Nate Sorvig, and John Sylvester.

Girls who lettered this spring were seniors Desirae Alberg, Jennicea Gallagher and Mooney; juniors Diana Hofstad, Taya Hunt, Jamilya Ismailova, Jessica Nelson, Panek, and Kopari; sophomores Lisa McKercher, Ann Newton, Kara Skiple, and Mathson; freshmen Ashley Hammer and Alexis Klockman, eighth graders Brenda Kopari, Jackie Mooney and Haviland, plus seventh grader Stacia Kalinoski.

Four TRF players are part of Crookston 16-under J.O. volleyball

Four Thief River Falls players are members of the 16-under North Valley Junior Olympic volleyball program in Crookston.

According to coach Larry Woodbridge, Becky Bray, Melissa Adamson, Ayla Donlin and Teri Krogstad have played key roles in the success of the team that has placed in the top three in all three tournaments entered to date.

"Like any successful team, you need players who understand their roles," noted Woodbridge. "These four girls definitely filled voids that we needed filled. Becky is a powerful outside hitter whose determination is second to none. Melissa is a very smart player who is always in the right spot at the right time. Ayla has learned to play two different positions, and that type of versatility has made her invaluable to the team. Teri gives us a well-needed boost of energy off the bench – she seems to make big plays when we need them."

Don't Judge A Book By Its Cover

I like to think of John the Baptist as the original guide. No, not in the sense of a "reelin' in the Christians" notion, but more in his understanding of the power of water and its ability to renew, open and enlighten. John knew that 360 degrees of water could bring out the finest humanity had to offer. It's a lesson I learn on a daily basis on Lake of the Woods. Put someone next to you in a boat for 10 hours and watch the amazing feats begin.

Doc K. was a highly regarded heart surgeon from St. Louis. The organizer of this particular trip went to great lengths to point out this fact, perhaps in an effort to overcome the good doctor's questionable first impression. It was also made clear that Doc could not swim a stroke.

Showing up at boatside that balmy morning was a rather improbable collection of clothing and equipment wrapped unconvincingly around a gangly human shape. If the recently purchased Eddie Bauer ensemble was not enough to prove Doc K's outdoor imposter status, the tasseled wingtip loafers sealed his fate. He looked less at home in the floppy leather Stetson than I do in a Speedo, and the cumbersome, bright orange Mae West style life jacket enhanced his already caricature status. The truth about the sole redeeming feature, a $250 G. Loomis fishing pole, was quickly uncovered.

"This belongs to a colleague of mine. I'm to guard it with my life," he confessed.

I resisted the strong temptation to judge this book by its cover. Doc K was, after all, a reputable heart surgeon. The soft hands necessary in an operating room would certainly stand him in good stead through the subtleties of jig fishing for walleyes.

However, by 2 p.m. it was obvious that Doc K's tangible contributions to the cooler were to be minimal. Maybe he was just unlucky, or perhaps he had offended some demigod on a recent trip to Iowa. Either way this guy was fortunate to even get snagged. Ignorant of the softer bites and overly muscular on the aggressive ones, he never quite got it. Miss after miss after miss. I secretly imagined his success in the operating room.

"Damn it, Nurse Smith, what do I keep doing wrong? Bring me another bypass candidate and let's get this right for a change!"

In spite of his fishing ineptitude, the doc managed to enjoy himself. By 4 p.m. he had relaxed enough to remove his bulky life vest while we were stationary and fishing, though he made it a point to stay well back from the gunwales. The designer shoes were replaced with bare feet. Not a complete disaster, I reassured myself; after all, unwinding is the primary goal here.

It may have been a bite, perhaps a hungry rock. But whatever pulled that over-priced Loomis rod into the drink did it in lightning quick fashion. And with equal dispatch, a vestless Doc K followed. The coffee-colored lake water swallowed both up instantly, leaving a few reluctant bubbles as the only evidence of life below. The expressions of those still in the boat implied they'd done the math as quickly as I. No swim. No vest. No good.

What may have been five seconds seemed like an hour as we struggled individually to form a plan of action. Was it the guide's responsibility to save him, or did such a burden fall on the shoulders of friends? Then again, it was a business associate who had put us in this predicament to begin with.

A gasping at the stern rendered our musings moot. Doc K's left hand grabbed tenaciously at the boat in search of firm purchase, his right hand locked firmly over his face, holding both glasses and floppy hat in place.

We all breathed a sigh of relief, quickly offering a hand up and condolences for the lost rod. His friend would certainly understand, we reassured him. Lake laden coughs and gags kept the secret secure until we had boated the last of his spindly structure. Wedged between his toes was the Loomis.

"He told me to guard it with my life," offered the doctor with a sheepish grin.

– I'm still in awe of how spontaneously efficient one human brain can be while another (mine, for example) is rendered so incredibly useless when facing similar challenges. I would never allow Doc K to wield a fillet knife in the presence of a walleye, but if my ticker was malfunctioning, he'd always get the scalpel.

Car show set at Fargo fairgrounds June 13 and 14

Red River Mopar Club will sponsor a car show and swap meet June 13 and 14 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Red River Fairgrounds in West Fargo, ND. There is no admission and the public is invited to attend.

An open car show will take place Saturday with an entry fee of $5. On Sunday a judged show for Chrysler Corporation cars only will be held with an entry fee of $15 and trophies awarded in 18 classes at 3:30 p.m.

A swap meet will also be held both days and there is no charge for space in the swap meet area.

OSHA safety, health training workshop set

Minnesota OSHA and Custom Training and Continuing Education, Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) have teamed up to bring employers another one-day OSHA Safety and Health Training workshop on Wednesday, July 8, in room 135 of NCTC.

Minnesota OSHA will provide the instructors for the workshop. The morning session (8 a.m. to noon) will cover the topics of Employee Right to Know, Noise and Heat Stress. The afternoon session (from 1 to 5 p.m.) will address OSHA's Most Commonly Cited Violations in Minnesota, and Review of Minnesota Fatalities and Lockout/Tagout.

The cost for the workshop is $30 per session or $60 for the entire day. Register for one or both sessions by calling Barb Schmitz at 1-800-959-6282, ext. 0868, or 218-681-0868. Registrations must be received by July 1.

Fly Local program takes off in TRF

personal travelers in our region. This is good news, and it may bring new economic development opportunities to the area." He also thanked them for participating in another initiative — helping Northland Community and Technical College recruit students for the aviation school.

Rep. Tim Finseth expressed confidence that the competitive rates will result in an increase in ridership — enough to keep the low fares. Finseth also explained that legislators became involved as representatives from Thief River Falls and surrounding communities asked them to discuss high fares with Northwest. Finseth said that whenever a Northwest representative asked to visit with him about legislation important to Northwest he visited with them about the rate structure.

Rep. Jim Tunheim thanked Northwest for offering the low fares. In a press release he said, "It's very exciting that Northwestern Minnesota is being added to the Fly Local program, and I think Northwest will see many people in our area use the fares."

Thief River Falls Mayor Mark Borsheim thanked Northwest for offering the low fares. He said that with aggressive marketing, he hopes ridership will increase to previous levels.

Mark Larson of Digi-Key, and a representative from the business community, noted that Northwest/Mesaha serves as a critical link between Northwest Minnesota and Minneapolis/St. Paul, the governmental center. He said he is confident that they will see an increase in travel with the new low fares. Cost, he said, has had a negative impact on ridership.

Declining ridership

Because the air service to northwest Minnesota is essential to continued economic development, airfares and boardings at the Thief River Falls Regional Airport have been a concern of local officials for several years. In January of 1995, the Thief River Falls city council invited residents of northwest Minnesota to a meeting to address some of their concerns. It was not the first or last meeting to discuss those concerns. At that time, enplanements and deplanements were on the decline. According to figures presented by the city at that meeting, during the month of April of 1993, there were 369 enplanements, and 423 deplanements. A year later (April of 1994) there were 173 enplanements and 160 deplanements.

A review of records, at least as far back as 1989, seems to support the concern that there has been a decline in the number of people using the service. In April of 1989 there were 434 enplanements and 478 deplanements. Total numbers for that year show that there were 6,067 flying from Thief River Falls. In 1993, that figure had dropped to 3,764.

Changes

Since then there have been a number of changes in flight schedules, promotion programs, and even the size of airplanes being flown to Thief River Falls by Mesaba, Northwest Airlink. A 38-passenger Dash 8 or a 34-passenger Saab 340 are now being used on some of the flights into Thief River Falls. An increase in traffic has been observed. According to city records, during the month of April 1998, there were 330 enplanements, and 416 deplanements.

"Fly Local"

Northwest first launched its "Fly Local" low fare test program in April 1997 in the communities of Bemidji, Brainerd, Hibbing, Grand Rapids and St. Cloud. The purpose of the test was to see if these communities could generate enough additional traffic at the Fly Local fare levels for Northwest to maintain its revenues in these markets. All five communities launched major awareness campaigns and retained the fares by greatly increasing their passenger traffic year-over-year. The Fly Local fares became a regular part of Northwest's fare structure in March 1998, but passenger traffic in these markets and in Thief River Falls will need to remain high enough for Northwest to maintain these fares.

The press conference was held at Northland Community and Technical College, which has had a long-term working relationship with Northwest Airlines.

The show will be open to any youth from kindergarten to one year past high school. Animals shown may be owned by the showman, by his or her parents, or leased from another owner. Youngsters in kindergarten through second grade will all show together, regardless of the age of the animal they show.

Other dairy animals will be shown in six age classes, but animals of all dairy breeds will be combined in those age classes. In prior years at Northwest Dairy Day there was separate age class competition in each breed and breed champions were recognized.

It is expected that the purebred dairy calf won last year by Kelly Schlauderaff of Detroit Lakes, who showed the grand champion grade animal at the 48th annual dairy day, will be awarded at the June 27 show. This year the showman of the grand champion grade and grand champion purebred will each receive a $200 cash prize plus an award plaque and the overall show champion will receive a plaque. Junior and senior showmanship champions will receive $50 awards.

Show To Start At 11 A.M.

Registration will take place from 10 to 11 a.m. at the fairgrounds and the show will start at 11 a.m. with a showmanship demonstration. Show judging will begin immediately following the demonstration.

Each pre-registered exhibitor will receive a free Dairy Day T-shirt and all exhibitors will receive participation awards as they have in prior years. From first through eighth years of participation the respective awards are a wash halter, show halter, grooming kit, fork, alarm clock, cow halter, calculator and cow clipper. Trophies are awarded for ninth through 11th years of showing.

Special awards which will also be continued are the best uddered cow, Hamre individual dairy herd award, county herd award and Stuart McLeod award.

Dairy Day cattle show registration is to be sent to Janice Larson, Route 2, Box 50, Middle River, MN 56737. Entry forms are also available at county extension offices in the counties listed. Additional information is available from Rhoda Gust at 218-528-3621 or Lew Wallace at 218-222-3484.

Other Activities Planned

Also in the dairy barn area during the cattle show, several activities are being planned for the public. Included are a presentation of the ADA informational program on "Milk—From The Cow To You" and a display to show how the parts of a dairy cow work. An ag trivia contest is being arranged along with a game of tossing cookies into a pitcher of milk.

"Northwest Dairy Day has been a fixture among dairy people in this part of the state for a long time," Wallace said. "With a 50th anniversary only two years away, we didn't want to see it come to a premature end. We are hoping that the change to a Saturday show during another event will attract more people and help to make them increasingly aware of the dairy industry in northwest Minnesota."

13 entered in Region 1 Dairy Princess Contest

Thirteen contestants from nine northwestern Minnesota counties are entered in the Region 1 Dairy Princess contest to be conducted Saturday, June 13, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

The one-day event will begin with registration from 9 to 10 a.m. and conclude with a coronation banquet for the contestants, their friends and families that evening. A get-acquainted period will begin at 10 a.m. and at 10:30 a.m. a workshop will be presented by Linda James, Princess Kay coordinator for the American Dairy Association of Minnesota. Reigning Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kari Skiba, is also expected to participate in the day's activities.

Interviews with the judges will be held beginning at 1 p.m. following a noon luncheon and a dairy promotion workshop with distribution of materials for county dairy promotion will be held in the late afternoon.

Reigning as 1997 Region 1 Dairy Princess is Ingrid Hanson, daughter of Mark and Audrey Hanson of rural Thief River Falls. She was crowned last June when the regional contest was conducted in the southern part of the region. For a number of years the contest has alternated between Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls and a more southern location.

Ingrid will participate in events throughout the day, speaking at the noon luncheon and the evening banquet and crowning her successor at the banquet program as well as awarding prizes to the first and second runners-up.

Contestants who have registered to participate in the 1998 contest include the following:

Becker—Rita Schaefer and Jerilyn Aschnewitz, Frazee and Melinda Warling, Audubon;

Beltrami—Kerstin Trimble, Tenstrike;

Clay—Loren Bentley, Ulen and Amanda Aakre, Hawley;

Clearwater—Tricia Waggoner, Bagley;

Norman—Wendy Griewe, Gary;

Pennington—Heather Torstveit, St. Hilaire;

Red Lake—Shana Haglund, Red Lake Falls;

Roseau—Kristi Kompelien, Roseau;

Wadena—Jonissa Palmer and Jenny Kinnunen, Menahga.

Norma Hanson of Goodridge is serving as chairman for the contest. Members of her committee include DeeAnn Leines of Red Lake Falls, Janice Larson of Gatzke, Joan Lee of McIntosh and Linda Hanson of Goodridge.

The Region 1 Dairy Princess will advance to state competition for the title of Princess Kay of the Milky Way at the Minnesota State Fair in late August.

Regional and state dairy princesses serve as good will ambassadors for the dairy industry during their reigns, appearing at functions, shows and promotions on behalf of the state's dairy farmers and processors.

Miniature horses lastest hobby for Ernie Thune

even bring home, a miniature Clydesdale. He guesses that a miniature Clydesdale, brought to the United States from Australia, would cost between $5,000 and $10,000. "But, wouldn't it be cute?" he asks with a giggle.

Ernie's horses are of mixed breeding, and he likes to pair his stallions with different females each year. "That way, I get more surprises with the babies," he says. He especially enjoys the "paints," foals with black or dark coats and large white areas that vary in pattern. As with full-size horses, the gestation period for a miniature is about 11 months. Eight foals have been born at the Thune farm this year compared to 11 last year.

Ernie describes the horses as low maintenance. During the summer they graze and drink water from a pond in the pasture. Some are fenced in and keeping the grass down at a neighbor's place. Ernie says that shelter is more important for them during the summer because of the insects and that they spend about half of the daylight hours indoors. In the winter, he feeds them the hay that he puts up himself. "It only takes a few minutes before I go to work in the morning," he says. The horses are small enough to be transported in his small van. "I just put some plastic down on the floor and away we go!" he laughs.

Most of Ernie's horses have names, often given to them by children who visit the farm.

Ernie says he has under $10,000 invested in the miniature horses. One might think of him as a bit of a "wheeler-dealer." He bought a miniature donkey at a show for $1,200. He slept on the porch like a dog and sounds like he had quite a personality. "But, he turned out to be a nuisance," Ernie says. "I traded him for a little horse." He found a small surrey, purchased it, and it sat in his yard after he decided he really wasn't interested in training a driving team. He was happy to sell it a year later for what he'd paid for it.

When it comes to his hobbies, money isn't what it's all about for Ernie. He raised chinchillas for 21 years. "It paid off only one year," Ernie says, "but I stuck to it. It was fun!"

For the past ten years, Ernie and his wife have lived on a picturesque farm along the river about five miles southeast of Thief River Falls. Several years ago he got permission to turn a swampy wetland area into a larger pond. He enjoyed raising rainbow trout in his pond until flooding sent the fish down the river. Today, five families of Canadian geese make their home there.

Ernie also has an interesting crop growing between rows of trees in a grove on the farm. Five years ago a friend brought over a jar of ginseng seed and helped Ernie plant it. Ginseng is a perennial herb of eastern Asia and eastern North America. The ginseng root is used as a medicine in a number of countries though its medicinal value is not proven. Manufacturers may add ginseng to hair and skin products. According to Ernie, Korea raises more ginseng than any other country, and China cannot raise enough of the herb to meet the demands of its market. It takes seven years to get a crop, and Ernie could very well end up with a valuable commodity on his hands. Whether he does or not, he will have enjoyed watching it grow and learning all about it.

While he's tried and enjoyed a lot of different ventures, he says that raising the miniature horses "is the most interesting thing I've ever done." And he loves to share his interest with others. He's taken them to Valley Home for "Pet Day." He's shown them at the Pennington County Fair and plans to do so again this year. He would like to see 4-H youth get involved with miniature horses, a hobby that he says "could develop into a business that could last for 30 to 40 years."

When asked if Mrs. Thune shares his fondness for the miniature horses Ernie says, "She acts like she isn't interested, but she takes care of them when I'm not here." With a twinkle in his eye he adds, "I think she likes them."

He also sings the praises of his employee of 26 years, Lola Wiskow, whose capabilities at the Hearing Aid Center allow Ernie to "take off whenever" to pursue his hobbies.

Ernie doesn't know how many others raise miniature horses but says there seems to be quite a few in Minnesota. Interestingly, he has discovered that when he finds another miniature horse enthusiast and calls, he often ends up talking to the lady of the house.

He would be interested in talking to any equestrian who has information to share or who just wants to swap horse stories. The frisky 77-year-old is, after all, "just a rookie" — with much to learn and much to share.

Norman county landmark destroyed

Ada - Fire departments from Halstad, Shelly and Twin Valley were called to assist the Ada Fire Department in containing a fire at the old Hadler elevator near Ada last week.

The fire started when employees of Ada Feed & Seed were burning some scrap wood near the structures. Intense heat and strong winds from the northwest made it impossible for firefighters to keep the flames from spreading. Nothing of value was stored in the two old wooden elevators which were completely destroyed. Norman County Index.

Christian Inducted In Int'l. Ice Hockey Hall of Fame

Warroad - Bill Christian, a key member of the gold medal winning 1960 U.S. Olympic Hockey team, was inducted into the International Ice Hockey Hall of Fame at Lausanne, Switzerland on Monday, June 1.

The 1960 team was the first U.S. team to beat the Russians. Christian scored two goals in that 3-2 win. The team won the gold medal the next day with a come-from-behind 8-4 win over the Czechs. Warroad Pioneer

Red Lake Nation receives national honor

Bemidji - The Red Lake Nation has been selected to receive the Harold E. Hughes Award for Excellence for "Outstanding Rural Community" recently by the National Rural Institute on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

The Red Lake Nation has had its substance abuse program in place since 1970. Substance abuse treatment and prevention is a priority for the Red Lake Nation. In 1889 a chief declared the Red Lake Reservation should be drug and alcohol free.

The award is named for the late Harold E. Hughes, who pulled himself up for the depths of alcoholism to become a well-known Iowa governor, U.S. senator and role model for others who have successfully turned their lives away from alcohol. The Grygla Eagle

EGF woman national 8-ball champion

East Grand Forks - Jerry Bouvette of East Grand Forks, along with teammates from Fargo, ND, won the national team 8-ball tournament that featured over 400 teams from across the nation and 34 countries. The six-woman team won $5,000, and each of its members received an individual trophy.

The competition was part of the 18th annual Valley International Tournament held recently in Las Vegas, NV, considered one of the top amateur events in the world.

Bouvette played pool as a youth and decided to get back into playing billiards about five years ago. With a pool table in the center of her living room, she practices about two hours a day. The Exponent

Women of Today Creative Crafts Festival June 20

Annual Creative Crafts Festival sponsored by the Thief River Falls chapter of the Women of Today has been planned for Saturday, June 20, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Floyd B. Olson park in downtown Thief River Falls.

In the event of rain, the festival will be moved to the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center on the Pennington county fairgrounds.

"Participating artists and crafts people have spent many hours creating their works, as evidenced by the beauty of the finished products," stated Amy Branscomb and Beth Kuchera, who are co-chairs of the project.

"This year's works will include wood crafts, rugs, pictures, wood bird houses, jewelry boxes, wreaths, benches, swags, welcome signs, wood cabinets, clothing and much, much more," they added. "The event is open to everyone and is fun for the whole family."

Registered for the festival are the following artists and crafters:

Tess Markassel, Ada; Cleo Starkey (Star Key Designs), Callaway; Diane Pawlawski (Country Treasures), Argyle; Vicki Gast (North Country Rugs), Argyle; Beverly Alberts (Alberts Wood Creations), Dent; Norman and Cheryl Beckman (Beckman Crafts), Detroit Lakes; Jeanette Huffman and Cheryl Kellogg, Goodridge; and Janyce Peterson, Middle River.

Also Mary Jaeger, Benson; John and Shawn Regan, Crookston; Jim

Police answer stabbing call Friday morning

Police are investigating an early Friday morning stabbing.

Police in Thief River Falls are not releasing the name of the male stabbing victim. They are seeking a warrant for attempted murder in the second degree, attempted manslaughter, and assault in the first degree with a lethal weapon, against Paul Monkey, 26, Thief River Falls.

Monley ran from the scene after the incident and remains at-large. He is described as a black male, age 26, five-foot nine inches tall, weighing 185 pounds. Police

Thief River Falls City Council held its first council meeting in the renovated Soo Line Depot building on Tuesday night. In the future, all city council meetings, unless stated otherwise, will be held at the depot building. A re-dedication ceremony is being planned for August 21.

City begins using renovated depot

First city council meeting held in former Soo Line depot Tuesday night

by David Hill
Associate Editor

It didn't matter that the meeting was held in the new city council room at the renovated Soo Line Depot, it was business as usual for the city council.

As a note: For those who predicted that noise from a passing train would shake the building and disrupt conversations, you can now say "I told you so." Although it might give you some satisfaction, saying so, it won't lead to any changes. The council and several city departments have made the move and are in a process of adjusting to their new surroundings, which appear to be very nice. In fact, the renovated building is a significant improvement and a credit to a lot of hard work and determination, taxpayer dollars and donations.

The moment of truth, however, came near the end of the city council meeting when a train started its back and forth switching of cars. The weight of the train could be felt in a rumble that was transmitted through the floor. The sound of its whistle pierced through the windows and walls and periodically made it difficult to hear Police Chief Ken Froschheiser discussing the law which effectively prohibits the use of Personal Watercraft on rivers in Pennington county. I'm fairly certain that some of the people I observed smiling weren't smiling about the Personal Watercraft ban. Nevertheless, the meeting went on, and so too will city council meetings in the new council chambers.

A re-dedication of the depot has been scheduled for August 21. More details about that event will be released as it gets closer to the time of the event. At that time, possibly before, residents will have an opportunity to judge for themselves.

Public Works Concept?

During this meeting, the council approved advertising for a new wastewater operator's position. Considerable discussion was devoted to this subject. Mayor Mark Borsheim would rather see the position filled by a public works employee, which would be in line with a Public Works concept.

When the city re-organized several years ago, it embarked upon a concept of "public works". Under that concept, there wouldn't be separate department employees, such as wastewater operator, just city employees. Those employees would be assigned wherever they were needed.

Mayor Borsheim suggested that the council needs to look more seriously at the public works concept instead of just talking about it.

Milt Burstad, city representative from Ward 1, also prefers the public works employee concept. He said during a slow winter, like last winter, public works employees could have been doing such things as pump repairs, which the new employee will be doing. He also said hiring another employee could result in a rate increase, and pointed out that the council had said last year, that the city might be laying off people.

Arlo Rude, superintendent of utilities, explained that there was a definite need for the employee, and he should have requested it years ago. He said the expense of another employee was built into rates last year and the position included in the budget.

Vice Mayor Jean Heinrichs said members of the public utilities had discussed the issue at length. It is her opinion that all city employees are city employees. There is, however, a definite need for an additional employee and because of licensing requirements cannot come from another department. She added that the city department heads are very efficient at using the man-power available to them.

A roll call vote was called for on a motion to approve the recommendation. The recommendation was approved, with Burstad and Mayor Borsheim voting against it.

Allison Widner in Miss TRF pageant

Allison Widner

(This is the fifth in a series of articles about candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the official Miss America Preliminary Scholarship Pageant to be conducted at the Lincoln high school auditorium at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, June 27. Other candidates will be featured in succeeding issues of The Times and Northern Watch.)

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Whether seated at a piano or jumping in an athletic contest, Allison Widner of Stephen has enjoyed plenty of success. She has mixed music and sports throughout her school years.

The daughter of Neil and Leslie Widner of Stephen, 19-year-old Allison was a member of the first graduating class of Stephen/Argyle Central high school in 1987 and has completed her freshman year at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks where she is studying to become a physician's assistant.

Allison's father is a small grain and row crop farmer and her mother is a homemaker and private piano instructor. She has three younger brothers, Thomas, James and Steven and a younger sister, Lisa.

Prior to being on the UND dean's list or being salutatorian of her graduating class, Allison was on the Academic All-State team in basketball, a Girls State delegate, member of the Target program and a member of the JETS team that won first place honors in state competition.

In volleyball she participated four years and was named most improved player; in basketball she played six years and was voted top rebounder, elected co-captain and named to the all-conference team, and in track she advanced to regional competition in three of the four years she participated. She lettered in all three sports.

Allison has studied piano for 13 years and for her pageant talent

Princess Kay to participate in coronation

Reigning Princess Kay of the Milky Way, 21-year-old Kari Skiba of North Branch, will participate in the program for Region 1 Dairy Princess candidates today (Saturday, June 13) at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

The 44th dairy farm girl to wear the crown of Minnesota's state dairy princess, Kari will assist reigning Region 1 Dairy Princess Ingrid Hanson with coronation duties at the coronation banquet tonight. The banquet is open to candidates and their families and friends.

During the day Kari will also assist in the presentation of workshops and get acquainted with the contestants in the regional contest.

Kari graduated from the University of Wisconsin at River Falls this spring with a degree in animal science. She hopes to pursue a public relations career in agriculture. The Skiba family farm of 300 acres includes a herd of 75 registered Jersey cows.

Kari was crowned the 44th Princess Kay of the Milky Way during the annual contest late last August at the Minnesota State Fair. Candidates are judged on their communication skills, personality, general knowledge of the dairy industry and enthusiasm and commitment toward dairy promotion.

Throughout the year Princess Kay makes numerous public and media appearances to educate consumers about dairy products, the dairy industry and the impact it has on the state's economy.

Kari Thompson off to Miss Minnesota event

Reigning Miss Thief River Falls, Kari Thompson, leaves today for Austin where she will begin competition Sunday, June 14, in the Miss Minnesota Scholarship Pageant. Winner of the state event advances to the Miss America Scholarship Pageant in Atlantic City, NJ.

Kari, 20, is the daughter of Richard and Carol Thompson of Red Lake Falls and will be a junior this fall at Bemidji State University where she is majoring in sport management and minoring in business administration and exercise science.

Kari reports to pageant headquarters in Austin at noon Sunday for an orientation, meeting with host families and will join the other 13 contestants in production number rehearsal that evening. She will be number four contestant during the pageant week which culminates in the crowning of the new Miss Minnesota Saturday evening. The pageant will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the Austin high school auditorium.

For the past couple of months Kari said she has been busy making final arrangements for her wardrobe as well as practicing her piano solo, keeping up with current events in the news, working on interviews and making appearances to define her program on "Wellness for Life."

Her state pageant talent number will be a piano solo entitled Praise To The Lord, The Almighty, arranged by Dino Kartsonakis. She has studied piano 12 years and taken college music courses. In high school she received the Richard Pourier Award for all-around senior band member.

"Wellness for Life" is her focus program of community involvement emphasizing the five areas of physical, mental, spiritual, social and emotional wellness.

"I have spoken to elementary school groups, the senior meals program and the senior citizens group in the last few weeks, trying to show the importance of each area of the five point program and the need to establish a balance among all areas," she said. "Of course, I stress physical fitness because that is my area of expertise."

Since completing her sophomore year at BSU she has also worked at the swimming pool in Red Lake Falls as a lifeguard and swimming instructor and leading water aerobics. She goes for a half-hour run each day for further conditioning.

The week in Austin will be well filled with activities. In addition to extensive rehearsals, the candidates will attend a Rotary club luncheon, Mother and Daughter luncheon and Kiwanis luncheon at the Elks club rooms, film television promotional spots and be interviewed on radio. On Friday the contestants will attend a silent auction and a Miss Minnesota dinner and show which will be a 50-year anniversary tribute to the selection of Miss Minnesota Bebe Shoppe as Miss America.

Menards plans unknown to mayor

Bemidji - Is Menards coming to Bemidji or not? If someone knows, please tell Mayor Doug Peterson.

Peterson is frustrated by the fact that Menards Inc. has exercised its right to extend the signing of a developer's agreement until the end of June, and a faxed copy of a letter he received recently sounds like the company may bypass Bemidji. Company officials are not currently responding to Mayor Peterson's inquiries. The Pioneer

Quick thinking averts disaster

Karlstad - When two rear tires of a gas transport loaded with 90,000 gallons of gas and diesel blew and caught fire, the quick thinking of the driver, nearby business people and the Karlstad Fire Department averted what could have been a disaster.

Local business people and the truck's driver attempted to put out the blaze with fire extinguishers, but the fire was inside the duals. Firemen had to crawl inside to put it out. North Star News

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

It's always nice to have some sweets on hand. I'm giving you the recipes for a couple of Martha Stewart cookies of the week that I finally got around to baking, as well as recipes for something I like to have on hand, coffee cakes or quick breads.

These cookies are very good - they would be great for Christmas, but also make a good sweet treat. I brought them to work and everyone wanted the recipe:

MARTHA STEWART PRALINE COOKIES

2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
Mix in bowl.
1/2 cup butter - cream
1 cup brown sugar, packed - cream with butter
1 egg
1 tablespoon bourbon or whiskey
Mix well.
Add flour mixture, a little at a time.

Topping
(This is half of the original recipe, so double it if you think you can manage to pack it all into those little holes in the cookies.)
3/4 cup chopped pecans
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon (optional)
1/8 cup sour cream

Make tiny cookies, 3/4" round. Make little holes in top with wooden spoon handle and fill with topping. Bake at 350 degrees, 8-10 minutes.

I have a great chocolate chip cookie recipe, but this one is almost as good. I used white chocolate chips and wish I had just packed them full of regular chips - the white ones I used weren't melty like the other ones:

MARTHA STEWART CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

1 cup butter
3/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup white sugar
1 large egg
1 cup white chocolate
12 ounces semi sweet chocolate
2 cups pecans

Bake at 375 degrees, 12-14 minutes - don't overbake.

Mix soda, salt and flour in bowl.

Cream butter, add brown sugar and white sugar and cream. Add egg and mix well. Add vanilla. Add chocolates and nuts.

Fresh fruits will soon be in the market and wouldn't these make a great treat for breakfast, brunch or a snack:

ORANGE-BLUEBERRY BREAD

2 cups sugar
1/4 cup hot water
4 tablespoons soft butter
4 cups flour
2 cups fresh or frozen blueberries
2 eggs
1 cup orange juice
4 tablespoons grated orange rind
2 teaspoons soda

Beat sugar and eggs. Add water, butter, juice and rind. Add flour and soda. Fold in berries.

Bake in 2 greased bread pans for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Here's an elegant bread that is more like a cake:

ALMOND POPPY SEED BREAD

3 cups flour
1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups oil
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 tablespoon almond
1 tablespoon butter extract
2 3/4 cups sugar
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
3 teaspoons poppy seed

Blend all ingredients together in a bowl and beat 2 minutes with electric mixer. Place in 2 greased loaf pans.

Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees or until toothpick comes out clean.

Glaze:
1/4 cup orange juice concentrate
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond
1/2 teaspoon butter extract

Bring ingredients to a boil and simmer for 5 minutes. Brush onto warm loaves.

Here's another easy, but elegant (and rich) coffee cake:

CREAM CHEESE COFFEE CAKE

1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese
2 eggs
1 3/4 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 to 1/2 cup milk

Cream butter, cheese, sugar and eggs. Add remaining ingredients and beat well.

Pour into greased 9x13 inch pan and sprinkle with crumb topping (below). Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes. (Freezes well.)

Topping
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 cup flour
1/2 cup sugar
Mix together.

Old Mill State Park plans many June programs

Several programs have been scheduled at Old Mill State Park during the month of June. These interpretive programs will be held in or near the beach house or parking lot.

June 14

On June 14, the Big Pine Tree Trail Walk will be held beginning at 10 a.m. Visit majestic pines planted by the Larson family years ago. Look for native flowers along the trail during the one hour program.

At 1 p.m. on June 14, a Children's Activity program using the sun to make neat pictures called Solar Prints will begin.

At 3 p.m. a tour will be conducted of the Larson Home Site. See the artifacts and learn about the house that sheltered the family that operated the flour mill.

June 21

On June 21 at 10 a.m. a one hour Agassiz Trail Walk will begin. Observe various species of plants showing off their colorful blooms. Look for signs of animals during the walk.

At 1 p.m. the Children's Activity program involves making a pictogram using Indian symbols.

At 3 p.m. a tour of the Old Mill site will be conducted. Learn more about the operation of the old flour mill and the pioneer family who operated it during the late 1800's, and early 1900's.

June 28

On June 28 a music festival featuring local performers will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. under the shade in the picnic area of the park.

Public meetings set on use of Legion Hall for prisoners

Pennington County Sheriff Gerald Moe has announced that two public meetings will be held to discuss the use of the American Legion building to house low-risk prisoners. Both meetings will be held 7 p.m. at the Heritage Community Center. The first meeting will be held on June 23. The second meeting will be held July 1.

Dairy Promotion Interest Remains Despite Losses

While numbers of dairy farms have taken a hard hit across Minnesota, dairying is still a big business throughout the nation. Milk is produced in every state and every day some 9.3 million dairy cows produce nearly 50 million gallons of milk. June Dairy Month has been observed annually since 1939 to call attention to the dairy industry and dairy products.

It is good to see that despite the heavy loss of dairy farm numbers in northwest Minnesota that an effort is being made to resuscitate Northwest Dairy Day. Tradition would have placed the 49th annual event on June 9—the second Tuesday of June Dairy Month—with the dairy cattle show and Region 1 Dairy Princess contest both held the same day.

When the decision was made by the long-standing Northwest Dairy Improvement Association to no longer sponsor the event, a group of interested area dairy people sought to keep it going. They met with the NDIA board, secured an appropriation from the NDIA reserves and permission to use the Northwest Dairy Day title. A regional dairy cattle show under the Northwest Dairy Day banner will be held Saturday, June 27, at the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls. Expectations are that it will draw interest from people attending the other events of An American Festival at the fairgrounds that same day.

The regional princess contest had previously been scheduled, however, and is being held tonight (Saturday, June 13) at the Best Western Inn. It is expected that the newly crowned Region 1 Dairy Princess will participate in events for the 49th annual Northwest Dairy Day June 27, including distribution of awards. Next year the regional contest will be held at a point further south in ADA Region 1.

There will be some changes in procedure and program for the 49th annual Northwest Dairy Day but the basics will be the same. Young people will fit and show their dairy animals in competition for a number of awards and every participant will receive an award based on years of participation.

We can't help but feel that over the years this participation in the show ring and/or the regional princess contest at Northwest Dairy Day has been a plus for many hundreds of young people from dairy farm families. They have learned valuable lessons in responsibility, advance planning, good citizenship and social interaction. Many cattle exhibitors later assisted their children and grandchildren with Northwest Dairy Day experiences.

It has been our privilege to cover the past 36 of those regional events and we have always found the participants and their families to be consistently good people. Of course, some have been extremely competitive and not always has everyone agreed with judges' selections, but there have been amazingly few controversies and very little complaint throughout the event's history.

The area should be heartened by the resolve of local dairy people to keep the tradition of Northwest Dairy Day alive and do what they can to support and promote an industry which has been such an integral part of their lives and the history of their communities. When taking in events of An American Festival June 27, stop by the livestock barn on the fairgrounds and watch at least part of the Northwest Dairy Day show. Some very hard working and dedicated people will appreciate your support.

While on the topic of dairying, here are a few statistics to think about as compiled by the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service. In the 11-county Northwest District, the number of dairy farms has declined from 994 in 1991 to only 639 in 1997. This is about on a par with a Minnesota composite, since the number of herds in the state has declined from 15,336 to 10,600 during the same period. The only county in the state where there has not been a decline in the number of dairy herds in the past seven years is Ramsey county where the one herd in existence in 1991 remained in 1997. Cook county lost its only herd during that period.

Here are the comparative statistics for the 11 Northwest counties with 1991 and 1997 herd numbers listed respectively: Becker, 291 and 204; Clay, 68 and 53; Clearwater, 92 and 45; Kittson, 7 and 6; Mahnomen, 65 and 45; Marshall, 62 and 37; Norman, 60 and 33; Pennington, 64 and 39; Polk, 121 and 80; Red Lake, 55 and 36; and Roseau, 109 and 61.

Statistics in the North Central District, whose counties are included in the ADA Region 1, include: Beltrami, 88 and 49; Cass, 101 and 59; Hubbard, 32 and 18; Itasca, 20 and 11; Koochiching, 9 and 7; and Lake of the Woods, 11 and 5.

Interestingly, however, loss of farms during the period mentioned above has not always meant loss of production. In Clay county, for instance, despite a loss of 15 herds, cow numbers grew by 300 head, and production increased from 52,500,000 pounds to 64,500,000 pounds. Mahnomen county lost nearly a third of its 65 herds but cow numbers dropped only 100 and production grew from 31,500,000 to 35,500,000 pounds.

In addition to milking more cows per herd, Minnesota's remaining dairymen are increasing average production. During the 1991-1997 period the state lost 100,000 producing dairy cows. Average milk production per cow jumped from 14,307 pounds in 1991 to 15,798 pounds in 1997, a net increase of 1,491 pounds.

While the total numbers play out to an ample supply of milk still being produced in the state to meet consumer needs, we have a greater concern with the loss of producers. Their production may be replaced, but their presence won't be. There's a term for the economic difficulties being faced by our area's dairy and grain farmers. It's called "shameful." For too many of our neighbors in recent years, the American dream is becoming an all too real nightmare.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

On behalf of the Pennington County Community Support Program, I want to publicly thank a local organization for its especially generous support of mentally ill residents of our county.

The Community Support Program has been in existence for about 10 years. The program offers a variety of support services to mentally ill people. The goal of our program is to increase the quality of life for our participants and to assist them in living as independently as possible.

Post 2793 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has been an outstanding supporter. Over the past years it has provided financial assistance that has enabled our group members to plan for and participate in special social and recreational activities that are extremely meaningful and helpful to them. Living with a mental illness is not easy. Thanks to the VFW's donations our participants have had something important to look forward to.

Thank you for allowing me to express our appreciation to the VFW Post.

Sincerely,
Vicki Heckman, supervisor
Community Support Program

Olson participates in staff seminar

Janice Olson, office staff member at Trinity Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls, was among approximately 70 persons who participated in the 1998 Northern Minnesota Church Office Staff Seminar recently at the Sawmill Inn of Grand Rapids.

The one-day event was hosted by Gustavus Adolphus College of St. Peter and a local committee under the general theme The Lord Is With You.

Sessions covered topics on preparing church newsletters and meeting the challenge of stress. In addition to the sessions, devotions and fellowship with other church staff members were important aspects of the day.

Main objective of the program was to bring together persons who have responsibilities for office support services in churches and provide information enabling them to handle their responsibilities more effectively and efficiently.

Elk's Lodge holds Flag Day ceremony

Elk's Lodge 1308 will conduct a Flag Day ceremony at Greenwood Cemetery Sunday, June 14, at 12:15 p.m. In the event of inclement weather the event will be held at the Elk's Lodge. The public is invited to attend.

Bat program held at Rydell Refuge Fridays

How many insects can they eat in one night? How many babies does each mother have each year? How many species are found in Minnesota? The answers are from 3,000 to 7,000 insects a night, one baby a year, and seven species in Minnesota. The subject — Bats!

Learn more about this fascinating and very beneficial animal at a community program beginning at 9 p.m. on Friday, June 19, at the Rydell National Wildlife Refuge. Earl Johnson, Minnesota DNR Area Wildlife Manager from Detroit Lakes, will present this free public program that will include slides showing bats common to Minnesota, bat fact and fiction, how to rid your house of bats, and shelters for bats. He will also answer any questions that you have about bats. Bat house plans and other information will be available. A drawing will be held from those attending to give away a free bat house donated by the Friends of the Rydell Refuge Association.

Following the program, anyone interested in searching for bats in the areas immediately around the Rydell Refuge Headquarters are invited to join Johnson as he demonstrates use of a "bat locator." It is a small microphone that picks up bat's radar signals and uses a radio transmitter to translate these signals into lower frequency sounds that are audible to the human ear. The type of bat can be detected according to the frequency that is made. This "field trip" will begin at dusk, shortly after 10 p.m.

This program is free and open to the public. It is being co-sponsored by the Union Lake Sarah Improvement Association, the Maple Lake Improvement District, Minnesota DNR and the Friends of the Rydell Refuge Association. If you have any questions, contact the Rydell Refuge at 218-687-2229 or Wayne Goeken at 218-574-2622.

To get to Rydell Refuge, travel three miles east of Mentor or three miles west of Erskine on U.S. Highway 2 and turn south on Polk County 210. Follow 210 about 2.5 miles south to the main gate of the Refuge. Turn right at the large entrance sign. If arriving from the south, turn north off of Polk County 41 onto Polk County 210 and go about 3.5 miles north and turn left at the Refuge entrance sign.

The Natural Product Of The Decade!
Cell Forte IP-6
IP-6 is a natural compound found primarily in grains and soybeans. The IP-6 in Cell Forte comes from the bran portion of brown rice. It's nearly impossible to consume enough grain to equal the powerful benefits of Cell Forte with IP-6. Cell Forte boosts your natural cellular defenses by increasing the levels of inositol phosphates in your cells, thus it boosts your entire immune system and makes you able to kill abnormal molecules that could damage your cells.

Newfolden Class of 1948 to hold reunion June 27

Members of the Class of 1948 of Newfolden high school have set Saturday, June 27, as the date for their 50-year class reunion at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls.

A social will begin at 5:30 p.m., followed by a dinner and program. For more details or to make a reservation contact Orin Green at 681-1326, Lenore Wold at 681-4385, Betty Ranum at 523-3901 or Betty Swan at 874-8675.

Kari Thompson is off to Miss Minnesota pageant

Saturday events include a parade and autograph session during the day and an awards ceremony at the Holiday Inn following the pageant.

On Wednesday evening at Northland Community and Technical College she was honored at a public farewell party which provided a send-off for the state pageant. She modeled each of her outfits for production number, interview, talent, swimsuit and evening gown and performed her talent number.

"This past year has been a really good experience for me," she said of her reign as Miss Thief River Falls. "I have been in quite a few parades, toured Arctic Cat, Digi-Key and the Occupational Development Center, appeared at Bullride '97 at the Pennington County Fair, played piano at the Chamber of Commerce banquet, presented awards at golf and archery tournaments and attended the banquet for the Governor's Snowmobile Ride.

"I have tried to be available whenever requested to make appearances," she added. "They have been helpful to me in preparing for the state pageant and in just gaining experience for later life. I really appreciate what the pageant committee and the Chamber of Commerce have done and I thank them all for their efforts."

Kari said she also has special thanks for her mom and dad, and for other friends and relatives who have helped and supported her during the year. "All of the expressions of caring are treasured," she said.

Salutatorian of her high school graduating class in 1996, Kari has been on the dean's list at BSU, played on championship intramural basketball and volleyball teams, attended regional and national conferences of the National Intramural Recreational Sports Association and earned NDEITA certification this past year for personal trainer and aerobics instructor. She was previously certified in CPR and as a Water Safety Instructor (WSI).

One of her enjoyable experiences during the past year was working on planning and presentation of regional Special Olympics in Bemidji. Some 150 athletes participated in the event May 27 "and they are truly special," she said. "You have to admire their efforts."

An all-conference selection in volleyball and basketball for two years while in high school, Kari also lettered in track and golf and was MVP in volleyball and most valuable mid-distance runner in track. She was vice president of the National Honor Society chapter and the student senate and received the Academic Athletic Achievement award.

At BSU Kari has been a recreation center student manager for two years as well as an aerobics instructor and water exercise instructor at the recreation center. Her career ambition is to work in a fitness setting, teaching others how to live healthy lifestyles, and eventually move up to management and ownership of a health facility.

Police answer stabbing call Friday morning

consider him as armed and possibly dangerous. If he is observed by anyone, police ask that they do not approach him but call police immediately. He is possibly in the company of Sarah Waale, who is described as a white female, seven to eight months pregnant, standing five-foot one-inches tall. They are believed to be driving a 1988 silver four-door Chevrolet Corsica, license number 163 CDZ.

Police say they received the report at 12:37 a.m. from a residence in Riverview Trailer court. They say the victim was stabbed in the chest with a butcher knife. He was taken to Northwest Medical Center by private vehicle where he remains in intensive care.

City begins using renovatioed depot

sentative of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, regarding the new Personal Watercraft law. Specifically, they were referring to a provision which states that operators of personal watercraft "must travel at slow-no wake speed (5 miles per hour or less) within 150 feet of shore (except when a PWC is launching or landing a water skier by the most direct route to open water), docks, swimmers, swimming rafts, any moored or anchored watercraft, or non-motorized watercraft."

This provision makes it clear that personal watercraft will not be able to be used on rivers within Pennington county.

Fruschheiser said they concluded that they had better follow the letter of the law. The county and DNR law enforcement will be enforcing the law. Posting of the rivers is expected to follow.

Pennington County Sheriff Gerald Moe reported the same information to the Pennington County Board of Commissioners the same day.

City Sirens

When a tornado was spotted forming north of Thief River Falls a couple of weeks ago and the sirens turned on, a number of problems occurred. First, many people called the law enforcement center to see if there was really a tornado. They should have sought shelter and tuned in to their radio station or television. As a result, dispatchers at the law enforcement center could not get a line out to go on cable television with their announcement until some time later. The second problem identified was that a number of sirens did not function. Many people have reported that they did not hear the sirens.

Police Chief Fruschheiser and Sheriff Moe reported to respective boards, that although the county has been paying for maintenance provided by the city, it does not own the sirens. The city owns the sirens. The city conducted a test recently and discovered that many do not work and/or are not reliable. The matter will be discussed in committee.

In other business, the council approved a change order for depot furnishings, and a proposal to clean and re-point the east elevation of the depot. The project still remains within budget.

From the Consent Agenda the council: approved a salary progression raise for Steve Schmidt, water plant operator; accepted grants-in-aid from the Minnesota Historical Society for depot photography reproduction; appointed Milt Burstad and Dale Wennberg as council representatives to the airport advisory committee; accepted the low bid of Falls Automotive Inc. of Fergus Falls for a 1998 GMC truck with box and hoist for the street department; approved a request for beer in the park from the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association for June 25; approved an exemption from Lawful Gambling License for the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association for a raffle on July 19; approved a parade permit and temporary beer permit for the American Festival; and a beer in the park permit for a class reunion on July 19.

The new city council chambers at the renovated Soo Depot are spacious, comfortable and very nice. Last Tuesday, the council held its first meeting in the new room.

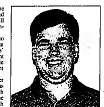
Nicola Kopari stood atop the victory stand and displayed her gold medals in these photos taken by Thief River Falls head high school track coach Tim Olson during the Class AA girls portion of the 1998 Minnesota State High School League state track meet June 5-6 at the National Sports Center in Blaine. Kopari, a junior, won both the shot put and discus competition – becoming the first Thief River Falls girl to win a state track title. The victory stand for the shot put included, from left, sixth place Sonja Peterson, Tartan (who threw 37-feet, 1/4-inch); fourth place Nicole Neil, Hastings (38-2 1/4); second place Tina Gillen, Northfield (38-11 1/4); Kopari (46-2 1/2); third place Lesley Mills, Eagan (38-3 1/4); and fifth place Marie Mokosso, Mounds View (37-8 1/2). It was a school-record toss for Kopari, who won the discus by nearly 16 feet with a toss of 147-3.

Sportsman Club plans to meet Tuesday night

Fourtown/Grygla Sportsman Club monthly meeting will be held Tuesday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the basement room of the Black Cat Sports Bar & Grill in Thief River Falls.



John Ott named NCTC coach

John Ott was introduced as the new Northland Community and Technical College head baseball coach during a Thursday news conference at the school.

Ott will succeed Chris Mills, who stepped down after just one year at the position. Confirmation of Mills' resignation and Ott's appointment was made by Northland Athletic Director Rick Nelson in a joint announcement.

It's a return trip to Thief River Falls for Ott. The Babbitt native was a Northland assistant football coach during the 1995 season, spent the winter coaching the Lincoln High School freshman boys basketball team and worked with the American Legion and Thief River Falls Babe Ruth-age baseball program.

He has also coached at Vermilion Community College and at Laporte, Brainerd, Esko and Robbinsdale Armstrong, where he has spent the last two years as an assistant on the Falcons' football staff while teaching at the elementary school level.

John Ott

In addition to his head baseball duties, Ott will serve as the Pioneers' offensive coordinator under first-year Northland head football coach Dan Willoughby. He will also work with the school's intramural program and will be a part-time instructor in the phy-ed department.

"We're excited that John will be back with us," noted Nelson. "He brings a lot of enthusiasm and energy to Northland."

"It's nice to be back at Northland," said Ott. "I had a good experience when I was here before."

Recruiting becomes a No. 1 priority for Ott, who has already made numerous phone calls and personal visits in an attempt to land players for next year. "We got a late start, but I've been following up on names I've been given, and I was talking to kids at the (Thief River Falls) Legion tournament over the weekend."

The Pioneers went 8-18 this spring under Mills, who took over when long-time head coach Terry Wiseth resigned at the end of the 1997 season. Mills, who was unable to attend the news conference due to a commitment with the National Guard, stepped down because of time restraints stemming from his duties as principal at Franklin Middle School, explained Nelson. It was a position he accepted after having earlier been named Northland coach.

"We were pleased with everything that Chris did for us," said Nelson, who pointed out the search process is continuing at the school to fill the head volleyball and head women's basketball coaching positions. Shari Olson stepped down as volleyball coach and Rick Nikunen left the women's basketball job to take over the Northland men's job following the resignation of Ted Krize – moves that took place this spring.

Roseau sweeps TRF

Roseau scored 26 runs Tuesday in an American Legion baseball doubleheader sweep over visiting Thief River Falls.

Post 117 came close to matching the Roseau offense in Game 1, but couldn't generate any kind of attack in Game 2 while losing 12-9 and 14-1.

"We had lots of offense in the first game, but nothing in the second game," noted Thief River Falls coach Mike Wienen, who found himself short on numbers and short of pitchers for the twinbill. With just nine players on hand, including a VFW 16-year-old fill-in, his personnel options were limited.

The losses dropped Post 117 to 1-4 heading into a scheduled Thursday doubleheader against East Grand Forks.

THE LYON'S SHARE

Hockey, Anyone?

Failure is an integral part of a day on the Lake. Like learning to walk, you must stumble and fall to discover the edge of possibility. Each day on the water is a constant game of trial and error.

The subject of fishing obviously gets probed a lot. Colors, locations, depths and baits are all part of a daily hit or miss ritual. The testing, however, doesn't end there. Guides are involved in a game of constant adaptation, artfully blending the many subtle facets of their individual character with the eccentricities of the public. Answers to seemingly innocuous questions about weather, fishing or lake history, for example, may vary from trip to trip, depending on the specific needs of a particular boat load.

In fact, many guides will actually offer different personalities in response to the diverse nature of their clients. For example, it was a poor bite last Tuesday that inspired my use of a hockey playing alter ego. I'm still in the process of perfecting the style, but I think it'll be a keeper.

The logic was inescapable. Grandparents, parents and kids, this family group from St. Cloud were, like most Minnesotans, rabid about fishing and hockey. That became evident from the moment they jumped on board, energetically recalling the prior night's play-off game. The brainstorm was upon me. I casually let it slip that guiding was merely an off-season hobby, winter employment with a minor league hockey franchise in Arkansas being my passion. They looked impressed. I pushed further, solidifying the bond.

"By the way, what was the final last night? I fell asleep in the fourth quarter." I could tell by their expressions that even if the day ahead were fishless, it would still be a memorable one—guided by a professional hockey player!

Fishing was tough, as expected, but I filled in the lengthy gaps between action with surprising aplomb. Drawing from an admittedly shallow well of hockey knowledge, I found it remarkably easy to entertain my charges.

"Yeah, I led the Southern League in two pointers last year," I modestly confided, "and Bud Grant even treated me to dinner on a recent scouting trip."

Their reactions were priceless. Hockey and fishing—why hadn't it occurred to me sooner? An occasional elbow at the minnow bucket or offhand/offcolor jibe at Grandma cemented the charade. This could only have gone better had we not been catching fish at Marvin Gardens.

The coup was inevitable, timing would be the key. Gramps managed to miss two solid bites in a row, allowing me to grumble unhappily and offer the threat of retribution should he fail again. Obviously familiar with this hockey style give and take, he muttered something back about my ancestry and turned away for more bait. In an effort to make the move as authentic as possible, I hit the old-timer when his defenses were down, slamming him hard into the port gunwale.

His nose exploded like an overripe tomato, leaving bloody designs on the sidewall next to him. His dentures popped out and skittered across the deck, much to the apparent delight of his grandchildren who were now huddled in a corner screaming gleefully at the donnybrook unfolding before them.

I grabbed a fistful of what little hair Granddad had left and bounced his head off the downrigger mount in rhythm to the lazy swells around us. His son and daughter-in law, overcome with emotion and feeling the irresistible need to participate, pummeled me from behind with fishing poles, fish coolers and anything else they could lay their hands on. Grandma chose the part of "psycho fan," hysterically hurling imaginative obscenities my way.

Hockey and fishing—the perfect blend. What more could any Minnesotan want?

The kids' introduction of fillet knives and eight-pound downrigger balls to the fracas suggested just how carried away hockey fans could get. The look in their eyes made it clear we were now in a purely hockey—not fishing—mode.

I yanked Grandpa's sweatshirt over his head, hastily declared victory, and backed cautiously to the wheel. We were going in. I had no idea that the passion ran so deep. A few minor adjustments were in order. I made a mental note to secure all potentially dangerous objects before attempting this shtick again.

At dockside, the adrenaline accompanying a ~~great day~~ of guiding easily outweighed my disappointment at the lack of tip. The effort had been an unqualified success; I guess I just never realized that the hockey public was so cheap. I'd have to search for a presentation that brought out the bucks the way the way this one had inspired the blood. I wonder if professional wrestling fans tip any better!

Resurfacing on Highway 2 will restrict traffic

Resurfacing of both east and west bound lanes of Highway 2 on the Bemidji bypass, including the ramps, is scheduled to start on June 10, according to the Minnesota Department of Transportation office in Bemidji.

Traffic will be restricted to one lane during milling and paving operations. When work starts on the ramps, motorists will encounter temporary closures. The project is expected to be completed in mid-August.

Motorists are reminded to be alert for flaggers, to obey all traffic signing instructions, and that fines are doubled for anyone caught speeding through a work zone.

Embassy Center to offer refresher driving course

A four-hour refresher safe driving course will be offered on Wednesday, June 24 at the Embassy Center in Thief River Falls.

Highway patrolman Roger Gunsolas will be the instructor, and those completing the class will be eligible to receive a discount on their vehicle insurance. Cost of the course is $11.

Class size is limited and pre-registration is required by calling Raynme C. Kochler evenings at (218) 435-6510 or (218) 435-6565.

Singles' Christian Fellowship to meet

Singles' Christian Fellowship will hold its monthly meeting on Sunday, June 14 at 3 p.m. at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston.

Attendees are encouraged to bring program ideas related to a Scandinavian theme. A potluck summer will be held at 5 p.m. All single adults are invited to attend.

Oklee, Grygla students receive LB scholarships

Recipients of the Lutheran Brotherhood Member Scholarships for Northwest Minnesota Branch 8129 this year are Elizabeth Munt and Erica Hofte. Each of the scholarships is for $500 and renewable throughout four years of college.

Elizabeth is the daughter of Tim and Kaye Munt of Oklee and will be attending the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks. Erica is the daughter of Steven and Shirley Hofte of Grygla and was a freshman this past year at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Recipient selection is based on a review of academic record, demonstrated leadership, participation in school, church an community activities volunteerism, work experience, a statement of goals and aspirations, unusual circumstances and an outside appraisal. The scholarships are not based on financial need and the recipients are chosen after a review of eligible applications by independent judges.

The award amount a selected recipient receives is based upon the type of school the recipient chooses to attend. If the recipient chooses a Lutheran college, the annual award amount is $2,000. For a private non-Lutheran college the annual award is $1,000. Students attending a public institution receive $500 per year. All awards are renewable, to qualified students, through the fourth year of undergraduate study.

There were 2,642 applicants in this year's competition and 756 new recipients named for a total award of $857,500. For information on how to apply for Lutheran Brotherhood scholarships, contact Aaron Wedul at 218-681-7400.

Northwest Community Action board to meet

Northwest Community Action, Inc. board of directors will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, June 18 at 7 p.m. at the Badger office. The meeting is open to the public.

Hjemkomst bus tour planned

Aid Association for Lutherans 9462 of Erskine and Granlund Sons of Norway Lodge 240 will sponsor a one day bus tour to Fargo-Moorhead on Saturday, June 27.

The tour will include a stop at the Hjemkomst Interpretive Center and the new Hopperstad Stave Church. After dinner, the tour will continue at Trollwood Park where Scandinavian events will take place. The group will return to the Hjemkomst Center to enjoy the procession prior to the dedication of the Hopperstad Stave Church.

Tickets for the tour are $15 and do not include admission to the Hjemkomst Center.

Bus seats are limited. Reservations can be made by calling R.C. Kochler evenings at (218) 435-6510 or 1-800-317-2934 or by calling Al Bjornerud at (218) 435-6664.

Fosston police to enforce curfew

Fosston - Due to a recent rash of vandalism in the city, Fosston Police Chief Jim Berg says that the curfew ordinance will be enforced.

According to the Fosston ordinance, children 15 years of age or younger must be home at 10 p.m. seven days a week. Children 16 and 17 may stay out until midnight on Friday and Saturday and on other nights must also be home at 10.

Chief Berg reminds parents and children alike of the law. If a child is found in a problem area after curfew, he will be charged. If caught doing extensive damage the child will be held until court. In either, case both the child and parents will have to appear in court in Crookston, and parents may be held responsible for payment of damages. The Thirteen Towns

KQ92 awarded AP citation

Warroad - KQ92 radio was recently awarded an Instant Citation for Outstanding Cooperation by the Associated Press (AP). The award was for the story on John Johnson walking out of the woods in the Northwest Angle after being missing for eight days.

KQ92 was the first station to air the story and passed it on to the AP. The story had so much interest that news agencies from all over the world called to request information from the AP. Warroad Pioneer

Arson destroys Bagley store

Bagley - Bagley's Ben Franklin was completely destroyed by fire recently. It has been determined that the fire was intentionally set by robbers who hid in the building and after the store closed took money from the safe prior to starting the fire in the basement where paper products are stored.

The store has been a Bagley fixture for 60 years. The theft and arson are under investigation by the Bagley Police Department and state Fire Marshal's office. The Oklee Herald

Lion's lion down in McIntosh

McIntosh - The McIntosh Lion's lion is down and on his way out.

A long-time fixture of Roholt Park, the life-size lion was constructed in 1960 by Ernie Konickson of Erskine. For years it was used in parades in surrounding towns, as well as Winnipeg, Minneapolis and Detroit Lakes. In 1966, the lion was "retired" and placed on a base in the park.

Causes of the demise of the 38-year-old lion are unknown, and members of the local Lions Club have decided to have the lion removed from the roadside park. The McIntosh Times

Stephen pool plans specialty evenings

Stephen - To give everyone, young and old, a chance to use the new pool, specialty nights have been planned for next week.

Tuesday is "Teen Night" for 7th through 12th grade students. "Inflatable Toy Night" will be held on Wednesday, and Thursday evening has been slated as "Adults Only Night."

Future planned activities will depend on the outcome of next weeks trial nights. Stephen Messenger

Miss Marshall County Pageant June 28 in Stephen

Five candidates will be competing for the title of Miss Marshall County at the 13th annual scholarship pageant to be presented Sunday, June 28, at 3:30 p.m. at Kimball Auditorium in Stephen.

Candidates include Amber Berg, Middle River, Ann Gregg, Crookston, Jennifer Hansen, Warren; Holly Kostrzewski, Stephen, and Deanna Somhke, Alvarado. Winner of the Miss Marshall County title will advance to the Miss Minnesota Pageant in Austin in June of 1999.

Reigning Miss Marshall County is Alyson Gilben of Crookston, who is in Miss Minnesota competition this week.

A brief synopsis of information regarding each candidate follows:

Amber Berg is a 1997 graduate of Greenbush-Middle River high school and the daughter of Earl and Lynette Berg. Her pageant talent number will be a vocal solo.

Amber has completed her freshman year at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls where she serves on the student senate, is a student ambassador and was a homecoming queen attendant. She volunteers as a camp counselor at Camp Sioux, a summer camp for diabetic children in North Dakota.

Ann Gregg is the daughter of James and Carol Gregg, a 1997 graduate of Crookston Central high school and the reigning Miss Crookston. She has completed her first year at Macalester College where she is majoring in English and performance theatre.

Ann has studied dance for 14 years and is a senior member and captain of Impressions Dance Co. Her pageant talent number will be a lyrical dance to the song Tenderly. A member of the varsity golf team at Macalester, she won her first college tournament.

Jennifer Hansen, the daughter of Robert and Sharon Hansen, is a 1997 graduate of Warren/Alvarado/Oslo high school and has completed her first year of studies in nursing at the College of St Benedict. She was a post secondary enrollment option student at UMC while a senior in high school.

Jennifer is a member of the CSB Nursing Club in college and the student division of the Minnesota Nurses Association. She has served as a certified nurse assistant at the Good Samaritan Nursing Home Special Care Unit in Warren.

Holly Kostrzewski, the daughter of Gary and Diana Kostrzewski, will be a senior next fall at Stephen/Argyle high school. Her future college plans are to earn degrees in communications and public relations.

She has had 14 years of disciplined ballet training, 12 years of jazz dance and five years of tap dance in addition to nine years of piano lessons and five years in band and choir. Her talent pageant number will be a jazz dance. Her sister Tiffany is a former Miss Marshall County candidate.

Deanna Sombke is the daughter of Robert and Debbro Sombke, a 1998 graduate of Warren/Alvarado/Oslo high school and will attend North Dakota State University in the fall, seeking a four-year degree in nursing. She works as a lifeguard, a waitress and day care attendant during the summer months.

Deanna has had six years of dance and piano lessons, played Maria in the school musical Sound of Music and has won superior ratings at state music competition. Her pageant talent number will be a vocal solo.

Bull Ride '98 offers $37,000 July 17-18

Bull Ride '98 at the Pennington County Fair has evolved into the largest private bull ride in the United States with a cash purse in excess of $37,000, according to the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

This year the bull ride will take place on Friday and Saturday nights, July 17 and 18, beginning at 7 p.m. each evening in front of the grandstand at the fair. Tickets are available for individual performances or as part of a grandstand show package that offers substantial savings per show.

Bull Ride '98 is sanctioned by the Professional Bull Riders (PBR) association and participants will ride not only for hefty cash prizes but for points toward final standings and the PBR national finals. High prize money and tough riding stock are expected to attract some of the nation's top professional riders.

Another feature of the bull ride will be sheep riding for children

BreAnn Fugleberg is Miss TRF candidate

(This is the seventh in a series of articles about candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the official Miss America Preliminary Scholarship Pageant to be conducted Saturday, June 27, at the Lincoln high school auditorium. The last of the eight candidates will be featured in the June 24 issue of the Thief River Falls Times.)

BreAnn Fugleberg

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Athletics, academic excellence, music, dance, employment—all are familiar areas for versatile 18-year-old BreAnn Fugleberg. She was also a top 10 finalist in the Miss Minnesota Teen Coed pageant.

BreAnn is the daughter of Debbie Osborne and the late Glen Fugleberg. Her step-father, Royal Osborne, is employed at Hydro-Mac, Inc. She has two sisters, Tera Fugleberg, 13 and Chelsey Osborne, 10, and one brother, Jordan Osborne, age three.

At Lincoln high school she lettered in both cross country and track and has received a Coaches' Award in cross country and Most Improved Award in track. She also played volleyball in ninth and 10th grades and was a homecoming queen attendant as an underclassman.

A member of the Lincoln high school chapter of the National Honor Society for three years, she was on the 4.0 honor roll and placed in the top eight percent of the 1998 graduating class in Grade Point Average. She has received an academic letter four years, the Academic Achievement Award and is listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

BreAnn was also a member of the Lincoln chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America and played clarinet in the Franklin middle school band. She taught at Safety Camp in 1997, is a member of the youth group at Zion Lutheran Church and has taught both Sunday school and Bible school. Traveling and learning about other cultures are two of her interests.

No stranger to employment, she

Bakke Carriage Service of Newfolden provides a unique mode of transportation for weddings and many other special occasions. Larry Bakke, a life-long horseman, turned his hobby into a business two years ago. A happy bride and groom and a horse-drawn carriage in the park on a beautiful summer day create a charming photo opportunity. The couple in the photograph are Brian and Sheri Schoon who celebrate their first wedding anniversary tomorrow (June 21). Capturing the memory on film was Thoele Photography in Thief River Falls.

Bakke Carriage Service takes a step back into the future

by Kathi Carlson
Northern Watch Reporter

If you're looking for a unique—"Giddy-up. . . Whoa"— mode of transportation, Bakke Carriage Service can provide it. If you're a bride, Larry Bakke and his team of horses will get you to the church on time.

While Bakke Carriage Service is only two years old, horsemanship is nothing new to Larry Bakke. He grew up with horses and describes his father, the late Adolph Bakke, as an excellent horseman. Larry says, "Anything I know about horses, I probably learned from him." Larry's first exposure to driving a team was at an early age, between the third and fourth grade. Larry drove the team ahead of a dump rake, turning hay. "Dick and Duke must have been pretty foolproof," he laughs.

Larry purchased the farm he grew up on in 1974. The farm is located about four miles west of Newfolden, and he lives there with his two daughters, Nickie, 18, and seventeen-year-old Jessie. His recently married son, Craig, 22, lives in Thief River Falls and works at Digi-Key. Of the three children, only Jessie inherited her father's love for horses. "She's my number one helper," he says.

Through the years, Larry's interest in horses has taken him in many different directions. He showed horses for many years and several years back competed in the area chariot races, popular at the time. He belonged to an area saddle club, and for many years he broke and trained horses for others. Working with the horses in the evenings after working all day at his regular job, Larry says, "I did more riding at night under the yard light than any other time." Larry is employed as a truck driver for Roseau county.

Two years ago, changes in Larry's life inspired him to start Bakke Carriage Service, a move that has proven to be beneficial in more ways than one. Larry is happy and enjoying his business, excited about what the future may have to offer.

He acquired the carriage he uses in his business 20 years ago, trading a shotgun for it. He then set out to rebuild it, having new wheels made. A friend reupholstered the seats. The carriage was used once in awhile at family functions and on special occasions.

Two years ago, Larry turned his hobby into a full-fledged business. Last year, Larry found himself taking his services to Maple Lake, Baudette and everywhere in between.

Bakke Carriage Service has provided services at weddings, birthday parties, anniversaries, and even a funeral procession from a Viking church to the cemetery. This spring he delivered two couples to the prom in Thief River Falls. He has given rides to residents of the Good Samaritan Home in Warren and the Karlstad Memorial Nursing Center as well as preschoolers from Thief River Falls and fourth grade students from the Viking School.

The business was hired last year for a promotion at a Thief River Falls floral shop. When Larry saw an ambulance coming down the busy Thief River Falls street, he was not sure of how his horses would react. When the ambulance driver saw the animals, he slowed down a

After snowfall, Bakke Carriage Service sheds the carriage and brings out the sleigh. Larry Bakke built the sleigh in the photograph and also builds sleds for others. During the holiday season, customers can take a sleigh ride to a wooded area on the Bakke farm to choose a Christmas tree, trees that Bakke has purchased in Canada and "planted" in the snow. The horses and sleigh have also made appearances at Old Mill State Park.

Early copy needed for July 4 Watch

Residents and advertisers are reminded that due to the July 4 holiday, the deadline for advertising in the Northern Watch has changed.

The deadline for classified and display advertising is 3 p.m., Tuesday, June 30. The Northern Watch will be delivered on Thursday, and The Times/Northern Watch front office will be closed on Friday in observance of the holiday.

Thief River Falls Perks and Recreation displayed a new Tennis Tutor recently. The ball machine was donated to the city by Pepsi Bottling Co. of Thief River Falls. It will be used during summer recreation tennis programs provided by the parks department. It can be used for a lot of teaching purposes and has a number of functions that affect ball spin and speed. Madalyn Vigan, Parks and Recreation director, and Wade Johnson, marketing manager for Thief River Falls and Warroad, are pictured with the machine.

Rodeo & Bullride at Park Rapids is six days of action

More than 300 professional cowboys and cowgirls are expected to compete for a share of the $72,000 purse and world championship points when the Headwaters Rodeo and Bullride takes place in Park Rapids.

The 21st anniversary rodeo will take place Friday and Saturday, July 3 and 4 at 6:30 p.m. and Sunday, July 5 at 2 p.m. The popular bull ride is planned for Friday and Saturday, July 10 and 11 at 6:30 p.m. and Sunday, July 12, at 2 p.m.

For the second year, the rodeo and bullride will be held at new grounds located 1.5 miles east of Park Rapids off Highway 34. There are permanent bleachers for 3,000 spectators on the south side of the arena and hillside seating for another 1,200 on the north side.

Produced by Jokela ProWest Productions, the rodeo will include bareback and saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, barrel racing and bull riding as well as kids' sheep riding, wild saddle cow race and the country's largest petting zoo with camel rides and pig racing. A rodeo parade will take place on Saturday, July 4.

At the bullride July 10, 11 and 12 the organizers have brought in Canadian Arena Chuckwagon racers and a kiddie carnival. Nightly rodeo dances will be held in the state's largest outdoor log pavilion on the rodeo grounds.

Advance reduced price tickets are available by calling 1-800-565-3521 by July 2 for rodeo performances and July 9 for bullride performances.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaComsure

I've been wanting to bake cookies lately so that's what prompted today's recipes. I hope you'll try them on these rainy days. Most of them are frosted, but I'm sure they would taste just as good topped with a sprinkling of powdered sugar.

A delicious and nutritious summertime treat, this recipe makes a big batch, and you'll need it once they taste them:

FROSTED BANANA BARS
1/2 cup butter, softened
2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups mashed ripe bananas (about 3 medium)
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
Pinch of salt
Frosting
1/2 cup butter, softened
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
4 cups powdered sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla

In bowl, cream butter and sugar. Beat in eggs, bananas and vanilla.

Combine flour, soda and salt and add to creamed mixture, mixing well.

Pour into greased 10x15 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until bars test done. Cool.

To make frosting, cream butter and cream cheese in mixing bowl. Gradually add powdered sugar and vanilla, beating well. Spread over cooled bars.

Make these refreshing, cool-tasting cookies for a special treat this weekend:

FROSTED PINEAPPLE COOKIES
1 (8 ounce) can crushed pineapple
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups powdered sugar

Drain pineapple, reserving 3 tablespoons of the juice. Set pineapple and juice aside.

In bowl, cream shortening and sugar. Add egg, mixing well. Add pineapple and vanilla and mix well.

Combine flour, baking powder, soda and salt and stir into creamed mixture.

Drop by teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart onto greased cookie sheets. Bake at 325 degrees for 17-20 minutes, or until golden. Immediately removed from sheets to cool on racks.

To make frosting, combine powdered sugar with enough of the reserved pineapple juice to make a smooth spreading consistency. Frost cool cookies.

There's nothing better than a spicy cookie and a glass of cold lemonade on a hot day:

CHEWY SPICE COOKIES
1 cup packed brown sugar
3/4 cup unsweetened applesauce
1/4 cup molasses
1 egg
2 1/4 cups flour
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
Extra white sugar

In bowl, combine brown sugar, applesauce, molasses and egg until well blended.

Combine flour, soda and spices and stir into applesauce mixture.

Drop by teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart on lightly greased cookie sheets. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 375 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes.

(For less fat cookies, use egg substitute to equal 1 egg and nonstick cooking spray to grease cookie sheets. This would yield 3 1/2 dozen cookies with 56 calories per cookie, 15 mg sodium, trace of cholesterol, 12 gm carbohydrate, 1 gm protein and a trace of fat.)

These yummy chocolate cookies really don't take much more time to make than any other frosted cookie, and they taste and look so good:

CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW COOKIES
1/2 cup butter, softened
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1/4 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 3/4 cups flour
1/3 cup cocoa
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
16 to 18 large marshmallows
Icing
6 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons cocoa
1/4 cup milk
1 3/4 cups powdered sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Pecan halves, if desired

In bowl, cream butter and sugar. Add egg, milk and vanilla and mix well.

Combine flour, cocoa, soda and salt and beat into creamed mixture.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 8 minutes.

Cut marshmallows in half and then press a half, cut side down, onto each warm cookie. Return to oven for 2 minutes, then remove from sheet and cool completely on rack.

To make icing, combine butter, cocoa and milk in saucepan. Bring to a boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Cool slightly and place in small mixing bowl.

Add powdered sugar and vanilla and beat well. Spread over cooled cookies and top each with a pecan half.

What would cookie recipes be without another chocolate chip recipe - here it is - I haven't tried them yet, but plan to do so this weekend - they sound rather interesting with the oats:

BEST EVER CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup softened butter
1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1 large egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups rolled oats (recipe calls for old-fashioned rolled oats, but I'm going to use my regular oatmeal oats)
1 cup chocolate chips

Mix flour, soda and cinnamon.

Beat butter, brown sugar and white sugar with mixer until light and fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla.

At low speed, beat in flour mixture until blended. Fold in oats and chips. Cover with plastic and chill for 1 hour.

Shape dough into 1 inch balls and place 2 inches apart on greased cookie sheets. Flatten each cookie slightly.

Bake 10-12 minutes at 350 degrees, until lightly browned around edges. Cool on wire racks.

(Make dough ahead of time and freeze. Defrost to make fresh cookies in minutes.)

Meeting on Senior Drug Programs in TRF June 26

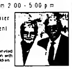
A discussion of Senior Drug Programs and the Impact of Reauthorization of the Older Americans Action on Seniors will be held at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls on Friday, June 26, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Jim Varpness, executive secretary for the Minnesota Board on Aging will lead the discussion on a proposal which could expand prescription drug coverage for low income seniors and also discuss the importance of the re-authorization of the Older American's Act by congress.

The Minnesota Board on Aging has a long history of concern for the health of senior citizens. It has adopted and long supported a position of advocating for affordable prescription drugs for low-income seniors. One of the most glaring deficiencies of health care coverage for seniors in Minnesota is prescription drugs. Managed care plans that contract with Medicare do not cover prescription drugs in this state. Most low-income seniors cannot afford supplemental policies that provide drug coverage.

There is a rare opportunity to do something about this inequity. The legislature directed that the Department of Human Services apply to the federal government for a Waiver of Medicaid rules. This waiver will allow Minnesota to use Medicaid funds in non-traditional ways. Medicaid is the federal program that pays for health care for low-income people. One of the things the waiver will do is make coverage for prescription drugs available to low-income seniors. It will do this by enrolling about 40,000 seniors and disabled over the next two years in what is called the Qualified Medicare Beneficiary program by paying certain monthly premiums, deductibles, and co-insurance out of Medicaid funds. This request is to cover people up to 150 percent of poverty ($12,075 for an individual, $16,275 for a couple). Beneficiaries would be responsible for a $3 co-pay per prescription.

The Minnesota Senior Drug Waiver will make it possible for an increasing number of low-income seniors to get other Medicare cost-sharing benefits as well as prescription drug coverage. The Waiver is part of an overall approach to promote self-sufficiency and build "non-welfare" supports for people to keep them from depleting their resources and falling onto the Medicaid programs. This proposal will reduce the costs to Medicaid for people who become impoverished by paying for health care directly related to the inability to afford needed prescription drugs. Thousands of low-income seniors have to chose between using limited funds on basic living expenses versus paying for needed drug therapy. This program not only will alleviate human suffering but it also makes good financial sense. The Minnesota Senior Drug Waiver will make it possible for low-income seniors to be able to afford proper drug therapy.



Everyone is welcome to attend the discussion. For more information contact the Northwest Area Agency on Aging, a program of the Northwest Regional Development Commission, at 115 South Main, Suite 1, Warren, MN 56762 or call (218) 745-6733 or 1-800-333-2433 Senior Linkage line.

Economy Pays The Bills For Clean Environment

"A prosperous economy pays the bills and develops the technologies for a clean environment," states Thomas J. Donohue, president and CEO of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. "A clean environment makes all the hard work that goes into economic growth worthwhile, because it affords us all a healthy and enjoyable quality of life."

While many people and some organizations are quick to condemn American business for pollution and lack of concern for environmental issues, they overlook the fact that Donohue points out—it costs a lot of money to maintain a healthy environment in the face of population growth and providing the standard of living that Americans have come to expect.

It's true that a good deal of business and industry attention to the environment has come at the insistence of government. It is also true that government has done little but dictate while business has had to devise means to implement the safeguards and corrections that government has demanded. And business for the most part has made its progress cost effectively, whereas government efforts have been costly and wasteful. For instance, the Superfund law intended to clean up some identified 1,200 waste sites when it was passed in 1980 has resulted in only 200 sites being cleaned up to date at a cost of $32 billion. As much as 70 percent of the money allocated for the cleanup effort has been spent on lawyers and lawsuits.

"It is the productivity and the wealth created by our free enterprise system that have allowed us to invest over a trillion dollars into giving the United States one of the cleanest environments on earth," Donohue says. "Without a strong economy and advances in science and technology, we would have the horrendous pollution problems of the developing world."

While the population has increased by 29% and the number of vehicle miles driven has increased by 121% since 1970, emissions of lead in the air have virtually disappeared, emissions of particulate matter have decreased by 78% and total emissions of six common air pollutants have declined by an average of 24 percent.

Donohue says that for the future the rules ought to emphasize results over paperwork and bureaucracy and should encourage experimentation to find the best methods to achieve the agreed-upon endpoints. He says there should be a shift from the Washington-knows-best attitude to allowing those closest to the resource—such as local businesses, farmers, homeowners and local governments—to manage it the best.

Donohue is right. No one has a greater concern nor stake in environmental issues than the people closest to them. And resources created by a strong economy are necessary to accomplish the necessary objectives.

Advice For All Ages

In his many talks to students at colleges and universities, Dave Thomas, founder of the chain of Wendy's fast food restaurants, often shares his 10 tips for a happier and more rewarding life. The advice is good for people of all ages. Here are Dave's tips:

Never stop learning. Graduation doesn't mean the end of learning; it's just the beginning. The "real world" has so much to teach us—only if we are ready and willing to take notes.

Do what makes you happy. Whether it's choosing a career or deciding what charity to get involved with, the choice should come from your heart. Ultimately, you are the one who has to get up every morning and enjoy what you are doing, so make sure it matters to you.

Show your true colors. It's okay if you march to the beat of a different drummer—there are plenty of people who will enjoy the music you make. Don't be afraid to be unique or speak your mind because that's what makes you different from everyone else.

Don't give up. It's easy to throw in the towel when things aren't going your way. Nothing good comes without hard work. Be willing to invest the time and energy to achieve your goals.

Be honest. Talk is cheap. If you say you're going to do something, do it. Living your life with integrity and honesty is the only way to live. People will respect you and you'll respect yourself.

Don't sweat the small stuff. If every decision you make is life or death, you'll be dead a lot. Don't let little problems become big obstacles.

Break out of your routine. Doing things the way you have always done them can only get you where you've already been. Don't be afraid to shake things up and try something new.

Always do your best. Be true to yourself and always give your best effort. If you try your best and don't reach your goal, you haven't failed; you've gained experience.

Live life to the fullest. Many times we focus on accomplishing our goals and don't take time to celebrate our achievements. Don't miss an opportunity to spend time with your family and friends—they're an important part of your life.

Believe in yourself. You have come this far, so have the courage to continue to learn and grow. If you believe in yourself, you can achieve all your goals.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

NCTC offers early childhood classes

Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls is offering Project Exceptional classes for child care providers, early childhood educators, social service providers and family members of young children with disabilities in Minnesota.

Care-Giving for Young Children with Physical Disabilities will be offered July 7 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Room 131 at the college with a fee of $10.

This workshop provides a better understanding of children with physical disabilities and offers practical information and tips for care-giving. The focus is on optimal child participation in play and socializing for child care settings. Included is an overview of typical and atypical physical development. Suggestions are offered for safe and appropriate positioning and handling use of adaptive equipment, setting up the environment and adult safety in lifting.

Care-Giving Strategies: Building Resilience in Children at Risk will be offered from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. July 21 at Tri-County high school in Karlstad. Fee is $10.

A framework from which to view child behavior and the role of the care-giver is the primary theme of this workshop. Included are practical suggestions for providers which support positive and nurturing care to young children who are demonstrating "at risk" behaviors. Tips are offered to assist providers in better understanding stresses young children must cope with and how behaviors are influenced.

Living with Disability: The Family Perspective will be offered July 28 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the media center classroom at Fosston high school. Fee is $10.

Highlighted will be unique issues that families of young children with disabilities face when looking for child care. The similarity of needs of families with or without children who have disabilities is a primary theme.

Emphasis is placed on the uniqueness of individual family members and diversity of families in general. Normal emotional reactions a parent may experience upon learning of a child's disabilities will be reviewed and the care-giver role in providing services to families is examined.

For more information and to pre-register call custom training and continuing education at NCTC, phone 218-681-0793 or 1-800-959-6282.

All-State Lutheran Choir to perform in Roseau church

Two Roseau vocalists will be members of the All-State Lutheran Choir which will perform Thursday, June 25, at 7:30 p.m. at Messiah Lutheran Church in Roseau. They are Charles Eaton, a member of First Lutheran Church and Heidi Severson, a member of Roseau Lutheran Church.

This concert will be the only appearance of the choir in this area for 1998 and the Roseau choir members are the only ones from the area in the 60-voice group. The choir has been rehearsing at Mount Carmel Lutheran Camp near Alexandria prior to embarking on its present tour.

Each concert is concluded with choir members seated in the audience and everyone taking part in the singing of hymns. The concert is open to the public and a free will offering for the choir will be received during the performance, according to Rev. Louis Hermansen, host pastor at Messiah Lutheran.

STUDENTS IN THE NEWS

Many from area on Concordia's dean's honor list

A number of students from the Northern Watch area have been named to the dean's honor list at Concordia College in Moorhead for the second semester of the 1997-98 academic year. To qualify, students must carry a minimum of 12 semester credits and have a grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale.

Jolene Solheim receives UND Robertson award

Jolene Solheim of Red Lake Falls was named among 71 students, mostly freshmen, to receive the D.J. Robertson Award for earning a straight A average for the 1998 spring semester.

The award is presented to students who earn 4.0 grade point averages (straight A) for the semester, while completing a minimum of 12 graded hours of academic coursework. An individual student may earn the award no more than twice.

The award honors the late D.J. Robertson, the first dean of UND's University College and a faculty member for 37 years. Robertson helped create University College in 1955 and served as its dean until retiring in 1978. He passed away in 1993.

Area students named to UND President's list

Several area and local students were among the nearly 500 students at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks named to the 1998 Spring Semester Presidents Roll of Honor.

The Roll of Honor recognizes outstanding academic achievement over the course of the student's complete academic career. To qualify, a student must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.8 or higher (4.0 equals a straight A average), have earned a minimum of 30 semester hours and have earned a minimum of 12 hours at the close of the semester.

Area students named to the list include: Terry Lynn Lisell of Roseau, Rebecca Leigh Mattson of Thief River Falls, and Christian Clarie Hallett, and Elizabeth E. Lund of Warroad.

Jennifer Larson gains dean's list

Jennifer Larson of Newfolden has been named to the dean's list for spring quarter at Winona State University, having achieved at least a 3.5 GPA while carrying at least 12 credits.

Area educators participate in debate on MEA/MFT merger

This summer's annual meeting of the National Education Association (NEA) in New Orleans will be a momentous one for 250 Minnesotans. Teachers from Austin to Thief River Falls will be among approximately 10,000 national delegates to vote on "Principles of Unity" that, if approved, could lead to a merger of the 2.2-million-member NEA with the 950,000-member American Federation of Teachers (AFT).

Minnesota teacher leaders have played a critical role in merger discussions at the national level, and the state is looked to nationally as a leader. "We already have 12 merged local associations, more than any other state, some dating back to 1992," said Minnesota Education Association (MEA) President Judy Schaubach. "In creating a unified national voice on behalf of public education, our members will be able to better focus on strengthening classroom learning experiences for all students."

The AFT will also act on the Principles at its annual meeting later in July. NEA and AFT have been discussing merger seriously for the past two years. If the national organizations approve the Principles, thus allowing state level mergers, the MEA and MFT would likely become the first state organizations to merge. That would occur September 1, 1998.

The NEA's yearly event gets under way with various pre-conference meetings beginning June 25. The actual business portion of the event, the Representative Assembly, runs July 4-6.

Area delegates expected to attend the event include: Janet Arnot of Crookston, Dianne Churchill of Greenbush, Velma Oakland of Red Lake Falls, David Nikunen of Roseau, Judy Lindquist of Thief River Falls, Sharon Nelson of Warren, and Judith Turenne of Warroad.

WE SELL FISHING LICENSES!

THE LYON'S SHARE

Tim Lyon

Lake of the Woods contains 14,869 islands. That number is higher than the traditional county of 14,826 offered in tourist fact sheets because of an Angle guide who claims to have discovered 43 more during his wanderings over the last decade. The addition of another 43 islands, however, only compounds a daily problem for lake users—the fact that less than half of these bodies have a name.

Ever try to plot a course or pinpoint a fishing hotspot for a friend by describing the trees and rocks along a nameless shoreline? Good luck. A solution? How about we name the islands, make some money and solve the Canadian issues, all in the same motion? Ahh, the greasy smell of capitalism.

For years, necessity has dictated the progress of island identification. Unofficial names were assigned by users in descriptive response to localized events and observations. Lone Pine Tree Island, for example, is a baldish rock with a lonely pine perched atop it. Simple enough. No Name Island is a fairly large, unnamed island. Aunt Jemima Island sports a popple tree that looks like it belongs on a syrup bottle. Big Job results from a father/son exchange:

"I have to go, Dad!"

"Just use that bucket. I've got a fish going here."

"But I gotta do the Big Job!"

Little Job Island is a mere hundred yards away, but labeled for its stature, rather than function.

Following this unimaginative path, we come to The 2nd Island South of the Submarine Shaped Island in the Bottom of the Tug.

The officially named ones aren't much better. Rock, Bay and Sand Islands seem just a tad bit flat, don't you think? Island No. 35 is pretty darned unimaginative. Yes, Big Island is big. If I mention Gull Rock Island, do you know which of the seven Gull Rock Islands I have in mind?

Queer Island may be a little more memorable, but it lacks the "politically correct" tone demanded by the nineties. Royal, Queen, Britannia, Victoria—someone needs to tell these Canadians that they are their own country now. And while names like Deadbroke, Massacre and Whiskey might conjure up some interesting images, I don't even want to imagine how Firebag got its name. Ouch!

Let's wipe the slate clean. 14,826 nameless islands. Okay, just for the sake of nostalgia, we keep the names of the 826 most notable. They could serve as constant reference points, plus the math is a heck of a lot easier with an even 14,000 unnamed islands remaining.

Now, how about the right to name these 14,000 hunks of rock and mud goes for ten bucks an acre? What a deal! Put your name on something more memorable than a tombstone. Only guys like Ted Turner could afford something the magnitude of Falcon, while Tim Lyon Isle would be a rock you might lose a lower unit on in a high water year. It would be similar to that recent craze in which you named a star for your girlfriend in the desperate hope of reaching second base, yet this approach would actually give you a place to go and cry on when she dumped you.

The benefits are pretty obvious. First, the islands get named. It's about time! Second, the revenue potential is tremendous. The average 10-acre island pays out $100 so 14,000 islands mean $1.4 million non-consumptive resource based dollars. Yearly maintenance fees, as in a time-share ownership, would keep the money flowing. Perhaps a dollar per acre per annum keeps your title secure for years to come.

And the third benefit brings us to the Canadian portion of the discussion. You see, money, not resource, has always been the issue on Lake of the Woods. (Sorry, it's the truth. I'll burst your bubble about Santa Claus next week.) With only 41 of those 14,000 islands on the open-water Minnesota side of the international boundary, it only seems right that we cut our "neighbors to the north" in on some of the profit. We provide the names and dollars, they come up with the real estate. A 50-50 split on the proceeds is simple, only the administrative side of things need be addressed. Or perhaps we fabricate a fishing deal of some sort? Hmmmmm.

Well, I'm off to pick out my piece of the rock and scratch my name onto the diamond-hard surface of history forever. Or at least until my heirs decide to spend their inheritance on something of more significance, like an upgraded cable TV package. I think I'll bid on Disputed Island. You know, that small rock pile between Bridge's and Big that was so tactfully avoided during the island allocation of the early 1900s. The U.S./Canadian line runs right over it and I'd hate to put the Lyon name to anything that wasn't contentious.

Stroke support group meets at Crookston site

Crookston's stroke support group will meet Wednesday, July 1, at 2 p.m. in the board room at Riverview Healthcare Association in Crookston. There is no cost for the meeting, which will last about an hour, and everyone is welcome.

Senate approves flood control funds for area

On Thursday the U.S. Senate approved funds for flood control projects in Crookston, East Grand Forks, Marshall and Stillwater on a vote of 98-1.

Included in the legislation is $255,000 for planning and study for the Crookston flood control project and $945,000 for planning and study for the East Grand Forks and Grand Forks, ND, flood control project, according to U.S. Sen. Rod Grams of Minnesota.

Sen. Grams said the senate vote "represents another step in the legislative process and moves us closer to actually delivering needed dollars."

Family night at Silverton church Sunday evening

Family night will be held Sunday, June 21, at 7 p.m. at Silverton Lutheran Church located four miles east of Thief River Falls on highway 1 and one mile north.

Speaker will be Rev. Luther Larson, assistant to the President of the Church of the Lutheran Brethren of America. Special music is being planned, lunch will be served and everyone is welcome to attend.

DNR to allow harvest of three elk in 1998 season

A third consecutive annual elk hunting season in the Grygla area this fall will have the intent to harvest three elk out of a population that will number approximately 35 animals this fall, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

"The harvest of elk is necessary to reduce agricultural crop damage in the area," the DNR said. "Hunters have harvested a total of 11 elk during similar hunts that were held in 1996 and 1997."

Elk hunting will be permitted in a 56-square-mile area near Grygla. A total of three permits will be issued to parties of two individuals each. Two separate seasons are available: a September bull season during which two permits will be offered, and a second season in October when one bull permit will be issued.

Up to two additional permits will be offered in an alternate hunt if insufficient harvest is obtained during the first season. The alternate hunt (if necessary) will run concurrently with the October hunt.

Only Minnesota residents who will be age 16 or older as of September 12 are eligible for the drawing, which is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. Applicants will be selected for permits by a random drawing. Applications for permits must be postmarked on or before Friday, July 17. A non-refundable $20 application fee is required for each two-person application. The license fee itself is $220. A mandatory orientation session will be required prior to the hunt.

Landowners and tenants who live on at least 160 acres of agricultural land within the elk hunting zone (as well as family members who live on the qualifying property and are part of the farming operations) will be given preference for one of the regular permits. A map of the elk hunting zone and special instructions for landowner applications may be obtained by contacting Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area headquarters at 218-222-3747. Landowners should print the word LANDOWNER at the top of their application and include the legal description of the qualifying land.

Applications for the elk hunt must be made in parties of two individuals on an 8 1/2x11 inch sheet of paper that includes the following information (incomplete applications will be rejected):

• Full name and mailing address of both hunters;
• Driver's license or Minnesota Public Safety ID number for both hunters;
• Daytime telephone number for both hunters;
• Season choice (either Season A, September 12-20, two bull permits or Season B, October 10-18, one bull permit;
• Whether the applicants are interested in the October 10-18 alternate hunt (individuals chosen for the alternate hunts will be notified by September 25);
• The signature of both hunters.

The most common reason for rejection of applications last year was the lack of signatures from both applicants. Applications, together with the $20 application fee (cashier's check, personal check or money order made out to Minnesota DNR) must be postmarked or delivered on or before the July 17 deadline and sent to: Elk Hunt, DNR Regional Headquarters, 2115 Birchmont Beach Road NE, Bemidji, MN 56601.

Fourteen permits were offered for hunts during the last two seasons. Eight elk were taken in 1996 and three in 1997. Three of the 11 were mature bulls and the remaining animals taken were cows.

Warren and EGF benefit from gap financing for new rental housing

Cities of Warren and East Grand Forks will benefit from a gap financing provided by the Greater Minnesota Housing Fund (GMHF).

GMHF board of directors approved allocating over $2.9 million in gap financing for 14 new affordable rental housing projects. These projects will provide 308 new units of affordable housing for 14 communities, including Warren and East Grand Forks.

Continuing to support efforts to replace housing lost in last year's devastating floods, GMHF committed another $800,000 to three flood rebuilding projects. "A year ago, communities along the Minnesota and Red River valleys saw thousands of housing units lost," said Warren Hanson, president of GMHF. "Our goal is to meet the urgent needs these communities still face to provide replacement of the housing units lost. We hope these funding commitments help that effort." To date, GMHF has committed $3.5 million to the 1997 flood recovery projects.

In keeping with the mission of the organization, the GMHF also approved funding for 11 affordable rental projects throughout the state of Minnesota. The addition of these 244 units to the housing stock will provide new housing options to working families, and will provide opportunities for communities and employers to address the acute housing needs in Greater Minnesota.

Among the approved projects were: the Heritage Highland II in East Grand Forks, which will provide 24 housing units at a cost of $300,000, the Northwood Court in East Grand Forks, which will provide 28 housing units with the $350,000 finance package; and the Heritage Terrace in Warren, which will provide 12 housing units with a $150,000 finance package.

Applicants for District Judge position invited

Commission on Judicial Selection will receive applications for the position of judge in the Ninth Judicial District until Thursday, July 9, from licensed attorneys who are residents of the district.

The commission has announced a vacancy will occur when judge Russell A. Anderson of Crookston resigns on August 30 to accept an appointment as an Associate Justice on the Minnesota Supreme Court. The new judge's chambers will also be located in Crookston.

Judge Anderson has served as a district court judge since Nov. 1, 1982.

All candidates for the position must submit an application. Those applications and letters of recommendation must be submitted no later than July 9 to Kathleen A. Meyerle, Chair, Commission on Judicial Selection, 130 State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155.

Applicants are asked not to contact the commission members individually, as interviews will be conducted by the nine at-large members and four district members at a later date which has not yet been determined.

Autos collide with cows near Marcoux corner

Minnesota State Patrol reported Friday morning that they were investigating at least three accidents involving vehicles colliding with cows at a location three to four miles west of Marcoux corner on Highway 2.

The first report to the State Patrol came at 11:54 p.m. Thursday, June 18. Donald Dobson, 56, of Grand Forks was driving east in a vehicle when it collided with an angus cow. He was not injured. A damage estimate to the vehicle was not available.

The second report came at 12:07 a.m. on Friday, June 19. Gerald Petersen, 50, Duluth, was driving a van when the vehicle collided with a cow. A damage estimate was not available.

The third report came at 12:13 a.m. when a vehicle driven by Darren Martin, 25, Lamar, OK, collided with two angus cows. Martin and a passenger were taken to a hospital in Crookston. A second passenger did not require immediate hospital care. Damage to the vehicle was declared extensive.

The three accidents and the reason the cows were on the highway remains under investigation.

BSU full-tuition scholarship goes to Philip Brateng

Philip Brateng

Philip Brateng of Grygla has accepted a 1998-99 full-tuition scholarship to attend Bemidji State University. Sixty high school seniors applied for the award and BSU expects 20 new full-tuition scholars on campus in the fall.

The scholarship is available to new students who rank in the upper 10 percent of their high school class and earn a composite ACT score of 28 or higher. Eligible students apply for the scholarship with a selection committee of BSU faculty and staff reviewing and naming the recipients.

While attending Grygla high school, Brateng was selected captain of the basketball team, editor of the school newspaper and president of the student council. He was also involved in the yearbook, peer helpers, drama and the 1996 state champion Knowledge Bowl team. He plans to major in computer science.

The full-tuition scholarship is renewable for up to four years upon the completion of 30 semester credits each year with a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

Each year BSU provides more than $600,000 in academic, talent and leadership awards with funds made available by the BSU Foundation, Alumni Association and other organizations.

Amount of the scholarship is based on the cost of tuition. Over a four year period this award will total approximately $12,000.

The performances will be held in the Red Lake Falls Community Hall Thursday through Saturday, June 25-27 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, June 28 at 2 p.m. The musical is a twist on the fairy tale of the princess and pea. Cast members pictured above include: (from left) Joe Linder as the Prince, Darci Delage as the Princess; Andrea Liston as Queen Aggravein, Rob Conwell as the jester, Morgen Welsh as the Wizard, Tim Pederson as Sir Harry, Lisa Mueller as Lady Larkin, JoAnna Swentek as the Nightingale/Lady-in-Waiting, Lowell Arlt as the Minstral, and Mike Mueller as King Sextimus the Silent.

Job training grant helps Baudette Co.

Northwest Technical College will receive a $200,000 training grant from the Minnesota Job Skills Partnership board to provide employees at Solvay Pharmaceuticals Inc., in Baudette with training that will help the company bring new drug products to market more quickly and efficiently.

A signing celebration was held Thursday, June 18, at the Sportsman's Lodge in Baudette, following a tour at Solvay's facility earlier in the day. The grant was signed by training partners Dennis Hopman, interim president of Northwest Technical College (NTC); Mark Fletcher, Solvay Pharmaceuticals Inc., director of Technical Services; State Senator LeRoy Stumpf and House Representatives Jim Tunheim and Tim Finseth; and Roger Hughes, director of the Job Skills Partnership.

"We are excited to participate in this project because Solvay Pharmaceuticals is a major employer in this region of the state," Governor Arne Carlson said in making the announcement. "This training grant will not only benefit these employees, but assist a successful area business with growth while contributing to economic development for this region."

Jay Novak, Minnesota Job Skills Partnership board chair and Commissioner of the Department of Trade and Economic Development (DTED), added that, "The primary benefit of this training project will be to enhance the personal skills of these employees, making them more marketable to Solvay Pharmaceuticals and to the pharmaceutical industry in general."

Solvay Pharmaceuticals develops, manufactures and markets drugs using a continuous process of product introduction called technology transfer. While this process can take as long as five years to bring a drug product to market, Solvay's goal with its training program is to reduce this time period by increasing staff capabilities. The unique curriculum developed jointly by the NTC and Solvay staff will be tailored to meet the company's pre-production equipment and processes while conforming to federal Food and Drug Administration guidelines.

The Minnesota Job Skills Partnership, with administrative support from the business and community development division of DTED, provides matching grants to educational institutions to develop and provide training for Minnesota businesses to meet the changing needs of Minnesota's labor market.

Karie Johanning is second at international convention

Karie Johanning

Karie Johanning, a 1998 graduate of Our Saviour's Christian Academy in Thief River Falls, placed second in the science research division at the 1998 School of Tomorrow International Student Convention recently in Knoxville, TN. Her project was entitled, "How Do Perms Affect Your Hair?"

She also placed ninth in the science collection category with her Minnesota flower collection and 14th in the bare compound bow division of archery competition.

Karie earned entry to the international competition by placing first or second at the state School of Tomorrow convention. At the international convention there were 4,065 students and sponsors in attendance with students from all over the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, and from other countries including Russia, Canada and Japan competing in 135 different categories.

Karie said the convention was an exciting, action-packed event that promoted school spirit, enthusiasm about Christian education and the development of leadership skills.

Arlene Johanning was her daughter's sponsor in the competition. Karie expressed appreciation to Oak Grove Nursery, Irene Johnson and her aunts Mary, Sandy and Jeanette for supplying flowers for her Minnesota flower collection exhibit.

Embassy Center to host Father's Day pancake breakfast

Buttermilk pancakes, made from scratch, will highlight the menu at the annual Father's Day Pancake Feed at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston on Sun., June 21.

The pancakes will be served with various toppings, sausages, juice, milk and coffee. Serving will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 1 p.m.

The free will offering will go into the Embassy Center's general fund.

Cancer support group will meet

Next meeting of the support group for people with cancer will take place Tuesday, June 30, at 6 p.m. in the board room at Riverview Healthcare in Crookston. It is open to anyone experiencing cancer and their families.

Crops progressing slowly due to cool temperatures

According to a news release issued June 15, below normal temperatures for the last two weeks had slowed the development of crops across the state. The average temperature for the state last week was 3.2 degrees below normal. A return to sunny and warm weather would be welcomed by the crops, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

The average height of corn as of Sunday was 19 inches, increasing only six inches from last week. Due to the decrease in sunshine, the corn has turned pale in areas of the state. Corn seemed to be affected slightly more than soybeans by the frosts which occurred the later part of the previous week. The central part of the state reported the most damage from frost. Fields cultivated just prior to the frosts were also more likely to have been affected.

Soybean height reached five inches tall, slightly ahead of the three-inch height of both last year and the five-year average. Many farmers still need to apply chemicals to control the weeds, but have been waiting for the weather to improve.

The balance of the first cutting of alfalfa has also been delayed by the weather. The last two weeks have not been ideal for hay to cure. As of Sunday, 89 percent of the alfalfa had been cut.

Silverton family league Sunday

"Our Church Heritage" will be the program theme for Silverton Lutheran Family League on Sunday, June 21 at 7 p.m.

Reverend Luther Larson, assistant to the president of the Church of the Lutheran Brethren of America, will be the speaker. Pioneer antiques from the collection of Silas Hanson will be displayed, and Estelle Grinde will share memories of the "good old days." Roxi Holland will provide special vocal music, and lunch will be served.

Everyone is welcome. Silverton Lutheran Church is located four miles east on Hwy. 1 and one mile north of Thief River Falls.

It is generally assumed that ostrich feathers tickle, but that assumption is generally assigned to the plumes of adult birds, not fluff of chicks. Taylor Moen, however, seems to be tickled by this young bird during a visit of the Grove Valiants 4-H club members to the Donny and Bemia Vrea ostrich farm near Goodridge recently. The club members, ranging in age from seven to 18, were very interested in seeing and hearing about the big birds.

49th Annual Northwest Dairy Day

Showmanship demonstration at 11 a.m. Saturday, June 27, at the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls will open the 49th annual Northwest Dairy Day. Kelly Fulton of Warren, who was senior showmanship champion with this cow at Northwest Dairy Day last year, will present the demonstration in her 11th year of showing at the regional event.

60 dairy animals to be shown at 49th Northwest Dairy Day

Thirty-five young people have pre-registered to show 60 dairy animals at the 49th annual Northwest Dairy Day Saturday, June 27, at the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls, according to Janice Larson of rural Middle River, who has been handling registrations.

The exhibitors come from 16 communities and include six in the Discovery group for those in kindergarten and first grade, 14 showing for the first time, six for the second time, two each for the third, fifth and eighth time and one each for the fourth, sixth and 11th time.

Animals will be judged in six age classes with all dairy breeds combined in those classes. Judge will be Eldo Bentley of Twin Valley. Entries by age class include 14 junior calves, six calves, seven junior yearlings, 12 senior yearlings, nine two-year-olds and 12 advanced or aged cows.

Traditionally held on the second Tuesday of June, Northwest Dairy Day had been canceled by the sponsoring Northwest Dairy Improvement Association due to lack of interest, following a poll to determine likely participation. A group of interested dairymen resurrected the annual event and scheduled it for Saturday, June 27, in conjunction with An American Festival, the annual Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Letters of invitation to participate were sent to some 700 members of the American Dairy Association of Minnesota in the 16 northwest counties of Minnesota. Mrs. Larson said the committee is gratified by the response, especially by first-time and Discovery exhibitors, who combine for more than half of the total number of entries.

Additional registrations will be accepted on Dairy Day itself and those participants will be eligible for participation awards with the exception of Northwest Dairy Day t-shirts which are being given to each exhibitor who pre-registered.

Most of the awards normally presented at Northwest Dairy Day will be awarded this year. An exception will be the purebred dairy calf which has been awarded the following year to the person showing the grand champion grade animal of the show. Showmen of the grand champion grade and purebred animals will receive $250 awards this year.

Kelly Schlauderaff of Detroit Lakes showed the grand champion grade animal at the 48th annual show last year and his purebred calf will be presented this year. It will be accepted by his brother Cory, who is participating in the 1998 show.

The dairy cattle show will open at 11 a.m. with a showmanship demonstration by Kelly Fulton of Warren, an 11-year veteran of Northwest Dairy Day who was the senior showmanship champion at the 48th annual event last year. She has shown cattle for other breeders at a number of major dairy shows.

In addition to the dairy cattle show, the 1998 version of Northwest Dairy Day will include several events for the general public. They are distribution of free ice cream products; presentation of an educational program on "Milk From Cow To You," including a producing dairy cow in the demonstration; a calf weight guessing contest with prizes for winners; dairy calves for children to pet; dairy trivia contest; and cookie toss into a pitcher of milk. These activities will also begin at 11 a.m. and, depending on attendance and crowd interest, continue throughout the cattle show.

A special guest at Northwest Dairy Day will be Jenny Kinnunen of Menahga, crowned on Saturday, June 13, at the 1998 Region 1 Dairy Princess contest in Thief River Falls. She will assist with the distribution of awards and other Dairy Day features and also be introduced at the Miss Thief River Falls Pageant that evening and ride in the parade for An American Festival on Sunday, June 28.

Pre-registered to participate in the dairy cattle show are the following:

Warren—Kelly Fulton, Jamie and Ashley Kalt;
Roseau—Sara Kompelien and Allison Dahlgren;
Detroit Lakes—Joshua Mitchell and Cory Schlauderaff;
Mentor—Sara Hegge;
Fertile—Darin Lehmann;
Red Lake Falls—Darcy Huot;
McIntosh—Rebecca Lee and Joseph Lee;
Tenstrike—Andy Stormo and Briana Stormo;
Clearbrook—Jonathan Ehlers, Sara Ehlers and Jason Ehlers;
Warroad—Tyson Lovejoy;
Grygla—Thomas Waling and Steve Waling;
Middle River—Marcus Wallace, Coral Wallace, Pearl Moede, Christopher Pederson and Jacob Pederson;
Thief River Falls—Shara Guidry, Cole Rupprecht and Reese Rupprecht;
Northome—Jody Neft, Allison Neft and Jenna Neft;
Kelliher—Jake Neft;
Dagley—Heather Ness, Anna Titera and Nathan Titera.

Kelly Schlauderaff of Detroit Lakes showed this animal to the grand champion grade title at the 48th annual Northwest Dairy Day last year. He is scheduled to receive a purebred dairy calf at the 49th annual event to be conducted this year on Saturday, June 27, at the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls. The dairy show will start at 11 a.m.

BUILD YOUR OWN POTATO
Baked potatoes have endless possibilities with Light Sour Cream and a variety of toppings.
Preparation time: 20 Minutes
Microwaving time: 15 minutes
INGREDIENTS:
• 4 medium baking potatoes, washed, each pierced with a fork
INSTRUCTIONS:
Place potatoes on paper towel in microwave. Microwave on HIGH, turning over after half the time, until fork tender (15 to 18 minutes).
VARIATIONS:
Mexican Chicken Potatoes: In 8-inch skillet melt 1 tablespoon LAND O LAKES® Butter; stir in 1/2 cup chopped onions. Cook over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally, 1 minute. Stir in 2 cups shredded cooked chicken, 1 cup LAND O LAKES® Light Sour Cream and 1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until heated through (1 to 2 minutes). Top each potato with about 1/2 cup chicken mixture and 2 tablespoons salsa. 4 servings.
Dill 'N Vegetable Potatoes: Prepare 2 cups frozen vegetable combination according to package directions. Drain, stir in 1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed. Top each potato with 1/2 cup vegetables, 2 tablespoons LAND O LAKES® Light Sour Cream and 1 ounce (1/4 Cup) LAND O LAKES® Mozzarella Cheese, finely shredded. Microwave on HIGH until cheese is melted (1 to 2 minutes). 4 servings.
Cheesy Ham & Broccoli Potatoes: Prepare 2 cups chopped frozen broccoli according to package directions. Drain, stir in 1 cup cubed ham. Microwave on HIGH 1 minute. Top each potato with about 3/4 cup broccoli mixture, 2 tablespoons LAND O LAKES® Light Sour Cream and 1 ounce (1/4 cup) LAND O LAKES® Cheddar Cheese, finely shredded. Microwave on HIGH until cheese is melted (1 to 2 minutes). 4 servings.
Italian Cheese Potatoes: Top each potato with 1 ounce (1/4 cup) LAND O LAKES® Cheddar Cheese, finely shredded, 2 tablespoons LAND O LAKES® Light Sour Cream and 2 tablespoons spaghetti sauce. Microwave on HIGH until cheese is melted (1 to 2 minutes). 4 servings.
TIP: Serve potato toppings over pasta for a recipe variation.
TIP: Potatoes can be baked at 350°F for about 1-1/2 hours or until fork tender.

FU-SILLY CHILI SKILLET
Toss curly noodles with chili fixings for a sure fire clean-your-plate meal.
Preparation time: 12 Minutes
Microwaving time: 13 minutes
INGREDIENTS:
• 8 ounces (4 cups) uncooked dried fusilli pasta (thin corkscrew or pasta twists)
• 1/2 pound Italian turkey sausage or extra-lean ground beef
• 1 (16 ounce) can chili beans
• 1 (14-1/2 ounce) can Mexican-style stewed tomatoes
• 3/4 cup LAND O LAKES® No-Fat Sour Cream
INSTRUCTIONS:
Cook pasta according to package direction. Drain.
Meanwhile, in 12-inch deep skillet cook sausage over medium heat, stirring occassionaly, until no longer pink (10 to 12 minutes). Drain off fat.
Stir in cooked pasta, chili beans and tomatoes. Continue cooking until heated through (2 to 3 minutes). Stir in sour cream, continue cooking until heated through (1 minute). 8 servings.
TIP: If desired, sour cream can be spooned onto Fu-Silly Chili rather than stirred in.

We Make Good Things Better

The future of Minnesota dairying

Where are we going? Can change spell opportunity?

by Joe Conlin
Extension Animal Scientist
Dairy Management Systems
University of Minnesota

Change within Minnesota's dairy industry is the norm and has been ever since our ancestors brought over the red cows with them to settle the land. Along with pulling the wagons that brought our ancestors here, those red cows produced milk and meat for the family, and many became a source of power for plowing, planting and hauling on the farms. The extra milk that the family didn't use was often sold as butter, cream or whole milk to their city cousins.

As production increased, farmers got together and formed local cooperative creameries to handle the growing milk volume, create better markets and produce dairy products more efficiently. If you were a farmer in Minnesota many years ago, you had milk cows – more than 90% of them did. The industry grew and prospered for many good reasons that still exist today: a plentiful supply of low cost feeds, quality land to raise forage crops, an abundance of water, desirable climate and a people of hearty stock with a strong work ethic.

So what's new? The engine of change continues. The engine has been powered by the dynamics of changes in family needs and life goals, government policies, interest rates, new technology and many other forces. Many of today's dairy producers have thrived by taking advantage of the same good reasons that the industry grew and prospered, and by viewing change as a friend and opportunity. The engine of change has a good head of steam and is not likely to slow down soon. Good decisions usually take advantage of the direction of change. Therefore, recognizing and thinking about where the dairy industry is going is an important step in good decision making.

In many cases, the future is already here, and in others it is emerging. The direction of change is often quite obvious as we study and think about the recent past. Thinking about the future helps us be ready when it arrives. Here are the top ten dairy trends I predict will take us to the future.

Emphasis on Profitability, Efficiency and Quality of Life. Profitability will rise as producers increase productivity and adopt only technologies that have a cost/benefit to them. Producers will emphasize controlling costs and managing profitability and people. Tasks will be more routine and specialized. Higher value will be placed on education and seeking advice and information from unbiased sources of expert information. Dairy people will enjoy more breaks in the work routine for family and relaxation.

Restructured Farms. Minnesota will have fewer but more specialized dairies with larger herds and a smaller land base. More feed will be purchased rather than raised. More farms will have multiple owners and operators. Vertical integration with the input and market sectors through contracts or other business arrangements will be common. Intergenerational farms will be less prevalent.

Focus on Quality Management. Dairying will increasingly be rooted in quality management concepts for continuous improvement. Employees are becoming a more highly valued asset. Producers are focusing on more efficient systems and the use of management information, strategic and tactical planning, teamwork and precision management. Action plans, monitoring and controlling will be a key to successful management.

Increased Networking and Collaboration. Going it alone will give way to many different forms of doing business together. Arrangements may range from various forms of shared ownership to leasing equipment and animals, hiring others to raise replacements or spread manure, to purchasing and marketing arrangements. Consultants, discussion and advisory groups will be valued sources of perspective and expertise.

More Volatile Prices. With less government involvement in pricing, milk and feed prices will fluctuate wildly. Producers will increasingly turn to contracts, futures and options to manage risk. Use of commodities and alternative feed sources will increase.

Consumer-driven Markets. Demand for dairy products will grow as new products are developed and the industry becomes more responsive to consumer preferences. Health and safety concerns will become increasingly influential. International and niche markets will grow.

Shifts in Agribusiness. Mergers and consolidations will result in fewer and larger businesses providing inputs, services and markets for the industry. Advice and information will increasingly come from specialized, private-sector sources. Information, technology and services are becoming internationalized.

Public Policy Changes. As pricing is deregulated, supply/demand and quality will gain greater influence on markets. Non-agricultural people are becoming more involved in influencing agricultural policy. Other public policies will focus on health, safety and animal care. Broad government policy on taxes, interest rates, etc. will have a greater impact on farms.

Environmental Protection. Producers will be responsible for minimizing the environmental impact of manure management practices. Emphasis will be on balanced nutrient recycling of nitrogen and phosphorus, integrating crop needs with manure application, and storage systems that protect our water. Farmers will continue to value protective stewardship of our natural resources.

Location of Dairy Farms. Dairy farms will cluster in areas that have supportive communities, cost-competitive feed, a favorable climate, a solid infrastructure and people with both an interest in dairying and the needed resources. Local and state governments will become more involved in location and environmental issues.

Young people can start dairy farming

George D. Marx
Dairy Scientist
University of Minnesota
Crookston

Getting started in dairying is difficult these days but it can be accomplished. The biggest challenge is that dairy farming is capital intensive and demands a lot of planning. There are several ways to overcome some of the high capital start up costs in order to work into the business of becoming a dairyman.

Commitment and attitude are primary factors one must consider. Dairying is different than most jobs and covers a seven-day week. It's not an eight to four-thirty, five-day week as with many outside farm jobs. Many young people are not willing to make such a commitment as quality of life is a consideration and time-off is important to most families. Small dairymen do not have this luxury, but some consider dairy farming as a good way to make a living with the advantages of country living and ability to work at home and be close to the family.

There are several ways to get started with a family dairy farm. The most common way has been to take over from Dad and Mother and set up a satisfactory workable way to buy into the business. This will take some compromises with give and take so that the initial costs of entering a business will not jeopardize the success of getting the operation "off the ground".

Another successful way to enter dairying is to rent a former dairy operation that has good buildings and many have some of the equipment needed which is still in place. A veterinarian in the St. Cloud area has set up many young people in dairying in this manner and has been very successful in getting these ambitious couples off to a financially safe and satisfying start in the dairy business.

A recent speaker, owner of Tinedale Farms in Wrightstown, Wisconsin suggested buying a small plot large enough for just the buildings and facilities without any crop land. He suggests that in many cases it is easier and most cost effective to buy the feed rather than raise the crops needed. Dairymen in the western part of the USA have been doing this for years and do not have the extra burden of paying for a full scale farm and all the accompanying equipment. Many financial audits of farms in this area have shown that it is not profitable to buy expensive equipment and land to produce crops for the dairy operation. In addition, one is spread too thin, when it demands valuable time to grow, manage and harvest crops at optimal times and still pay the proper attention to the cow operation. The speaker suggested partnering or contracting with neighbors to reduce the large capital input required today for other segments, such as feed, for the total dairy enterprise needs.

Dairying takes dedication and long term commitment to be successful.

Love of animals and rural life is essential, coupled with a lot of ambition and requires some sacrifice especially when starting the business.

Reducing scours in calves

George D. Marx
Dairy Scientist
University of Minnesota,
Crookston

Scours or diarrhea in baby calves is a major problem. To date there is no sure cure, but antibiotics have been the major treatment and more recently several vaccines have been developed to help prevent certain types of scours; for example, Roto virus and Corona virus (Scour-Guard) vaccine for help in prevention of specific types of scours.

The University of Minnesota, Northwest Experiment Station at Crookston is working with a new natural product to determine its effect on scours mitigation and abatement with dairy calves. The product is an arabinogalactan polysaccharide plus a mixture of polyphenols (predominantly flavonoids) which is produced from Western Larchwood by water extraction using high temperature compression. The product is produced at the northern forest and pulpwood factory in Cohasset, MN and is available from Larex, Inc., St. Paul, MN where we acquired the product for research purposes. This product is food approved for humans, and is generally recognized as safe by food and health entities. It is also AAFCO (American Association of Food Chemists) approved as an animal feed additive (hemicellulose extract).

In this study, we utilized 36 calves from birth to weaning and evaluated three different levels of the polysaccharide material with another group serving as a control. This product was mixed with milk at each of the two feedings daily except for the control calves which received no product. Calves were additionally fed a grain starter which met NRC (National Research Council) standards. All feed intakes and refusals were recorded for each calf. No forage was fed pre-weaning. Body weights were recorded at weekly intervals on all calves. Calf health was strictly observed and any medical treatments were recorded. Fecal scores and fecal color was recorded daily for each calf. No preventative drugs were administered nor were any contained in the grain starter.

During the research trial, two calves of nine developed scours in the control group. Only one calf of 27 total developed scours in the treatment groups (this calf getting the lowest level). In the two highest arabinogalactan levels, no scours were observed in any of the 18 calves. In our herd at the NWES, and for the season of the year (fall and winter), the two scours cases were considered normal for occurrence in the control group. The three arabinogalactan groups tended to have a lower incidence of scours than normal. In total days, the control calves had two cases of scours in 252 calf days and the treated group fed the arabinogalactan product had one case in 756 calf days.

Overall performance of calves on growth rate and starter intake was adequate and normal for preweaned baby calves. No unusual health conditions were observed and calves remained in excellent health throughout the trial. The arabinogalactan product did not interfere with the palatability and acceptability of the milk. The data gathered to date is limited but suggests that this (natural) wood product has possibilities as a preventative for calfhood scours, one of the main diseases of baby calves.

Dairy Producers Teaming Up to Save Their Farms

Mike Schommer, Minnesota
Department of Agriculture

Minnesota farmers have long prided themselves on their stability and self-sufficiency, but that image is increasingly belied by the fact that the state's dairy producers are going out of business at a rate of three a day.

Minnesota Department of Agriculture dairy specialist Katy Kulesa is as alarmed as anyone by the exodus of farmers from the state's dairy industry. Looking at the economics of the situation, however, she is not surprised.

"Minnesota has always cultivated an image as a progressive, strong agricultural state, and for the most part we are exactly that," she said. "But I was surprised when I discovered that our dairy farms are nowhere near as productive as those in many other parts of the country."

In recent years, Minnesota has drifted toward the mediocre middle when it comes to dairy production per cow. While states such as California and Washington averaged more than 20,000 pounds of milk per cow in 1997, Minnesota averaged only 15,800 pounds per cow. That put the state well behind the national average of 16,900 pounds per cow, and placed Minnesota behind such non-dairy states as North Carolina, Kansas and Alaska.

While the numbers are discouraging, there is still reason for hope. The state has a favorable climate for growing high-quality feed for dairy cattle, meaning feed costs – and therefore production costs – in the Upper Midwest are significantly lower than costs in other regions. At the same time, the state has managed to retain one of the world's most efficient and highest quality dairy processing infrastructures.

With these advantages in mind, people around the state became convinced that it was possible to address the problems facing Minnesota's dairy industry by working with producers to increase the productivity of their cows and their farms. That's where the Dairy Diagnostic Program entered the picture.

Minnesota's Dairy Diagnostic Program actually is a group of five programs around the state through which farmers can assemble a group of experts to help them look at specific parts of their farm and find ways to improve profitability and productivity. The programs are voluntary, and farmers can hand pick experts for their team. A typical team might include an extension educator, a banker, a veterinarian, and a fellow farmer.

The diagnostic team concept started in the early 1990s through an educational outreach program for Carver county's University of Minnesota Extension office. The teams were originally designed to assist a small number of farmers whose operations had been selected by the extension office to serve as demonstration sites. These farmers received advice on how to make their farm more efficient and profitable. Other producers could then visit the demonstration farm to see how things were done, and perhaps go back to their own farm and implement some of the techniques.

By 1996, the concept caught the eye of the State Legislature. Legislators appropriated $150,000 to expand the program, allowing more farmers to arrange for the services of a diagnostic team. As the program expanded and the success stories came back to state leaders, excitement about the program grew. Encouraged by this success, the Legislature recently appropriated $1 million to be distributed to the programs around the state to expand the program even further.

"The program is really about helping farmers see their strengths and helping them see what adjustments they can make to get where they want to be," Kulesa said. "I think legislators saw how much these teams were helping farmers, and they wanted to let more farmers receive that help."

Dave Weinand, a graduate research assistant at the University of Minnesota, was one of the early proponents of the dairy diagnostic team concept. He said the teams are most effective at fine-tuning an operation rather than overhauling one.

"These teams are not designed for farmers with a lot of trouble, although every farmer can benefit from putting together a team," Weinand said. "Fine-tuning the operation can add to the farmer's bottom line and his or her quality of life."

According to Weinand, the most common recommendations teams make to farmers involve reducing operating costs and improving record keeping. Sound record keeping helps a farmer get a better idea of the operation's strengths and weaknesses, and for this reason, it is often the first step to making improvements.

"The more well-defined the bookkeeping is, the easier it is to spot things (to improve)," Weinand explained.

The cost the farmer pays for assembling a dairy diagnostic team depends on which of the state's five programs the producer participates in. According to Kulesa, the price is typically between $100 and $200. For Carver county dairy farmer Rick Haler and the hundreds of others helped by the diagnostic teams, the cost is well worth it.

"When you work with your dairy herd every day, it's easy to lose sight of the little things that can make a big difference in production, herd health, and ultimately the bottom line," Haler said. "It's a real asset to have top-notch people to refer to when new or difficult situations arise."

Alternative dairy feeding programs

There are many different crops or feeds that can be fed to dairy cows. This gives one a tremendous flexibility in putting together an economical, successful feeding program. The dairy cow is also a flexible creature and can adapt to virtually unlimited combinations to meet her nutritional requirements for high production.

Many types of forages can be fed to dairy cattle but the key is quality forage. Milking cows especially will respond to high quality forage which is usually related to stage of maturity. The higher quality not only provides more nutrients but influences the amount of intake in a positive direction. Less grain is required as well if higher quality forage is fed.

A balanced ration that contains all the major nutrients is primary for high milk production. This includes protein, fiber, energy, proper moisture, minerals – especially phosphorus and calcium – all in a palatable, acceptable form with proper particle size to get the cow to consume the maximum. The more the cow intakes, the more potential production results. A cow is like a factory – more raw materials going in results in greater end product produced. Underfeeding is never profitable. There is no point of diminishing returns with a high producing cow. The last few pounds of milk are produced more efficiently than the first few pounds. A cow has to take care of her maintenance, growth and reproduction as well as milk production. Once the first three requirements are satisfied the balance of the feed all goes to producing milk, thus the greater efficiency for the extra milk produced.

Stage of lactation is one of the more important factors to consider in feeding. Early lactation demands higher protein levels in the ration and higher forage quality to maximize production. Legume forage during this stage of lactation is better than grass forage. Grass is lower in protein and tends to lower dry matter intake in a cow and is more suitable for late lactation cows, dry cows and yearling replacement heifers.

Generally, 40 to 50% of the ration for high producing cows consists of concentrates which includes various grains, protein supplements along with vitamins and minerals. Price of concentrates vary tremendously and selection of least cost feeds is one of the most important decisions for dairymen. Since feed is the most costly item in dairying, it is also the area where the potential of saving money is the greatest. The concentrate which is mostly grain or grain byproduct must fulfill the energy deficit left by the forage. This deficit is higher with early lactation cows and higher producers. Overfeeding energy will tend to put too much fat on lower producers and is a waste of money. Underfeeding energy will cause good producers to lose weight and reduce production particularly over time. For a short period of time a cow can use it's body fat reserves as a partial source of energy.

In summary, the amount of concentrate that a cow should receive depends on quality of forage fed, milk produced along with protein and milk fat content, stage of lactation and pregnancy, age of cow and body condition (thin or fat) of individual cows. Many times various byproduct feeds are available which can lower the cost of the concentrate portion of the ration substantially. Care needs to be given, however, that these byproduct feeds will supply the needed nutrients, in the right proportion. Added supplementation may be necessary to meet the cow's requirements and needs to produce at a maximum level at the various stages of lactation. Balanced rations based on least nutrient cost will in the end result in greatest return over feed cost and be the most profitable for the dairyman.

Cow milkers make a difference

George D. Marx
University of Minnesota
Crookston

Milker operators do make a difference in the amount of milk they can obtain from dairy cows. Cows will give more milk for some individuals than for others. One of the lactation studies we conducted at the University of Minnesota a few years ago compared four different milking machine operators.

The top milker obtained 3.4% more milk than the lowest milker operator obtained and the other two milkers obtained 1.5% more than then lowest amount but 1.9% less than the milker operator obtaining the most milk. These tests were conducted with 320 milkings and utilized 20 cows in the study. This relates to two pounds more of milk per cow per day for cows producing 60 pounds milk average in favor of the top milker operator.

Another component of this experiment involved the collection of complementary milk sometimes referred to as residual milk. This is the milk left in the cow's udder after completion of normal milking and can be extracted with oxytocin. The top milker left the least amount of residual milk (7.7%) in the udder as can be expected. The milker obtaining the least amount of milk left 10.3% of the milk in the udder. Under normal conditions, there is always some residual milk left in the udder which can range from 5 to 15%.

A cow can hold back her milk and will not "let down" her milk under certain conditions. A startled or frightened cow produces adrenaline which does not allow the mammary gland alveoli muscles to contract to eject milk into the milk ducts for harvesting by the milking machine. This happens if the cow is excited by a barking dog, unfamiliar noises or under stress conditions. Some cows at calving time have the ability to save milk for the calf and will not let down their milk for the milker or milking equipment. This is one of the reasons dairy calves are taken away from their mother shortly after birth, otherwise in many cases if the cow sees the calf or hears it bawl, she will not let down all her milk for the milker operator.

Cows have a personality and can read their caretakers and milkers. Animals prefer TLC (tender loving care) and can detect other than ideal care. Cows will respond negatively to people who are nervous around them, those that have hit or hurt them, yell at them, even to veterinarians that have given them a shot or performed some uncomfortable procedure such as dehorning or surgical procedure.

In studying animal behavior, one can detect the differences in the way cows respond to different people, especially at milking time. Cows feel comfortable with a person who is quiet and moves at ease and is steady. These people are known to have "cow sense" and like to work and be around cattle. On the other hand, there are individuals who do not like cattle, do not like their job, are tense and unpredictable in their motions and demeanor, which a cow can sense, and does not like. This makes cows nervous and jumpy which creates conditions for reduced milk production.

Some cows are known to be pro-female or pro-male; they prefer either men or women. This may be a result of their past experiences with certain caretakers who may have abused them, spoken in a rough loud voice or upset the cow sometime in the past.

Cows are a creature of habit and like to have the same easy routine all the time. Production can drop with the wrong people doing the milking. In closing, one of the reasons for writing this article had to do with a communication from a fellow dairyman. He said that with one of his milking machine operators, the bulk tank would show a drop of 800 pounds each time this individual was on milking duty. This, along with our own research data and searching the Internet via the world wide web, relates many experiences of dairymen indicating a big difference in production depending on who is doing the milking.

hit, an act Larry is still grateful for.

Bakke Carriage Service has participated in a few parades and is committed to the American Festival parade in Thief River Falls next weekend. Larry, however, says, "I'm not wild about parades." While he obviously loves horses, he respects them and the fact that they're not always predictable. "In a parade," Larry says, "there are people in front of you, behind you and on both sides. There's no way out."

The Bakke stable includes Dakota, a six-year-old Morgan, Sassy, a 12-year old paint; Sassy's three-year-old off-spring, Sugar, and Magic, a one-and-one-half-year-old palomino that belongs to daughter Jessie. Larry also boards an Arabian for another horse owner. During the flood last spring, the Bakke farm boarded nine horses for owners in the Grand Forks area.

Horses are trained to drive, and some are easier to train than others. "Some pick it up quickly," Larry says, and when it comes to his own team, he adds, "One was quick, and the other was stubborn." Young Sugar is coming along nicely but hasn't been exposed to traffic yet.

"We'll be making a trip into Newfolden one day soon," Larry says.

For wintertime use, Larry built a sleigh and builds them for others as well. "I make a mean cutter," he says. Twice last winter Bakke Carriage Service provided sleigh rides at Old Mill State Park, and for the second year, Larry sold Christmas trees at the farm.

After purchasing and picking up trees in Canada, Larry "planted" them in a wooded area about a quarter-mile from his building site. A sleigh ride takes customers to the woods to choose a tree. Once the selection is made, the tree is loaded on the back of the sleigh and the trip is made back to the farm. Larry's Christmas tree business increased significantly in 1997 over 1996, and he is hoping that it will continue to grow and become a tradition for families. Bells, strung over the horses, help create the mood and add to the enjoyment of the ride. One of Larry's two sets of bells belonged to his father, and the other he picked up at a second-hand store. Larry has some other interesting, but secretive, ideas for future Christmas business.

Outgoing and friendly, Larry can be described as a "people person," and meeting new people is one of the things he enjoys most about his carriage service.

The business, however, is not without a lot of hard work. On the day of an event, Larry and Jessie are up early washing and grooming the horses and preparing for the trip. The animals and gear are loaded on a truck, and the carriage is hitched up behind.

While fees for his services vary, a typical wedding in the Thief River Falls area costs about $125. Larry says, "It's well worth the cost." The telephone number for Bakke Carriage Service is (218) 874-7325.

A carriage ride is a delightful outdoor experience. The steady rhythmic gait of the horses is relaxing, easily transporting one to another place and time. Elderly folks are taken back to "the good old days." In addition to the fun of it, a carriage ride gives children an idea of what life was like years ago. Instead of leading a procession of honking horns and squealing tires, newlyweds can go for a ride in elegant, old-world style.

Summer or winter, spring or fall, whatever the occasion, Bakke Carriage Service can help create memories — memories that will last a lifetime.

MN Unemployment rate hits dramatic low

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 2.5 percent in April, the lowest on record for the state. This rate is down from 2.9 percent in March and under last year's 3.5 percent.

The state's unadjusted unemployment rate was 2.7 percent in April, down from last month's 3.2 and also down from last year's 3.6 percent. This rate is a record low for April. Warm weather has allowed an early start in agriculture and construction in addition to growth in other industries.

All the regions in the state experienced a decrease in average unemployment in April. The highest rate, 6.2 percent, was in the region around Bagley and Brainerd (Region 2), down from 7.2 percent in March and down from 8.8 percent a year ago. The lowest rate, 1.9 percent, continues to belong to the seven-county Twin Cities region (Region 11). It is down from 2.0 percent in March and 2.3 percent a year ago.

In Region 1, which includes the counties of Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau, the rate of unemployment dropped from 6.4 percent in March to 5.2 percent in April. Last year at the same time, the unemployment rate was 8.4 percent. Of the counties in Region 1, the lowest unemployment rate was recorded in Roseau county, which recorded an unadjusted unemployment rate of 3.8 percent, compared to 4.5 percent in March and 7.1 percent in April of 1997. The highest rate of unemployment in Region 1, was recorded in Marshall county, which recorded an unemployment rate of 10.2 percent, compared to 13.0 percent in March, and 15.3 percent in April of 1997. The unemployment rate in the remaining counties was 5.4 percent for Kittson county, 6.0 percent for Norman county, 5.3 percent for Pennington county, 4.0 percent for Polk county, and 7.6 percent for Red Lake county.

According to the Minnesota Employment Review, most of the individual counties are down from March. Only Koochiching and Lake of the Woods counties are higher. Clearwater maintains the distinction of having the highest unemployment rate but, at April's 13.5 percent, it is down from 16.9 percent in March. The only larger drop was Red Lake County at 7.6 percent, down from 11.2 percent in March. The lowest county is Dakota at 1.6 percent, down from 1.9 percent in March. There are six other counties with unemployment rates under 2 percent: Nicollet (1.9), Carver (1.8), Hennepin (1.8), Wilkin (1.8), Olmsted (1.7) and Washington county at 1.7 percent.

New Vehicles on Sale until July 7th!

16 DAYS REMAINING!!!

Hallock, MN - C & M Ford Sales on Highway 75 North is at it again! They will attempt to reduce all of their 1998 inventory in 16 days.

This ultimate new vehicle event begins June 22 at 7:00 a.m. and will end July 7th at 6:00 p.m.

Owner Paul Blomquist explained that since our last new vehicle sale, C & M Ford's new vehicle inventory has increased to levels beyond their capacity. "It's time to sell all of our new inventory so that we can make room for our 1999 inventories coming in," explained Mr. Blomquist.

"Last week, we delivered 16 new vehicles. One customer saved $3,168 in interest alone because of 1.9% financing," explained Marla Hanson, business manager.

"This innovative approach to liquidating new vehicles should make it easy and quick for anybody to get a great car, without hail damage at a low price, without any hassle," Assistant Manager, Brad Hemmes pointed out.

"Availability is a concern at most dealerships, but not at C & M Ford. Last year, we dealer traded in 63 new vehicles, the furthest was from New Orleans. We go to any degree to find a vehicle that meets your meets," said Mr. Blomquist.

"Timing is critical. Ford will no longer provide carryover allowance on their vehicles, so do not anticipate special incentives this fall on older models. Ford is putting all their incentive monies, in now, to move the inventory, today, not this fall," explained Mr. Blomquist.

"Therefore, take advantage of .9% on Taurus, Sable, Escort, 2x2, Contour, Ranger, Tracer, Mystique and 1.9% on all F-Series pickups under 8500GVW, Windstars, Explorers and up to $750 in rebates on the popular Expedition."

"With 16 days remaining, C & M Ford will offer their entire new vehicle inventory at substantial savings," said Mr. Blomquist.

C & M Ford will display all their new inventory conveniently off Highway 75 North. We will be serving refreshments from 7:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Saturday, we will be open from 7:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m.

New fairgrounds building financed by Garden Clubs

Baudette - Construction began this week on a new 48 by 72-foot building at the Lake of the Woods fairgrounds. The building will house crops, horticulture and floriculture displays and a few commercial exhibits. The structure replaces the old horse barn and is being financed by the Williams Gardeners of Williams and the North Star Garden Club of Baudette. The Northern Light

East Grand Forks - While the East Grand Forks Police Department has hauled in a lot of shady characters over the years, last week's guest may have been the strangest. A real jail bird, a cockatiel, was brought in after it was found walking down a sidewalk on the south end of town, apparently being chased by a tomcat.

The bird was kept in the office at the Police Department before the secretary/dispatcher could take it home to care for it. The gray, yellow and white bird has an ID bracelet with a band number attached to its leg. Anyone identifying the number can free the jailbird. The Exponent

Life squirrely at Grafton residence

Grafton, ND - Things have been a little nuts at the home of Jeff and Shelley McCann since two baby squirrels showed up in their driveway on June 9.

The McCann's nine and 11-year-old sons have helped feed the squirrels, named Chunk and Super Crunch. They are fed a formula of milk, egg yolk and vegetable oil every three or four hours through a syringe. The recipe was recommended by a Park River veterinarian who is also caring for four motherless infant squirrels. He estimated that the McCann squirrels were about a week old when they were found. Walsh County Record

Crookston umpire dreams of the majors

Crookston - Players in the Northwoods League have dreams of making the major leagues and its no different for umpire Will Melbye.

The 19-year-old Crookston man spent $3,000 recently to learn his trade at the five-week Joe Brinkman Umpiring School in Cocoa Beach, FL.

The Northwoods League is far removed from the big time. As an umpire with the league Melbye earns $200 a week, has just one night off during the 64-game season and sleeps in three or four different motels each week from Wausau, WI to Waterloo, IA. Crookston Daily Times

Work release dormitory situation is explained

Jeff Sjoquist, architect for YHR Partners, the firm hired by Pennington County, explains various aspects of the proposed minimum security facility in the former American Legion building. Sjoquist presented a cost estimate of $425,000 to the county board. He was among the presenters at the first public meeting on the work release dormitory. Another public meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday, July 1, at the Heritage Community Center.

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Tuesday night at Heritage Community Center, local officials explained to a room filled with local elected officials and three citizens the case for a work release dormitory for minimum risk prisoners in Thief River Falls.

Over 61 percent of voters approved a bond issue for the 14-bed Pennington County Law Enforcement Center in 1974. At that time, explained Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin there were no sentencing guidelines.

Speaking only for Dave Olin, Pennington County Attorney, Olin said sentencing guidelines have had a significant impact on the local jail. During 1977, he remembers an individual being sent to a state prison for possession of three ounces of marijuana. Now, because of sentencing guidelines, a person has to have six felony points, or be convicted of up to 10 crimes, before being sent to a state prison.

Guidelines also say that many more crimes, such as driving while intoxicated violations and domestic assault convictions, should carry minimum sentences. All of those prisoners are held in the local jail.

Olin said in 1977 his office handled 157 cases, 66 of which were felonies. In 1997, his office handled 425 cases, of which 172 were felonies, 117 gross misdemeanors and 136 misdemeanors.

He also pointed out some important elements to the State contract to hold eight State Prisoners, including the fact that the current contract expires on June 30.

• The contract allows the sheriff, county attorney and police chief the right to review who is allowed to serve their time in the jail.

• The contract allows that the state will take back any prisoner who is a discipline problem.

• And, the contract allows either party the right to terminate upon a 30 day notice.

Olin said when he first heard of the proposal he told the county board not to expect it to be a money making proposition.

The Sheriff's Reasons

The Pennington County jail was designed to house 14 prisoners. By 1995, the county had requested and received a variance from the state to operate a 25 bed facility. Sheriff Gerald Moe said he brought the proposal for a minimum security facility before the county board. They were active, supportive and open minded, he said.

Statistics show that in 1994, the jail housed 595 prisoners, and they served 6,621 days in jail. By 1997 the facility housed 710 prisoners, who served 7,747 days in jail. What's missing from the equation is the number of days served and saved by STS. In 1994, prisoners completed 34,797 hours on STS. This saved 1,562 days of jail time, at a value of $198,310. In 1997, prisoners completed 62,636 hours on STS, saved 2,539 jail days, and had a total value of $317,690.

Who are the prisoners staying at the local jail? A six month review during 1997 shows that 20 percent of the population (95) were out of county prisoners. Those numbers include state prisoners, State Patrol arrests, and local residents serving time for violating laws in other counties. Forty-five percent of the population (171) were police department prisoners. Thirty-five percent of the prisoners (128) were sheriff department prisoners. By reviewing the number of days served, they came up with an average, though somewhat misleading because there are larger variables. The average number of days served was 8.35 days.

What would happen if the county decided to do nothing and house its prisoners at other facilities? Moe said the closest facility with available space would be the Ottertail facility in Fergus Falls. A low estimate of the number of prisoners

Bids on dredging of river rejected

Bids on dredging the reservoir in Thief River Falls to remove sediment and weeds came in higher than the engineer's estimate. Tuesday night, the Thief River Falls city council received the information.

Public Works Director Ron Lindberg said it now looks like these bids will be rejected, and the project "re-scoped". City representatives met with Red Lake Watershed District board members on Thursday to discuss options.

There was some speculation as to why the bids came in higher than anticipated. Some felt that the fact that not all the permits had been obtained was significant.

The council asked that Lindberg convey the council's interest in proceeding with the project. They indicated that they hope some work can begin this year.

There were two bidders on the project. The low bid was offered by J.F. Brennan Co., Inc., for $1,475,589.10. The engineer's estimate was $1,030,455.

During a very short council meeting Tuesday, considerable discussion was devoted to filling vacant positions. The debate began with a recommendation to fill the position of off-sale supervisor/clerk at the Falls Liquor store. It was recommended that the city post the position internally first, and then advertise if necessary.

Mayor Mark Borsheim asked why the position wouldn't be offered to category II employees before advertising. Turning over the position to a category II position would save the city from having to go through the interview process. Borsheim noted correctly, that similar positions had been offered to category II employees before, specifically by the police department recently.

The council decided to amend the recommendation, eliminating advertising after posting internally. The policy of posting vacant positions, was referred to the Administrative Services committee.

In other business, the council approved a permit for beer in L.B. Hartz Park and campground from noon to 10 p.m. on July 11 for the Gaylene Schmitz party; the council approved a resolution authorizing the issuance and fixing the form and details and security for $1,016,617 general obligation sewer revenue bonds, and approved a resolution to submit a grant request for a Mighty Kids Grant in the amount of $20,000 which would match a $20,000 pledge from the city (the grant money would be used to construct a restroom and concession stand at the new Multi-Events Complex.)

Heather Torstveit is Pennington County Dairy Princess for 1998

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Reigning as Pennington County Dairy Princess for 1998-99 is 18-year-old Heather Torstveit, a 1998 graduate of Lincoln high school and the daughter of Herb and Darlene Torstveit of St. Hilaire.

Crowned May 13 at a combined event with Red Lake County at the Third Base restaurant in Brooks, Heather participated in the Region 1 Dairy Princess contest in Thief River Falls June 13. She is joining in the festivities of the 49th annual Northwest Dairy Day today (Saturday, June 27) at the fairgrounds in Thief River Falls, will be introduced at the Miss Thief River Falls pageant tonight and ride in the parade for An American Festival here on Sunday.

Heather grew up on the dairy farm which was homesteaded by her great-grandfather Halvor Torstveit in 1883, about five miles east of St. Hilaire. There were always dairy cattle on the farm when it was operated by her grandfather, Melvin Torstveit, and her parents have carried on the dairying tradition. The family presently includes Heather, her 13-year-old sister Allyson and seven-year-old brother Seth.

Presently the Torstveit herd of grade Holstein has 30 head milking and about another 30 head of dry cows and youngstock. On DHIA test with the Red Lake-Pennington association, the herd averages between 17,000 and 18,000 pounds

10-year-old boy charged with arson

Bagley - A 10-year-old boy has been charged with second degree arson and theft for allegedly setting fire to the Ben Franklin Store in Bagley June 8.

The youth is believed to have been hiding in the store's basement when the owner closed the store at the end of the day. The boy allegedly started the fire by lighting some straw wreaths and then stole $300 in cash and coins along with about $200 worth of merchandise. The store is a total loss. The youth is currently being held at the Northwest Minnesota Juvenile Training Center. The Pioneer

Spray plane crashes in rural Marshall Co.

Jack Elliot, flying for Elliot Farm Air of Drayton, ND, was injured in a spray plane accident Tuesday in rural Marshall county.

Marshall County Sheriff's department received a report of a spray plane accident in Eagle Point township at 3:09 p.m. Tuesday, June 23. The spray plane, which was working in the area, apparently hit a power line and crashed. The pilot, Jack Elliot, was transported by Stephen Ambulance to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, ND, with leg injuries.

According to officials at Altru Hospital Wednesday morning, Elliot was listed in serious condition.

The accident remains under investigation by the Marshall County Sheriff's department and the FAA. The Stephen Ambulance and Fire and Drayton Ambulance and Fire all responded to the scene.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Maybe you're having company this weekend for the big American Festival or a picnic to celebrate the Fourth of July next weekend. Here are some recipes you and your guests will love.

This is a great salad to make ahead and have on hand in the fridge - it will tang up a cassecole, simple sandwiches or barbecued burgers, steaks or anything in betwren:

BLACK AND WHITE BEAN SALAD

1 (15 ounce) can black beans, drained and rinsed
1 (15 ounce) can white kidney beans, drained and rinsed
1/2 cup chopped cucumber
1/2 cup chopped sweet red pepper
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup minced fresh cilantro or parsley
1/3 cup cider or red wine vinegar
1/4 cup olive or vegetable oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/8 teaspoon pepper

In large bowl, combine beans, cucumber, red pepper, onion and cilantro

In small bowl, whisk vinegar, oil and seasonings. Pour this over beans and toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve.

(One half-cup serving prepared without salt equals 187 calories, 219 mg sodium 0 cholesterol, 26 gm carbohydrate, 9 gm protein, 5 gm fat.)

This delicious potato dish will be great company for any type of meat - and you make it the night before you need it. It serves 24, so cut recipe in half if you aren't serving a big bunch:

HASH BROWN BAKE

(Half recipe measurements are in parentheses)
7 cups water (3 1/2)
2 (32 ounce) packages frozen Southern-style hash brown potatoes (1 package)
2 (8 ounce) packages cream cheese, softened (1 package)
4 eggs (2)
2 teaspoons minced chives (1 tsp)
1 1/4 teaspoons salt (3/4 tsp)
1/2 teaspoon pepper (1/4 tsp)
1/4 cup bread crumbs (1/8)
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese (1/8)
3 tablespoons melted butter (1 1/2 T)

In Dutch oven, bring water and potatoes to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer until potatoes are tender, about 12 minutes. Drain.

Place potatoes in mixing bowl and beat on low until mashed. Add cream cheese, eggs, chives, salt and pepper and mix well. Place mixture in two greased 2 quart baking dishes.

Combine bread crumbs, Parmesan and butter. Sprinkle over potatoes. Cover and refrigerate overnight.

Remove from fridge 30 minutes before baking. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 50-60 minutes or until top is browned and potatoes are heated through. Serves 24.

And here's another side dish recipe that will tang up whatever you decide to serve your guests:

CORN SALSA

1 (15 1/4 ounce) can whole kernel corn, drained
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped sweet red pepper
1/2 cup chopped red onion
1 medium tomato, chopped
1/4 cup sliced ripe olives
2 tablespoons chopped pickled jalapeno peppers
1 teaspoon pickled jalapeno pepper juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons cider or red wine vinegar
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients in large bowl and cover and chill for several hours.

Here's a recipe for barbecued ribs with very little fuss - and you can make them inside if it rains:

RIBS WITH PLUM SAUCE

5 to 6 pounds pork spareribs
3/4 cup soy sauce
3/4 cup plum jam or apricot preserves
3/4 cup honey
2 to 3 cloves garlic, minced

Cut ribs into serving-sized pieces. Place with bone side own on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Cover and bake at 350 for 1 hour or until ribs are tender. Drain fat.

Combine remaining ingredients and brush some of the sauce over ribs. Bake at 350 degrees in oven, or grill over medium heat, uncovered for 30 minutes, brushing occasionally with sauce.

What feast would be complete without a special bread - this one is so easy and so delicious, and it will taste wonderful with just about anything, even toasted and topped with plain butter:

YOGURT HERB BREAD

5 1/2 to 6 1/2 cups flour
2 packages active dry yeast
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup water
1 cup (8 ounces) plain yogurt
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 teaspoon dill weed
1/2 teaspoon dried chives
1/4 teaspoon each of dried oregano, thyme and basil

In large bowl, combine 2 1/2 cups flour, yeast, sugar and salt.

In small saucepan, heat water and yogurt to 120 - 130 degrees. Add to flour mixture. Mix well.

Add oil, herbs and enough remaining flour to form a stiff dough.

Turn onto floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic, 6-8 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down and turn out and shape into 2 loaves. Place in greased 9x4 loaf pans, cover and let rise until doubled, about an hour.

Bake at 375 degrees for 35-40 minutes or until golden.

Area residents competed in Grandma's Marathon

Several local residents competed in the 22nd running of Grandma's Marathon on Saturday, June 20. Simon Peter of Tanzania won the event in 2:12:47, the fastest time at the event since 1985. Yelena Plastinina, 34 of Ukraine, was the top woman finisher with a personal record of 2:35:46.

The start time temperature of 57 degrees dropped to 54 degrees by the time the first of 5,595 finishers crossed the line. Fog prevailed throughout the race with occasional light rain.

Area runners competing in the event included: Kent Warne, 3:27:16, and his wife Lori Warne, 4:06:11, of Newfolden; Monte Fjosne of Karlstad, 3:28:17; Russell Sorenson of Roseau, 3:52:56; and Jeanette Reierson of Newfolden, 5:54:46.

MN State Fair seeks applicants for 50 year award

Minnesota State Fair is currently seeking applicants for the 50 Year Award, honoring long-time participants in the Great Minnesota Get-Together. The '98 State Fair runs August 27 through Labor Day, September 7.

Those eligible for the award include competitive and commercial exhibitors, concessionaire, State Fair employees and anyone who has had an active association with the fair for at least 50 years. The 50 Year Award program started in 1979, since then, 151 people have received recognition.

People who qualify for the award this year will be presented with a commemorative plaque at 4:30 p.m Monday, August 31, at the Heritage Square Stage. That day is the first of two Seniors and Kids Days at the fair, when people 65 and over and kids 5-12 will be admitted for $2.

Those who wish to apply for the award should write to: 50 Year Award, Minnesota State Fair, 1265 Snelling Ave. N., St. Paul, MN 55108-3099; phone (612) 642-2253; e-mail fairinfo@statefair.gen.mn.us

Previous winners should not reapply.

Courage Day Camp takes applications for participation

Courage Day Camp will be conducted at Hartz Park in Thief River Falls from August 3 to August 14, according to Diane Freeman, director. She may be contacted for information, eligibility requirements or application forms at 681-7129.

Courage Day Camp gives young people ages five to 14 with physical disabilities or speech, vision or hearing impairments an opportunity to enjoy outdoor camping experiences close to home. Directed by trained staff from the community, day camps offer varied outdoor activities which take advantage of the natural sites and recreational resources in each area.

Camp activities are planned so participating children can develop an appreciation for the outdoors, grow in independence, learn the give-and-take of group experiences, and have fun.

Program on Dragonflies at Rydell refuge

Mosquito hawks to the rescue! That may be the call that we should be putting out as we invite the dragonfly to help us combat the hordes of mosquitoes that go along with our recent wet weather. Dragonflies earned the name "mosquito hawk" due to their ability to snatch mosquitoes in midair as they forage for food. Learn more about dragonflies at a public program that features this very beneficial insect on Sunday, June 28, at 2 p.m. at the Rydell Refuge Visitor's Center.

Dr. Janet Rith from Bemidji will be presenting the program which will include fun facts about this amazing aerial acrobat. Janet has studies dragonflies for years and is now helping to establish a citizen monitoring network for dragonflies. Dragonflies can be important as an indicator species for environmental quality. You can find out how you can be involved in this project or just find out more information about dragonflies in general at the Sunday program.

Here's a sample of some dragonfly information: Did you know that dragonflies may overwinter from one to four years as aquatic larvae or nymphs before hatching into terrestrial flying adults. The adult lifespan is only from a few weeks to a few months. Dragonflies symbolized "whirlwind, swiftness, and activity to Native Americans with the Navaho culture symbolizing dragonflies with "pure water".

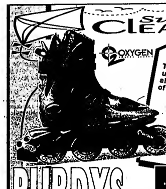
Dragonfly's common family name "darner" probably arises from the myth that dragonflies use their long needle-like abdomens to sew shut the mouths of misbehaving children. But children and adults are encouraged to come to this fun program at 2 p.m., Sunday, June 28, at the Rydell Refuge and ask lots of questions without fear of having their mouths sewn shut. The Refuge is open on Sunday afternoons from 1 to 5 p.m. for visitors to hike the trails and look over the exhibits at the Visitor's Center.

This is a joint program of the Maple Lake Improvement District, the Union Lake Sarah Improvement District, and Friends of the Rydell Refuge Association. To get to the Rydell Refuge go three miles east of Mentor or three miles west of Erskine on U.S. Highway 2 and turn south on Polk County 210. Follow 210 about 2.5 miles south to the large entrance sign and main gate of the refuge. If arriving from the south, turn north off of Polk County 41 onto Polk County 210 and go about 3.5 miles north and turn left at the refuge entrance sign. For more information call Wayne Goeken at 218-574-2622.

Clearbrook holds Summerfest Celebration June 25-28

The City of Clearbrook will host a four-day Summerfest Celebration complete with bean feed, raffles, kid's games, softball, rock, country and old time dances, Rejoice Fest and many other fun activities.

Events began Thursday, June 25 with Family Night at the high school gym. Friday's activities began with a free bean feed and a dance topped off activities Friday evening. The event featured Billy D and the Crystals.



The Summerfest softball tournament begins at 10 a.m. on Saturday at Kloster park. At 10 a.m. the Senior Citizens Center opens and begins serving coffee and bars until 3 p.m. The center will also hold a raffle and drawing. The Soap Box Derby begins at 2 p.m. on North Main. The Summerfest Community Theater will also repeat a performance of "Alice in Wonderland" at the Roxy beginning at 7 p.m. Billy D and the Crystals will again perform from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Big Top. The dance is open to all ages.

At 8 a.m on Sunday, June 28, the softball tournament begins at Kloster Park. A Rejoice Fest sponsored by Cornerstone Outreach Mission will be held at the Roxy Theater in Clearbrook beginning at 7 p.m. Don't miss the Wes Westrum Baseball Museum or the men's two-day slow pitch softball tournaments in Kloster Park on Saturday and Sunday.

There will be lots of fun to be had at the 1998 Clearbrook Summerfest. Take in a game, go swimming in the pool, enjoy some good food, or just get together with friends, but get out and enjoy four big days of fun and festivities beginning June 25 in Clearbrook.

When Public Benefits, Public Should Pay

Edwin Halvorson of rural Trail provides a classic example of how government effectively has taken away individual rights regarding private property. He has been trying for years to find a way out of his dilemma to no avail. While our nation prides itself in the promise of freedom for all, Halvorson sees that promise as an illusion rather than reality.

Had he gone ahead with his original plans 16 years ago, he might have avoided at least part of his present problem. But he yielded to outside influences and became a victim of circumstance. Sadly, he is not the only person who has been similarly affected by governmental changes.

Back in 1982 Halvorson wanted to drain a wetland area on his farm in Section 15 of Hickory township. Even that long ago, a permit to drain was required from the Red Lake Watershed District because the wetland was over five acres in size. It was inspected by watershed district engineer Charles Anderson whose report to the board noted that about half of Section 15 consisted of wetlands and the upland areas included woods, grasslands and small cultivated fields.

"The situation was discussed with the landowner, Mr. Halvorson," Anderson wrote. "I believe that he understands the public benefits of the present land use. However, he is compelled by economic reasons to drain the land for agriculture."

Anderson added that although it was his opinion that the land should not be drained, but he said he did not find sufficient grounds to recommend denial of the permit. He recommended that the district or other agencies explore the possibilities of preserving the area for its wildlife and flood control values. On May 18, 1982, Halvorson was issued Permit No. 82019 to drain the wetland.

On Sept. 27, 1982, Halvorson received a letter from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources noting the department had received his permit application to "drain a portion of wetland 57-18 as located on your property in the N 1/2 of Section 15, T152N, R39W, Pennington county." It cited wetland law, noted that a field inspection had been made and that "your application for drainage of wetland 57-18 is denied."

After discussion and negotiation, Halvorson accepted an offer by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources to enroll 182.3 acres in the State Water Bank Program. He was told this was a 10-year contract that was renewable for a 30-year period. Total value of the 182.3 acres was appraised at $117,040—including 179.6 acres classified as tillable and valued at $650 per acre. A deduction of $5,380—the estimated cost to drain the wetland—was made from the total, leaving a market value of $111,600. Annual payment by the State to Halvorson for the 10-year contract starting in 1983 was established at $5,580 or five percent of the appraised market value. We doubt the people of the State of Minnesota received $55,800 of value over 10 years of that contract, but that's another subject.

Halvorson was satisfied with the payment. The DNR was satisfied with the contract. The public's interest in the private wetland—whatever that might be—was preserved. Peace prevailed.

On June 5, 1992, Halvorson received a note from Bruce Gerbig, Protected Waters Supervisor of the DNR, stating that a representative of the department would be inspecting the wetland "to monitor the interest the State of Minnesota has in this wetland." It also stated: "Since your enrollment in the State Water Bank Program will be expiring at the end of this year, you should be aware that provisions of the 1991 Wetland Conservation Act prohibits renewal of your existing contract. Expiration of your contract does not authorize you to drain your wetland ..."

Since the State Water Bank contract expired in 1992, Halvorson has been left without income from his property. He is prohibited from draining it for agriculture. Because it was in the State Water Bank program, it has no crop history and is ineligible for federal Conservation Reserve Program enrollment. For all practical purposes, Mr. Halvorson is effectively denied use of his property.

But he still owns it, and as owner is required to pay taxes. His taxes on the half-section (320 acres) containing the 182.3-acre former Water Bank site total $1,056 per year. Of that total, $800 is in a ditch assessment. Two years of the ditch assessment have been paid—with 23 years remaining. Edwin is obligated over 25 years to pay $20,000 in ditch assessment—presumably to benefit land he is prohibited from draining—plus the regular taxes on the property.

Everyone we have talked to who is familiar with the situation agrees that Edwin, and others in similar positions, really have no way out of their dilemma. The laws are in place, and even if property owners expend the funds to hire attorneys and take their cases to court, it is likely they would lose on an individual basis.

It is the unfairness of the plight of people like Edwin Halvorson that has led to formation of Landowner's Rights groups seeking to restore constitutional freedoms. Few would disagree that the restrictions placed on what Edwin can do with his property constitutes a "taking" by the government. Under the Amendments to our Constitution, our governments can not take private property without "just compensation."

Edwin Halvorson should not be faced with his long-standing problem. If there is a public value to prohibiting drainage of his wetland, the public should compensate him justly for it. The Water Bank Program he accepted in good faith in 1983 did that. The 1991 Wetlands Act which terminated the Water Bank Program does not. The state legislature violated the constitution in creating this situation and should be held accountable for restoring private rights. And it shouldn't have to take an expensive court case to show legislators the error of their ways.

Dear LHS Class of '48:

On behalf of the members of the House of Representatives Committee on Education, I would like to extend our best wishes as you celebrate your 50th year class reunion. As chair of the Education Committee, it is my firm belief that public education is the lifeblood of a strong society — providing the skills and experiences necessary to build strong families, communities and civic leaders.

It is gratifying to know that our Minnesota schools, including Thief River Falls, have positively touched the lives of so many. And while individual journeys through life may have led people near and far, it is heartening to know that after 50 years, the class of 1948 will come together to celebrate the academic and life experiences shared during your years at Lincoln High.

Best Wishes,
Rep. Lyndon Carlson
Rep. District 46B

To The Editor:

We would like to say a special thank-you to the police department, sheriff's department and the firemen for the very efficient and speedy way they handled the recent fire at Fourth and Knight.

We live across the street and it was a little scary for us. We feel that it was a job very well done. Thank you again.

Sincerely,
Lloyd and Dory VeVea

Family violence discussed at June 29 meeting

Plan to attend an information meeting to strengthen the community's efforts to respond to family violence. The meeting is open to the public and will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday, June 29, in the city council meeting room at the renovated Soo Depot.

This meeting will feature Church Derry of the Gender Violence Institute. Derry, who has over 15 years of experience working with domestic violence issues, will facilitate a conversation to advance efforts to create a Coordinated Community Response in Pennington County. Derry's visit is funded by a Violence Against Woman Act (VAWA) federal grant.

Tony Starren (left), was named High Game award winner, and Ryan Bakken (right) received an award for 10 Strikes In a Row. Both were participants in the Unified Bowling League at Family Bowl in Thief River Falls last spring.

Paula Craig was named Most Improved bowler during the Unified Bowling League at Family Bawl in Thief River Falls last spring.

Special Olympics sanctions Unified Bowling League

A Unified Bowling League was held April 27 through May 19 at Family Bowl in Thief River Falls. The event featured eight teams comprised of Special Olympic Athletes and other bowlers from the community.

This league was one of the first of its kind in the state. Unified Bowling is a fairly new sanctioned sport within Special Olympics.

"The League met our highest expectations by encouraging new friendships, building confidence and uniting the community in recognizing the full potential of people with developmental disabilities," said Sally Erickson of Falls D.A.C., and treasurer of Region I Special Olympics.

The league was sponsored by Minnesota Special Olympics, Family Bowl, Falls D.A.C., Minnesota Knights of Columbus, and Universal Screenprint.

Erickson said all of the bowlers in the league have agreed to continue the league in the Fall, and proceed to regional and state competitions.

Awards were presented on May 19 to the following bowlers participating in that event: Most Improved to Paula Craig; High Game to Tony Starren and Judy Fisher; 10 Strikes in a Row to Ryan Bakken.

The first place team of Mike Burkel, Gary Tisher, Lowell Burkel and David Larson was called "The Mean Machine". The second place team of Judy Fisher, Kay Burkel, Terry Paul, and Bernie Stinson was called "Greased Lightening". The third place team of Richard Gilbert, Doug Brandt, Mary Morrissette, and Lynae Johnson, was called the "Alley Gators". The fourth place team of Debbie Larson, Jodi Vigness, Jim Goroski, and Ron Larson, was called the "Purple People Eaters". The fifth place team of Paula Craig, Michelle Wilson, Russell Lileks, and Reggie Harder, was the called the "Prowlers". The sixth place team of Virgil Cota, Adam Dallmann, Doug Stalboerger, and Run Northup, was called the "Wild Cats". The seventh place team of John Peterson, J.T. Anderson, Paul Johnson, and Leon Johnson, was called the "Strikers". The eighth place team of Tony Starren, Ryan Bakken, Mariann Peterson, and Marci Lindahl, was called the "Pin Busters".

Judy Fisher was awarded a trophy for High Game in the Unified Bowling League this spring.

TRF, Blackduck play two high-scoring games...

Legion gains twinbill split

Thief River Falls scored four times in the top of the seventh to pull out a come-from-behind 15-14 win over host Blackduck Tuesday in the second half of an American Legion baseball doubleheader.

Blackduck won the first half of the high-scoring affair, 15-11.

It was the fourth straight twinbill split for Post 117. The Mike Wienen-coached squad took a 5-8 record into Friday's scheduled Day 1 activity at the East Grand Forks Invitational.

Pitchers found themselves at a distinct disadvantage at Blackduck where 275-foot fences and a small strike zone played a major role in the stat-inflating offensive show that featured 55 runs and 52 hits.

"It was nice to come out of it with a split, but we could have won both games," noted Wienen. "There was no pitching, but it was tough with the short fences and the postage-stamp strike zone. Pop-ups were going for home runs."

Blackduck hit five homers in Game 1, with three of those coming during an eight-run sixth that wiped out a 10-6 deficit.

The see-saw nightcap was decided in the seventh when a pair of inning-opening walks set up a game-tying two-run double by Dayton Elseth, who crossed the plate with the winning run when a pop-up off the bat of Andrew Solem was dropped in the outfield for an error.

Post 117 hosts Crookston Tuesday in a 6 p.m. doubleheader at Irv Wilson Field and will play a 10 a.m. twinbill the following day against Underwood at Newman Outfield Field in Fargo.

TRF VFW team is 4-10

Thief River Falls VFW baseball team has completed its June schedule with just a 4-10 record, but coach Rick Ostby is more than satisfied with the team's progress to date.

"We're improving," said Ostby. "The last week-and-an-half we've been playing really well. We've lost some close games."

In their most recently outings, the Thief River Falls 16-year-olds lost 7-6 and 4-3 decisions to Detroit Lakes (June 15), swept Crookston 13-6, 16-3 (June 20) and split a Tuesday doubleheader against a strong Fergus Falls team when they lost the opener 8-6 but came back to win the second game 8-4 on the strength of two Duane Wolff doubles.

Wolff and Ryan Loeslie have been the team's top hitters, pointed out Ostby. Loeslie, Wolff and Mike Nelson lead the pitching staff. Defensively, Ostby said the team has been getting strong play from catcher Steve Wiseth, shortstop John Marben and left fielder Dane Jensen.

Thief River Falls will be idle until playing back-to-back doubleheaders at Irv Wilson Field Wednesday vs. Bemidji (2 and 4 p.m.) and Thursday vs. East Grand Forks (5 and 7 p.m.)

Rest of the regular season dates on the 1998 schedule will be trips to Moorhead July 6 and Detroit Lakes July 9, plus a home finale July 19 against Crookston. The VFW Ninth District tournament will be played July 24-26 at Bemidji.

New grouse hunting rule is approved for 1998 hunting season

A proposed rule that would prohibit shooting at grouse within 20 yards of any motor vehicle has been approved by an administrative law judge. The rule will be adopted by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources for grouse hunting beginning this fall.

Following public comments and hearings, Judge Phyllis A. Reha, Office of Administrative Hearings, recommended adoption of the rule based on her findings that the rule was in compliance with all legal and procedural requirements and was demonstrated to be necessary and reasonable.

The rule will prohibit discharge of firearms or bows at a grouse, or at decoys of grouse, placed by enforcement officers, unless the vehicle's engine is shut off and the person is at least 20 yards away from the vehicle.

The rule addresses the issue of "fair chase" in taking grouse by requiring that people using motor vehicles to access hunting areas park the vehicle, turn it off, and walk away from it before shooting at grouse. "Fair chase" is a concept in hunting relating to the balance between the hunter and the hunted.

"This is a complex and difficult issue that becomes particularly important to address as modern technology continues to advance much more rapidly than wildlife's ability to adapt to it," said DNR Commissioner Rod Sando.

Ice cream making champions during competition at Breakfast on the Farm Saturday at the Mark and Joan Lee farm north of McIntosh were Kelly Arvidson (left) and Rupert Syverson (right), both of McIntosh. The home made ice cream contest was part of the promotion which included serving ice cream and strawberries on pancakes. Seated is Larry Rodes, promotional advisor with the Fosston radio station.

Serving as host and hostess for the Breakfast on the Farm Saturday north of McIntosh were Mark and Joan Lee and their family. Children (from left) are Rebecca, Samantha and Joseph. The event attracted more than 800 people in its third year and is considered the largest dairy promotional event in the state of Minnesota. It is sponsored by the American Dairy Association of Minnesota.

Watershed Districts hold summer tour

The 1998 Annual Minnesota Association of Watershed Districts summer tour was held on Friday, June 26, at Roseau and was hosted by the Roseau River, Two Rivers, and Joe River Watershed Districts. The summer tour highlighted the varying terrain and topography of the Red River Basin and the wide variety of issues and projects of the three local watershed districts.

Prior to the beginning of the event, Steve Erickson, chair of the Roseau River Watershed District said, "We are pleased to co-host this important event for watershed districts from across the state. It gives watershed districts in the Red River Valley an opportunity to showcase our area and the various projects of all three watershed districts." Over 100 watershed district managers, staff and state officials are expected to attend the summer tour.

MAWD President Vern Johnson from Clearbrook agreed that the tour was an important event for all watershed districts. Johnson said, "Watershed district managers learn much from seeing firsthand what other watershed districts are working on and the issues and problems they face. We are delighted to be in the Red River Valley for this annual summer tour and expect a great tour."

Buses departed Roseau and traveled through the upper reaches of the Roseau River Watershed District. The tour then crossed over into the Two Rivers Watershed District with a stop at the Nereson flood control and wildlife structure. The Tour then traveled through Hallock and on to the Red River and the Joe Rivers Watershed District.

Children's Theater to present play in Oklee

Oklee/Plummer Community Children's Theater will present the two-act fairy tale The Pied Piper of Hamelin by Vera Morris on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 23 and 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Oklee high school gymnasium. The play is under the direction of Michael Swenson.

The cast includes Megan Gunderson as Town Crier, Mindy Lundeen at Rattytatty, Kirsten Hagge as Dilly, Dale Rystad as Innkeeper, Bekki Paquin as Flower Stall Lady, Stephanie Berberich as Duchess Dingaling, Maureen Munt as Bongo, Andrew Vettleson as Rat King, Kayla Hamm as Kittykat, Lynnete Lundeen as Obnoxious Rat, Tony Lundeen at Hungry Rat, Kelly Opdahl as Rat Queen, Lindsey Bernard at Old Widow Whiskers, Tanya Melby as Pattyeake, Andy Swenson as Mayor, Sarah Hagge as Mayor's Wife, Laura Sparley as Mayor's Daughter, Kirsten Sparley as School Teacher, Lauren Bernard as Dance Tutor and Brittany Berberich as The Pied Piper.

The story takes place in Hamelin, Germany, many years ago when the entire town was overrun with rats. Rats were everywhere and in everything. The mayor didn't want to do anything about it because it would cost money that he wanted to spend on himself and his wife. The townspeople were exhausted from trying to fight these rats and they had almost given up hope of ever being a town free of this scourge.

Suddenly, magically the Pied Piper appeared and gave them the offer that they couldn't refuse. For 1,000 gilders he and he alone would get rid of the rats.

After the Pied Piper got rid of the rats and wanted to get paid, the town refused to accede to his demands. When they refused, the Pied Piper played a new tune on his flute to take all of the children from the town. The town learned its lesson about how to be humble and to be willing to make any sacrifice to get their children back.

Will the Pied Piper make the deal? Will the children come home? The answers will be given at the performances June 23 and 24.

Admission will be $4 for seventh graders through adults and $2 for kindergarten through sixth grade. Preschoolers will be admitted free of charge.

Cats from the cast of the Middle River Community Theater's presentation of "The Adventures of the Country Mouse" rehearse one of their songs. From left are Erika Peterson as Elroy, Hannah Berg as Moe, Danielle Peterson as Duke and Kelsey Holmes as Max. This play, along with the play "Heidi," will be presented Sunday through Wednesday, June 28-July 1, at the Depot Theater in Middle River.

UNITED STATES SEAMLESS

Thunderheads piled high around the Thief River Falls area Wednesday evening and produced heavy rains in some areas. While the immediate Thief River Falls area was receiving only a couple of inches of rain over the past several days, reports of cloudbursts with up to five inches of rainfall were received from Florian and Hallock areas. Temperatures into the high 80s and high humidity have made the last couple of days a little sticky.

Fosston theater to audition for Simon play

Auditions for the summer production of Neil Simon's Chapter Two will take place Sunday and Monday, July 12 and 13, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the Fosston Library Arts Center. The two actors and two actresses selected will be notified following the Monday audition.

Rehearsals will be held July 14-19 and August 1-12 with public performances on August 13, 14 and 15 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, August 16, at 2 p.m. in the library arts center.

Further information is available by calling Bev Anderson in Fosston at 218-268-4546.

Sen. Grams' aide sets Listening Hours in TRF

Linda Westrom, field representative for U.S. Sen. Rod Grams, will conduct Listening Hours at eight Minnesota communities in early July. She will be at the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Friday, July 10 and at Campbell Library, 915 22nd Street NW in East Grand Forks from 3 to 4:30 p.m. the same day.

Westrom will meet with constituents to hear their views on issues or discuss individual case work problems.

Motorcycle rider course comes to TRF

A basic riding and street skills course for motorcyclists will be presented by the Minnesota Motorcycle Safety Center July 17 from 6 to 10 p.m. and July 18 from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. in Thief River Falls.

Included in the 20-hour course are 12 quality hours of on-cycle instruction where riders will learn basic riding skills, street strategies and advanced turning and braking techniques. Motorcycles are provided for each participant.

Interested individuals must be at least 15 years old and possess a valid driver instruction permit or driver's license. Participants age 18 or older who bring a valid motorcycle permit can fulfill the state motorcycle endorsement requirements upon successful completion of the entire course. Anyone with an interest in learning to ride a motorcycle or sharpen current skills is encouraged to participate.

Registration phone number is 1-800-407-6677. Enrollment in the class is limited.

The Face of Adversity

I wish every day on the lake was a pleasant combination of light winds and good fishing. It would make this line of work a heck of a lot easier. Yeah, in adverse times guests are pretty good about offering up the traditional one liners: "Better than a good day at work" or "fishing was great, but catching wasn't," but the humor is a thin veil for their disappointment.

For most of the people in my boat, the trip is either an infrequent or special outing. A windy, rainy day or simply poor fishing are tough pills to swallow after months of eager anticipation. It's even more refreshing, then, when I chance upon a group that is sincere in its appreciation of the adventure.

I worked out of Ballard's Resort last week. It's a very family conscious resort. The family works there, they offer a family atmosphere, and I get a lot of family groups out of there. Family—you get the picture.

So it was no surprise when the crew that boarded that morning was, yes, a family—running up for a day and a night from Thief River Falls for an annual event. Three levels, all male—grandfather, sons, grandsons. They'd reached that magical point in life when the middle generation takes care of the bill for those both older and younger. The trip served as a rite of passage and a medium for good old cross-generational male bonding. It was important to them.

The eight o'clock promise of bright skies and moderate winds lured us 20 miles west to the unprotected expanse of Archie's reef. Unfortunately, the nine o'clock reality of heavy rain and 30 mile an hour winds had us scurrying for the relative protection of Rocky Point. Even in this marginal lee, we were drogging crawlers through three-foot rollers. However, the steady arrival of dozens of other wind-chased launches made it clear we were to be patient and fish there awhile.

And as bad as the weather was, the fishing was worse. The few small saugers and perch we managed to drag aboard did little to make the day look any brighter. The wind continued to howl and the 20-mile trek home continued to loom ahead. It was not the risk (the launch was well-suited to the conditions), but the uncomfortable prospect of two miserable hours of bucking waves to the east that bothered me. This could not have been what these folks had in mind when the trip was planned months ago.

Several unsuccessful hours of angling and an updated forecast for no lessening in the weather forced our hand; it was time to head back. I offered my standard, apologetic, rough seas spiel. Sit down, hang on, and don't go down below or you'll get sick. I waited for the inevitable whining. Tough day, tough fishing, tough ride home—the group dynamics almost always broke down about now.

Today, however, I got arguing. Yet, not arguments about whose dumb idea it was to go out on a day like today in the first place, but arguments about who could make it down below the longest without getting sick. The four youngest (and these weren't all kids), piled excitedly below and closed the door behind them. Grandpa chuckled and I hit the throttle.

As we bounced our way across the Big Traverse, giggles and groans worked their way topside. The occasional rogue wave would rearrange the humanity below, making it sound more like a WWF Cage Match than a Lake of the Woods test of wills. I hoped the injuries wouldn't be too serious. The first green face emerged 20 minutes later.

"They should make this a carnival ride," he grinned. Two others popped out shortly thereafter. I can remember no other time in my water-logged life where the initial stages of motion sickness were accompanied by such apparent delight. These people were enjoying themselves!

For those on deck, the game turned to "Brave the Wave" as they took turns sitting on the back edge of the engine cover and taking full sheets of wave spray directly in the face. Raingear did little to keep even the innermost layers dry, but the giggling continued. Didn't these people realize they were supposed to be miserable?

We reached Lighthouse Gap at four o'clock. For the record, number four made the entire trip in the cabin below (I still haven't discovered where he hid the vomit.) We finished the day with an hour of relaxing fishing in the protected, if somewhat crowded, confines of Four Mile Bay. The group cheered loudly enough on each of the four small walleyes we boated to inspire envy in the armada clustered around us.

Even I was envious. This family gathering was everything it was intended to be, despite what had been thrown at it. Given lemons, they had indeed made lemonade.

Water testing for nitrates in Polk Co.

Several clinics to test drinking water, livestock watering systems and irrigation wells for nitrates in Polk and surrounding counties will be conducted in July by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, Minnesota Department of Health's well management unit, Polk County Soil and Water Conservation District and the University of Minnesota Extension Service.

Clinics are scheduled Thursday, July 9, from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Northwest Experiment Station at Crookston and July 10, 11 and 12 from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. each day at the SWCD booth in the commercial building on the West Polk County Fairgrounds in Fertile.

Nitrates are the most common contaminants in Minnesota's groundwater and a significant numbers of the state's wells have have high nitrate levels.

In order to participate, homeowners must bring at least one-half cup of water in a Whirl-Pak plastic bag or Ziploc type bag. Allow the water to run five to 10 minutes before filling the bag. Those with water treatment equipment should take two samples—one before and one after the treatment process. Homeowners with just a water softener need take only one sample, either before or after the water passes through the softener.

Samples should be taken no more than 24 hours before testing and must be refrigerated. They should be cool when arriving at the clinic. To assure accuracy, homeowners should mark the bags with their name, phone number and a well identification number if more than one well is sampled. Samples are analyzed on the spot in a process that usually takes less than five minutes, and the results are given directly to the homeowner.

SCSU announces spring Dean's list

Sara Clow of Hallock and Stephanie Knott of Red Lake Falls have been named to the spring quarter Dean's List at St. Cloud State University. To be eligible for this honor students must have a grade point average of 3.75 or higher on a 4.0 scale.

of milk, 650 pounds of butterfat and 600 pounds of protein. Herb and Darlene were Pennington County Honor Dairymen in 1989.

The Torstveits have a tie stall barn and raise their own replacement heifers. Heather has often helped with the farm work, driving the tractor for field cultivating, raking hay and even handling the milking on occasion. The Torstveits raise about 440 acres of wheat, barley and alfalfa in addition to their dairy operation.

After living in a mobile home for a number of years on property they purchased from a family estate in 1972, the Torstveits built a new home in 1983. Their house is about a mile south of the farm site where the dairy operation is located.

For nine years Heather has shown dairy cattle at the Pennington County Fair and has qualified for several state fair trips but taken only one, that being last year with her champion heifer.

When she decided in her first year of 4-H club activity as a nine-year-old that she wanted to show a dairy animal for a 4-H project, her dad gave her some basic advice. "The first thing you have to do," he said, "is catch one."

A short time later Heather had done just that and was fast getting acquainted with her first 4-H calf. It must have gone well because she won the junior showmanship title in her first year of showing at the county fair. The nine-year-old cow is still a member of the Torstveit herd, although Heather has shown a number of other dairy animals over the years. She also showed one year at Northwest Dairy Day.

A member of the Happy Acres 4-H club where she has held several offices, including secretary for a number of years and presently is vice president, she has also carried projects such as vegetable garden, flower garden, dog and a few others as well.

In addition to her 4-H work she has taught Sunday School and Bible School at nearby St. Pauli Lutheran Church, assisted with the county safety camp, and for two and a half years has worked at Thrifty White Drug.

At Lincoln she was a member of the National Honor Society chapter for three years, earned an academic letter four years, served as secretary of the Lincoln chapter of Health Occupation Students of America (HOSA) as a senior, was public relations officer for her junior class, a 10th grade homecoming queen attendant, a senior honor student and a member of the National Athletic Honor Society. She has twice been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students.

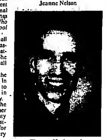
Heather played varsity softball for four years, volleyball and basketball in ninth grade and participated in cross-country as a junior. She also videotaped Prowler football games for the past three years.

This fall she plans to attend the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks and later to transfer to North Dakota State University in Fargo to get a degree in pharmacy.

Other than participating in the regional princess contest, Heather had her first appearance as county princess on Friday when she assisted with an Appreciation Night for the Plummer Cooperative Creamery Association.

"We always have dairy products at our house," she said, "especially milk and butter. Dad is a whole milk drinker but most of the rest of us prefer to drink 2%. And Mom wouldn't use anything but real butter."

Heather hopes to have other opportunities to represent the dairy industry during her reign as county princess. And she invited everyone to visit the Northwest Dairy Day cattle show starting at 11 a.m. at the fairgrounds today.



One of her 4-H animals, Heather Torstveit's cow is a producing member of the Torstveit dairy herd. Another member of the herd is a nine-year-old cow which was the very first animal she showed at the county fair. She won a junior showmanship title in her first year as a dairy showman.

Heather Torstveit of St. Hilaire is participating in events of An American Festival this week as reigning Pennington County Dairy Princess.

Area grant to help Fertile-Beltrami schools

Fertile-Beltrami Public School's "links to Learning" project has been awarded a $5,000 planning grant from the Center for School Change. This grant is part of a larger program to strengthen schools and communities in which the Center for School Change and the Northwest Minnesota Foundation are partners.

"This award winning proposal offers an opportunity to substantially change the way education is provided in this community," according to Center Director Joe Nathan.

Fertile-Beltrami community and educators will use grant funds to plan the "Links to Learning" project which will restructure the school day in order to expand learning and service experiences beyond the school.

Planning grants were also awarded to a group of parents and educators in Janesville-Waldorf-Pemberton who want to transfer their elementary school; the Prairie Science School planning team of Fergus Falls, Summit School for the Arts charter school in Chisago, the Hanska School Committee to plan a magnet school, the Cambridge-Isanti year-round elementary school, and the Second Chance Learning Center - a charter school in Morton.

The Center for School Change and the Northwest Minnesota Foundation intend to work with each of these communities over the next year to develop their ideas. Implementation and expansion of grants will be made available upon successful completion of the planning phase. The Center will also work with evaluators to measure the impact of the new models of education on student achievement and attitudes. These grants are an important part of the Center for School Change and Northwest Minnesota Foundation efforts to strengthen Minnesota schools and communities.

"The proposal shows widespread community and educator interest in developing a new approach," said Joe Nathan. "This project has the potential to significantly and positively impact the communities of Fertile and Beltrami."

Center for School Change funds come from the Annenberg and Blandin Foundations.

Mesaba to double Avro RJ85 fleet

Mesaba Aviation, Inc., which operates as a Northwest Airlink affiliate, and Northwest Airlines have announced an amendment to their existing regional jet agreement to increase from 18 to 36 the number of Avro RJ85 planes that will be operated by Mesaba on behalf of Northwest.

The amendment also calls for Mesaba to issue a warrant to Northwest for the purchase of 1,435,230 shares of Mesaba Holdings, Inc., common stock at an exercise price of $21.25. The next 18 aircraft will tentatively phase into service between January of 1999 and August of 2000.

Mesaba operates under code-sharing agreements with Northwest Airlines and currently serves 91 cities in 19 states and Canada from its hubs at Minneapolis and Detroit. It was recently named regional airline of the year by Air Transport World magazine—the first time in five years that a U.S.-based regional airline has received the award.

Mesaba operates a fleet of 82 turbo-prop and jet aircraft including the 30-34 passenger Saab 340, the 37-passenger deHaviland Dash-8 and the 69 passenger Avro RJ85.

Koehmstedt and Nelson receive scholarships

Two Thief River Falls students have received scholarships from the University of North Dakota Foundation in Grand Forks.

Jeanne Nelson, daughter of Ronald and Shirley Nelson and a junior majoring in accounting, was awarded the Archie and Blanche Scott Memorial scholarship. She is also a member of the Accounting Club and the Golden Key National Honor Society.

Thomas Koehmstedt, son of Francis and Donna Kochmstedt and a junior majoring in electrical engineering, received the Adolph "Pete" Ulland scholarship. He is also a member of the wind ensemble and played intramural basketball.

The UND Foundation was incorporated in 1978, manages assets of $100 million and has more than 1,500 separate accounts to facilitate alumni and other private giving for the benefit of every college and department at UND. During the 197-98 fiscal year it distributed nearly $1.3 million in scholarships to UND students.

McGeary makes European tour

Dana McGeary of Oklee, a graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls and a senior majoring in social work, participated in a summer tour of Europe with the Bemidji State University Choir.

The tour featured 13 performances between May 27 and June 14, including participation in the five day international festival of sacred music in Bavaria, an afternoon performance at Notre Dame de Paris and a concert in the Chartres Cathedral in Versailles.

housed there would be 20. At $55 per day for a full year, the cost would be $401,500. Mileage, based on $.30 per mile multiplied by 278 miles by 52 trips is $4,337. Labor at $20.74 per hour multiplied by seven hours multiplied by 52 trips totals $7,549.36. The total cost to taxpayers would be $413,386.36. That amount does not include what it costs to operate the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center.

Moe presented projected operating costs for a work release dormitory. He estimated income from out-of-county prisoners, based on 20 prisoners at $50 per day at $365,000. Huber fees, an income from 1997, was estimated at $35,370. Total income was estimated at $400,370.

Projected expenses for a work release dormitory, took into account $127,400 for five full-time jailers, $19,843 for two part-time jailers, plus figures from operating expenses of the American Legion. Those figures included $8,343 for electric, $945 for sewer, $3,081 for water, $6,180 for gas, $159,687 for meals ($8.75 per day multiplied by 50), miscellaneous supplies estimated at $30,000. The total projected expenses was $355,479. That leaves a profit of $44,891 when subtracted from projected income.

Other Options

In discussing the proposal to build a minimum security facility, the board studied a number of proposals, including an expansion of the current facility, and a brand new jail. They learned it would cost an estimated $1.8 million to gain two beds to expand the current facility. A brand new facility would cost an estimated $7 to $10 million.

They also looked at a number of buildings and different locations. Location, said Moe, was a key factor. He wanted it to be close to the current facility.

Moe asked those in attendance to keep one thing in mind — the sheriff's department, county attorney and police department will not put the public at risk. Pennington county has the right of refusal and it operates the jail not the state. He also said, "We will not jeopardize the public to make a buck."

Police Dept. Support

When he first hear about the proposal, Police Chief Ken Froschheiser, said he questioned whether they should be bringing in state prisoners, and was opposed to the project. Later, a meeting was held with the sheriff's department and county attorneys and after hearing the information presented to him, he changed his mind.

Froschheiser said he was on record supporting the facility. He went on to detail his comments, most of which were based on information supplied in this article. But Chief Froschheiser also said, "Our community has changed dramatically." Since the jail was built 20 years ago, the community has become very diverse.

State mandates, regarding the arrest and detaining of domestic violence offenders is another issue placing a burden on local jail. Another example of state mandates involves new state laws that require police to hold individuals charged with violating protection orders.

All this information, said Froschheiser, tells us that we need to act to find a reasonable place to house these prisoners. He concluded by asking those in attendance to, "Please give us your trust."

State Uses

Dennis Drury, Minnesota department of corrections, presented information about the success of the STS program. He also presented information about the state prisoners in Thief River Falls, who are completing their fourth or fifth home repair in Ada. In July, state funds will become available that will allow STS crews to construct panel homes. The cost of these homes will put them in reach of individuals who earn $7 to $12 per hour.

The Architect's Estimate

Jeff Sjoquist, architect for YHR Partners, presented information about the proposed renovation of the American Legion building. Sjoquist explained that his firm had been hired to look at the building, conduct an assessment, and then develop a plan for converting it into a work release facility.

Sjoquist said that his estimate to convert the building to a work release facility was $425,000.

Questions from Public

Presentation of information did not leave people without question or comment. Milan Borsheim criticized the proposal saying people were looking at it only as a financial benefit, the state prisoners brought in were not quality people, the population has continued to decline, and diversity was not a significant factor. He was most critical of its location — adjacent to a school and library. Before he left, he criticized Sheriff Moe saying it was one man's proposal.

Despite his vote against the purchase of the Legion building, County Commissioner Bob Carlson said he thought the county and city were moving in the right direction. He criticized the public for not taking an active interest in the public hearing.

Other concerns raised at the meeting should be given consideration by the county board. Several individuals were concerned about the security at the facility and the safety of the employees working at the facility. State guidelines, allow for an employee to prisoner ratio of one to 48, but could be expanded to one to 60. They asked how one individual could respond to an emergency in such a situation.

Thief River Falls Mayor Mark Borsheim remains convinced that its location is not good for the community. He would rather that the facility be located at the edge of the community. He doesn't believe the time factor involved in moving prisoners from the jail to the courthouse is significant. He added that he believes the low interest by the public is due to the fact that the American Legion building had already been purchased.

Small grain and sugarbeet tours set at Crookston

Two tours will be conducted Thursday, July 9, at the University of Minnesota's Northwest Experiment Station at Crookston.

At 12:45 p.m. at the agronomy farm located one mile north of the junction of highways 2 and 75, the first tour will show latest advances in the control of the foxtail grasses, wild oat and broadleaf weeds in sugarbeets and small grains.

At 3:30 p.m. at the north agronomy farm a second tour will feature a number of speakers discussing their work on developing wheat, oat and barley varieties and scab resistance and findings in production and management practices.

A free barbecue supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. by the Minnesota Wheat and Barley Growers Associations. All tours are open to the public.

Grygla student on Dean's list at Notre Dame

Jill Norine Schuler, daughter of Kim and Susan Schuler, Grygla, has been named to the Dean's List at the University of Notre Dame for outstanding scholarship during the spring semester.

The Dean's List is comprised of a select group of students who have succeeded in maintaining a scholastic average of 3.4 and above during the past semester.

Schuler, a 1997 graduate of Grygla High School, will be a sophomore at the University.

New Vehicles on Sale until July 7th!

9 DAYS REMAINING!!!

Hallock, MN - C & M Ford Sales on Highway 75 North is at it again! They will attempt to reduce all of their 1998 inventory in 9 days.

This ultimate new vehicle event began June 22 at 7:00 a.m. and will end July 7th at 6:00 p.m.

Owner Paul Blomquist explained that since our last new vehicle sale, C & M Ford's new vehicle inventory has increased to levels beyond their capacity. "It's time to sell all of our new inventory so that we can make room for our 1999 inventories coming in," explained Mr. Blomquist.

"Last week, we delivered 16 new vehicles. One customer saved $3,168 in interest alone because of 1.9% financing," explained Maria Hanson, business manager.

"This innovative approach to liquidating new vehicles should make it easy and quick for anybody to get a great car, without hail damage at a low price, without any hassle," Assistant Manager, Brad Hemmes pointed out.

"Availability is a concern at most dealerships, but not at C & M Ford. Last year, we dealer traded in 63 new vehicles, the furthest was from New Orleans. We go to any degree to find a vehicle that meets your meets," said Mr. Blomquist.

"Timing is critical. Ford will no longer provide carryover allowance on their vehicles, so do not anticipate special incentives this fall on older models. Ford is putting all their incentive monies, in now, to move the inventory, today, not this fall," explained Mr. Blomquist.

"Therefore, take advantage of .9% on Taurus, Sable, Escort, 2x2, Contour, Ranger, Tracer, Mystique and 1.9% on all F-Series pickups under 8500GVW, Windstars, Explorers and up to $750 in rebates on the popular Expedition."

"With 9 days remaining, C & M Ford will offer their entire new vehicle inventory at substantial savings," said Mr. Blomquist.

C & M Ford will display all their new inventory conveniently off Highway 75 North. We will be serving refreshments from 7:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Saturday, we will be open from 7:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m.

Paul Monley enters guilty plea to 2nd degree murder

by David Hill
Associate Editor

In a Pennington County Ninth District courtroom Tuesday afternoon, Paul Monley entered a plea of guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree. The charge stems from the stabbing death of Chris Scholin on June 12.

The plea didn't come without some dramatics. During questioning, Monley indicated he wasn't satisfied that his attorney, Mike LaCoursiere, public defender, had all the information he needed. Whereupon Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy excused Monley, brought the proceedings to a close and left the room saying he had the state's request for a grand jury.

Monley, appeared very confused and upset, exclaimed several times that "That is wrong, man. I pled guilty to it."

Monley tried to confront Pennington County Attorney Al Rogalla, but Rogalla said "I'm not playing any more games. This is not a game," and he left the courtroom.

Monley and his attorney Mike LaCoursiere, remained at a table in the courtroom while LaCoursiere explained to Monley what had happened and what had been expected of him. During this time, Monley was shaking his head as in disbelief, and did that several more times during the rest of the hearing.

LaCoursiere went into the courtroom chambers and eventually Judge Murphy, Rogalla and Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin returned to the courtroom. This time Monley answered the questions put to him and Judge Murphy was satisfied with the answers and, pending his review of discovery materials, accepted the plea.

What happened that night

Monley said he, Scholin and several girls spent the day drinking alcohol and having fun at Pine Lake. That evening, Monley and Scholin left Pine Lake in separate cars, with Monley arriving in Riverview trailer court before Scholin sometime after 10 p.m. Before going to a barbecue at lot 37, Monley said he went to his residence at lot 16 to change clothes and get some food and knives for the barbecue. While at the residence he got into an argument with his girlfriend.

Monley said the first confrontation with Scholin took place as he was walking toward where they were going to have the barbecue. Monley said Scholin ran up to him and told him to "leave her alone." They got into an argument and began fighting. He said they then went their separate ways.

Monley said he went to a friend's residence, but he later decided to return to the barbecue. This time he was confronted by Scholin who, he said, had a broken bottle in his hand. They started swinging at each other, Monley said, and then he stabbed him once.

Monley said he was scared and didn't know what to do, but ran from the scene. He went to East Grand Forks with his girlfriend. He said his girlfriend called the hospital to check on the condition of Scholin, and Monley said he learned Scholin was in bad shape. He said he was going to go back to Thief River Falls when he was arrested in East Grand Forks.

Pennington County Attorney Al Rogalla presented a slightly different version of events based on eyewitness testimony. That testimony indicated that Monley had a cover over the knives when he approached Scholin and that Scholin had thrown the bottle on the ground and did not have it in his hand during the second confrontation.

There was also some evidence that Monley made some comments to the effect that he had killed Scholin. In court, Rogalla said a witness would testify that "Mr. Monley's girlfriend said, 'Why did you do that?' And at that point Mr. Monley made statements to the effect that 'I killed him,' and other statements to that effect." Rogalla said Monley then ran from the scene and threw the knives on the roof of a trailer home, and fled to East Grand Forks.

Material in evidence and discovery indicate that Scholin may have been stabbed once, but with two knives.

Judge Murphy questioned Monley about possible defenses, specifically self-defense and intoxication. Monley appeared to be looking for direction from his attorney when he slowly said that he was giving up his rights to those defenses. He also indicated that one of his considerations leading to his plea, was the fact that the state was prepared to bring the case before the grand jury and seek a charge of first degree murder. A conviction for first degree murder would result in a life sentence.

Sentencing

With prior convictions for armed robbery and a controlled substance violation, sentencing guidelines indicate a sentence of between 359 and 373 months (roughly 30 years) would be appropriate.

LaCoursiere said that when sentencing takes place he will be arguing for a downward departure due to mitigating factors.

Rogalla said he expects that the victim's family will be arguing for an upward departure to the sentencing guidelines.

Judge Murphy dismissed count two of the case, manslaughter in the first degree, and ordered a presentence investigation. Sentencing was scheduled for 9 a.m. on July 27.

Paved paths, fence spruce up golf course in RLF

Red Lake Falls - Golfers at Oak Knolls Golf Course in Red Lake Falls will now have a paved path for their golf cars as they drive from shot to shot.

Club stockholders recently voted to spend $25,800 for the improvement. Golf car owners pay an annual wheelage fee to use their cars on the course.

Volunteers installed about 1,400 feet of split rail cedar fence behind the 9th green and along the #9 fairway. While serving as an out of bounds border, the main purpose of the fence is to keep snowmobiles off the fairways and keep golf cars on the fairways. The Gazette

Kittson County receives $65,000 gift for grandstand

Hallock - Former Donaldson resident Donald Dagen feels good about his recent gift to Kittson County.

Dagen, who now lives in Bolivar, MD, gave the county $65,000, specifying that the money be used to make the grandstand at the Kittson County Fair debt-free.

Dagen left the area about 20 years ago but comes back often and enjoys giving back something to his "home" county. Kittson County Enterprise

Groundbreaking held on $12 million medical facility

Ada - After more than a year of planning and work, ground was officially broken for the new $12 million Bridges Medical Center in Ada last week.

Ada's old facility was damaged beyond repair during the flood of 1997. The new ground-level facility will employ between 130 and 140 people, making it the largest employer in Norman county. Norman County Index

Landmark lion to be restored and returned to shrine

McIntosh - When the lion statue in Roholt Park was discovered torn from its base and on its side, it was decided that it would be removed from the park and retired.

Since, however, local residents have come forward to volunteer time and effort to reconstruct and preserve the 38-year-old fallen lion and reset it on a sturdy base. The lion had represented the service of the local Lions Club. The Thirteen Towns

Horse whisperer visits Bemidji

Bemidji - Six Bemidji area horse owners learned a new training technique recently with professional trainer Ron Olson teaching them the Natural Training Method, developed by horse trainer Monty Roberts who the movie "The Horse Whisperer" is about.

Olson calls the natural method more humane — no manhandling, cowboying, restraints or touching. The training works more on the mind and is training for people rather than horses, making them better horse handlers. The Pioneer

A one-room cabin, the first humble home of Russell and Hannah Muzzy, joins other historical buildings from the area at Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village. The Muzzy family was honored as a pioneer family by the Pennington County Historical Society at a special program on Sunday, June 28.

Muzzy family has proud history in Pennington County

by Kathi Carlson
Northern Watch Reporter

Contrast is defined in the dictionary as "a great difference." Contrast was a word that came to mind as two area families were honored as pioneer families by the Pennington County Historical Society on Sunday at Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village.

The Mostue family, early Thief River Falls entrepreneurs, was honored for its many contributions to the community as was the Muzzy family, a Pennington county farm family. The story of the Mostue family was featured in the Community Focus section of Tuesday's Times.

The Muzzy Family

By the time 21-year-old Russell Muzzy reached his Minnesota destination in 1877 he had only $2 in his pocket. Born in 1854 in Caroll, Maine, Russell was raised surrounded by timberland and lakes. Born to the 9th generation of Muzzys in America, he was the second of seven children and grew up clearing timber, trapping, logging and fishing. In the spring, the Muzzys tapped maple trees for syrup. Russell got the fever to go west in 1875 and is believed to have chosen Minnesota because of its climate and other similarities to his native Maine.

When he came to Minnesota Russell worked for a lumber company in Wadena for about six years. During that time he purchased land from Sam Krueger, making his first payment of $99. That land was located along the river approximately three miles north of Thief River Falls.

For the next several years, Russell traveled north at every opportunity to clear and develop his land. He paid $2.60 for his railroad fare and 75 cents for lodging.

Eventually Russell moved to his farm, purchasing more land, livestock, oxen and equipment. According to Russell's records, he purchased one yoke steer for $42.50 and two cows for $50 in 1886.

In 1890, at the age of 36, Russell married 22-year-old Hannah Louise Larson. The daughter of Ole Larson, Hannah was born in Norway and came with her family to Minnesota when she was ten years old.

Russell and Hannah had seven children. Their oldest was named after Russell's father, Nathaniel Edmund. The second child, Olef, was named after Hannah's father. Olef died in infancy. The rest of the family included Arthur, Lida, Georgia, Raymond and Coral.

In the early years, the Muzzys lived in a one room cabin. In 1894, Russell began hauling logs which were made into lumber for a barn and other buildings to house sheep and hogs. In 1899, he started building a new house, finishing it in 1900. The two-story dwelling included a full basement, living room, dining room, four bedrooms, plastered walls and an unusual feature for the time, a bay window. The bay window proved to be a good place for the flowers that Hannah loved and the tomato plants she started each spring and later planted in her garden.

The Muzzy family's life centered around the land and the hard work that accompanies life on the farm. With nearly 100 descendants making up the Muzzy family tree, the farm tradition and work ethic that Russell and Hannah instilled in their children continues today. As one drives north on Hwy. 32 farm after farm on both sides of the road reveals the influence of the family of Russell and Hannah Muzzy, an area commonly known as the "Steiner community."

Fittingly, life-long neighbor Pete Solem delivered the tribute to the Muzzy family on Sunday at Pioneer Village, and he spoke of the many ways in which the family has influenced the community.

Russell began the family's history of participation in the Pennington County Fair in 1901 as one of the first herd exhibitors. Through the decades, Muzzy children have carried on the tradition, many as members of the Steiner 4-H Club. Several Muzzys were members of the Steiner Progressive Club, a popular organization in the early part of the century. Muzzys were also included on the membership roster of the neighborhood Steiner Community Club, a club that Pete described as "extremely active for many years." Muzzy women were among the members of the Steiner Homemakers Club.

Beyond the Steiner community the entire Thief River Falls community has benefitted from the Muzzy

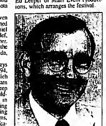
Emotions run high at TRF meeting on prison dormitory

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Other than providing the same information on the proposed Pennington County Work Release Dormitory, no comparison could be made between the public information meeting held June 23 and the public information meeting held Wednesday, July 1, at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls. Because there were only three citizens in the audience that first night, it was merely a discourse between officials. The second meeting was more emotionally charged, and involved an informative exchange between over 30 local citizens and local officials.

At least four main concerns emerged from the discussion: need, out-of-county prisoners, location, and whether it was a done deal.

After hearing about crime statistics, state mandates, and overcrowded conditions, everyone seemed to agree that there is a need for the facility. But that seems to be where the agreement ended.



"We can't do anything to prevent something from happening on the streets, but we can do something to prevent something from happening between citizens and state prisoners," said Joe Drevlow. Drevlow's persistence in driving home the point that he doesn't want to see outside prisoners brought to Thief River Falls, eventually led to an emotional exchange with Sheriff Moe. Moe finally asked why not put a sign out at the entrance of the city that says, "if you've been convicted of a crime, you're not wanted here?" Drevlow responded later that the city might just as well put up a sign at the entrance inviting out-of-town prisoners to come here.

As a parent, Drevlow does not want to see so many out-of-county prisoners in such close proximity to the school, library, and other public areas. He also attacked the sheriff's income projections for the facility, noting that there was no supporting data to indicate that there could be a profit. In addition he pointed out that Dave Olin, Pennington County Attorney, was of the opinion that the county would never see a profit. Although he didn't have any alternatives, he urged the county to continue to explore other alternatives.

Increased attendance expected for All-Nations Cultural Festival

Attendance at the All Nations Cultural Festival at St. Hilaire has increased each year and the sixth annual event Saturday and Sunday, July 11 and 12, is expected to set a new attendance mark, according to Ed Leeper of Main Event Productions, which arranges the festival.

Terry Dullum
Emcee for Sunday, July 12

"With the addition of promotion on the World Wide Web and generosity of local sponsors, we expect the event to continue growing this year," Leeper said. "In the past up to 3,500 people have turned out for this multi-cultural festival and up to 5,000 people can be expected this year.

"I have received e-mail from across the United States and places as far away as Russia and Japan," he said. "The majority of people in other countries have been performers wanting to take part, but the e-mail from people in the States are those wanting to come and enjoy the festivities."

Additions to the event this year include Curfman's Critters—mule drawn stage coach and buggy rides and a mule-go-round. Children will also enjoy Patti Cakes the Clown, a kids carnival and a petting zoo from Crookston. The Coon and Crockett muzzle loaders fur trade encampment will display several camps of lifestyles of the 1840s.

Leeper said the show goes on "rain or shine" because large circus-style tents are erected for seating of the audience. "It has rained some just about every year," he said. "Last year it rained all day Saturday but people came anyway. We use shuttle carts to get the people from the parking lot to the seating area so they don't get wet. We have even had to put the performers under those tents a couple of times because the rain was hitting the main stage."

Philippe Habeck, a multi-lingual master of ceremonies who has done hundreds of shows, will introduce the acts for this year's festival. He will be assisted on Sunday by Terry Dullum of WDAZ-TV. Eleven groups are scheduled to provide the entertainment with the schedule running from 11 a.m. to 10:35 p.m. July 11 and 11 a.m. to 7:15 p.m. July 12.

Scheduled to perform are the following:

Fubuki Daiko, a Taiko Japanese drum group formed in February of 1995. Two of the groups members, Hiroshi Koshiyama and Naomi Guilbert, have performed across the U.S. and Japan, completing their last Taiko Dojo season with a performance at Carnegie Hall. The third member, Phoebe Man, has six years of performing experience.

The India School of Dance, Music and Theater seeks to bring together artists and community in many fields, including literature, fine arts, dance, drama and music. Senior and advanced students perform at many functions in harmonium, sitar, flute and karnatic singing and Indian classical and folk dance.

The Belgian Folk Dancers is a group of young and adult performers dedicated to portraying the culture and traditions of Belgium. Traditional dances are accompanied by the group's own band, featuring the accordion.

Greek Folk Dancers perform fast-paced and lively dances and wear stylized Greek peasant costumes. Every performance is vibrant and exciting.

Oscar Mejia & Groupo Sabor presents the life and energy of Latin music. The musicians all have roots in Latin America where music and dance are an integral part of their culture. Traditional music is rich with percussion and strong vocals with styles from Boleros, Cumbia and Mambo to Meringue, Salsa and

Leave of absence denied for teacher

Gonvick - A building and trades teacher at Clearbrook-Gonvick School was denied his request for a three-year leave of absence.

With plans to work in the construction field, the teacher planned to notify the school board of his plans for the coming year by February 1 of each year.

Because the teacher had not taught the five years required by state statute and because it would be difficult to hire a replacement under such circumstances, the school board voted to deny the request. The Leader-Record

Filing for SWCD supervisor opens; entry encouraged

Filing period for persons interested in serving on the board of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District opened July 7 and will remain open through July 21, according to Grant Satre of Grygla, board chairman. The district covers eastern Marshall and northwestern Beltrami county.

"We know that there are many good, qualified residents of our SWCD who would make excellent board members," Satre said. "I want to encourage them to file for this office."

Supervisor candidates are nominated from one of five nominating districts but elected at large by all persons voting in the entire Soil and Water Conservation District. Each of the 91 soil and water conservation districts in Minnesota is governed by an elected five-member board.

This year positions are expiring in District 3 (Agdar, Grand Plain and Moylan townships in Marshall county) and District 5 (Espelie township in Marshall county and Lee, Benville and unorganized townships Northwood and Big Grass in Beltrami county).

Supervisor candidates do not participate in the primary election but will be elected at the November 3 general election. Supervisors also do not receive a salary but are compensated for attending meetings and functions and are reimbursed for expenses.

Although supervisors are usually elected for four-year terms, the terms open for election this fall will be for only two years in order to establish a new process of staggered elections.

Soil and Water Conservation districts are special purpose local units of government that manage and direct a number of programs and work with other agencies. Supervisors of these districts make important decisions affecting the management of soil and water resources.

"Being a supervisor is an excellent opportunity for someone who wants to make a difference," Satre said. More information is available from the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD by calling 218-294-6144.

Roseau division of Woodland to gain from grant

An $87,461 training grant from the Minnesota Job Skills Partnership Board will provide partial funding for employee retraining at Woodland Container Corporation plants in Aitkin, Roseau and Staples.

Total project cost is $238,022, with Woodland Container contributing $149,561 and Central Lakes College in Brainerd—which will receive the grant funding and provide training—adding $1,000.

The curriculum developed for Woodland Container employees will include math, reading and comprehension, safety and wood species identification.

About 135 workers will participate in the retraining program before the curriculum is presented to the other facilities. Woodland operates nine plants in Minnesota, Tennessee, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Natural control developed for mites in honey bees

A natural control for the Varroa mite—which has killed about 50 percent of managed honey bees in Minnesota during the last decade—has been developed by Marla Spivak, entomologist with the University of Minnesota extension service.

Spivak is using "hygienic" bees as a natural control. They have an unexplained ability to naturally detect the mites on immature bees (brood) and throw the infested brood out of the colony. Hygienic bees not only control mites, but are resistant to dangerous bacterial and fungal disease in immature bees.

"Sometimes we can breed honey production out when selecting for other traits," Spivak said, "but honey production has remained high with the hygienic bees."

Although only about 10 percent of U.S. honeybees are hygienic, Spivak is giving breeder stock to commercial beekeepers for a two-year period. She has also developed simple screening procedures so they can select for hygienic bees. Bee breeders need only two or three seasons to develop hygienic bees that are effective against mites.

The ultimate goal is to reduce the amount of pesticide used by beekeepers, lowering operating costs and eliminating the risk of contaminating honey. It will also avoid the danger of mites developing resistance to the pesticide, which is already happening in Florida.

"This is a solid, sustainable approach instead of the short-term pesticide approach that can carry long-term, negative consequences," Spivak said.

She added that genetic diversity in bees, now low due to widespread mite kill-off, can be maintained if many bee breeders select for hygienic bees. Spivak can be reached by phone at 612-624-4798.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Here are recipes for your Fourth of July celebratian, whether it be a lazy one with just the family or entertaining oodles of friends.

I have always had trouble making good fried chicken. I usually fry it and then put it into a Dutch oven to bake in the oven, but it doesn't get crispy that way. Maybe this recipe would work for me and maybe I will make it this long weekend:

BUTTERMILK FRIED CHICKEN WITH GRAVY

1 broiler-fryer chicken (2 1/2 to 3 pounds), cut up
1 cup buttermilk
1 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Cooking oil for frying
Gravy:
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 1/2 to 2 cups water
Salt end pepper to taste

Place chicken in flat dish and pour buttermilk over. Refrigerate 1 hour.

Combine flour, salt and pepper in plastic bag. Drain chicken and toss pieces, one at a time, in flour mixture, shaking off excess. Place on waxed paper for 15 minutes.

Heat 1/8 to 1/4 inch of oil in skillet. Fry chicken until browned on all sides. Cover and simmer, turning occasionally, for 40-45 minutes, until juices run clear. Uncover and cook 5 minutes longer. Remove chicken and keep warm.

Drain all but 1/4 cup drippings. Stir in flour until all is bubbly and mixed with drippings. Add milk and 1 1/2 cups water. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook 1 minute more.

Add remaining water if needed to make proper consistency of gravy. Season with salt and pepper and serve with chicken.

Yum, yum, bere are homemade biscuits to serve with that chicken and gravy and I thiak I'll make these, too:

BAKING POWDER BISCUITS

2 cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg
2/3 cup milk

In large bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, cream of tartar and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

Beat egg and milk. Stir into dry ingredients just until moistened. Turn onto lightly floured surface and roll to 1/2 inch thickness. Cut with 2 1/2 inch biscuit cutter (or glass). Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake at 450 degrees for 10-12 minutes or until golden. (Makes 10 biscuits.)

Just in case you want to get fancy this Fourth af July halliday, here's something you can do with that chicken that sounds pretty elegant to me - serve with rice and a salad and oh, boy:

GRILLED CHICKEN KABOBS

2 teaspoons ground mustard
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup soy sauce
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves
2 medium zucchini, cut into 1 1/2 inch slices
1 medium onion, cut into wedges
1 medium green pepper, cut into chunks
8 to 12 medium fresh mushrooms

In zip seal plastic bag, combine the mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Add water, soy sauce and oil. Remove 1/3 cup and set aside for later.

Cut chicken into 1 1/2 inch pieces and add to bag. Seal and refrigerate for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Drain, discarding marinade.

Thread chicken and vegetables alternately on skewers. Baste with reserved marinade and grill over hot coals for 10 minutes. Turn and baste and cook 10 minutes more until chicken is done and juices run clear.

What kind of solad to serve - something easy, of course, especially since you baught all that buttermilk for the chicken recipe:

LETTUCE WITH BUTTERMILK DRESSING

1/4 cup buttermilk
2 tablespoons mayonnaise (or salad dressing)
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
6 cups torn lettuce

In small bowl, whisk buttermilk, mayonnaise, sugar and vinegar. Toss with lettuce or serve on the side.

One mare salad, this one a little mare detailed, but warth the effart:

TOSSED SALAD WITH CREAMY GARLIC DRESSING

1/4 cup red wine vinegar
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 to 2 garlic cloves, minced
1/3 cup sugar
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 1/2 cups (12 ounces) sour cream
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
8 cups torn lettuce
1 large carrot, shredded
3 tablespoons bacon bits
Croutons, if desired

In small saucepan, combine vinegar, water, onion and garlic. Simmer until onion is tender, about 5 minutes. Add sugar and simmer until dissolved. Cool to room temperature. Stir in mayonnaise, sour cream, salt and pepper.

In large bowl, toss lettuce, carrots and bacon bits. Add dressing and toss to coat. Top with croutons, if desired.

And here is something sweet for the (usually) hot halliday. Not only is this a great dessert to have on hand for the Fourth of July weekend, but it is great fun to make on a hat day because you're in and out of the freezer really aften:

ICE CREAM SUNDAE DESSERT

2 cups semi sweet chocolate chips
1 (12 ounce) can evaporated milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 (12 ounce) package vanilla wafers, crushed
1/2 cup butter
2 quarts vanilla (or favorite flavor) ice cream, softened

In saucepan over medium heat, melt chocolate chips with milk and salt. Cook and stir until thickened, about 25 minutes. Remove from heat and set aside.

Combine wafer crumbs and butter and set aside one cup. Press remaining crumbs in greased 9x13 inch pan. Chill for 10-15 minutes.

Pour chocolate over crumbs, cover and freeze for 20-25 minutes, until form. Spread ice cream over chocolate and sprinkle with reserved crumbs.

Freeze at least 2 hours before serving.

Area students receive department awards at BSU

Jennifer Sovde of Greenbush, and Marcella Melby of Oklee, received departmental achievement awards this year from Bemidji State University.

Sovde, a graduate student in French, was named as a student delegate to the Student Conference on U.S. Affairs, West Point.

Melby, a senior math major, received an awards as the Outstanding Mathematics Education Student.

Each spring, the individual academic departments honor outstanding students for their contributions to the overall success of BSU. The University also gives special recognition to scholarship winners, Honors Program graduates, and those selected for "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Midwest Dairy Conference set

Reducing heat stress on dairy cows, getting more milk out of forages, and transferring the farm business are topics on the agenda at an upcoming dairy conference in Minneapolis. The event is the Midwest Dairy Management Conference, August 17-18 at the Minneapolis Convention Center.

The conference is designed for dairy producers, veterinarians, educators and dairy business and service providers. The University of Minnesota and 11 other Midwest land grant universities are sponsors. Presenters include 17 of the nation's top dairy scientists and nine leading-edge producers.

Registration materials are available through county extension offices.

Nicole Safar on Gustavus College spring Dean's list

Nicole Şafar, daughter of Douglas and M. Jane Safar, Warren, was named to the spring semester Dean's list at Gustavus Adolphus College. To be named to the list, students must eam a 3.70 grade point average, based on a scale in which 4.0 is equivalent to an A, or higher for the semester ending in May.

Todd & Jay Johnson have top DHIA herd

Todd and Jay Johnston's dairy herd at Angus topped the Red Lake-Pennington Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the month of May, according to compilations made by Randy and Margaret Rasmussen, supervisors of the association.

Eighty-nine percent of the 70-cow herd was in milk during May and averaged production of 75 pounds of milk, 2.5 pounds of butterfat and 2.3 pounds of protein per cow.

Second and third place herds in the association are owned by the Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station at Crookston. Eighty-nine percent of the 55 cows in the station's small cow herd averaged 73 pounds of milk, 2.3 pounds of protein and 2.2 pounds of butterfat for second place. Eighty-eight percent of the 51 cows in the station's large cow herd averaged 70 pounds of milk, 2.3 pounds of butterfat and 2.2 pounds of protein.

Warren Malwitz Dairy, which milks three times per day, was in fourth place. Ninety percent of the 98-cow herd was in milk and averaged 69 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of butterfat and 2.1 pounds of protein.

Steve Nelson's fifth place herd of 60 cows, 93 percent of which were in milk, averaged 68 pounds of milk, 2.7 pounds of butterfat and 2.1 pounds of protein.

Other herds in the top 15 in the Pennington-Red Lake association included the following with number of cows in the herd, percentage in milk and average pounds of milk, butterfat and protein per cow listed respectively:

Wayne Vettleson (3x), 143, 80%, 63, 1.9 and 1.9, Tom and Diane Kolstoe, 42, 95%, 62, 2.3 and 1.9, Arlan and Barb Weiss, 42, 88%, 62, 1.7 and 1.8, Wayne Nelson, 41, 88%, 61, 2.2 and 2.0; and David Oslund, 247, 88%, 61, 1.8 and 1.9.

Also Tom Willett, 52, 83%, 60, 2.3 and 1.8, Gary and Grant Gallekson, 55, 91%, 58, 1.9 and 1.7; Walter Bros. Farm, 234, 81%, 58, 1.9 and 1.8, Arnie and Barb Schmitz, 42, 90%, 58, 1.8 and 1.7; and Lowell Smeby, 45, 89%, 55, 1.7 and 1.7.

Because production is averaged over all cows in the herd to give the dairyman a record of the herd's earning power for the month, the percentage of dry cows in the herd will adversely affect the average.

Students earn winter quarter degrees at BSU

Two Red Lake Falls students, one from St. Hilaire and three from Thief River Falls completed undergraduate degree requirements to graduate from Bemidji State University at the end of the winter quarter.

Among the 156 students graduating were Nicole Philion, Red Lake Falls, bachelor of science degree with honors in elementary education, Brian Remick, Red Lake Falls, bachelor of science degree with honors in elementary education; and Shane Zutz of St. Hilaire, bachelor of science degree with honors in elementary education.

Also Danyelle Gregor, Thief River Falls, bachelor of science degree in business administration; Kevin Johnson, Thief River Falls, bachelor of science degree in life science, and Corey Poole, Thief River Falls, hachelor of science degree in physical education.

Messages on End Times Bible prophesy planned

Pastor Richard Holmquist of Little Canada, will be presenting a series of messages on End Times Bible Prophesy as found in the book of Daniel. These messages will be presented at 7 p.m. July 13-16, Monday through Thursday, at New Life Assembly of God Church, 246 Kendall Avenue North in Thief River Falls.

Rev. Holmquist has over 40 years in preaching and teaching experience, having pioneered and pastored churches in Minnesota and Michigan. He is also a graduate of North Central Bible College.

As a result of these years of study, preaching and teaching the entire Bible, this area of teaching has developed. People are encouraged and helped as he shares insights from the scripture concerning "End Times Bible Prophesy."

These messages are very practical and helpful in understanding what God has said and what He is still soying today. These messages concerning 'End Time' Bible Prophesy, will help participants gain insight and appreciation about many present and future events, and stir hearts to become excited for the soon return of Jesus Christ.

Pastor George Bunnell along with the Church family of New Life Assembly of God of Thief River Falls invite the public to attend these special services. A cordial welcome is extended to all guests.

Talent show held at Red Lake County Fair July 23-25

With the Red Lake County Fair fast approaching in Oklee, July 23-25, organizers would like to encourage individuals to participate in a fun-filled amateur talent competition. The event will be held 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 23, at the Oklee Community Hall.

Cindy Arlt and Andrea Liston, Two Rivers Area Theater (TRAT) members are co-chairpersons of this event. Local talented amateurs will compete for the three top cash prizes of $75, $50 and $25 in the children's division and in the adult division '(13 and older). The top winner in each division will also be eligible to represent Red Lake County in the talent contest at the Minnesota State Fair.

Talent competition is sought in all areas of entertainment including singing, musical instrument, recital, comedy, dance or skit.

Anyone interested in participating in the event is encouraged to do so by writing TRAT Talent Show, RR 1 Box 162, Plummer, MN 56748. All entries should include a name, address, telephone number, number of participants, length of the act and whether the entry is a vocal, instrumental or recital act. Entries will be accepted until July 17.

This is an open invitation to anyone to participate and enjoy being a part of the major fair event. "There is a lot of local talent in the area so we are looking forward to several entries," Arlt and Liston said.

LETTERS

To the Editor,

As we observe the Fourth of July this year, the visit of President Clinton to China reminds us of the freedoms we enjoy as Americans -- freedoms for which the people of the most populous nation of the world are still struggling.

In America, we take liberty for granted, since freedom is our birthright. We expect the freedom to think, worship, associate and speak as we wish. We can take pride that we live in the most free society in the world, yet we must not become complacent with what we have, with what has been won for us by others.

Liberty is a process, not a product. Liberty was first achieved for us over 200 years ago, and has been saved and maintained for us in many ways - some large, some small - every day since then.

We do honor to those that came before us by getting involved in community organizations, for example, and making our voices heard in our political system at the local, state or national level.

In a letter to his wife on July 3, 1776, John Adams wrote, "That day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epocha in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade. . . from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward for evermore."

As you take a break this holiday weekend, I hope you'll take a moment to celebrate your own liberty. Think of those who suffered to win it and those who preserve it by participating in their communities.

As we celebrate our great anniversary with "pomp and parades," festivals, fireworks or maybe just a quiet day relaxing with family, I offer you my best wishes for a safe and happy holiday.

Sincerely,
LeRoy Stumpf,
State Senator District 1

To The Editor:

Farm crisis—yes, there is a farm crisis, and if the situation is not reversed soon it will be a national tragedy. I say this because once the family farmer is put out of business the cheap food policy of this nation will be forgotten and consumers of food will pay high prices. Our rural communities, schools and small businesses will be gone.

Farm families will be forced off the land because they have not been paid for the many, many hours of work, stress and high input costs. They will have no choice but to look for off-farm jobs. How long will jobs be available? How will a surplus of workers affect wages?

Why has this situation come about? Because for many years farmers have not been paid a fair price for their production. The past year the situation has become intolerable. The Basic Formula Price (BFP) for milk has dropped more than $3 per hundredweight over the past few months. At the same time butter has risen to well over $3 a pound. Yes, that is right—milk prices to the farmer have fallen drastically and prices to consumers have increased.

A loaf of bread sells for well over $1 a loaf. It is said that 72 loaves of bread can be made from a bushel of wheat that maybe sells for $3.25 a bushel.

We had a farm crisis meeting in Crookston last spring with many state officials in attendance. The outcome of the meeting was: Well, the state really can't do much to help the problem. They did legislate a partial refund on crop insurance premiums if certain conditions are met.

Then we had Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman come to Grand Forks with about the same answer. With the freedom to farm legislation, there really isn't anything the federal government can do.

In the meantime, prices paid to farmers continue to drop to unbelievably low levels—well below the cost of production. Remember that when processors buy or take product from the farmer, their risk of losing that product is almost nothing. The farmer risks everything—too much rain, not enough rain, disease, hail, livestock losses or illnesses—the list could go on and on.

Farmers big and small will have to say enough is enough and use the Capper-Volstead Act that was passed in 1927. This gives farmers the right to join together, put their production together and use collective bargaining to establish a price reflecting cost of production plus a reasonable profit.

Remember, farmers, the product you produce is yours—why not put a price on it. All other segments of our economy are organized. Farmers have one of the most important jobs in the world. Everyone needs food every day. Why aren't farmers paid their fair share?

Farmers, your biggest job right now is to work together to put a fair price on everything you sell. For more information, call 1-800-584-7057.

Sincerely,
Lauretta Stucy

More funding for dairy diagnostic teams approved

Citing the success dairy diagnostic teams have had helping farmers become more productive and profitable, the Minnesota Department of Agriculture recently made up to $440,000 in additional grants available for these teams.

Diagnostic teams work with farmers to help them adopt new practices and technologies that will help the farm become more sustainable, notes Katy Kulesa, planning grants analyst for MDA. She said examples of these practices include rotational grazing and other sustainable agricultural methods. The teams typically include agricultural educators, extension specialist and industry representatives.

The programs are run by non-profit organizations with funding coming from the state by way of MDA. The program is targeted at small and medium-sized dairy farmers, who have been dropping out of business at a rate of nearly three a day due to ongoing economic difficulties in the industry. As a result, MDA will give preference to organizations whose grant proposals are aimed at assisting small and medium-sized farmers. Programs with low administrative costs relative to services delivered to farmers are also favored.

To receive a grant application, contact, MDA Planning Grants Analyst Katy Kulesa at 90 West Plato Blvd., St. Paul, MN 55107 or call her at 612-215-3946. All grant applications must be received by no later than 4:30 p.m. on August 14.

Ever Wonder Why You Vote For Judges?

There are probably no candidates for elective offices about whom the public knows less than judges. While political candidates of all types are eager to bring their backgrounds, experience and opinions to the public, judges generally don't share that enthusiasm. And unless a person is an attorney who tries cases before judges, or someone involved in a case which is presided over by a judge, these people on the bench are virtual unknowns.

"Why vote for judges at all?" is a question frequently asked at election time. "Why not just have them be appointed and not involve the voters at all? If they weren't capable of being good judges they wouldn't get appointed in the first place."

Maybe so, maybe no. Politically elected governors appoint district judges, appellate court judges and associate justices of the State Supreme Court when vacancies occur and they usually appoint attorneys or lower court judges who are similarly politically inclined. Judges and Supreme Court justices are elected only every six years and their offices are the only ones on the ballot behind which the designation "incumbent" may appear.

So one can understand the resentment and frustration felt by Greg Wersal, a Golden Valley attorney who would like to be an associate justice of the state Supreme Court. He had spent a year and a half preparing a campaign to run against incumbent Justice Sandra Gardebring and in May of this year announced his candidacy at a rally in the State Capitol. Just recently, Justice Gardebring announced her resignation.

All the better for Wersal, you say? Now he won't have to run against an incumbent. It doesn't work quite that way. Actually, he won't be able to run for the Gardebring position at all. By her resignation, Justice Gardebring creates a vacancy to be filled by the governor's appointment and there will be no election for that position in November. Court made rule provides that a new appointee need not stand for election until the next general election more than one year from the appointment. In effect, that means an appointee may serve for nearly three years and then run for election as a designated incumbent. An election this year has thereby been stolen from not only Wersal and any other potential candidates for Gardebring's job but from the Minnesota electorate.

This situation is the result of a decision made by the Supreme Court in a case before it in 1997. The court decided that no matter when a judge resigns prior to the expiration of his or her term, the governor will appoint a successor and the voters are deprived of the right to fill the position.

Justice Alan Page stated in his dissent to the opinion that an incumbent judge could stand for election in November, lose the election, and then prevent the winning candidate from taking office by resigning and permitting an appointment to be made.

As little as we know about judges and justices, we know less about attorney Wersal. He might be the best associate justice material in the world or he may be simply a power-hungry activist with an axe to grind. But we agree with some of his complaints about our judges, their willingness to make law rather than interpret it, and the concessions made to incumbents on the bench. Wersal pulls no punches in presenting his views:

"The election system for choosing judges was corrupt long before Gardebring resigned," he says. "It was corrupted when the judges were noted as the incumbent on the ballot. It was corrupted when the judges created campaign rules that prevent their opponents from stating their views or criticizing the judges' decisions. It was corrupted when the judges created more rules that prevent their opponents from raising campaign funds, seeking endorsements or from even speaking at all to certain civic groups. Yes, these rules really do exist.

"It is so corrupt," he continues, "that at an election most voters have no idea who the judges are or why they should vote for them. And that apparently is the way judges want it, and why virtually all of our judges in the state were originally appointed to their positions and continue to hold their positions, despite the fact that the Minnesota Constitution calls for judges to be elected by the people."

Well, technically, we do elect judges. At least we vote for them, just like we vote for candidates selected by other people. The difference is that there is no available process for the people to get involved in determining who judges are initially, unlike the political endorsement process.

So we take what we get on the bench in the courts and trust to the grace of God that judges will take their role in society seriously and render fair and just decisions. Fear by judges of being overruled on appeal helps in those decisions, for no judge likes to have his or her wisdom questioned. But don't count on judges to level the playing field on elections and incumbency. It's not going to happen.

Crookston runner Jason Perala was able to make it back to the bag before Thief River Falls first baseman Nick Swanson applied the tag on a first inning pick-off play during Tuesday's American Legion doubleheader opener at Irv Wilson Field. Post 117 posted a 4-1, 3-2 sweep.

Post 117 notches first sweep

Earlier, first-year Thief River Falls American Legion head coach Mike Wienen was simply happy to win – in any way, shape or form. Now, after collecting a few victories, he's getting picky, rating level of play just as important as the scoreboard.

Tuesday he was a happy man on both fronts as Thief River Falls came up with its first sweep of the 1998 season by beating Crookston 4-1, 3-2 – scores that are much more satisfying, according to Wienen, than the double-digit affairs that are often produced by this age group.

"We're starting to play some real baseball," said Wienen. "It's nice to win games like this instead of those 12-10 or 10-9 games. "The pitching is getting better, and we're making some plays on defense."

Thief River Falls' offense has been a strength this summer, but Post 117 mustered only five hits in the Irv Wilson Field twinbill. However, the timing of the hits proved to be deciding factor.

Andy Harbott opened the bottom of the second inning in Game 1 with a triple when right fielder Ryan Frederichs came up empty on a diving attempt at a slicing line drive down the line, and scored when Jarod Reierson pushed a single to right.

Crookston pitcher J.J. Scheving then worked three perfect innings and his teammates gained a 1-1 tie when Jason Perala doubled to center to open the third inning, advanced to third on a infield single by Chito Longoria and scored on a sacrifice fly by Jon Oman.

But Scheving ran into trouble in the sixth when he issued an inning-opening walk to Paul Frank, hit Derek Berg, and after an infield ground-out, unleashed a tie-breaking wild pitch. Harbott drove a one-out single to left field to make it 3-1, and he scored on a Reierson ground-out.

Scheving gave up only three hits, and walked just one, but he hit three batters and was charged with three wild pitches.

Frank, meanwhile, turned in a four-hit pitching performance. He won by getting out of bases-loaded jams in the fourth and seventh innings. Staked to the three-run lead in the sixth, Frank issued three seventh inning walks before ending the game with a strike-out.

Thief River Falls got just two hits off Crookston second-game pitcher Adam Frederichs, but they both came in the fifth inning and one of them was a three-run home run by Frank for the win. A single by Jeremy Swanson and an error on a ball hit by Ryan Loeslie preceded Frank's fence-clearing shot.

Dayton Elseth was the winning pitcher, working his way in and out of trouble as he gave up eight hits and seven walks.

The two wins put Post 117 at 9-11 at the start of a week that also included scheduled doubleheaders against Underwood Wednesday and Winger Thursday. Thief River Falls will be at East Grand Forks Tuesday (July 8) and at the Park Rapids Invitational Friday and Saturday, (July 10-11).

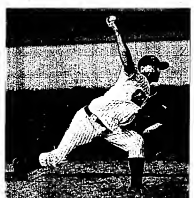
Thieves struggle to fill out line-up card

Howard Dalager hates the idea of letting amateur baseball die in Thief River Falls. But he's also tired of banging his head against the wall.

As manager of the Thief River Falls Thieves, Dalager faces a constant battle to fill a line-up card. Few, apparently, share the enthusiasm he has for the sport and are willing to put in the time and effort needed to sustain the program that was resuscitated in 1994.

"We're having a dickens of a time keeping this thing going," said Dalager. "It's really frustrating."

In a community that has strong numbers in its spring high school baseball program and summer youth ranks, it's become tougher and tougher to keep the players interested in the sport at the American Legion and amateur level. The Legion team, designed for 17-18-year-olds, at times finds itself bringing up VFW 16-year-olds to fill a line-up.



It's even tougher for the Thieves to come up with nine players. They beat Crookston 14-2 Monday for their first win after four season-opening losses using a roster that included four players from Red Lake Falls, a member of the Legion team and Dalager, a veteran fast pitch softball player, but by his own admission, a few years removed from his baseball-playing days.

Steve Burslie, Chane Keefe, Chris Nelson and Blaise Larson have been the mainstays in the 1998 line-up, pointed out Dalager, who said, "The Red Lake Falls kids have been a real blessing. The lack of Thief River Falls kids really hurts."

The team was forced to call off a June 28 game at Warroad when Dalager could not round up nine players. It's a situation that has gotten old, he said, and the future is uncertain.

"We're looking for support from players and fans," explained Dalager. "We're locked in this year. We'll patch things together and try to play enough games against district teams (Roseau, Warroad) to be eligible for the playoffs. But after that..."

The Thieves are scheduled to host Roseau Wednesday (July 8) at 7:30 p.m. at Irv Wilson Field, with a trip to Warroad planned Friday (July 10).

Paul Frank turned in a complete-game, four-hit pitching performance in a 4-1 Thief River Falls American Legion baseball win over Crookston Tuesday. Frank struck out five and walked four in the first half of the doubleheader at Irv Wilson Field. He then supplied the offense in the nightcap, hitting a three-run home run that led to a 3-2 victory and a twinbill sweep. It was the first sweep for the year for Post 117. Thief River Falls will play a pair of games at East Grand Forks Tuesday, July 7, and will compete in the Park Rapids Invitational Friday and Saturday, July 10-11.

Perham beats TRF VFW

Perham scored 34 runs in a VFW baseball doubleheader sweep over Thief River Falls Monday.

The Rick Ostby-coached Thief River Falls 16-year-olds lost the first game 17-11 and dropped the second contest 17-7.

Perham banged out 36 hits in the two games, rescheduled from a June 24 postponement. It was the first outing since June 23 for the 4-12 Thief River Falls team.

Dance of the Mayfly

Yes, we're almost done with those damn things. And not a moment too soon. Millions of them every waterfront evening, cluttering up the air to the point that I don't dare open my mouth and offer the usual romantic phrases to my wife for fear of swallowing a pound or two of winged insects.

The white walls of shorefront cabins have become so saturated with abandoned exoskeletons and pinpricks of dried bug dung that renewal by hose will be less successful than a cheap coat of brown latex.

The south end beaches where my kids frolicked last month now sport a slimy slick of carcasses that appeals only to the biting sand flies of midsummer and their maggoty offspring. The intake on my outboard becomes clogged on a seemingly constant basis as I backtroll through the huge mats of decaying bodies in search of impossibly soft-biting fish.

I curse, I kick the dog, I make vows about spending more time on the golf course and less on the water. And in the middle of it all, I grudgingly realize that the importance of the Mayfly arrival is second only to the Spring return of the tourist.

It's ironic that in their final adult stage Mayflies have such underdeveloped mouth parts that they are unable to eat. For with life spans as short as 24 hours, it's obvious that their sole purpose is to be eaten. Having incubated in the mud and the rocks on the lake bottom for the prior 11 months, the larvae, wriggling toward the surface, make a timely meal for fish of almost every size and shape.

Walleye, for example, having endured the fat-tapping rigors of a long winter and the stress of the spring spawn and facing the rise in metabolism that comes with the rise in water temperature, count on this hatch to replenish body weight. In fact, the strength of the bug hatch is the most significant factor in determining yearly growth in the fish.

Certainly, it makes the bite on my hook a soft one as they merely inhale the hordes of protein filling the water below. But it also signals a tighter, deeper, less weather-affected schooling pattern that brings out the truly large Lake of the Woods walleye. The Summer fishing bonanza is heralded by this buggy onslaught....and I can deal with it.

Having reached the surface, the Mayfly sheds its shell and flies off to become food for the world above the surface. Ducks, gulls and songbirds are several weeks past the egg stage and rapidly growing chicks eat endlessly. Dragonflies, frogs and spiders, under pressure from a life cycle governed by the 49th parallel, gorge themselves.

Even after mating and dying, the flies offer a much-needed protein fix for shore scavenging animals. Black bears, for instance, anxious for the berry crop still a week or two away, are a common sight on the windblown shorelines, greedily lapping up the huge rafts of dead insects. This Mayfly mess is a good deal for Mother Nature.

The bigger picture, too, welcomes the appearance of the Mayfly. Ultra-sensitive to the effects of pollution, several species have disappeared from the tainted European landscape. Sort of like an early warning system, a small hatch can be cause for alarm while a large hatch, rather than a blight, should be considered a positive reflection on the overall health of the lake—a six-legged Nostradameus, if you will.

Yet, before we nominate the Mayfly for "State Insect," I haven't been able to resolve one minor issue. It seems that unmated females will lay eggs that produce only more females. It's a rare phenomenon known as parthenogenesis. Don't be overwhelmed by the word. It may be interesting on a scientific level, but it's the result of the process that concerns us.

Now, if the male Mayfly finds these females undesirable enough to ignore, they've got to be seriously imperfect, because a 24-hour life expectancy doesn't allow one to shop around for too long. Perhaps they didn't twitch their abdomens just so or they exhibited a considerable lack of the buggy common sense necessary for motherhood. Whatever the reason, if these females pass these genetic deficiencies on to a line of completely female offspring, aren't we producing a glut of inadequate female Mayflies?

The males didn't want them in the first place and next year's crop is going to be even less appropriate ("Let's bring out the worst we have to offer.") I don't think Darwin would understand the logic here. At a rate of 500 to 3,000 eggs per individual, it doesn't take much time to drag the genetics down—kind of like stocking a lake with walleyes that will only grow to one pound.

And when "less" has been established as the basis for "more," this process of parthenogenesis will allow a new set of even less desirable traits to come forward. In short, if you're content to overlook the many positive contributions of the Mayfly and dwell merely on the smelly, engine-clogging, house-defiling, beach-littering, fish-ruining drawbacks of its existence, then you'll find no comfort in the fact that in a few short years, they'll be even less appealing than they are today.

Mix insecticide with fungicide—if needed

An insecticide to control aphids or the orange wheat blossom midge in wheat may be safely mixed with a fungicide for suppression of wheat scab without influencing the effectiveness of either treatment, according to Ian MacRae, University of Minnesota extension entomologist.

"But scout diligently first," he advises, "and apply an insecticide only if a treatment is truly warranted."

MacRae said that some might consider adding an insecticide to a fungicide application as insurance against aphids or the midge, but he recommends scouting fields to determine if treatment is warranted. Randomly select a representative sample of 100 tillers, he said, and if you come up with more than 83 tillers infested by aphids, go ahead and treat. Otherwise, don't treat.

"It won't pay either if your wheat had already headed," he said. "There's hard data to show that you can't expect an economic return treating for aphids after heading."

Mixing the insecticide Penncap-M with a fungicide to control aphids would cost about $6 per acre or $480 or 80 acres, he said. There is one exception to an insecticide/fungicide mixture: there are indications that Warrior, an insecticide used to treat grasshoppers and other insects in wheat, should not be mixed with Folicur.

Another pest to scout is the wheat midge, which lays eggs on wheat from head emergence to early flowering. Scout for the pest at night after 9 p.m. when wind speeds are below six miles per hour and temperatures are above 59 degrees. Sample four to five areas of a field, inspecting 20 to 50 wheat heads per area.

The adult wheat midge is a small orange fly about half the size of a mosquito. Threshold levels for treatment are one adult midge per four or five wheat heads. Lorsban 4E-SG at one pint per acre is the only treatment option. It should be applied before 9 a.m. or after 6:30 p.m. for optimal treatment results.

"Treatment is expensive," notes MacRae, "so make sure midge populations are high enough to warrant an application."

Use the following as a guide for application when threshold levels have been reached: If wheat is 30 percent headed, wait up to four days to treat; if 70 percent heading to flowering, optimum control can be achieved. If 30 to 60 percent of heads have visible anthers, spray immediately; if 80 percent of heads have visible anthers, treatment will be ineffective.

Sunstrom attends Carleton College Spanish workshop

Rick Sunstrom of Thief River Falls, who teaches in the Warren/Alvarado/Oslo high school, recently participated in the Summer Teaching Institute at Carleton College in Northfield.

Sunstrom spent the one-week workshop studying the topic of Spanish. The institute is designed for teachers of existing or proposed advanced placement courses, enriched classes, accelerated classes or small group tutorials for students in grades 10 through 12 who are capable of college level work.

The 29 intensive workshops at the institute are designed to address individual needs of the participants. For example, teachers may want to modify an existing course, create a new course or develop new teaching materials. Since 1980, more than 2,200 teachers from more than 500 schools nationwide have attended the workshops which carry three graduate quarter credits.

Waste pesticide collection dates set for area

This summer, the Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) is sponsoring a Waste Pesticide Collection Program to collect and safely dispose of unwanted and unusable pesticides. More than one million pounds of herbicides, insecticides, fungicides, and other pesticides have been collected for proper disposal since 1990, most at no cost to participants.

July pesticide collections will occur at five sites in northwestern Minnesota. Waste pesticide drop-off hours are 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the following locations:

• Monday, July 13, Lake of the Woods County at Northern Farmers Co-op Exchange, Highway 11, Williams;
• Tuesday, July 14, Pennington and Red Lake counties at Northwest Grain Elevator, St. Hilaire;
• Wednesday, July 15, Roseau county, at Cenex West Plant, Center Street and 15th Avenue, Roseau;
• Thursday, July 16, Kittson county, at the County Highway Garage, 209 South Columbus, Hallock;
• Friday, July 17, Marshall county, at the County Highway Garage, 5th and Pacific, Argyle.

Tri-Valley Bus Service adds a dispatch center

Tri-Valley Heartland Express Bus has a central dispatch center and a new toll-free number in Warren to serve all the communities of Marshall county, according to Kent Ehrenstrom, director of Tri-Valley Heartland Express.

Ehrenstrom said the single dispatcher will enhance the system of volunteer coordinators with one toll-free number (1-800-951-9363) for all riders in Marshall county. The system will eliminate overbookings and guarantee callers a place on the bus.

Dispatcher Lori Wendt will schedule riders with all reservations one day in advance. Persons in the Warren telephone exchange may call 745-5352 and others may call the toll-free number to receive information on rates and bus schedules.

Wendt said the service is available to all ages with routes that connect all of the cities in Marshall county as well as monthly trips to other communities in northwestern Minnesota and to Fargo and Grand Forks, ND.

The Marshall county dispatch center joins similar sites for Norman, Pennington and Red Lake/Polk counties. For information on rates and schedules in these counties call the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council at 1-800-584-7020.

Minnesota spring wheat planting lowest since '72

Minnesota spring wheat acreage at 1.77 million acres is down 680,000 acres from a year ago and the lowest level of planting since 1972, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service. The total is 28 percent lower than the acreage seeded in 1997.

Winter wheat at 60,000 acres is down 5,000 acres or eight percent from a year ago. There are only 5,000 acres of durum planted in Minnesota this year, about the same as a year ago.

Barley planting is also down by 100,000 acres (17%) from 580,000 acres a year ago to 480,000 acres this year. Oats acreage is down only slightly from 410,000 to 400,000 acres.

Sugarbeet growers set a record for acreage for the 11th successive year by planting 475,000 acres—up five percent from 453,000 acres last year.

Corn plantings are up four percent to 7,300,000 acres and soybeans are up three percent to 7,000,000 acres.

There is a 30 percent increase in sunflower acreage from 100,000 acres a year ago to 130,000 acres this year. Oil sunflower varieties are up from 70,000 to 90,000 acres and confectionery types up from 30,000 to 40,000.

Flaxseed acreage at only 6,000 acres last year has jumped to 30,000 acres in 1998.

Acres planted to all hay is down slightly from 2,375,000 acres to 2,350,000 acres while alfalfa hay planting is up five percent from 1,475,000 acres to 1,550,000 acres.

Nationwide spring wheat planted is down 21 percent to 15.2 million acres with about 14.4 million acres planted to hard red spring wheat. Harvested acreage is expected to be 14.9 million acres for all wheat, the lowest total in 10 years.

Newfolden confirmation class holds 70th reunion

Two years ago the 1928 confirmation class of the Evangelical Free Church of Newfolden met for their first reunion after 68 years. Class members all felt that the occasion was noteworthy, particularly since nine of the original ten members were able to be there. Only Eleanor (Andeen) Hanson had been "promoted" to her heavenly abode. Eleanor died on October 10, 1984 at the age of 68.

At its reunion two years ago, the class discussed the possibility of celebrating its 70th anniversary if all nine members were still living. That possibility became a reality when the nine met again on Tuesday, June 23.

Because all have roots in Newfolden, the nine classmates met at the NuMoon Cafe in Newfolden for a delicious dinner. As class members reflected on their time of confirmation mention was made that Reverend Thurvald Myhrer taught the class in three languages — Norwegian, Swedish and English — to accommodate his students. During their childhoods, most of the members of the class did not speak the English language at home. Some of the students' parents were born in Norway or Sweden.

Members present at the dinner included Gladys (Andeen) Johnson of Thief River Falls, Reverend Albin T and Ivie (Elseth) Folden of Newfolden and Sun City, AZ, Reverend Edward V Folden of Detroit Lakes, Carl Hanson of Pullayup, WA, John Hanson of Torrance, CA, Evelyn (Mattson) Tjosaas of Benson, Violet (Mattson) Tjosaas of Kerkhoven, and Dora (Ness) Anderson of Hopkins.

After dinner the festivities continued at the Century farm of Albin and Ivie Folden located four miles east of Newfolden. A number of other relatives and friends, including present pastor of Evangelical Free Church, Reverend Gary Barrett, joined in the time of devotions and reflections. Reverend Edward Folden gave a brief devotional that focused on the joy that God's children can experience, even in old age. Those in attendance were amazed at the abundance of memories shared, and prominent was the gratitude the class members felt for their parents who were so deeply concerned about their children's religious upbringing. It was mentioned that Newfolden Evangelical Free Church no longer holds traditional confirmation classes but conducts what is called a Bible instruction class for its youth.

After a time of sharing, singing and reminiscing, Ivie Folden served coffee and goodies, some made by Gladys Johnson, and a special anniversary cake prepared by Tim Kiviaho of Newfolden.

It was Ivie Folden who first conceived the idea of the reunion two years ago and also planned this one. The celebration on the 23rd was all the more significant because the Foldens have sold their farm and will be returning to their home in Sun City, AZ. With the other class members, they will look back on these days of celebration with fond memories.

family's active participation in school, church and civic organizations.

Russell passed his love for cattle into future generations and at one time, Muzzys raised some of the finest Holstein cattle in North America. The superior breeding stock sold by the Muzzys continues to influence the dairy industry around the world to this day.

In closing his tribute to the Muzzy family, Pete Solem said, "I want to stress what I believe will be remembered most about this marvelous family. It is not the many awards they won; it is not the prize cattle they raised nor the bumper crops they grew — although these were all important — but rather, it is the many common, everyday, personal experiences that we were honored to share with you."

Pete went on to say, "For me, it was moments like these: shaking hands with Lester and Violet after church on Sunday mornings, chatting with Kenneth as he faithfully delivered our mail at exactly the same time each day, receiving help from Ervin and Leona with a 4-H project—I thought Leona was the best 4-H leader ever, watching the pride on Jim and Darlene's faces as they talked about their cattle, the excitement of attending Ned and Dorothy's wedding—the first wedding I ever attended, the thrill when James Muzzy let me drive his new Oliver tractor, laughing when Carol and my sister, Kathryn, pulled yet another prank, playing whist with Ray and Lida, eating lunch with Georgia and Vernon — Georgia made the best homemade bread, and with my brother Kermit, playing with Coral and Henry's children at their farm."

The Muzzy family was well represented at the program at Pioneer Village, and Pete thanked them for the special memories that he and so many others have shared with them.

A family history, complete with photos, was put together for the program by Arleen Fredericksen of Forest Lake, Helen Davidson of Moorhead and Leona Muzzy of Thief River Falls. Arleen is the daughter of Georgia Muzzy Malberg, and Helen is the daughter of Coral Muzzy Sorenson. Leona describes herself as "a Muzzy by marriage" and is the wife of Ervin, son of Nathaniel Muzzy. While this article contains some of the family history, the written piece at the village contains a fascinating description of the pioneer life lived by Russell and Hannah Muzzy.

The Muzzy cabin, Russell and Hannah's first humble home, stands among the buildings at Pioneer Village. While it is there to be enjoyed by all visitors, the sturdy cabin is a very tangible piece of family history — a place for Muzzy descendants for generations to come to actually touch and feel a part their special heritage.

Pennington County Pioneers

While there seemed to be many differences between the Mostue and Muzzy families, a common thread binds them. The dictionary defines a pioneer as "one who goes first, or does something first and so prepares the way for others."

Whether it be farming, floral design, folk art or the active participation in and concern for the community, both of these families have set an example for all of us. Congratulations to the Muzzys and Mostues. We are a better community because of you."

Three generations of the large Muzzy family were represented when the family was honored as a pioneer family by the Pennington County Historical Society at Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village on Sunday, June 28. The family's local history began when Russell Muzzy purchased land about three miles north of Thief River Falls in 1879. Over the years the family has made many contributions to the community and farm industry.

All Farm Products Index unchanged

The All Farm Products Index remains unchanged from May to June, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

The Crops Index decreased 10 points from May to June. Prices received by farmers for soybeans decreased 36 cents to a June price of $5.80. Corn decreased 18 cents from May to a June price of $2.10.

The Meat Animal Index remained unchanged from last month. The all hog price for June was $43 per hundred weight, an increase of 60 cents from the May price. The All Cattle price for June was $58.70 down 80 cents from the May price. The All Milk price increased $2.03 to a June price of $14.60 per hundredweight.

Emotions run high at TRF meeting on prison dormitory

Dale Wennberg, city council representative, asked if it is true that we have all these commitments (individuals waiting to serve time in the jail), why are we housing state prisoners?

Sheriff Moe explained that out-of-county prisoners for a six month period represented 20 percent of the prison population. That 20 percent consists of Minnesota State Patrol arrests, Minnesota Department of Natural Resource arrests, local residents who were convicted in other counties but chose to serve their time in Pennington county, in addition to State prisoners, and prisoners from other counties. At least one of the State prisoners is a local resident also.

Sheriff Moe also explained that he is of the opinion that if he can operate the local jail facility in such a manner as to off-set the costs of operating the facility, he will. That doesn't mean the facility will be filled with out-of-county prisoners. If the county fills the facility with its own prisoners, so much the better.

Pennington : County Commissioner Skip Swanson noted that everyone seemed to be hung up on the 72 people it could house. Just because the facility can house that many prisoners doesn't mean that the county will fill it up right away. In fact, he said, he believes they will proceed slowly.

Thief River Falls Mayor Mark Borsheim pressed Sheriff Moe and the County board to produce figures showing that it would be too expensive to operate a similar facility at a different location.

Sheriff Moe was unable to produce any figures showing that it would be more expensive but explained operating costs would increase for transportation, food delivery, and officer's time.

Mayor Borsheim, who said he believed there was a need for the facility but didn't like the location, asked the county to give citizens an opportunity to vote on this issue.

Commissioner · Swanson reminded Mayor Borsheim and the audience that the county board has been working on the matter for at least two and one-half years, and that just getting to the point of purchasing the Legion building was a very complex matter. He then reminded the audience that citizens elected them to make such difficult decisions.

Milan Borsheim reminded Swanson what happened when the council went ahead with the depot project without going to the citizens — the mayor was voted out of office. The citizens did it then and they will do it again, he warned.

Not all of the comments expressed Wednesday night were negative. Danica Robson, a representative of the Area Agency on Aging, explained that two years ago, and despite some initial fears, they started working with STS to provide a chore service for seniors. It has been a wonderful experience and partnership, Robson said. She explained that the agency is also involved in paying for some work being done by the state prisoners. Those prisoners, she said, are fixing flood damaged homes in Ada for seniors. No one is at risk, she said.

Several other individuals also stood up and urged the audience to give it a chance.

At the very outset of the meeting Bob Bredeson asked whether the project was already a done deal? Several individuals returned to that issue over and over again. Joe Drevlow wanted to know what they could do to prevent the project from going forward.

Commissioner Swanson noted that the next meeting of the county commission on July 14. (It will be, as always open to the public.) At that meeting, they will be visiting with the architects. Swanson said his vote was just one vote, but he said he plans to vote to go ahead with the project. In his opinion, this facility is the safest place and most economical place to have it.

Pennington County Commissioner Bud Comstock also said he will cast his one vote in support of proceeding with the project.

Commissioner Bob Carlson noted that there has been a lack of public input on some major issues. But he asked whether it was appropriate that elected officials should have to bring every issue before the public for a vote. He also noted that the nit-picking, and fighting is tearing at the heart of this town.

Rev. Sylvester attends meet at Concordia

Rev. Marcia Sylvester of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls attended a pastoral workshop sponsored by Concordia College on the campus in Moorhead June 23-25. The workshop was intended to help pastors assess and improve their leadership style and effectiveness.

One of the directors of the workshop was Rev. Bruce Anderson, director of the Office of Church Relations at Concordia and a former pastor in the Goodridge Lutheran parish.

Included in the workshop were lectures on several topics including the nature of leadership, use and abuse of power and influence, the importance of gender issues, hiring, evaluating and developing staff, planning and goal setting.

Johnson's Boarding Home hosts final family picnic

Final family picnic was hosted Sunday, June 28, by Johnson's Riverside Boarding Home in Thief River Falls in conjunction with River Oaks, Maple Wood and Brent Wood Residence.

Paul Johnson said that due to the many community events scheduled for the same weekend of the picnic, the decision has been made to discontinue the event after 28 years. This will allow the clients to attend and participate in the many community activities and events.

Johnson said the facility staff and clients would like to thank everyone for their past attendance. Family and friends are encouraged to stop out and visit at any of the homes during the year.

The annual picnic has been planned for the relatives, friends and neighbors of the clients living at the boarding homes. Approximately 225 people were in attendance for the picnic dinner and afternoon events this year.

Donated craft items were used for Bingo prizes and area businesses loaned picnic equipment and supplies in addition to contributing items for Bingo and carnival prizes.

The carnival for children and adults included face painting, fish pond, bean bag toss, pick-a-duck, egg hunt, Plinko, and a sawdust money scramble. Prizes were offered in all events.

Adults attending the picnic were involved with horseshoe pitching, pontoon boat rides, air hockey, table tennis, four-wheeler rides and Bingo. A special guest was Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls.

Johnson's Riverside Boarding Home, Inc., is an Intermediate Care Facility for 11 developmentally disabled adults. It also operates River Oaks Residence, SLS; Maple Wood Residence, SLS; and Brent Wood Residence, SLS. These facilities are Supported Living Services which serve four clients each. Among the four facilities, 23 individuals are currently being provided residential services.

Final family picnic for Johnson's Riverside Boarding Home, Inc., was held Sunday, June 28, after 28 years of continuous presentation on the last Sunday in June. The picnic is being discontinued to permit clients to attend and participate in the many community events and activities now taking place on that weekend. In the top photo above, clients and their families take a ride on the pontoon boat on the Red Lake River. In the middle photo Oscar Johnson, founder of Johnson's Boarding Home, shares a laugh with Sen. LeRoy Stumpf. In the bottom photo clients and visitors enjoy one of the picnic's popular events—a coin scramble with coins deposited in sawdust.

Increased attendance expected for All Nations Cultural Fest

Iskry Polish Dance Ensemble functions as an outlet for young people to foster Polish folk dance and song in its traditional form. "Iskry" means "spark and flash," representative of the vibrant enthusiasm of the more than 20-member group ranging in age from teens to 30s.

The Barley Mow Band has been keeping the tradition of Irish music alive for many years with performances before audiences of all ages.

Wahbung Ogichidag means "Tomorrow's Leaders," and this group of elementary school age children from the Red Lake reservation keeps traditions and values of the Red Lake Nation alive with songs and dances.

Rendez-Vous is a duo that has delighted audiences since 1987 with its French Canadian folk songs, ballads and English repertoire. Dennis Connelly has written, directed and performed music for television, film and stage since 1973 and Patricia Joyal has been performing since 1977.

Fialka Ukrainian Dance Ensemble has performed at the St. Hilaire festival every year since it began. "A true show stopper, Fialka is the most energetic group of dancers I have ever seen," Leeper said. "Each year the audience is asked if it would like to see Fialka next year and the applause is all it takes to assure a return engagement."

Clyde Heerah & Paradise is a Caribbean steel drum group that will perform each day and be on hand for the Saturday evening dance.

Sponsors of the All Nations Cultural Festival include Hartz Foods, WDAZ-TV, KKAQ and KKDQ radio, KYCK radio, VFW Post 2793, St. Hilaire Community Club, City of St. Hilaire, Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., Harvest States Northwest Grain Division and Westside Motors.

A daily schedule for the two days of the cultural festival will be published closer to the festival dates.

Reconstruction on Hwy. 92 delayed

Due to unexpected delays, the reconstruction of Highway 92 in Red Lake county will not start until early August instead of July 6 as recently announced, according to the Minnesota Department of Transporation office in Bemidji.

Reconstruction on Highway 92 from Highway 32 east to Highway 59 includes a bituminous overlay and aggregate shoulder work. Motorists should anticipate intermittent delays with alternating use of lanes.

Mn/DOT will provide further details on the project at a later date.

New Win-E-Mac school heading down final stretch

Erskine - Construction is nearing completion at the Win-E-Mac school site, and finishing touches have begun. According to workers at the site, the project is on schedule, in spite of heavy rains.

The interior of the building is nearly complete, and a tunnel has been dug under Hwy. 59 to bring water and sewer across the road. Hookup has been scheduled for August 1. Grass has been planted, and should appear through the chopped straw soon. The McIntosh Times

Fire creates memorable 49th anniversary

Roosevelt - Sidney and Shirley Pederson of Roosevelt will never forget their 49th wedding anniversary. At about 8:30 p.m. on June 30 fire swept through their mobile home, destroying nearly all of their possessions and sending them to the hospital.

Both were treated for smoke inhalation. Shirley was released the following day, but Sidney was kept for several days with third degree burns to his hip and ankle.

The fire, which started in the bedroom, has been ruled as accidental with several sources considered possible causes — air conditioner, water heater, wiring and oxygen concentrator. Warroad Pioneer

Karlstad girl to have question answered on TV

Karlstad - Anyone familiar with "Buckmasters" on TNN television knows that it's a program that encourages parents to take their children hunting, and the host answers one question each week that a child sends in.

Last year, six-year-old Megan Krantz of Karlstad sent in two questions and was chosen to have her question answered on Sunday, July 12 when the program airs at 6:30 p.m.

Megan, the daughter of Brent and Mary Krantz, didn't hear anything until the UPS truck delivered a package from Buckmasters one day, bringing her an assortment of prizes.

The two questions Megan asked were, "How many deer will a timber wolf eat in a year?" and "Why do bucks have antlers and does don't?" She doesn't know which question the "buckmaster" will respond to. North Star News

Warroad/Baudette fire fighters battle Florida blaze

Baudette - As of Tuesday, 192 people from Minnesota are among the hundreds of fire fighters in Florida. Eight of them are from the Warroad and Baudette stations of the Minnesota DNR.

The influx of fire fighting personnel from Minnesota isn't totally a one-sided situation. According to Dana Carlson at the DNR's Forestry area headquarters in Baudette, "It was about ten years ago when things got really bad around here. We had fire fighters from all around the country up here then." The Baudette Region

Pennington Co. Fair to open on Tuesday

Only a few days remain to purchase the Mega Grandstand Pass or the Mega Ride Pass for the 97th annual Pennington County Fair which opens Tuesday, July 14, and continues through Sunday, July 19 at the fairgrounds in Thief River Falls.

The Mega Grandstand Pass sells for $20 for adults and $12 for children 12 and under and provides admission to five grandstand events during the fair. Passes are available until noon Wednesday, July 15, at Pennington Main, Pennington Square and Erl's Market in Thief River Falls, Kruse In at St. Hilaire, Eagle Square in Red Lake Falls, and Goodridge Hartz Store and Cafe in Goodridge.

The pass offers substantial savings over individual admission to motocross racing at 7 p.m. Wednesday, concerts by Jeff Moore and Kathy Lee Ogden and Renegade at 7 p.m. Thursday, full sessions of Bull Ride '98 at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday; and the Jaycee demolition derby at 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Tickets for the individual sessions can be purchased at the grandstand ticket office on the days of performance. Those planning on attending both nights of bull riding alone can save $4 with the Mega Grandstand Pass over two nights of $12 adult and $8 children individual admissions.

Mega Ride Passes are available for $25 each at all grocery and convenience stores in Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Goodridge until July 15. The passes entitle the holder to unlimited rides every day of the fair from Tuesday through Sunday. At the fair one-price arm bands will be available at $12 each from the midway ticket office and will be good for either an afternoon (noon to 6 p.m.) or evening (6 p.m. to closing) of a single day.

A full schedule of county fair activities is published on the back page of the annual premium list distributed to area homes a few weeks ago. Extra copies are available free at The Times office.

Opening activity of the fair will be the carnival operating from 5 p.m. to closing Tuesday, July 14, and Church Night at the bandshell with free performances by local and area vocalists and musical groups.

Hartz Bridge will be dedicated Tuesday, July 14, at ceremonies beginning at 4 p.m. in Hertz Park in Thief River Falls. The $340,000 project was completed last year and is used often.

Arda Anderson shows one of the bluebird boxes that help attract bluebirds to her home near Goodridge. Four boxes are located in the yard near the house, and 22 are mounted on fence posts surrounding a nearby pasture. This box was built by her husband's son, Tim. Its design features a side door, making the box easier to clean. Arda's interest in bluebirds began in 1991.

Dedication of the Hartz Bridge, a vital connection on the Thief River Falls Riverwalk system, will take place Tuesday, July 14, at 4 p.m. near the bridge approach at Hartz Park in Thief River Falls. Public participation in the dedication is encouraged.

Much of the local funding for the bridge construction came from the Hartz Foundation. Onalee Hartz, widow of the late L. B. Hartz, had been expected to attend the dedication but a health condition will prevent her from doing so. Mrs. Hartz now lives in Florida.

Northland Community Band, recently returned from its concert tour to Australia, will provide a prelude for the dedication and present two selections during the program, including one as accompaniment for vocal soloist Jane Olson Anderson.

Welcomes will be presented by Margaret Saetre and Gretchen Beito, primary originators and promoters of the Riverwalk and bridge projects as members of the Zehlians organization, a local member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Speakers will include Robert Reeve, former mayor of Thief River Falls; U.S. Congressman Collin Peterson of Detroit Lakes; State Senator LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls; State Representative Tim Finseth of Angus; and a representative of the Minnesota Department of Transportation.

A poem will be read by Mark Larson and official public recognition given to major donors to the Hartz Bridge project. Ribbon cutting ceremony will involve Mayor Mark Borshelm and Margaret Saetre.

Following the dedication program refreshments will be served.

Madelyn Vigen, director of parks and recreation for the City of Thief River Falls, said that plans are underway for a renovation of Hartz Park, including replacement and relocation of playground equipment and walkway improvement in addition to park beautification. Arda Anderson enjoys beauty of bluebirds

by Kathi Carlson
Northern Watch Reporter

Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote, "Never lose an opportunity of seeing anything that is beautiful; for beauty is God's handwriting. . ."

Arda Anderson finds that simple beauty and the joy that it brings in the many bluebirds that flock to her yard each year in rural Goodridge. "They're so pretty when they fly," she says, "especially the males."

On her birthday in 1991 Arda received a bluebird house from her sister, Arlette Ruud of rural Gatzke. Arlette's interest in the bird had been sparked by another sister in Wisconsin.

Arda's enthusiasm for the delicate, colorful birds was immediate. She had more boxes built, and bluebirds found them that first year. According to her records, 57 eggs were laid in eight boxes in 1991.

The original habitat of the bluebird was scattered clumps of trees in open areas. As the natural habitat areas were turned into housing developments and industrial parks, the competition for nesting sites among the bird species increased, and the bluebird population declined. However, the bluebird, like the robin, is a tame species that adapted to the presence of man and is more than willing to set up housekeeping in a dwelling made for him.

The Bluebird Recovery Program is an attempt by the National Audubon Society to increase the bluebird population. Arda and her husband are one of three couples in Pennington County who participate in the program. Participation requires the monitoring of boxes and an annual report to the Audubon Society. Bailey builds bucking bulls by breeding

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

David Bailey of Tahlequah, OK, keeps bringing his bucking stock to Thief River Falls and it never fails to meet expectations. Quietly but impressively he has been building his reputation as a supplier of top quality rodeo animals that perform consistently well.

Again this year Bailey will provide a number of the bulls that will test some of the top riders in the Professional Bull Riders (PBR) association at Bull Ride '98 during the Pennington County Fair. The PBR sanctioned event will take place Friday and Saturday, July 17 and 18, starting at 7 p.m.

David came into the rodeo contracting business by association more than by design. His dad was a cattle buyer for a packing company and would occasionally buy "practice" bulls that area teenagers who were aspiring bull riders would try to ride.

In the late 1960s the Baileys found themselves with eight or 10 bulls that were too good for just practice riding. David bought a few horses, which could be had at that time for about $50 each, and more bulls, which went for 12 to 15 cents a pound. He supplied stock to the International Professional Rodeo Association and leased some stock to contractor Jim Shoulders.

In 1988 he completed the paper work to become a Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) contractor and brought in five new rodeos to the PRCA in 1989. In 1990 he brought his first bucking stock to the National Finals Rodeo (NFR) in Las Vegas, NV, and his Playboy Skoal was named Bucking Bull of the Finals. A photo of the bull with World Champion All-Around Cowboy Ty Murray aboard was used extensively in rodeo promotion.

In 1992 Tuff Hedeman, Murray's frequent rodeoing partner, turned in a 92-point ride on Bailey's Wild Redman and in 1993 Copenhagen Gunslinger was named Bucking Bull of the Finals. Gunslinger was also named runner-up in 1994 and 1995.

With the sport of rodeo growing in popularity and the quality of bull riders increasing, Bailey was one of the first to start breeding for bucking ability. He has raised both Playboy Skool and Copenhagen Gunslinger in his own herd. He had semen from his six top bulls collected by Oklahoma State University at Stillwater and used it on many of his cows. He also keeps many of the heifer calves sired by his bucking bulls for use in his breeding program.

Preference for David is to raise bulls with one-half to one-eighth Brahma in the bloodlines. This usually produces good sized, athletic animals with a hump over the shoulders and massive horns. The remaining breeds can be a mixture of any of the beef breeds, including Angus, Hereford, Charolais or the more exotic breeds.

The bulls are given their first trial at about two years of age with a dummy placed on their back. Bailey is an auctioneer at bull sales where young bulls are bucked and sold and a number of his animals go down the road in this manner. The more promising ones are held back and added to the Bailey bucking string.

A bucking stock sale is held during the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas with a total of 135 animals on the auction block. At this sale bulls will sell for up to $15,500, saddle broncs up to $12,500 and bareback horses for up to $10,000.

Bailey said that bucking bulls are in their prime when five to eight years of age. At his ranch he has about 300 bulls in all, along with

New Win-E-Mac school heading down final stretch

Erskine - Construction is nearing completion at the Win-E-Mac school site, and finishing touches have begun. According to workers at the site, the project is on schedule, in spite of heavy rains.

The interior of the building is nearly complete, and a tunnel has been dug under Hwy. 59 to bring water and sewer across the road. Hookup has been scheduled for August 1. Grass has been planted, and should appear through the chopped straw soon. The McIntosh Times

Fire creates memorable 49th anniversary

Roosevelt - Sidney and Shirley Pederson of Roosevelt will never forget their 49th wedding anniversary. At about 8:30 p.m. on June 30 fire swept through their mobile home, destroying nearly all of their possessions and sending them to the hospital.

Both were treated for smoke inhalation. Shirley was released the following day, but Sidney was kept for several days with third degree burns to his hip and ankle.

The fire, which started in the bedroom, has been ruled as accidental with several sources considered possible causes — air conditioner, water heater, wiring and oxygen concentrator. Warroad Pioneer

Karlstad girl to have question answered on TV

Karlstad - Anyone familiar with "Buckmasters" on TNN television knows that it's a program that encourages parents to take their children hunting, and the host answers one question each week that a child sends in.

Last year, six-year-old Megan Krantz of Karlstad sent in two questions and was chosen to have her question answered on Sunday, July 12 when the program airs at 6:30 p.m.

Megan, the daughter of Brent and Mary Krantz, didn't hear anything until the UPS truck delivered a package from Buckmasters one day, bringing her an assortment of prizes.

The two questions Megan asked were, "How many deer will a timber wolf eat in a year?" and "Why do bucks have antlers and does don't?" She doesn't know which question the "buckmaster" will respond to. North Star News

Warroad/Baudette fire fighters battle Florida blaze

Baudette - As of Tuesday, 192 people from Minnesota are among the hundreds of fire fighters in Florida. Eight of them are from the Warroad and Baudette stations of the Minnesota DNR.

The influx of fire fighting personnel from Minnesota isn't totally a one-sided situation. According to Dana Carlson at the DNR's Forestry area headquarters in Baudette, "It was about ten years ago when things got really bad around here. We had fire fighters from all around the country up here then." The Baudette Region

Sherry LaCoursiere

Today we have a request from Julie Kleven in Karlstad. She wants wine recipes. Since I can find very few of these recipes in my numerous cookbooks, you readers will have to help her out. Send wine recipes, especially chokecherry, dandelion, apple, peach or plum, to Soupcon, P.O. Box 100, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, or to Julie at RR 1, Box 108, Karlstad, MN 56732.

Julie also wanted some salsa recipes and I found some old chutney and relish recipes that sound like they would taste pretty good with chips, but if you have good real salsa recipes, send those too. Julie also wondered about a larger batch of rhubarb wine and, judging by the recipe I have in here this week, it sounds like the recipe can be at least doubled. Wouldn't hurt to try.

Here's a recipe for a hot sauce that might taste good on chips, although it is quite smooth instead of chunky like salsa - but it sounds good anyway:

HOT SAUCE
72 hot red peppers
2 cloves garlic
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons grated horseradish
2 cups water
2 cups vinegar

Peel and mince garlic. Wash peppers and combine with garlic. Place in saucepan with water, then cover, and cook until very tender. Press through sieve. Add other ingredients and cook until well blended and thickened.

Pour into jars within 1/2 inch of top. Put on cap and screw band firmly tight. Process in boiling water bath for 10 minutes.

This one might be more like salsa - I don't think salsa is cooked, is it - but it doesn't have cabbage, either, so maybe a person could use more tomatoes or peppers instead of cabbage:

UNCOOKED RELISH
1 pint sweet red peppers, chopped
1 pint sweet green peppers, chopped
1 quart cabbage, chopped
1 pint white onions, chopped
2 teaspoons celery salt
4 cups sugar
1 quart vinegar
2 or 3 hot peppers
5 tablespoons salt

Put each vegetable through food chopper, using coarse blade. Drain and discard liquid. Measure each vegetable after chopping.

Mix vegetables with salt and let stand over night.

Next morning, drain off as much liquid as possible. Add spices, sugar and vinegar to vegetables and mix well.

Pack into sterilized jars to within 1/2 inch, put on cap and screw band firmly tight. Process in boiling water bath 15 minutes. (5-6 pints)

This is a cooked relish too, but it sounds good to me:

RED PEPPER RELISH
2 dozen red bell peppers
7 medium onions
2 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons salt
3 cups vinegar
3 cups sugar

Grind peppers and onions, saving juice. Combine all ingredients and boil 30 minutes. Pack into sterilized jars, packing within 1/2 inch of top. Put on cap, screw band firmly tight and process in boiling water bath 5 minutes.

To me, this one sounds most like salsa - I suppose a person could use chili powder instead of cinnamon:

TOMATO RELISH
12-14 pounds tomatoes
6 large white onions, chopped
2 cups celery, chopped
4 red or green peppers, chopped
1/2 cup salt
6 cups sugar
3 pints vinegar
1 (2 ounce) package mustard seed
1 (2 ounce) package ground cinnamon

Peel and chop tomatoes, drain in colander. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Place in scalded stone jar or seal in sterilized jars. (10 pints)

This one doesn't sound much like salsa, but I bet it is good on hamburgers and hot dogs:

CHILI SAUCE
12-14 pounds tomatoes
1 pound celery (2 bunches)
1 quart small onions
3 green peppers
1/2 tablespoon ground cloves
1 tablespoon dry mustard
2 sticks cinnamon
2 pounds brown sugar
1/4 cup salt
1 quart cider vinegar

Scald and peel tomatoes. Cook 15 minutes and drain off half the juice.

Chop other vegetables and then add tomatoes and simmer about 1 1/2 hours. Tie spices in cloth bag and add to tomato mixture with other ingredients and cook another 1 1/2 hours, until vegetables are soft. Remove spices and seal in hot, sterilized jars. (6 pints)

This is one of the wines I was able to find - sounds interesting and fun to make:

BEET WINE
12 fairly large beets or more small ones
1 pound raisins
6 cups sugar
Pinch of pepper
1 slice of toast
1 cake compressed yeast

Wash beets. Cook with enough water to have a gallon of juice when cooked and strained. Put juice in crockery jar and dissolve sugar in it.

Add raisins and pepper. Spread yeast on toast and let it float, yeast side down, on top of juice.

Cover with cloth and let stand 1 week. Strain and pour into jug, leaving it open.

Let this work for several weeks. More sugar may be added if not sweet enough. Strain several times after it works. Cork it and store in cool place.

This is the recipe that says it can be doubled, so I bet a person could make more than one batch at a time if they want a lot of wine in reserve for the winter months:

RHUBARB WINE
1 pound sugar
1 quart boiling water
1 quart rhubarb
Raisins
Yeast

Pour boiling water over rhubarb and let stand 25 hours. Strain and add sugar and 2 handfuls of raisins. Stir in 1/2 cake of yeast and work for 1 month. (Double this recipe makes 2 1/2 quarts.)

I think the lingenberry is thrown into the recipe just for the fun of it, but if you have one, use it here - wouldn't this make a nice Christmas toast:

SWEDISH RHUBARB WINE
7 pounds rhubarb
1 pound raisins
Place in cheesecloth bag
3 1/2 gallons water
14 pounds sugar
1/2 cake yeast
1/2 cup warm water

Lt. Governor Bid Is Price Of Friendship

Why would Senator Roger Moe of Erskine—a fixture as Senate Majority Leader and generally recognized as one of the most influential persons in Minnesota government—consent to being a candidate for Lieutenant Governor and the general lack of identity and influence that position entails?

That was the question on the minds of many when Moe was announced by Hubert H. (Skip) Humphrey III, DFL candidate for Governor, as his running-mate shortly before the state DFL convention. The announcement was all the more puzzling because Moe has long been considered a likely gubernatorial candidate in his own right.

Roger stopped by the Times/Northern Watch office during a campaign tour of the area early this week. The first question we asked was the obvious one—why give up the leadership position for the relative obscurity of becoming a Lieutenant Governor?

To hear Moe tell it, the decision was a concession to friendship rather than any personal agenda. This is the way we understood Roger's explanation:

Moe and Humphrey have a close friendship which began when both were young members of the state senate. Moe was elected from District 2 in 1970 and has served continuously since then. Humphrey was elected from District 44 in 1972 and served through 1983. He is now Minnesota's Attorney General. They have developed that relationship over the years and frequently meet or call to discuss the state's business.

Earlier this year they had lunch together and discussed Humphrey's intent to seek the office of Governor. Moe told Humphrey that if he (Moe) would ever become Governor, he would make the Lieutenant Governor a Commissioner to preside over some particularly pressing issue and see to getting it resolved. It would give purpose and meaning to an otherwise mostly ceremonial office. Humphrey seemed receptive to the idea.

As they parted company after lunch, Moe told Humphrey to call on him for any help he needed in his campaign. "I'll do anything I can to help," he said. "Just let me know and I'll do it."

A few days before the state DFL convention, Humphrey called. "Roger, I want you to consider something," he said. "I want you to join me on the ticket as Lieutenant Governor."

Moe said the invitation had not been previously discussed and was totally unexpected. He and Humphrey discussed the role Moe would play in a Humphrey administration and Moe recalled his offer to "do anything" to help his long-time friend get elected. The upshoot of it all was that in the end he said, "Yeah, OK, I'll do it."

Despite the fact that Mike Freeman received the DFL endorsement for Governor at the convention, Moe obviously believes the Humphrey ticket will be the winner in the state primary election September 15 (as early polls indicate), and then in the general election against the Republicans' Norm Coleman November 3. He says he looks forward to the challenge of redefining the role of Lieutenant Governor. "I'm not interested in being just a ribbon-cutter," he said.

Senator Moe does have a "safety net" in that he can retain his office as State Senator until after the elections, and if defeated in a Humphrey-Moe bid for Governor-Lieutenant Governor, could continue his senate service.

Moe said he believes that one of his strengths in state government over the years has been his ability to bring opposing sides together and reach acceptable agreements. This was the method of prior state legislators from this area—specifically Senator Don Sinclair of Stephen and Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle—who were highly influential in state government and Moe's mentors in state politics.

"Things have changed over the years," Roger said. "The effort used to be to come up with an agreement that would best serve all of the people of the state. Now there seems to be a much more pronounced provincial attitude among legislators who turn inward to their own constituency, either by geography or special interest. That certainly hasn't made my job any easier." He has also held his leadership post in the Senate for a record length of time.

There in Moe's own explanation is his rationale for joining the Humphrey ticket— personal friendship, a desire to help, and the new challenge of a redefined role for the Lieutenant Governor. Only time will tell if there is a "rest of the story."

Some Little Known (And Mostly Useless) Facts

Among the many governmental agencies sending materials to the nation's news media is the U.S. Census Bureau, which appears to have statistics on just about any topic a person could imagine. Here are some little known (and mostly useless) facts from recent Census Bureau releases:

- In 1997 the United States imported $710,200 worth of American flags, including $566,700 from Taiwon. During the same period the United States exported $473,200 in American flags with the Dominican Republic being the leading country of destination at $102,400.
- U.S. imports of fireworks in 1997 totaled $93 million with $89.9 million coming from China. U.S. exports of fireworks amounted to $6.2 million with Canada the leading point of destination at $2.5 million.
- As of 1997, nearly one in 10 residents of the United States (25.8 million) was foreign born and almost one in three of these was a naturalized U.S. citizen. California led the nation in percentage of foreign-born residents with 24.9 percent, followed by New York with 19.6 percent and Florida with 16.4 percent.
- The typical American adult consumed 32 gallons of beer in 1995 while Americans of all ages consumed an average of 51 gallons of soft drinks, 24 gallons of milk and 21 gallons of coffee.
- U.S. national parks had 65 million visitors in the 1995 fiscal year—up 15 million from just 10 years earlier.
- Japan ranks first and Great Britain second in the number of tourists coming to the United States.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

(Editor's Note: The following letter to the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has been referred to us for publication:)

Dear Chamber:

I would not have been satisfied with myself if I didn't take this opportunity to let you know that the group of young ladies who competed for Miss Thief River Falls on June 27, 1998, was a class group of young ladies. I've judged pageants for a number of years and this was by far the toughest judging I've had to do. You need to be complimented on the caliber of the contestants you have running for Miss Thief River Falls.

If anyone has the audacity to say the youth of America is going to pot, they need to judge the eight young people who competed on 6-27-98. These very talented young women are definitely going places as they stand for a strong ethical standard. It is very refreshing to see these qualities in the youth and I wish each one could have a crown as they all deserve it and are all winners.

I wish you would pass that on to all who competed and encourage them if they need it to compete again. They may call or write to me if they need extra encouragement. Again, you need to be complimented for the fine quality of contestants. Thanks for giving me the opportunity to judge them and be a part of your program.

Sincerely,
Kent G. Yohe

To The Editor:

Violence Intervention Project acknowledges Judge Dennis Murphy, Judge Larry Jorgenson, Sheriff Gerald Moe, Police Chief Ken Froschheiser, Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin, Assistant County Attorney Al Rogalla, Thief River Falls City Attorney Paul Ihle and Assistant City Attorney Delray Sparby for their committed efforts in working with Violence Intervention Project. We have been working together toward implementing a coordinated, consistent response to domestic violence in Thief River Falls and Pennington county.

The Criminal Justice Intervention Project is the first phase in developing a Coordinated Community Response (CCR) to domestic violence. This is a collaborative effort between the varied parts of the criminal justice system and Violence Intervention Project to work together to strengthen our response to domestic violence in four key areas: (1) the response at the domestic assault scene and immediately following; (2) the writing and multiple use of arrest reports; (3) the development of intra and inter-agency policy, procedure and protocol; and (4) the role of law enforcement and advocacy programs within a larger coordinated community response.

Our goal of CCR is to provide safety to more victims and their children from repeated acts of domestic violence, more batterers held accountable for their violence and a greater deterrence to domestic violence created in the community.

The second phase will be to involve the entire community in an effort to address violence in general, and domestic violence as a specific form of violence, by including concerned citizens, health care professionals, school personnel, clergy, social service agencies, advocacy programs and criminal justice personnel.

If you have any questions regarding the Coordinated Community Response, please call the Violence Intervention Project at 681-5557.

Again, thank you to the individuals and agencies who are participating in this project. We appreciate your involvement.

Sincerely,
Judy Bernat, Criminal Justice Intervention Coordinator

Nominations open for '98 Minnesota Peace Prize award

Lt Governor Joanne E Benson has announced that nominations are being accepted for the 1998 Minnesota Peace Prize. The Peace Prize is awarded annually to outstanding Minnesotans for their significant contributions to reduce violence and promote peace in Minnesota.

"The Minnesota Peace Prize typifies the efforts of the Carlson-Benson Administration to place a stronger emphasis on violence prevention and awareness measures," said Lt. Governor Joanne Benson. "Promoting personal responsibility for peacemaking, whether it is in our homes, schools, communities, or workplace, is an important first step to make Minnesota a place of true promise and opportunity."

The Peace Prize is awarded in three categories: Organization; Adult (individual or group of individuals), and Youth, under the age of 21 (individual or group of individuals). In 1997, the Peace Prize was awarded to the Red Lake Middle School Circles Youth Group, Lynn Elling of Minneapolis, and the Grant County Child and Youth Council.

The awarding of the Minnesota Peace Prize is based on the following criteria:

• Leadership in violence prevention initiatives;
• Creativity in developing strategies for violence prevention;
• Commitment to long-term involvement that promotes change, and
• Impact on the community.

The Peace Prize is a hand-blown glass dove figurine mounted on a marble base that symbolizes peace. The idea of the award originated from the Governor's Commission on Violent Crimes and was implemented in 1995 by the Lieutenant Governor Joanne Benson's Violence Prevention Interagency Task Force.

All nominations must be received by September 11, 1998, and are being accepted by the Safe and Healthy Communities Office of the Department of Children, Families and Learning. To request a nomination form or to receive more information about the Minnesota Peace Prize contact Ellie Webster at the Dept. of Children, Families and Learning, 550 Cedar Street, Suite 374 St. Paul, MN 55101, or 612-296-2407, or visit the web site at:cfl.state.mn.us/mnpeace/prize.htm

Troop 59 attends Scout summer camp

Fourteen members of Troop 59 in Thief River Falls attended Scout Summer camp June 14-20 at Camp Wilderness. The troop conducted a Court of Honor on June 29 at Zion Lutheran Church to recognize these Scouts.

The 14 members who attended the camp earned a total of 45 merit badges or rank advancements which included the following: Michael Lunde - nature and motorboating; Zach Johnson - metal work and mammal study; Derek Smith - metal work and mammal study; Joe Ihle - nature merit and soil and water; Ben Benson - leatherwork, metalwork and cooking; Joel Olson - fishing and cooking; Anthony Wold - canoeing, environmental science, archery, forestry and snarkeling; Peter Ihle - canoeing and environmental science; Josh Brekke - canoeing and environmental science; Philip Hoks - reptile study, bird study and pioneering; Brian Ness - emergency preparedness and climbing; Allan Benson - emergency preparedness and climbing; Matthew Dimich - climbing; Aaron Miller - geology, fish and wildlife, forestry, safety and camping. Those who advance to the rank of Tenderfoot were Joel Olson, Ben Benson, Joe Ihle, Derek Smith, Zach Johnson and Michael Lunde. Allen Benson advanced to Star and Aaron Miller advanced to Life Scout.

Trailblazers, a program for new Scouts was completed by the six Scouts who advanced to Tenderfoot. Aaron Miller, Matt Dimich, Allen Benson and Brian Ness completed the C.O.P.E. (Challenging Outdoor Personal Experience) program for Scouts 13-years-old or older.

The Troop also qualified by its participation in camp-wide programs and effective leadership for the honor of the Herman Stem Award. Scoutmaster Merit badges were earned by Jim Hoks, Pastor Gary Johnson and Roger Ness, who participated in programming and service projects throughout the week with the Scouts of Troop 59.

At the Troop 59 Court of Honor following camp, the Troop's Boy Scout Spirit Award was presented by Joe Ihle to Zack Johnson. Roy Lunde received the adult Spirit Award from pastor Gary Johnson.

The Court of Honor at Zion Lutheran Church was attended by parents and families of the Scouts. Chet and Bonnie Camp, institutional representatives, were also present at the Court of Honor.

Thirteen non-profit organizations participated in a raffle conducted by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce during the American Festival. Under the terms of the arrangement, $1 of every $2 ticket went to the non-profit organizations participating in the raffle. Prizes for the raffle were donated by Arctic Cat. Award winners were recently announced. First prize was awarded to Howard Liedberg of Benson. Liedberg was allowed to chose from an Arctic Cat 440 Jag, an Arctic Cat Tiger Shark 640, or an Arctic Cat ATV 300 2x4. He chose the ATV. Second prize, a snowmobile suit, was won by Pat Gunderson of Trail. Third prize, a $100 gift certificate, was won by Jered Hofstad of Thief River Falls. A total of about $7,000 was raised by the raffle.

Roseau holds Art in the Park event July 19

Roseau Area Arts Association's 10th Art in the Park will be held from 12 to 5 p.m. Sunday, July 19, at the Pioneer Farm, 2.5 miles west of Roseau.

Artists will display their work throughout the Pioneer Farm grounds for visitors to browse and purchase. They are from as far away as Wisconsin and they will have a wide variety of art work done in various forms.

Entertainment will take place starting at 1 p.m. with Karla and Carmen (Karla Rislov and Carmen Przekwas) as they delight the audience with their storytelling abilities. At 2 p.m. Bonnie Wesloff and Bernie Walleberg will provide musical numbers. At 3 p.m., Hannah and Margie Dieter will perform their "Sisters" act. At 4 p.m. Wendy Fellows will provide musical numbers from the 1997 Warroad Summer Theater production of "Annie Get Your Gun."

A Discovery Tent will be available to youth for a nominal fee. Adel Woodwind of Bemidji will teach the Native American art of Dream Catchers, using all natural materials she has collected. Woodwind will explain the history behind the Dream Catcher to the attendees.

Cookies, coffee and lemonade will be served in the Parish Hall. The Convenant Youth group will have a lunch booth.

This is a free gate event.

Pioneer Days for area children held July 22-23

Thief River Falls Parks and Recreation department and the Pennington County Historical Society will once again sponsor the highly successful Pioneer Days at Engelstad Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls. Because it was so successful last year, this year two sessions of Pioneer Days will be held.

During the sessions, children ages 8-14, will learn about what it was like to live during the early pioneer days of this region. Presentations will be made on: candle making; school in a one-room school house; a lesson in the history of the area, a Minnesota Department of Natural Resource presentation on hides; a sing-a-long; watching a blacksmith work; a lesson in Morse Code; observing the workings of a spinning wheel, a visit with a pioneer family; and butter making.

Each session is limited to 25 participants so early registration is encouraged. The first session will be held on Wednesday, July 22, and the second session on Thursday, July 23. Each session will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. To register for the event, call the Parks and Recreation department at 681-2519. The cost is $3. Lunch will be provided.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew, saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

The Natural Product Of The Decade!
Cell Forte IP-6
Nutritional Formula That Increases Natural Killer T-cell Activity!!
IP-6 is a natural compound found primarily in grains and soybeans. The IP-6 in Cell Forte comes from the bran portion of brown rice. It's nearly impossible to consume enough grain to equal the powerful benefits of Cell Forte with IP-6. Cell Forte boosts your natural cellular defenses by increasing the levels of inositol phosphates in your cells, thus it boosts your entire immune system and makes you able to kill abnormal molecules that could damage your cells.
CELL FORTE WITH IP-6 IS AVAILABLE AT YOUR FAVORITE HEALTH FOOD STORE.

EGF 7-2 winner over Post 117

East Grand Forks defeated Thief River Falls 7-2 in the first half of a scheduled Tuesday night American Legion baseball doubleheader at Stauss Field. Heavy rains put an abrupt end to the nightcap that was tied at 2-2 in the second inning before being called off.

Four Thief River Falls errors led to five unearned East Grand Forks errors and spoiled a solid pitching performance by Derek Berg.

"There were a number of times when there were two on and two out and we couldn't make the play," explained Thief River Falls coach Mike Wienen. "Derek pitched a really good game."

The outcome evened the season series between the two Ninth District rivals at two wins apiece. They split a June 11 meeting at Irv Wilson Field, when Thief River Falls won the opener 11-10 and East Grand Forks took the nightcap 11-8. A first round meeting in the June 26-28 East Grand Forks Invitational produced a 17-14 Thief River Falls victory.

Tuesday's second game will be replayed in its entirety at a later date.

Post 117 took a 10-13 record into the Park Rapids Invitational, where first round Friday match-ups featured Pine City vs. Blackduck, Park Rapids vs. Thief River Falls, Underwood vs. Cass Lake, and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River vs. New London-Spicer. The tournament concludes today (Saturday) with semifinals and finals in both consolation and championship rounds.

Thief River Falls' next home appearance will be Tuesday in a 5 p.m. doubleheader against Tri-City at Irv Wilson Field.

Men's basketball recruits...

Three more sign with NCTC

Three more players have signed letters of intent with the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team, it was announced this week by Pioneers coach Rick Nikunen.

Latest recruits landed by Nikunen, who resigned as the Pioneers' women's coach this spring to take over the men's program at the school, include Jon Donarski, a 6-4 post player from Marshall County Central; Erik Forsberg, a 6-2 guard from Sartell; and Kirk Beebout, a 6-3 guard-forward from Gary, SD.

Donarski averaged 10 points and 7.6 rebounds per game for the Nordics last winter. "Jon has a nice shooting touch and good strength as an inside player," pointed out Nikunen. "He will bring depth to our inside positions and could see a lot of minutes if he adjusts to the college game quickly."

Forsberg averaged 5 points, 4 rebounds and 4 assists per game for the Sabres. "Erik is a versatile combination guard who has a great shooting stroke from the three-point line and can also run the show as a point guard," noted Nikunen. "He has excellent athleticism and jumping ability."

Beebout, who averaged 13 points, 5 assists and 4 steals per game in high school, transfers to Northland from South Dakota State University. "Kirk brings good quickness and athletic ability," explained Nikunen. "He is another versatile player who can play either guard spot or the small forward spot."

Four other recruits were signed by Nikunen earlier, including Kris Peterson, a 5-10 guard from Tri-County; Tristan Sjaaheim, a 6-0 guard from Roseau; Jeremy Vacura, a 5-10 guard from Badger/Greenbush-Middle River; and Matt Moen, a 6-5 forward from Fosston, who is a transfer student from the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Northland women have a new coach

Mike Zachow of Platteville, WI has been named as head volleyball and head women's basketball coach at Northland Community and Technical College, it was announced this week by Northland Athletic Director Rick Nelson and Dean of Student Services Dennis Bendickson.

The positions have been open since this spring when volleyball coach Shari Olson stepped down due to job-related increased time demands, and Rick Nikunen vacated the women's job to take over the Northland men's program following an earlier resignation of Ted Krize.

"We realize we are a little bit behind in the follow-up recruiting that Shari Olson began last year prior to her resignation as volleyball coach, but feel we have a good nucleus returning," explained Nelson. "It appears that a number of those athletes who have committed to Northland will honor their commitment and be part of the 1998-99 volleyball program. The same holds true in basketball, and we feel that Mike will be able to follow up on the athletes Rick Nikunen recruited to women's basketball prior to him taking the men's position for next year."

Zachow, who earned his Master's Degree from the University of Wisconsin-Platteville, has extensive coaching experience at the high school and collegiate level in both volleyball and men's and women's basketball. For the past two seasons he has been an assistant women's basketball coach at UW-Platteville.

Prior to being in the Platteville graduate program, Zachow was the head girls basketball coach and head volleyball coach at North Trinity Lutheran School in Milwaukee from 1993-96. He was also involved in coaching at two other Wisconsin high schools – St. John's and Wauwatosa – from 1992-94.

In a joint statement, Nelson and Bendickson said, "We're very excited to have someone like Mike join us with his background, not only from a coaching standpoint, but from the fact that he has worked managing facilities as a youth sport coordinator at the YMCA, has worked with the Special Olympics program in the state of Wisconsin, and was a program coordinator while working in the summer recreation department in Platteville."

Thieves lose 9-8 game to Roseau

A grand slam home run by Thief River Falls' Steve Burslie wasn't enough Wednesday as the Thieves lost a 9-8 amateur baseball game to Roseau.

The game, played at Northland Community and Technical College, was called after six innings because of darkness.

Thief River Falls took a 1-5 record into a scheduled Friday game at Warroad. The Thieves will play at Kennedy Monday at 7 p.m.

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL

Kim Langfield hit a grand slam home run as Digi-Key defeated Kandiyohi 17-13 in Wednesday Thief River Falls Women's Slow Pitch Softball League action.

Dairy Queen-Sather Law handled Kandiyohi 18-2 as Jacki Hoglo and Lacey Huschle both went 4-for-4, Alyssa Hoffman was 3-for-3 and Becca Leach tripled.

Lisa Vettleson was 4-for-4 with two home runs to lead Pizza Hut-Amoco 24 to a come-from-behind 14-7 win over Thibert-Philion. Dawn Gustafson was also 4-for-4 for the winners, who scored eight times in the top of the seventh inning, while Paula Vettleson went 3-for-4 with a triple and Colleen Rook also had a 3-for-4 game.

Pizza Hut-Amoco 24 added a 20-13 win over Thibert-Philion in the other half of the doubleheader as Rook hit for the cycle. Angie Grey was 4-for-4 with a triple, and Paula Vettleson homered.

Basic reading and math skills tests given July 21-22

Basic skills reading tests will be given July 21 and basic math tests on July 22 in the Lincoln high school cafeteria for those students in grades eight, nine and 11 during the 1997-98 school year who did not pass the tests or were absent on the day tests were given.

Notices of the testing have been sent to the individual students involved. Students should plan on arriving by 8:45 a.m. and testing will begin at 9 a.m., according to Glenn Chiodo, coordinator of educational services for School District 564.

Students should bring a No. 2 pencil to either test and also bring a calculator for the math test. For students unable to attend the scheduled test days, the only make-up day available will be July 23 at 9 a.m.

Marshall County Fair to sponsor talent contest

Marshall County Fair will host its annual amateur talent contest on the last night of the fair, Sunday, July 26, at 7 p.m. under sponsorship of the Warren Community Hospital and Home Auxiliary.

The fair association is offering a $200 first prize and $100 second prize with the first prize winner eligible to represent Marshall county in Minnesota State Fair competition.

Entries will be accepted from a seven-county region including Marshall, Polk, Roseau, Kittson, Norman, Pennington and Red Lake. Persons with any professional experience are not permitted to compete. Anyone who competed before may enter again, with the exception of first place winners in any county fair amateur talent contest.

Deadline for entries is July 16 and no entries will be accepted after that date. To enter contact either Joan Peterson at 661 North Central (phone 745-5460) or Diane Abrahamson at Route 2 (phone 745-4042), both at Warren, MN 56762.

Kimberly Morris on dean's list

Kimberly Morris of Thief River Falls, a student in interior design, was named to the spring quarter dean's list at Alexandria Technical College for achieving at least a 3.5 grade point average for the quarter.

The Golden Street Quartet will present a concert of Gospel music at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Plummer on Sunday, July 12, at 8 p.m. A time of fellowship and refreshments will follow the concert and the public is invited to attend and bring a friend.

THE LYON'S SHARE

Tim Lyon

Bigger Is Better

Al Linder was once asked why so many 10-pound walleyes were caught during pre-tournament practice fishing and so few boated in actual tournament conditions.

"Simple," he responded. "You've got to bring 'em in and weigh 'em if you catch 'em during the tournament."

The middle of July is here and the big fish have awakened. Start watching the local reports or the "Fish Tales" in some of the more urban rags and see how commonplace the leviathans become. Something over five pounds will be the daily boat standard for the next six to eight weeks with a bunch of eight and up size stuff thrown in for excitement. Certainly a far cry from the early '80s when a summer's worth of hard work might produce one 23-inch walleye.

What's that, you say? I've created a paragraph that suggests a five-pounder and a 23-incher are comparable fish? Surely I'm mistaken? Well, with the chances of boating a truly large walleye as good as they'll be all year, it's an appropriate time for that discussion.

Since we've invoked the spirit of Al Linder, let's begin there. Al and Company devised a fairly legitimate system over the last decade for estimating boatside walleye weights. General public acceptance of the scheme has allowed successful "catch and release" to replace "drag the poor sucker around on a stringer for awhile until we get home to weigh it and then we'll let it go by the dock where 10 minutes later it'll surface belly up as a quick meal for the pelicans on the point while we're in the cabin slapping each other on the back about our ethical catch-n-release position in the fishing world."

It's a simple system: cube the length and divide by 2700.

Now, before you start playing with the calculator, there's more to consider. The In-Fisherman system is based on averages. Post-spawn fish, for instance, tend to be a tittle on the skinny side. Post Mayfly walleyes, on the other hand, look more like a Southwest Conference football than a fish. And on this lake, if the bugs are in short supply, there's always a shiner run, a crawfish molt or a greasy school of tullibees to suck down. In fact, all Lake of the Woods walleyes, facing the potential for eight months of winter, are binge feeders during warmer months, making an "average" specimen a rare find here after June 30.

Consider also that, at the end of an adrenaline-laden two minutes of pole bouncing, you're not likely to find anything too "average" about your catch. I can't honestly recall labeling any walleye that may have just been dragged into my boat as "run of the mill." That would certainly hype up the tip potential.

"Hey, mister, that's one pretty common fish you just landed. It reminds me of every other walleye I've ever seen. Yup, real average. Congratulations. Hand me the camera."

Like looking for a good eyewitness account after a bank robbery, the excitement has not changed the truth, just the perception of it. That 23-inch walleye is a little bigger than the fish that gets dragged to the dock and reassessed at day's end. It's still 23 inches, it's just, well, you know, bigger.

And consider that if you're in my boat, that's a 23 1/2 incher. I've never had a guest catch a fish of neat proportions. That's not the way fish grow, in tidy little one-inch increments. There's always a fraction more to be squeezed out if you're intent on injuring the fish. Like a "gimme" putt, I just accept it and keep the damage to a minimum. Don't, however, fall into the trap of believing that a 23 1/2 incher is a 24 incher; that becomes exaggeration. Just the facts, ma'am.

So we've got this extremely above average 23 1/2 inch walleye at boatside. Now do the calculations: 23.5 x 23.5 x 23.5 =12,977.875 divided by 2700 = 4.80 pounds. Factor in the "above average" condition of the fish and you've easily surpassed the five pound mark.

Now, having followed the proper route to this point, how is that weight going to compare with your dockside findings on the local resort's certified scale?

"Simple," Al would respond in that grating Midwestern twang, "you'll never know, because that walleye is back in the lake and you're faced only with the job of cleaning a bunch of one-pounders."

Lincoln class of 1958 reunion committee to meet

The reunion committee of Lincoln High School's class of 1958 will hold a meeting on Tuesday July 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the Elks

Christian Single's Fellowship to meet

Single's Christian Fellowship of Fosston will carpool to the All Nation's Cultural Festival in St. Hilaire on Sunday, July 12.

The carpool will leave the Embassy Community Center at 11:15. It will stop at the home of Beverly Lindsey in Erskine for dinner and then proceed to St. Hilaire.

The annual festival includes a number of ethnic entertainers from a variety of cultures. There will be a number of craft and food booths at the festival, and sheltered seating will be available.

Granlund Lodge Sons of Norway to hold picnic July 16

Berge-Stafford Park in Fosston will be the site of a potluck picnic of the Granlund Lodge Sons of Norway on July 16 at 6:30 p.m.

A brief business meeting will take place. Members are encouraged to invite prospective members. In case of rain, the meal will be served at the Embassy Community Center.

Retired educators picnic July 14

Northland Retired Educators picnic will be held on Tuesday, July 14 at 2 p.m. at the shelter behind the armory at Hartz Park.

At 4 p.m., those who wish may attend the ribbon cutting ceremony and dedication of the new walking bridge located in the park.

Participants are asked to bring a favorite dessert. Beverages and utensils will be provided. Spouses and retired educator friends are welcome.

Bible camps hold quilt auctions to support programs

Lake of the Woods Bible Camp and Pathways Lutheran Bible Camping Ministry will conduct an auction of quilts made by women's groups in Lutheran churches throughout northwestern Minnesota on Wednesday, July 22, at 4 p.m. on the mini stage at the Roseau County Fair.

Lutheran Island Camp eight miles west of Henning on East Battle Lake will conduct its seventh annual quilt auction Saturday, August 1, at 11 a.m. at the camp.

Humane Society meets Monday to plan for fair

Next meeting of the Pennington County Humane Society will take place Monday, July 13, at 6 p.m. in the meeting room of the county law enforcement center. The meeting is being held one week earlier than usual to permit planning for the booth at the Pennington County Fair.

The Humane Society will sell dog and cat licenses at the fair booth for $10 each, or $5 if the pet has been neutered. Licenses are good for the lifetime of the pet and provide a registry which could help in return of the animal if it strays or becomes lost. Proof of current rabies vaccination is required for licensing.

Answering questions about the bull a contestant has drawn to ride, stock contractor David Bailey prepares for one of the sessions of Bull Ride '97 at last year's Pennington County Fair.

Bailey builds bucking bulls by breeding

young stock and 90 to 125 bucking horses. He will supply 35 to 45 rodeo or bull riding events a year, either on his own or in cooperation with another contractor.

Bucking stock must be in good condition to perform well and it is to the owner's advantage to take good care of it. Bailey makes a special effort to get his stock to an event ahead of time. When stock is being transported the truck stops at least every 10 hours to feed, water and rest the animals. A double deck truck can carry 28 bulls with a combined weight of about 50,000 pounds.

At the rodeo or bull ride site, the bulls are fed hay in the evening and grain in the morning with water available at all times. Rules allow the bulls to be bucked only once in a 24-hour period. On a day when they are scheduled to perform, they are taken off water at noon. They are rested an hour after the performance and then given water.

David said his effort is directed toward continuing to work on the quality of his stock. He has learned a lot and continues to learn and to experiment. And be appreciates the fact that the money bull riders and other rodeo contestants can earn has increased substantially. The Bull Riders Only national finals in April offers over $1 million in prize money. The PBR finals in October and the NFR in December also offer many hundreds of thousands of dollars and sanctioned qualifying events—such as Bull Ride '98—also provide winners with substantial prizes.

Last year, for instance, Mark Kuhn of Mandan, ND, scored 80 and 85 points on two rides Saturday evening and went home with a first place check for $5,972.40. Mike Visnieski of Harrah, OK, earned $4,266 for second and two riders tied for third and fourth each claimed $2,133. Total payout was $21,330. Entry fee to ride was $150.

Mr. and Mrs Bailey have a son, 32-year-old David Jr., who is a PRCA bull rider, and two daughters, ages 32 and 17, who are involved in the David Bailey Rodeo Company operation.

David says he wouldn't like to try to get started in the business now because of the expense, but it holds a constant challenge and the success of his breeding program in producing high quality bucking bulls has been satisfying.

Arda Anderson enjoys beauty of bluebirds

ber of bluebirds that hatched and the number that fledged.

Over the years, Arda has added a number of boxes to her trail and in 1997 reported ten successful broods from the 18 boxes monitored. From the 47 eggs laid, 44 hatched and 39 bluebirds fledged.

This year Arda is monitoring 26 boxes. While many of her boxes were built by the late Palmer Paulson of Goodridge, Orvin's son Tim made her eight new boxes this year. Using a different pattern, the new boxes open from the side instead of the top making them easier to clean.

While four of the boxes are in the yard close to the house, 22 of them hang on fence posts surrounding the pasture. The posts are considered ideal places for the nesting boxes because other bird intruders generally refuse to occupy a site so close to the ground.

Arda checks the boxes along the fence line once a week and considers the mile-and-a-half trek "good exercise." Once again, she is keeping careful records.

Each year the numbers have remained fairly constant. This year, however, the egg count has reached 88, but the ensuing numbers have been disappointing with 68 hatchings and only 25 fledglings. "It's sad to see dead babies or have them disappear before they're ready," Arda says. She isn't sure what the culprit is. A live trap intended for a pesky raccoon netted a skunk instead the first night it was set.

Nonetheless, the beautiful birds can be spotted throughout her large manicured yard and sometimes perch on the window sill right outside her dining room table. Arda's face lights with delight every time she spots one.

The male bluebird has a bright blue back with a rusty-red throat and white abdomen. The female resembles the male but is somewhat duller. Young birds are mottled gray with blue-edged wings and tail and speckled breast. The song and call of the bluebird is a melodious whistling.

Arda sighted the first bluebird on May 26 this year and says they arrive about the same time each spring. In 1994, however, she had a nest with eggs in it already when a snowstorm hit on April 23.

The male arrives on the nesting grounds a few days before the females, establishing his territory and driving away any later-arriving males by singing a warbling warning from a succession of perches lining the borders of his claim.

When the females arrive, pairs are formed, and they begin their search for a nesting site. Together, they construct a nest of grass, weeds and bits of bark, lining it with softer grass.

The female lays between four and six bluish-white eggs which hatch in about 12 days. The young remain in the nest for two to three weeks and are cared for by both parents, though the female seems to do most of the feeding while the male flits from post to pole singing his territorial rights. Two and often three broods are attempted each season.

In addition to the bird's beauty, its feeding habits are another of its endearing qualities. The birds are almost entirely insectivorous during warmer months, feeding on terrestrial insects — beetles, cutworms, grasshoppers and crickets — whatever is "in season."

Bluebirds remain in the vicinity of their nesting place for some time after breeding season. They are usually found in small flocks, probably representing family groups. With the first sharp frosts the bluebirds, in groups of 12 to 70, begin drifting south to their wintering grounds in the southern states.

When asked if she follows her feathered friends south for the winter, Arda only replied, "I wish."

Arda and Orvin have lived at their current home for 11 years since Orvin's son, Tim, took over the family farm. They each had children when they married. Arda has four and Orvin has six, and from their combined offspring, they share 25 grandchildren and 31 great-grandchildren.

Located four miles south of Goodridge the Anderson home provides sanctuary to a number of other attractive bird species — finches, orioles and hummingbirds. Arda has had better luck with bluebirds than her sister Arlette, and while she isn't sure why, she thinks location might have something to do with it. "It's quiet. There isn't a lot of traffic on the road or in and out of the yard, and we don't have a dog or a cat," she says.

Opening the lid of a box mounted on a fence post, Arda revealed five tiny bluebird babies on Thursday morning, the first having hatched on Monday. Their tiny, frail looking bodies were covered with down, and their mouths were open, all waiting to be fed.

One found it difficult to believe that in only two or three short weeks, these helpless little beings will be big enough and strong enough to take flight. Arda will be checking on the little ones regularly, praying that they survive and become part of God's handwriting — simple beauty for her and others to enjoy.

Dedication of Hartz Bridge set July 14th

August of 1992 when an engineering class at the University of Minnesota was engaged to design a walking bridge as a class project. Among the designs submitted was a cable-stayed arch bridge which the committee liked. A federal grant request was written by city planner Don Stewart and Lindberg and submitted in 1993.

With federal funding obtained, a call for bids was issued with bid opening on Jan. 18, 1996. A blizzard on that date prevented bidders from being present and the bid opening was delayed for two weeks. Bids at that opening came in well above budget and were rejected.

A second call for bids was made with bid opening in May of 1996. At that session the bids came in even higher than in January with a low bid of $445,000. All of those bids were also rejected.

Under the federal grant provisions, a third bidding was permitted before the funds would have to be forfeited if the project was abandoned. Sessions were held with the engineering firm of Widseth, Smith and Nolting of Alexandria and the plans were re-scoped to include a prefabricated bridge. Successful bids were received in the fall of 1996 with Swingen Construction of Grand Forks, ND, as the low bidder at $306,000.

Engineering and other costs increased the total project to $340,000. With $250,000 provided by a federal transportation grant, the Zehlians were left with the task of raising $90,000 locally to pay for the bridge. A number of donors provided funds to reach the local goal.

In 1997 construction of the bridge was started and completed. It is a clear span prefabricated structure 160 feet long, 10 feet wide and 12 feet high, constructed by Continental Bridge Company of Alexandria, one of three known prefabricated bridge manufacturers in the United States. The other two are in California and Florida, according to Lindberg.

Superior Iron Company of Osseo had the contract for railing on the approaches to the main bridge. Lindberg said the involvement of federal highway funds made it necessary to build the bridge to federal standards, including construction above the 500-year flood elevation and a number of load bearing and strength tolerances.

Two rescued from Lake of the Woods

Baudette - An observant airplane passenger played a major role in saving two Baudette area men from Lake of the Woods on July 5.

While flying with her husband and parents to Sunset Lodge for dinner, Lynn Bergeron-Felter spotted an overturned boat and two men in the water. She alerted the pilot to the situation. He then circled the area with all the plane's lights flashing until occupants of another boat who had been searching for the men got to the scene.

The boat had capsized just into Ontario waters. Both of the men were wearing life jackets and had been in the water for about three hours. The Baudette Region

Bookkeeper pleads guilty to theft charges

Fosston - A former bookkeeper at Fosston School will be sentenced August 17 in Polk County court for one count of felony theft. She pled guilty to taking money from the Fosston School District during a period in 1996 and 1997.

Because public money was involved, the former bookkeeper was charged with a felony, even though the total amount taken was less than $500. The McIntosh Times

Volunteers busy with landscaping project in Badger

Badger - Thanks to a grant from the Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT), the drive through Badger on Highway 11 will be more scenic in the future.

MnDOT's Community Roadside Landscaping Partnership Program helps cities design appropriate plantings and pays for plants that are used along highway right of ways. Cities are responsible for watering, pruning and other maintenance.

Over 30 volunteers met recently to do the actual planting. Fall golden ash and tamarack trees were planted along the highway on the northwest end of Badger and by the creek. Large plantings were also done around the entrance signs. All the plants are native species.

The project will be completed in stages. The next planting will take place in the wetland area around the Roseau County Coop gas station and convenience store. The Tribune

Garnes township notes 100 years

Oklee - Garnes township celebrated its 100th anniversary recently at the home of Don and Alma Stenberg which is located on the original townsite of Garnes.

Among those present were direct descendants of the founders of the Town of Garnes. Much reminiscing took place at the event, and music was provided by the Brekke family as photographs and newspaper clipping were shared. Everyone also enjoyed a pork roast dinner. The Oklee Herald

Spectators filled the stands for this Grandstand event. Grandstand events for the remaining days of the fair include the second day of Bullriding from 7 to 9 p.m. on Saturday night, and the Jaycee Demolition Derby beginning at 5:30 p.m. Sunday evening.

Motocross racing thrills capacity crowd at fair

by David Hill
Associate Editor

"I really think it's going to take off," said Joel Hallstrom, race director at Arctic, who has been involved in the Motocross races at the Pennington County Fair.

Hallstrom explained that the Falls Moto Club, a new organization in Thief River Falls, was responsible for putting on the first time event at the fair. He said the club needed a way to raise funds to purchase some property for a track and equipment.

Prior to the start of the event, Hallstrom said many of the competitors would be amateurs, but he noted that some District 23 AMA race circuit riders might participate in the event. Some of those racers, including Tucker Hibbert, son of Kirk Hibbert of snowmobile racing fame.

Last year, a motocross racing at the Fertile Fair was a big draw, said Hallstrom. Because of success there he said he hoped it would do well at the Pennington County Fair. Early indications from the 75 to 100 drivers considering participation in the event were encouraging.

Race organizers were thrilled with the turnout Wednesday night. They had 93 entries, and a sell-out crowd. The estimated 1,500 in the audience Wednesday night were not disappointed.

For those northern Minnesotans more acclimated to the excitement and chill of winter sno-cross racing, they should be pleased to learn that motocross racing has some striking similarities. Just as in sno-cross racing there were several divisions, each consisting of a number of classes or "motos". In this motocross event there was two divisions of the micro mini 50cc for children, two divisions of the 80cc, two divisions of the 125cc, and two divisions of the 250cc classes. Just as in sno-cross the riders in this event competed for trophies, and an open class dash for cash. And, the track was very similar to a sno-

Mosquitoes take big bite out of city control budget

by David Hill
Associate Editor

At the height of summer and the mosquito season, Thief River Falls Parks and Recreation department is reporting that it has spent the entire $5,000 budgeted for mosquito control this year. Tuesday night, Thief River Falls City Council learned that the department has dipped into reserves to purchase another $2,500 of insecticide.

Madelyn Vigen, Parks and Recreation director said her department had received numerous complaints about mosquitoes, but they are doing everything they can, including changing their spraying techniques. According to experts, Vigen said, they should spray when mosquitoes are most active; thus, they are spraying from 10 p.m. to midnight and from 4 a.m. until dawn.

The department has used a larvicide and an insecticide. Vigen says there is some larvicide left, but not any more insecticide. This week they spent an additional $2,500 for insecticide.

Because the county fair is this week, Vigen said they will be doing more spraying on the fairgrounds.

"National Night Out" in TRF

Thief River Falls will join approximately 9,500 other cities across the United States to celebrate "National Night Out", a crime prevention event to promote police-community partnerships, safety, and neighborhood unity.

The event, which includes several special events, will be held on August 4 at Floyd B. Olson Park. Tentative events include food served by the City Council, entertainment in the Gazebo, crime fair booths, and other entertainment.

The entire community is invited to participate in the event. This year's theme is "Give Neighborhood Crime And Drugs A Going Away Party".

Sidewalk Cafe Permits

Thief River Falls City Council gave its approval to a permit which will allow owners or tenants of buildings to place objects on sidewalks, such as tables and chairs for outdoor cafes.

About two to three years ago, the council received a request to allow sidewalk cafes. Due to some changes that took place, the permit system they were working on was set aside. It was recently resurrected when another business expressed some interest in a sidewalk cafe. Tuesday night, the council gave its approval to the wording of the permit. Following concerns expressed by some council members, the permit requirements will be shared with the Minnesota Department of Transportation.

Interested property owners and tenants must obtain a permit from the city before placing objects upon sidewalks located in the public right of way. The permit describes such things as placement requirements of the objects, size of the objects, maintenance and time limitations.

County Ditch 1

Two culverts will be added along County Ditch 1, which will also be cleaned. Pennington County Commissioners requested the city to participate in the total cost of the project, estimated at $13,500, plus $1,000 for cleaning the ditch. The county board is committed to paying $5,000 for two culverts and $1,000 for cleaning. A benefited property owner is being asked to pay $2,500, and the City of Thief River Falls was asked to pay $6,000 for one culvert.

Initially there was some confusion about the cost of the project, and council representatives were under the impression that they were being asked to pay a majority of the project cost. Eventually, the council agreed to contribute $6,000 toward a completely finished project.

Liquor Store Position

Once again, there was considerable discussion about how to handle the hiring of an off-sale supervisor/clerk position at the municipal liquor store.

At a previous council meeting there was disagreement as to whether the position should be opened to Category II employees after it was posted with Teamsters. Tuesday night, the Administrative Services Committee recommended that the position be opened to category I and II off-sale clerks at the store after an internal posting with the Teamsters.

Mayor Mark Borsheim wondered whether it could be opened

GEIS on animal agriculture meet in TRF Monday

Citizens with an interest in animal agriculture are encouraged to attend the public meeting Monday, July 20, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

This is one of six similar meetings being held throughout the state. The first four were at Rochester, St. Cloud, Marshall and North Mankato and the last will be Tuesday, July 21, at the community college gymnasium at Fergus Falls.

Topic of the meeting will be the General Environmental Impact Statement (GEIS) on animal agriculture, commonly referred to as the "feedlot GEIS." This is a statewide study that was authorized and funded by the Minnesota Legislature as a result of controversy surrounding feedlots in Minnesota.

The study is intended to provide objective, scientific information allowing Minnesotans on all sides of the feedlot issue to learn the facts, express their opinions and weigh future policy options. It is expected to be a full public examination of environmental issues as well as important social and economic factors surrounding animal agriculture.

Minnesota's Environmental Quality Board (EQB) is conducting the study with assistance from a citizen advisory committee—representing groups determined to have a stake in the animal agriculture issue—and a technical committee. Both groups will advise the EQB on the animal agriculture study.

The GEIS procedure consists of three main phases:

(1) The EQB must decide what specific topics will be included in the statewide study and how these topics will be addressed. This opinion is now being formed with the public input meetings known as the "scoping" phase of the study.

(2) The EQB will prepare a draft GEIS document which will be available for review and hold a series of public meetings to receive public comments on this document.

(3) The EQB will issue the final GEIS document with the public again given a chance to comment before its official release. The final GEIS is projected to be heavily relied upon to chart the future of animal agriculture in Minnesota.

The Minnesota Environmental Quality Board is comprised of the commissioners of the Minnesota Departments of Natural Resources (DNR), Agriculture, Health, Public Service, Transportation and Trade and Economic Development, directors of Minnesota Planning and the Office of Environmental Assistance; commissioner of the Pollution Control Agency, chairperson of the Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR); and five citizen members. Chairman is Rod Sando, commissioner of the DNR.

The GEIS citizens advisory committee has 24 members, representing a number of special interests. Only two are from an area north of the Twin Cities metro area—Brian Buhr, a University of Minnesota economist from Chisago City and Donna Peterson of Richville (located between New York Mills and Pelican Rapids), representing the Minnesota Lakes Association.

Persons who can not attend the Monday evening meeting may send written comments by Friday, July 24, to: GEIS on Animal Agriculture, EQB, 300 Centennial Building, 658 Cedar Street, St. Paul, MN 55155 or by FAX to 612-296-3698.

County board approves work release dormitory

Tuesday, Pennington County board of commissioners made some unanimous decisions indicating that they were in favor of proceeding with the proposed Pennington County work release dormitory. The facility would be located in the American Legion building just south of the Law Enforcement Center.

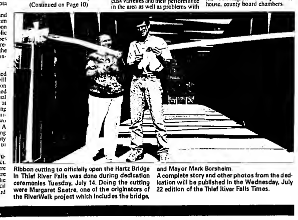
Pennington County Sheriff Gerald Moe said no citizens appeared at the county board meeting who were in opposition to the proposal.

Sheriff Moe said the board hired the architectural firm of YHR and Partners of Moorhead. He said they hope to unveil plans for the facility in 10 to 14 days.

The board also agreed to include in bids a request for a single contractor who would use STS crews for labor wherever possible.

Small grain plot tour Monday at St. Hilaire

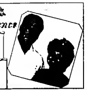
University of Minnesota Extension Service will conduct a small grains plot tour Monday, July 20, at 10 a.m. at the plot site located about a mile south of St. Hilaire on highway 32.



"The plots contain most of the commonly grown spring wheat and barley varieties for northwestern Minnesota," states Howard Person, Pennington county extension educator.

Yochum Weirsma, extension small grains specialist from the Northwest Experiment Station in Crookston, will be on hand to discuss varieties and their performance in the area as well as problems with scab and cereal leaf diseases.

Plots have been replicated for statistical analysis and will be harvested later this fall, Person said. Results can be obtained after harvest by calling him at the county extension office, phone 683-7030.



Truck route bids opened Aug. 17

Bids for the proposed Highway 59 "truck route" to be located just west of Thief River Falls, will be opened at 10 a.m. on August 17 at the Pennington County Courthouse, county board chambers.

Ribbon cutting to officially open the Hartz Bridge in Thief River Falls was done during dedication ceremonies Tuesday, July 14. Doing the cutting were Margaret Saetre, one of the originators of the RiverWalk project which includes the bridge, and Mayor Mark Borsheim. A complete story and other photos from the dedication will be published in the Wednesday, July 22 edition of the Thief River Falls Times.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

I had another request from a long time ago that I just came across. It is from Carol Norton, Rt. 1, Box 112, Badger, MN 56714. She wants a fruit dip that tastes like it is made with marshmallow creme. Anybody have one? Send it to me or to Carol. Speaking of marshmallow creme, how about some cool, sweet desserts for these hot days?

Here's a delicious, no-bake dessert for a hot day, rather rich, but we aren't eating much of anything substantial in the heat anyway, are we? Might as well have a sweet treat. By the way, I crush up a bunch of graham crockers at one time and then throw them into the freezer to take out for a quick crust or dessert:

WHIPPED CREAM PIE
1/2 cup milk
24 large marshmallows
1 pint of cream, whipped stiff
4 ounces of good milk chocolate bars, grated (or 2 squares of semi sweet chocolate, grated)
Graham Cracker Crust
1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/4 cup sugar
1/3 cup soft butter

Mix crust and press firmly in pie pan.

In double boiler over hot water (or, like me, in microwave), beat milk and marshmallows until marshmallows are melted. Cool.

Add whipped cream and grated chocolate. Refrigerate for at least a couple of hours before serving.

Bet you've forgotten about this old time church-supper favorite - try it again to get those flagging hot weather appetites going:

GLORIFIED RICE
1 cup rice, cooked and cooled
2/3 cup sugar
2 cups miniature marshmallows
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups crushed pineapple
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 1/2 cups cream, whipped (or 1 medium container whipped topping)

In large bowl, combine rice, sugar, marshmallows and pineapple. Blend in vanilla, nuts and whipped cream.

(Sometimes I like to cook my rice as if for rice pudding, first in water, then adding milk until it is nice and thick and creamy. I use this for my glorified rice and I don't use nuts. By the way, if you use the whipped topping, make sure the rice is very cool.)

This cool dessert actually uses ice cream and there's very little baking - just the crust:

BUTTER PECAN DESSERT
45 Ritz crackers, crushed
1/2 cup melted butter
2 (6 ounces each) packages instant butter pecan pudding
1 1/2 cups milk
1 quart softened vanilla ice cream
9 ounce carton frozen whipped topping, thawed
Crushed Heath candy bars

Mix crackers and butter and press into 9x13 inch pan. Bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees and cool thoroughly.

Beat instant pudding and milk and then add ice cream. Spread over cooled crust. Refrigerate for 1 hour and then spread with whipped topping and sprinkle with crushed Heath bars.

Refrigerate or freeze until ready to serve. Keeps well.

I love lemon in the summer - here's a tangy dessert that you can keep in the freezer for a special time - it makes a bunch so it should take care of at least a couple of special times:

FROZEN LEMON DESSERT
1 lemon cake mix
1 (9 ounce) container frozen whipped topping
1 (6 ounce) can frozen lemonade
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup coconut

Bake cake and cool. Thaw lemonade.

Mix whipped topping, condensed milk and lemonade in large bowl and stir to resemble pudding.

Break half of cake into pieces and place in bottom of 9x13 inch plastic pan with cover. Pour half of pudding mixture over cake pieces. Layer with remaining cake and then remaining pudding. Sprinkle top with coconut, cover tightly and freeze until serving time. Let thaw a few minutes before serving, if desired.

And here's an idea on how to make a really special treat with all of the wonderful seasonal fruits we can buy now - great to make ahead for a pretty, light party dessert:

FRESH FRUIT "CHAMPAGNE" DESSERT
3 cups sugar
3 cups water
1 (10 ounce) package frozen strawberries
Juice of 3 lemons
1 (6 ounce) can frozen orange juice concentrate
1 pint strawberries
1 (20 ounce) can crushed pineapple, undrained
3 bananas
1 cantaloupe, cut into balls
Fizzy lemon-lime soda pop
Blueberries

Combine sugar and water in large saucepan. Bring to a boil, then add frozen strawberries, lemon and orange juice and pineapple with juice. Mix well.

Add bananas, cantaloupe balls and strawberries. Pour into 9x13 inch pan, sprinkle with blueberries and freeze over night.

Before serving, let stand at room temperature for 35 to 45 minutes, until slushy.

Spoon into dishes, pour cold fizzy soda pop over and serve.

(Other fresh fruit ideas: honeydew, nectarines, peaches, watermelon, cherries, raspberries, anything else you like.) (Recipe serves about 20 people.)

Candidates for SWCD board invited to file

Recent death of Harry Hanson of Trail has created a third opening on the board of the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District with filings for the positions to close on July 21.

Hanson served on the board from Supervisor Area 4 which includes Goodridge, Hickory, Reiner and Star townships. Candidates for the office must live within that area although the election is held on a district-wide basis. Anyone from Area 4 interested in seeking the office must file with the Pennington County Auditor at the courthouse in Thief River Falls by July 21.

Other supervisors whose terms expire include Ray Olson in Area 1 (Black River, Bray, Numedal, Polk Centre and Sanders townships) and Darrow Lundeen in Area 5 (Deer Park, Mayfield, River Falls and Wyandotte townships).

The unexpired term of the office held by Harry Hanson in Area 4 ends in the year 2000. Supervisors in Areas 1 and 5 will be elected for two-year terms this year as the district adjusts to four-year instead of six-year terms for its supervisors.

One Person's Views On GEIS On Animal Farming

From 7 to 9:30 p.m. Monday, July 20, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls, one of a number of hearings on a general environmental impact statement (GEIS) on animal agriculture in Minnesota will be conducted. It will be an opportunity for the public to provide input on what it believes to be important to the study.

Mark Schultz, policy program director for the Land Stewardship Project in White Bear Lake and a member of the GEIS citizens advisory committee, provides the following as one person's opinion on the question:

LET'S STUDY WHAT KIND OF AGRICULTURE WE DO WANT

Minnesota lawmakers took a serious shot at dealing with the feedlot issue during the 1998 session. It was a tumultuous battle that created hard feelings on both sides. But it also may have created an opportunity for citizens to have a real say in the future of livestock agriculture in their communities.
